

Three Tar Heel Combines Invade Duke Today

Netters Seek Sixth Shutout In Succession

Duke Whitewashed In Earlier Match

By Bob Goldwater

Carolina's high-flying racquetmen will seek to preserve their shutout streak today when they visit the Duke courts in a return contest slated for 2 p. m.

The initial victims on the current whitewash list, having been blanked April 30, the Blue Devils are the main threat to interrupt the Tar Heel shutout skein, which appears to be of major interest since little doubt is raised as to the actual outcome of the clash. Besides their sixth straight clean sweep, the Blue and White netmen will be gunning for their 14th triumph of the campaign and fourth in Southern Conference competition.

Probable Pairings

In the top pairing of the afternoon, Tar Heel captain Harold Maass will be after his 11th win of the season as he matches strokes with the Blue Devil ace, Bob Chapman. Sam Daniels' probable opponent at the second berth will be Bob Bodle. Stan Gruner shoots for victory number 13 from the number three post against either Werner Jakob or Bob Taylor, with the other Duke player opposing Carolina's Jim Nicholson, trying for his 11th win, in the fourth position. Don Skakle, undefeated in eight tilts, will attempt to make it nine in a row against Bob McCuistrion and Dick Swigart opposes Jim Bayne at number six.

In doubles, the Tar Heels will field Maass and Gruner as the top duo, Nicholson and Skakle at the second pairing, and Daniels and Duke Wilder at number three.

Jayvee Combine Defeats Baby Imps By 9-5 Count

Pounds Two Hurlers with 11-Hit Attack; Two Big Frames Provide Margin for Win

The Carolina junior-varsity nine pounded two Duke hurlers with an 11-hit attack to defeat the Baby Imps, 9-5, on Emerson field yesterday.

The Tar Babies kept pecking away at Frye of Duke until he was relieved by Dramron in the seventh inning. They picked up runs in every inning, except the second and seventh.

Royster started the game for the Carolina jayvees, but lacked control and gave up six walks, before L. C. Couch came in to relieve him in the third frame. Couch pitched five-hit ball the rest of the way and received credit for the win.

Big Innings

Carolina had two big innings, the fourth and the sixth, to provide the margin of victory between the two teams. The Tar Babies picked up three runs on three hits in the fourth, and two runs on two hits in the sixth.

Duke had one big rally in the eighth inning, when the Baby Devils scored two runs. Grimes ended the Duke threat by grounding out to the infield.

High School Track Meet Slated Today

More than 200 contestants representing 12 schools will compete in the annual North Carolina high school track meet to be held on Fetzer Field tomorrow starting at 2:30 p. m. Because of the large entry list, preliminary heats will be held in the forenoon, with the championship events being run off in the afternoon.

Henry House, a member of the University of North Carolina physical education staff who is directing the event, will meet with all coaches this morning at 10 a. m. in Woollen gym to work out all details concerning the running of the prep classic. No admission will be charged.

Duke Favored Over Carolina In Dual Meet

Tar Heels Choice In Hurdles, Mile

By Jim Pharr

Carolina's trackmen will meet a strong Duke team this afternoon in the Duke stadium in a renewal of their annual dual meet series. Field events will start at 3 p. m., with the first running event, the mile run, getting under way at 4 o'clock.

The Blue Devil cindermen are rated on paper as about 15-point favorites over the Tar Heels. The Dukes look to be stronger in the 100 yd. dash, the 220, the 440, and the two-mile run, in the running events; and the high jump, discus throw, and shot put, in the field events.

Carolina is doped to have the edge in the 880, the mile run, and the high and low hurdles in the running events; and the pole vault and javelin throw in the field events. From past performances, however, comparative scores mean nothing in a Duke-Carolina meet and the Tar Heels are pointing toward pulling an upset over the Blue Devil runners.

Hurdles and Dashes

The hurdle events are expected to be strongly contested with Chunk Simmons and Dick Taylor pacing the Tar Heel hurdlers against Scupine and Bill Simons of Duke. The dashes are expected to be another fast event, with Laddie Terrell, Ted Haigler, Charlie Donnell, and Tom Jordan running against Ausbon, Aumen, Maxwell, and Neighborgall, of the Blue Devils.

In the 440, the Tar Heels will run Charles Donnell, Jack Hester, and Vernon Reiser against Duke's Young, Neighborgall, and Simons. Charles Tietjen, Tom Turner, and James Briley will carry Carolina hopes in the 880 against Bodine and Rosenberg for Duke.

Mark Burnham, Charles Tietjen, Leonard Briley, John Strait, Walter Francis, and Art Lamb will pace the mile and two mile runs for Carolina against Downs, Ellsworth, Davis, and Palmer, for the Dukes.

son, more than 65,000, was on hand to watch the Yankees slip 5½ games behind the red-hot Red Sox.

Jolting Joe DiMaggio accounted for all the New York runs by clouting his sixth homer in the fifth inning with the bases loaded.

Wake Forest Scores 5-4 Win In Tragedy of Tar Heel Errors

Whiteheart to Hurl Against Blue Devils In Attempt to Break Slump of Local Club

WAKE FOREST, May 10.—Wake Forest won its third straight Big Four ball game here today and accepted its second gift of the year from Carolina's slumping Tar Heels by a 5-4 margin as the Carolina club committed eight errors to kick away another ball game.

Coach Bunn Hearn will take the Tar Heels to Durham tomorrow for the second game of the Carolina-Duke series, scheduled to start at 2 p. m. Monk Whiteheart, who pitched a four-hit victory for Carolina in the first meeting between the two clubs, will hurl again tomorrow.

Wake Scores Twice

Wake Forest scored twice in the last of the seventh inning to break a 3-3 tie and staved off a last inning rally by Carolina to win. Grandy and Skelding, who combined to defeat the Tar Heels in the previous meeting between the two clubs, did the same thing today, with Skelding coming on in the seventh to get credit for the win. Vin DiLorenzo pitched seven-hit ball for the losers, but terrible support afield beat him.

Dowda opened the seventh for the Deacons by reaching first via an infield single and stole second. After Lougee flew out to center, Sams was safe on Hackney's boot, Dowda moving to third. Red Cochran hit a roller back towards the mound which DiLorenzo picked up off balance and, in an attempt to catch Dowda off third, threw wild to let the run score, Sams going around to third.

Passed Ball

Sams came home on a passed ball by catcher Jim Hayworth, although the Tar Heels claimed that Edwards had fouled the pitch. However, the umpire's decision was that the catcher had simply missed the ball, and the eventual winning run was on the books.

The visitors got off to a one run advantage in the opening frame on two walks and two errors by second-baseman Fleet. The Deacs came back with two markers in the second to go ahead when they combined two hits with a wild throw to second by Hayworth and an error in left by Tom Clayton.

The home nine made it 3-1 in the fifth when Dowda singled, stole second and came in to score on Lougee's one-baser.

Warren Triples

Bob Warren drilled a triple to left field in the sixth inning to score Clayton, who had singled, and Hackney, who had reached
