Duke and Carolina Favored In Conference Outdoor Meet

Track Event War Casualty Since 1943; Eleven Teams to Enter Two-Day Affair

Postponed because of the war since 1943, the annual Southern Conference outdoor track meet will be held on Fetzer field tomorrow and Saturday, with the time trials for elimination to be run off tomorrow and the final running of all events scheduled for Saturday.

The annual cinder meet will draw the outstanding track teams and stars of the southeast. Duke and Carolina, perennial contenders for top honors, will rate the two favorites' posts in this year's event.

Duke is the number one team on the strength of its victory over Carolina last Saturday. Eleven teams are expected to be in the running tomorrow, when the first trials get under way.

The Blue Devils will bring a fast aggregation of cindermen who have registered victories over South Carolina and Virginia, in addition to their triumph over the Tar Heels. Duke's lone track setback was to the powerful Navy track team.

Fast In Dashes

Duke will display a pair of fast dash-men to lead off its parade of stars in the conference meet. Terry Maxwell and Doug Ausbon are the fleet sprinters who took first and second places in both 100 and 220 against the Tar Heels. In the middle distances, Roger Neighborgall, Loren Young, and Bill Simons have proven able to turn in fast time on any track. In the two mile, Jim Davis has been pacing opposition over the long grind all during the season.

In the field events, the Blue Devils have several outstanding men. Jim O'Leary is a first place contender in both the discus and the shot put events. Another strong contender in the shot and discus for Duke is Dick Gardiner, who rates right behind O'Leary. Buck Cheek, in the javelin, and Doug Ausbon, in the broad jump, round out the high scorers for the Blue Devils.

Strength in Hurdles

Carolina is at its strongest in the hurdles, with Chunk Simmons and Dick Taylor available as tried and proven performers. Mark Burnham in the mile,

Tar Heel Crew Scores Sweep In Return Tilt

Wake Forest Contest To Be Played May 21

Raleigh, May 15—Scoring a clean sweep of all 18 sets, Carolina's powerful net crew blanked N. C. State for the second time this season, 9-0, for its 15th triumph in 16 encounters.

The victory was the fifth in Southern Conference competition and the ninth shutout registered by the Tar Heels, who complete their 1946 campaign May 21 with a playoff of the rained-out contest against Wake Forest.

Harold Maass captured his 12th win of the year in the number one affair with a 6-2, 6-4 decision over Bill Weathers. Sam Daniels and Jim Nicholson both registered their 11th victories, Daniels by topping Elliot Winston in straight 6-3 sets and Nicholson with a 6-1, 6-4 triumph over Dick Kennison.

Gruner Wins 14th

At the number three pairing, Stan Gruner won a hard-fought first set but breezed through the second to defeat Hugh Kiger, 9-7, 6-1, for his 14th victory in 15 starts. Don Skakle remained undefeated in 10 encounters by trouncing Bob Rabb by a 6-1, 6-2 count, and Ed Dameron tallied his eighth straight win with consecutive 6-2 sets over Jim Messick.

In doubles, the Wolfpack put up a stiffer fight but nevertheless went down in straight sets. Maass and Gruner topped Winston and Warren Lawson, 6-4, 7-5, Nicholson and Skakle trimmed Kiger and Weathers, 6-4, 6-4, and Dick Swigart and Duke Wilder subdued Kennison and Messick by a 6-3, 6-4 score.

Carolina's long-dormant hitting power exploded into all corners of Emerson field yesterday afternoon as the Tar Heels broke a five-game losing streak by handing Wake Forest a 7-2 setback behind the eight-hit pitching of Hamp Coleman.

Carolina will play an infantry nine from Fort Bragg on Emerson field this afternoon. John McElrath will probably hurl for the locals in a game schedule to start at 4 o'clock.

The Tar Heels, glorying in their first big offensive showing this spring, slammed Deacon hurlers Mac Grandy and Stub Skelding for 12 hits. They took particular liberties with starting pitcher Grandy, touching him for eight safeties in the first three frames and staggering him so with a four-run third inning that he didn't come out for the fourth.

Tally In Second

Hitting safely in all but two innings, Carolina scored first with a single tally in the second frame. John Hearn was safe on Edwards' error, went to second on the first of three hits by Johnny Colones, and scored when Jim Hayworth shot a hot ground single into left field.

A five-hit attack in the third gave Coleman a nice lead to work with for the first time this year. After Hackney opened with a single, Ryan forced him at second on a fielder's choice. Ryan was safe at second and Charlie Cole reached first when Edwards juggled Cole's grounder. Harry Beason, continuing his brilliant late-season hitting spree, blasted a three-base smash against the right field hedge—the longest drive hit to right field this year—to score both men.

Single By Hearn

The Winston-Salem veteran came home seconds later on Hearn's line single to left. The coach's son promptly stole second and scored on a long fly-ball

Skelding took over in the fourth and stopped the locals until the sixth when they bunched two hits with an error for two more runs. Rip Ryan drilled a single to left and Cole followed with a looping double down the right field line, advancing the Tar Heel shortstop to third. Both men raced home while Davis was fumbling Beason's bouncer between first and second.

The Deacons bunched their hits in the sixth and eighth in-
