Truman'sOffer To Railroaders May Kill Strike

Two Unions Refuse New Wage Proposal

The White House, May 22 President Truman tonight made the Brotherhoods of Railway Trainmen and Engineers a lastminute proposal for calling off tomorrow's strike.

According to informed sources, the President's proposal would give the rail men the onedollar and 48-cent daily wage increase they've been demanding. Brought About accepted the President's offer and so have 18 of the 20 rail brotherhoods, the two exceptions being the trainmen and engineers, the two unions which threaten to strike tomorrow afternoon.

After a meeting at the White House, the presidents of both unions said they would take Mr. Truman's compromise proposal under advisement. They must first, they say, consult with their men before coming to any decision on such a vital point as calling off the rail strike. But they promised to deliver their

Many Coal Mines Close Despite U.S. Operation

Washington, May 22 - The first day of government operation in the soft coal fields has pretty well told the story of what will happen under government control. The miners apparently will stick by their old motto-"no contract, no work." An estimated 100,000 miners stayed out of the pits today. Some 240 mines closed down and coal production is sinking, particularly in Kentucky, Illinois, Ohio and West Virginia.

Black Eye

According to Dean Mackie, the all-night parties that occurred at various points around the campus gave the University a "black eye." Dean Mackie continued by saying that the University is favorably disposed to dance participation but feels that dances and week-ends "must be conducted with the proper decorum."

When pressed to elaborate on "excesses" of the week-end, Dean Mackie declined to divulge any specific happenings but did mention that several parties began in the afternoon and continued through the dance and afterwards.
