Hurricane Rips Toward Coast

Winds Extend Miles From Storm Center

Miami, Oct. 7—(UP)—Hurricane warnings have been extended to the east coast of Florida and storm warnings have been ordered up the Atlantic coast as far as Cape Hatteras. The east coast warnings were issued as the tropical hurricane roaring up the Gulf of Mexico threatened to veer across Florida. The Miami Weather Bureau says the storm center will cut inland from the Gulf near Tampa Bay at midnight, and come out near Jacksonville about noon tomorrow. The forecast path is directly through the rich citrus groves in which a 250-million dollar crop remains unharvested.

The hurricane is moving north-northeastward 15 to 18 miles per hour. Hurricane winds extend 50 miles from the center, and gales are blowing 150 miles from the core of the storm.

Winds are increasing along the Florida west coast and the north and central portions of the state. The wind will attain hurricane force—to the Weather Bureau, that means more than 75 miles an hour—along the coast as the storm center approaches. Winds from gale to hurricane strength will blow over north and central Florida. Tides in the coastal areas will be dangerously high.

University To Celebrate 153rd Anniversary Friday

First Mass Meeting of UVA Called For Gerrard Tonight

College Officials Asked To Discuss Current Problems

Under the direction of President James Chesnut, the University Veterans' Association will hold its initial mass meeting of the fall quarter in Gerrard Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The mass meetings are a quarterly event held to give all students an opportunity to discuss with members of the administration the many problems that arise on the campus.

To be present at the meeting tonight are Chancellor Robert B. House; C. E. Teague, Assistant Controller and Business Manager of the University; F. C. Shepard, Student Veterans' advisor; and H. H. Ritchie, manager of the Book Exchange. These officials, representing all phases of University administration, will act as targets for all student questions.

Open to All
"The meeting will be open to all students on the campus, both members of the UVA and non-members, veterans and non-veterans, in order that everyone may have an opportunity to express his or her opinions on issues currently confronting the campus," declared Chesnut.

After a routine business meeting at 8:00, the floor will immediately be thrown open to the general public. Veterans are especially urged to attend, as this will give them an opportunity to express whatever grievances they may have.

Hugh Wells, UVA publicity chairman, has issued the following statement in regard to the meeting: "The UVA, after hearing questions and grips from many sources, has planned this meeting as a valuable and timely service to not only veterans, but all interested students. Inasmuch as the officials of the University have been so eager to cooperate at this time, we hope that a large audience will be present."

Dormitory Changes Must Be Approved Says Wadsworth

Room changes from one dormitory to another will not be permitted except as authorized by the housing office at 207 South Building, James E. Wadsworth announced today.

"It is urgently requested that all dormitory residents cooperate in this matter. Failure to comply with this request may result in cancellation of room assignment," he said.

The following boys may get room assignments if they contact the office immediately: Nere E. Day, Josiah W. Doar, Thomas C. Frazier, James P. Frink, Lynn T. Garner, A. W. Griffin, Joseph E. Jarosz, Robin S. Kirby, Philip G. Liverman, Moran D. McLendon, Cort M. Nance, and E. L. Nelson.

Unless the name appears in the list that is printed from day to day, students are urged not to come by the office for room changes.

Women's Athletic Association Plans Skating Rink Project

The Women's Athletic Association council meeting Thursday night decided that a skating rink would be the first project this fall.

The council has set a 1946 station wagon as its goal for the year, and forward this is the proposed skating rink. Already 75 pairs of skates have been ordered and should arrive within two weeks.

Open Tuesday Nights
The court will be lighted, and one night every week, probably on Tuesdays, the new business will be open.

Among University officials who will discuss student problems at tonight's meeting of the UVA are Chancellor Robert B. House, left, and C. E. Teague, assistant controller and business manager, right. Veterans advisor F. C. Shepard and H. H. Ritchie, Book Exchange manager, will also participate in the open meeting.

Heath Picks Winning Teams In Weekly Football Contest

Winners Will Divide Ten Cent Entry Fees By Only One Point; 500 Submit Predictions

An average prediction quotient of eighty-five per cent, and a near bullseye shot of 20-0 for Carolina in Saturday's Tar Heel fray with Miami, clinched last week's initial Graham Memorial weekly football contest for Chuck Heath, law student living in Grimes dormitory. As contest winner, Heath will receive his choice of a meal ticket book for Lenoir Hall, a theater ticket book for the Carolina theater, or a personal portrait charcoal drawing by Mrs. Betty Warren Jones, local artist.

Runners-up in the game to pick the top twenty winners of the week were Mike Morrow and Thomas Mullen. Other close entries were filed by Al Lowenstein, Bill Lamkin, J. B. Spillman, and Morton Schaap.

Of the five hundred entries, nearly ten per cent were disqualified due to incorrect filling out of the form. Contest officials explained that winners of all save the Carolina game should have been checked, and not scored, since blanks were corrected by a key, necessitating check marks. However, on this week's blanks, the box space by the winner should be blackened, not merely checked.

VPI-Virginia Stumbling Block
Falling behind in their early season predictions, four student sports authorities, Fred Flagler, Bob Goldwater, Bill Woestendick, and Carroll Poplin, all present or former members of the Daily Tar Heel sports staff, held averages ranging from fifty to sixty-five per cent. However, compiled predictions by the DTH sports staff published last Saturday resulted in seventy-five per cent accuracy. Main stumbling block on last week's sheet was the VPI-Virginia tie, missed by all contestants, and the Columbia Lions' upset of Navy.

Sole prognosticator to pick the correct 21-0 score for the Tar Heels was Don Nelson.

Puzzlers among the twenty games printed on this week's sheet include

Senior Appointments For Yackety Yack Pics To Be Made This Week

Bettie Washburn, senior editor of the Yackety Yack, has announced that appointments for senior pictures will be made in the YMCA building beginning today and running through this Saturday, October 12, from 2 o'clock until 5 and 9 o'clock until noon on Saturday.

A space fee of $3.50 must be paid when the appointment is made and a payment of $1.00 to cover the cost of proofs must be made when the pictures are taken. Photography will be done by Wootten-Moulton Studios in the upstairs balcony of the YMCA from October 14 to October 26.

"It is imperative that seniors make their appointments this week," said Washburn. "We are going to be pressed for time this year because of the large enrollment and because we are planning individual pictures for each class. Every minute is planned, exceptions cannot be made for people who 'just forgot' to drop around and make an appointment for a picture."

Student Union Plans Big Sadie Hawkins Day

Plans for the "biggest Sadie Hawkins day outside of Dogpatch" were revealed today, as Student Union director Martha Rice, made last calls for students interested in helping prepare for the Graham Memorial sponsored event scheduled to take place November 9.

A telegram has been sent to Al Capp, creator of Lil' Abner, and to Life magazine, Miss Rice said, inviting them to attend the annual University "Dogpatch" week end. Capp and Life both were present at Carolina in 1941.

The director also announced that she had invited Capp to bring the winner of the current Lena the Hyena contest.

All campus organizations have been urged to cooperate in preparing for the week end. Anyone interested should contact Miss Rice's office not later than tomorrow.

The new student directory is now being prepared. This is of vital importance to the student as it is the only way of locating anyone for long distance calls and Western Union.

ATTENTION STUDENTS

Students desiring to serve as ushers, gatemen, and fence guards for the Carolina-Maryland game should see Pete Mullis or P. A. Lee in room 306 or room 311 Woollen gymnasium, as soon as possible, the Athletic office announced yesterday.

Bridge Class for Beginners Will Hold Initial Session

Tournaments to Be Held Each Thursday; Winners Will Divide Ten Cent Entry Fee

Beginners' class in Graham Memorial's bridge school will meet at 5 o'clock this evening in the Horace Williams lounge of the Student Union building, for the first lesson of the Fall quarter. Union Director Martha Rice stated that if enough students appear interested, this beginner's class will become a regularly scheduled event.

Peacock to Teach

Hal Peacock has been contracted to teach the class.

Miss Rice also announced a change in the weekly Thursday night bridge tournament. Due to the overflow crowd that attended last week's contest, the time has been pushed up from 7:30 to 7 o'clock. The tournament will be held in the Candlelight room, the usual 10 cent entry fee being charged. Money is divided among the winners.

Last week winners were Pat Taylor, J. B. Stedman, C. Fulton, and D. Mackintosh.

Police to Limit Hitch-Hiking

Students Must Stay On Curb, Says Chief

Chief Sloan of the Chapel Hill police issued a warning to Carolina students today to refrain from hitch-hiking on highways within the city limits. The police officer stated that hitch-hiking violated a local ordinance, and that the large number of cars now in the community have necessitated a rigorous enforcement of the no-hitch-hiking regulation.

"I don't want to have to fine any of the boys," the Chief said, "and I want all boys, especially new boys, to find out about the ordinance."

Can Thumb from Curb

"It isn't safe to thumb except from standing on the curb," he added.

It is understood that hitch-hiking will be permitted provided it is done from the curb and not on the pavement.

Stressed Danger

The Chief stressed the danger of standing in the road and appealed to all students to stay on the curb.

Orientation Committee Holds Meeting Tonight

There will be an important meeting of the Campus Orientation Committee and all counselors who helped with the fall orientation program tonight at eight o'clock in Graham Memorial baby lounge, according to Pat Kelly, committee chairman.
