Big Armament Cut Advocated By Russians

Flushing, N. Y., Oct. 29—(UP)—Russia has called on the United Nations to adopt a sweeping program of universal armament reduction, including the abolition of atomic warfare. Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov has told the General Assembly that the Assembly should ask the Security Council for means of carrying out the reduction of armaments and the parallel outlawing of the atomic bomb.

Attacks Baruch Plan
In a 66-minute address, Molotov, also attacked the Baruch atomic control plan. He denounced the presence of American and British troops in non-enemy countries. And he announced Russia's opposition to the small-nation campaign against the veto.

Churchill Makes Reply To Stalin Accusation

London, Oct. 29—(UP)—Winston Churchill has made a conciliatory reply to Premier Stalin's charge that he was "one of the incendiaries of a new war." The British war time leader paid tribute to the bravery of the Russian people. But Churchill expressed skepticism about the strength of Russian troops in western Europe. Recently Churchill asked the House of Commons if it were true that Stalin had 200 divisions on a war footing in western Europe. Last night Stalin told United Press President Hugh Baillie that the Soviet had only 60 divisions in the area. But today Churchill inferred that it was not a question of the number of divisions—but rather of the number of men in each division.

Small Says Recession Is Not Inevitable

Washington, Oct. 29—(UP)—Civilian Production Administrator John Small says that a business recession is not inevitable, and that even if one comes, "It won't amount to much." The CPA chief called for an end to pessimistic forecasts about a business recession. "If these pessimistic forecasts continue," he said, "people will cut down their plans and start retrenching. And that's what I call talking ourselves into a depression."

US Delegation Agrees To Russian Proposal

Flushing, N. Y., Oct. 29—(UP)—The American Delegation to the UN General Assembly has decided to give Russia all the information it wants on the number and location of American troops in non-enemy countries. This action is subject to approval by Secretary of State Byrnes. After a lengthy, private meeting today, the delegates agreed that frank American action would be the best course in the interests of peace and security—even if the Soviet did not supply the same information.

Production Cut Ordered By Ford Motor Company

Detroit, Oct. 29—(UP)—The Ford Motor Company has ordered a 10 per cent cutback in passenger car and truck production because of the steel shortage. The production curtailment will begin Friday, and will reduce Ford output about 400 cars a day. Ford production already is far below capacity.

Statesville, N. C., Oct. 29—(UP)—Two convicted draft dodgers have been sentenced to prison terms at Statesville. The young men are Charlie Bruce and Charles Edward Dickson. They were sentenced today in Federal court—Bruce to a year and a day, and Dickens to four months. Dickens also was fined one hundred dollars.

Candlelight Room May Open Next Wednesday, Says Jones

Newly appointed Candlelight Room manager Johnny Jones yesterday afternoon issued an emergency call for all musicians, or "otherwise talented persons," to contact him in the Room on the ground floor of Graham Memorial immediately, in preparation for the grand opening, which, he expressed hope, would be one week from this evening.

Although originally it was planned that campus bands would provide music for the club, Jones explained that American Federation of Musicians union rulings will prevent most campus bands from working with them, due to inflexible minimum pay regulations.

For the past eight days, Jones, with the assistance of Tommy Thomas and Joe McDaniel, has been rebuilding the interior of the former cafeteria, to include a stage, bar, and to more generally resemble a cabaret. Total renovations will represent over $200 in expenditures. In charge of interior decorating on the project is Clyde Stallings.

Within three days the opening date will be definitely announced. As the club will accommodate comfortably only a maximum of 60 couples, Jones stated that advance reservations would be necessary for admittance, if attendance is as heavy as anticipated. If it appears the next Wednesday opening deadline is to be met, reservations may be made beginning Saturday morning.

Two Shows Weekly

"We hope to have at least two floor shows each week, and possibly more," explained Jones, "however student co-operation in furnishing their talents will determine how often we have them."

In the afternoon the Room will be open for dancing by the juke box, and light refreshments, from 2 to 5 o'clock daily. Evening hours, for couples only, will run from 8 until 11.

Union Seamen Still Picketing UNRRA Ship In Savannah Harbor

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 29—(UP)—Though the East Coast Maritime strike has ended, union members are still picketing a ship in Savannah, Georgia and stopping the shipment of five-thousand horses to Poland.

Members of the AF of L Masters, Mates and Pilots' Association threw a picket line beside the SS Rocks Springs Victory when she moved into the loading berth today. Her master—a Captain Wareham—has refused to join the union.

The contract signed yesterday to end the strike allows ship operators to pick their own captains, and Wareham says that the only way he'll join the union is on orders from the operators.

The Rocks Springs Victory was scheduled to load 820 horses being sent to Poland by the United Nations Relief Administration. Several other ships are waiting behind her to load, but longshoremen won't cross the picket line.

Meat Output Reaches New All-Time Record

Washington, Oct. 29—(UP)—The Agriculture Department says last week's output of federally-inspected meat was the highest on record. During the first full week after price controls were lifted, packers produced nearly 500 million pounds of meat.

The football squad will leave the campus tomorrow evening shortly after 9, and Mike Morrow, University club president, is making arrangements to hold a pep rally at the time of the team's departure.

No Knoxville Rally

No plans, however, are expected for a pre-game rally in Knoxville due to the small number of students among the season's second caravan.

The University band, led by Earl Slocum, will make its first journey of the year for the Tennessee game. Also set to join the second caravan are the ten cheerleaders.

The Southern railway announced yesterday that its Carolina special would furnish coach and regular Pullman accommodations. Due to leave Durham Union station at 7 Friday evening, the train will arrive in Knoxville at 7:30 Saturday morning. Coach fare for the rail trip is $17.31 round trip. First class tariff has been set at $24.04, with sleeping car arrangements beginning at $4.64 for an upper berth.

Gene Aenbacher, Resort airlines agent, reported that reservations for the special plane leaving at 9 Saturday morning are still available though many student passengers have been booked for the two-hour trip. He may be reached for seat arrangements in the DTH office in Graham Memorial.

Japanese-American Soldier Doesn't Want to Go Home

(UP Feature Services)

Sergeant Frank F. O'Connor of Pasadena, California, is one soldier who never wants to go home again.

Frank went home on furlough not long ago. It was a tough trip for a soldier with only one leg — and a wounded leg at that. Frank swears he'll never do it again.

Because during his brief stay in California, Frank was thrown out of 23 barber shops and 24 movies. Sometimes they just asked him to leave. Sometimes they picked up his crutches and threw them out after him.

It wasn't because Frank was disorderly or caused trouble. It was a much simpler reason than that.

Frank's full name is Frank Fujino O'Connor. His mother and father were Japanese-American. Both his parents are dead by now, and Frank has been Several local ministers and faculty members as well as prominent students have been invited to debate the question, which has become a national issue as a result of the President's stand. While unofficially pursuing a course of action which has kept out those Jews now seeking admittance into Palestine, the British government has as yet taken no concrete action.
