Cancer Operation for Bilbo Ends Senatorial Filibuster

New Senate Members Sworn In; House Hears Knutson Argue for Income Tax Reduction

From UP Wire Reports

Washington, Jan. 4—An impending jaw operation restored order to the United States Senate today as Senator Bilbo left for a Mississippi hospital and the senators voted unanimously to sidetrack the issue his war-contract dealings and white-supremacy views have precipitated.

Without a dissenting vote, the Senate accepted Alben Barkley's proposal that the Senate pass over the Bilbo case and get on with its business—swearing in 35 other newly elected senators and organizing the Senate.

Two Months' Treatment

Bilbo, said Barkley, is a sick man. He is leaving tonight or tomorrow for New Orleans for a second operation for cancer of the mouth. His physicians say treatment will require at least two months.

Barkley's announcement ended the bitter fight and Southern filibuster that had stalemated the Senate for two days. The to seat or not to seat problem has prevented the Republicans from taking the control that they won in November's election.

Bilbo's only comment so far has been to promise that he will return to Washington as soon as possible. He told newsmen that when he does come back, he'll be wearing his "fighting clothes."

After passage of the motion, the swearing in of the new senators began.

Cable Ship Survivors Land at Finnish Port

Helsinki, Finland, Jan. 4—(UP)—Twenty-eight survivors of the Danish cable repair ship Karla, which struck a mine and sank in the Gulf of Finland within five minutes, have been brought to Helsinki by a Russian warship today. Fifteen other members of the crew are missing and believed dead. The body of Captain August Wilhelm, Master of the Karla, was aboard the Russian ship.

UN Secretary General To Visit Mexico City

Mexico City, Jan. 4—(UP)—The Mexican foreign minister has announced that United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie will arrive in Mexico City next Friday on a five-day visit, opening his extended Latin American tour. With Lie will arrive Benjamin Cohen, Assistant Secretary General in charge of Information, and William H. Stoneman, personal adviser.

DC-4's Will Transport Treasure to Argentina

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 4—(UP)—The Central Bank has announced that forty DC-4 airplane flights will be made beginning late this month to bring 180 tons of Argentine gold, worth approximately $200,000,000 to Buenos Aires from the New York Federal Reserve Bank. The fourth steamer shipment of Argentine gold in a fortnight arrived today on the "Moremac Star," amounting to nearly $12,000,000 and bringing the total brought by ship thus far to more than $40,000,000.

Argentine Expedition Sails for South Pole

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 4—(UP)—Argentina's Antarctic expedition sailed today on the naval transport "Patagonia," under Captain Luis Garcia, with the avowed purpose of establishing a weather station "somewhere" on the Antarctic continent.

The naval transport "Chaco" and a whaling boat will sail shortly to join the "Patagonia" in the far South Atlantic. The "Chaco" will also carry a new crew for the weather station on Laurie Island, in the South Orkneys to relieve the men who already have spent one year there.

WEATHER TODAY

Partly cloudy and colder.

UNC Will Play Host To Outstanding Group Of Entertainers Soon

Several outstanding entertainments are scheduled at the University during the next few weeks, it was announced here today at the opening of the new winter quarter.

Among them will be the appearance of Dorothy Maynor, celebrated Negro singer, who will give a concert Sunday, January 19, under the auspices of the Council for Religion in Life, for the benefit of the Fellowship of Southern Churchmen.

Other events are a concert by the internationally known Don Cossack Chorus tomorrow night, at 8:30 o'clock; the performance of Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," to be presented by the well known Barter Theatre of Virginia in Memorial Hall this Wednesday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, and a piano recital by Herbert Livingston, a member of the University music faculty member, in Hill Music Hall next Friday night, at 8:30 o'clock.

Tickets for the Dorothy Maynor concert, which is scheduled for Memorial hall at 8 o'clock Sunday night, January 19, may be secured at the Raleigh, Durham and Chapel Hill YMCA offices.

Veterans!

Several hundred veterans checks which were received during the Christmas holidays are now being held by the postmaster at the general delivery window of the post office downtown.

E. G. Bourne, local veterans training officer, said late last night, "No matter what your address is, or what your box number is, if you were expecting a check during the holiday period, check at the post office general delivery window to see if it is there."

Chief Gunner's Mate Ate Rice for Months...

Navy Man, Survivor of Bataan, Corregidor Doesn't Deplore Shortage of Steaks Here

By Raney Stanford

In spite of Chapel Hill's present resemblance to an overcrowded sardine can, Chief Gunner's Mate J. W. Norket of the NROTC unit likes it fine here. For Gunner Norket has Bataan and Corregidor among his personal recollections, along with three and a quarter years in Japanese prison camps. No steaks may be discouraging at times, but try contemplating rice. Rice, in small portions, three times a day, for months on end.

Norket, a veteran of six and one-half years in the Navy, and a native of Charlotte, was serving on a minesweeper in the Philippines at the time of Pearl Harbor; and the capitulation of "The Rock" on May 6, 1942, found him on the beach with that small group of never-to-be forgotten defenders.

Lashed-Up Affair

"Here I was, in the Navy, attached to the Marines, and serving under the Army," he says. "You can see what kind of a lashed-up affair it was towards the end."

"We held high hopes up until April, but during that month we began to realize it was only a matter of time."

The first he knew of the surrender, Norket continued, was the sight of the white flag over the American position.

"They were shelling us continually, and at the end they had about 600 guns of various types on us at point-

Don Cossack Chorus to Appear Here in Entertainment Program Monday Evening

Internationally Famed Russian Troupe To Sing in Memorial Hall at 8:30 o'clock

"A Russian who does not sing is no Russian," says Serge Jaroff, director of the Don Cossack chorus which makes its first appearance here in Memorial Hall auditorium tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Under the sponsorship of the Student Entertainment Series the 32 giant Cossack vocalists are coming here in the course of their seventeenth annual tour of the United States.

Since the Chorus was formed in 1920 the Cossacks have become one of the most widely traveled choral groups in the world, having sung in almost every civilized country of the globe. Their travels have included twenty-five crossings of the Atlantic, eight of the Mediterranean and two of the Pacific, and sixteen trips across the North American Continent from coast to coast.

Well-Known Songs

The "Singing Horsemen of the Steppes," as the Don Cossacks are known, include in their repertoire such well known numbers as "The Volga Boatmen," "Evening Bells," and "How Glorious." They have sung "The Volga Boatmen" over five thousand times, and it was one of the four encores requested by General Eisenhower during their USO tour of Europe.

Concert tickets are now on sale at Swain hall and at Ledbetter Pickard's for $1.25. Season tickets for the entire Student Entertainment Series may be purchased for $4.75, tax included. Attractions in the series include: Jan. 6, Don Cossack Chorus; Jan. 20, Jooss Ballet; Jan. 30-31 and Feb. 1, Operetta, "The Bartered Bride"; Feb. 18, National Symphony Orchestra.

Traffic Problems To Be Considered By Federal School

Traffic problems, including the alarming rise in the number of accidents throughout the country, will be discussed and analyzed at a two-week school of traffic law enforcement, to be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation with the cooperation of the University's Institute of Government here beginning today and continuing through January 18.

Traffic officers from counties and cities throughout the state will attend the school which is part of a program of state-wide safety education being sponsored by the Institute. The School will also serve as a model for locally sponsored traffic schools which are to be conducted in approximately 20 of the larger cities and towns of the state from February to June.

Instruction will be conducted primarily by the FBI which is sending several traffic specialists, including William H. Harper, special agent, to carry on the training program. John C. Bills of Charlotte is special agent in charge in the Carolinas.

Union to Give Open Dance Set Next Weekend

To Formally Present 'Dream Serenaders'

Graham Memorial will begin its social calendar for the new year with a set of open dances next Friday and Saturday nights with music by Ned Reap and his "Dream Serenaders," the newly-organized student union dance band.

Friday night's dance, from 9 until 12 in the main lounge of the student union, will be strictly formal. This will be the first formal dance sponsored by Graham Memorial in several years.

Honor Football Team

The Carolina Sugar Bowl football team will be honored at the semi-formal dance in Woollen gym on Saturday night, which will also last from 9 until midnight.

The weekend dances will formally introduce the new student union dance band to the Carolina campus. The "Dream Serenaders" have played engagements in Asheboro and Lenoir-Rhyne College in Hickory but have not yet appeared on campus.

Assistant leader of the band is James Levan. Arranger is Jimmy Hall and Maylon Baker is librarian.

The bandstands were designed by Betty Warren Jones, well-known Chapel Hill artist, constructed by Ellington of Carrboro and lettered and painted by the Durham School of Art.

Organized primarily for campus dances, the "Dream Serenaders" have 15 members plus leader Reap and three featured vocalists.

Northerly Blast Faces Not-So-Sunny South

By United Press

When the wintry blasts hit the north, those who can afford it pack their belongings and head for the sunny south. And once they unpack, they write those cute wish-you-were-here cards to those unfortunates who must remain behind.

But this year things apparently are different. Jack Frost also is going south for the winter. And not even Florida and California will escape the cold wave which is moving southward and is expected to send thermometers tumbling in 46 states. The freeze is expected to hit parts of Northern Florida and some California valleys.

Last night's sharp drop in temperature is predicted to continue on today through North Carolina, with cloudy skies shading the sun.

Many UNC Teachers Attend Learned Groups Meetings

A number of University faculty members attended meetings of learned societies at different points in the East and mid-West during the holidays.

Four members of the Law School, Professors Herbert R. Baer, Henry Brandis, Albert Coates, M. S. Breckenridge, and Fred B. McCall, attended a three-day meeting of the Association of American Law Schools in Chicago.

Professor Coates is a member of the Association's committee on criminal law procedure, and Dean R. H. Wettach, who was unable to attend, is a member of the nominating committee.

Geology Meetings

Four members of the Geology and Geography Department attended meetings. Professors J. W. Huddle and William A. White attended sessions of the Geographical Society of America in Chicago, and Professors Samuel T. Emory and Franklin C. Erickson attended joint meetings of the Association of American Geographers and the National Council of Geography Teachers in Columbus, Ohio. Miss Lillian Worley, a graduate student, also attended the latter two meetings.

Professor Huddle presented a paper in Chicago entitled "Devonian and Mississippian Rocks of Central Arizona," and Professor White gave a paper on "Blue Ridge and Fault Scrap."

Four members of the Classics Department, Dr. B. L. Ullman, head of the Department, and Professors J. P. Harland, Albert Suskin, and Walter Allen, Jr., attended meetings of the American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America in Rochester.

Dr. Harland was re-elected recorder of the Archaeological Institute, and Dr. Ullman, former president of the American Philological Association, was elected that body's representative to the American Council of Learned Societies.

Romance Language Meetings

Members of the Romance Language department and the English and German departments attended sessions of the Modern Languages association of America in Washington.

From the department of Romance Languages were Professors U. T. Holmes, S. E. Leavitt, N. B. Adams, J. C. Lyons, R. W. Linker, and Hugo Giduz; instructor E. S. Moyer, and a teaching fellow, Miss Marion Greens. Dr. Holmes and Dr. Adams read
