WEATHER TODAY

Cloudy with intermittent light rain and continued rather cold.

Appearing under the sponsorship of the Council for Religion in Life, Negro soprano Dorothy Maynor will sing a complete program of many various types of songs this evening in Memorial Hall.

Student Delegates Report To YMCA Tomorrow Evening

Tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock the five UNC delegates to the national convention of the Student Christian Movement will make a report to the members of the Y at a joint meeting to be held in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial. A report on the entire convention will be given by Tommy Holden. Earle Page will speak on the affirmation of Christian faith; and Don Broad on the policies which developed from this—Ethel Perry will tell of her personal impressions of the convention.

Held at the University of Illinois during the Christmas holidays, this convention was attended by over 1200 persons from the U.S., and many foreign countries. It was designed to set the policy for the National Intercollegiate Christian Council for the next two years.

Faith Affirmation Policy

The first policy to be presented to the assembly was an affirmation of Christian faith. Among the more outstanding developments stemming from this affirmation were the policies on social responsibility and world relations. These included one on race relations calling for complete abolition of segregation, and others on economic justice asking for full employment, regulation of international trade, and legislation to improve rural economy and social life. A political effectiveness committee was established with representatives in Washington, and pressure group tactics were urged and endorsed to further Christian aims.

Ask Rights Surrender by U.S.
The policy on world order called on the United States to surrender its sovereign right to declare war, advocated a strong, centralized world government with military power to enforce its decisions, and progressive world disarmament.

The Y extends an invitation to all students interested in the report, and especially urges all members to be present. The meeting will end at 8 o'clock, allowing everyone ample time to attend the Jooss Ballet.

Uniform Marriage Law Subject of Phi Debate

Defeated on the national level, the adherents to the bill have endeavored to secure uniformity through state action. So far, however, only a few states have taken action along this line.

Yackety Yack pictures of the Phi members will be taken at this meeting.

Maynor Sings in Memorial Hall

Negro Folk Music Is Integral Part Of Benefit Tonight

By Sam Whitehall

To help members of her race find the means to contribute to American culture is one of the motivating ambitions of the noted Negro soprano, Dorothy Maynor, who will appear in a concert sponsored by the Council of Religion in Life, tonight at 8:30 in Memorial Hall.

Tickets for the concert which range from $1 to $2 may be purchased at the door. Members of both races are expected to attend the program which is being sponsored as a benefit for the Fellowship of Southern Churchmen.

Miss Maynor will include on her program "Malaguena," by Nin; "The Blooming Hedges," by Debussy; and two numbers by Mendelssohn, "On Wings of Song," and "New Love."

Also on the program is Massenet's aria from "Herodiade," "Il Est Doux, Il Est Bon," and "The Maiden's Lament" by Dvorak.

Important Research

Dorothy Maynor has made some important research in heretofore unpublished Negro folk music and has done much to familiarize the American public with its songs and spirituals. An integral part of her program tonight will be her presentation of three Negro spirituals, "I'm a Traveling to the Grave," "What Kind of Shoes," and "Go on, Brother."

Miss Maynor, who recently was the guest soloist at New York university's Hall of Fame, has been working consistently both through the medium of her voice, as well as through various social activities to foster the recognition of Negro contributions to our culture.

Bridge Tourney Dates Changed

The weekly bridge tournaments sponsored by Graham Memorial will be held each Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Roland Parker lounge instead of each Thursday night, announced tourney directors Howell Peacock and Jim Jackson.

Peacock and Jackson stated it was essential that students desiring to compete in the bridge tournaments be ready to play at 7 o'clock in order to finish by 11 o'clock, week night closing time of Graham Memorial.

Buying Club Stockholders Complete Initial Food Order

Over 100 persons gathered in Bingham hall Friday evening to participate in the Chapel Hill co-op's initial mass buying meeting of the winter quarter.

Opening the meeting with a brief explanation of co-op aims and purposes chairman Tom McDade announced, that by action of the board of directors, if the organization does not have its own store in operation by the end of this year those stockholders who wish to withdraw may sell back their stock, except for one share.

"We are taking this action in order to encourage everyone to invest as much as they possibly can in club stock," explained McDade.

Ten Per-Cent Mark-Up
In line with standard co-op procedure Dr. L. M. Brooks suggested that the local group vote a 10 per cent mark-up over wholesale prices to cover expenses. His suggestion was put in the form of a motion by Dr. Frank J. Kottke with the stipulation that any profits from the mark-up be returned to stockholders through a dividend within the next four months. The motion was carried without dissenting vote.

Orders taken at Friday's meeting will be purchased wholesale this week and delivered to Chapel Hill. Here they will be sorted by a committee of volunteer workers and they distributed through neighborhood chairmen in town, victory village, and the trailer camp.

It was decided to hold the next buying meeting February 10 in connection with the organization's annual meeting for the election of officers.

IRC to Discuss Marshall Career Tomorrow Evening

"Which Way with Marshall?" will be the discussion question for guests and members of the International Relations club informal forum tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Graham Memorial's Roland Parker lounge. For the term's first open IRC session, refreshments will be served at a reception for visitors following the regular meeting.

"The IRC plans many interesting innovations for the coming term's weekly discussion programs," said John Bristow, the organization's vice-president, who will lead the forum tomorrow night. Reports on General Marshall's career and the diplomatic problems he faces will be made by Stewart Lucas and E. B. Jeffress.

Meanwhile, the IRC is making arrangements to bring to the campus an outstanding Zionist to answer the address of Arab nationalist Nejlja Izzeddin. Dr. Izzeddin, who spoke under IRC sponsorship to a capacity crowd last Wednesday in Graham Memorial, objected to further Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Prospective members interested in world affairs are invited to attend Monday night's meeting. At that time, application forms will be available and membership interviews will be conducted this week.

North Carolinians Headline Cast of 'The Bartered Bride'

Carolina Playmakers, Music Department Cooperate in Latest Campus Production

Thirty-five North Carolinians have been cast in "The Bartered Bride," Smetana's comic opera to be produced jointly by the Carolina Playmakers and the music department in Memorial hall here Friday and Saturday, January 31 and February 1.

The production is being co-directed by Foster Fitz-Simons, assistant professor of dramatic art, and Paul Young, assistant professor of music. A 25-piece orchestra, under the direction of Professor Young and composed of faculty members and students, will furnish the background music.

Cast Members

The role of Marie, the peasant bride, will be sung by Nina Thomas of Tampa, Fla., and understudied by Alice Sommers of Rogersville, Tenn., who is also cast as Esmeralda, the danseuse in a troop of acrobats. Harriet Keen of New York City is Ludmilla, Marie's mother, and Martha Hygel, Asheville, will sing the role of Hata, a peasant girl.

'The Green Table' To Highlight Slate Of Satire Numbers

By Bettie Washburn

Featured in the performance of the Jooss ballet here tomorrow evening will be the dramatic satire on diplomacy, "The Green Table," which was awarded first prize at the International Congress of the Dance at Paris in 1932.

Admittance will be by season tickets for the Student Entertainment series. Others may buy individual tickets at Swain hall or Ledbetter-Pickard's. The performance will be in Memorial hall at 8:30 tomorrow evening.

The ballet's sequences show how the diplomatic "gentlemen in black," failing to settle their differences through sane discussion, throw their countries into turmoil by beginning a war.

"The Big City"

Another striking ballet to be included on the Jooss program is "The Big City," which embodies a series of impressions of a modern European metropolis. The streets are full of people who rush about their business without caring for or knowing each other. The last scene of the ballet reveals the disillusion that awaits a young girl who has deserted the working quarter on the arm of a handsome stranger who has dazzled her with his promise of adventure.

In direct contrast to "The Big City," Jooss offers "A Ball in Old Vienna," which portrays the gallant life in the 1840's, enlivened by the sentimental intrigues of fair ladies and their admirers.

New ideas are continuously under study for Jooss ballet repertoire and new talents at choreography, costuming and settings are always championed by the forward-looking Kurt Jooss, who has been called "the most original mind in ballet today."
