Governorship Fight Unsolved By Georgians

Talmadge, Thompson Both Claiming Post

Atlanta, Jan. 20—(UP)—The two contestants for the governorship of Georgia, M. E. Thompson and Herman Talmadge, traded sharp blows today, as Thompson appeared before the state senate and was given the oath of office by a Superior Court judge. When the Talmadge-dominated Senate discovered what was going on, they raised a howl, and pushed through a resolution calling for a joint session of the Legislature at noon tomorrow—to hear a speech by Talmadge.

And the resolution used the words, "His Excellency, Governor Herman Talmadge." Thompson forces opposed the resolution, but it went through.

Consider Excluding Negroes

The Georgia House of Representatives is considering a bill to exclude Negroes from voting in the state's Democratic primary. The bill, approved by both Governor Thompson and Governor Talmadge, received committee approval in short order.

Many Rivers Rising Over North Carolina

Raleigh, Jan. 20—(UP)—Weeks of rain and a constant downpour during the past twenty-four hours have brought the Pigeon River and smaller streams in Haywood county to the flood stage in mountainous western North Carolina.

Although there appears to be no immediate danger from uncontrolled flood waters, farmlands and rural roads have been submerged after the week-long drenching.

The Weather Bureau here says the Cape Fear and Roanoke Rivers in eastern North Carolina are expected to rise above flood level.

Flood stage is expected on the Cape Fear at Moncure, North Carolina, tonight and at Fayetteville Tuesday night. However, little damage is expected. The Roanoke River is expected to reach flood stage at Weldon Thursday.

Light Brazilian Vote Seen by Newspapers

Rio de Janeiro, Jan. 20—(UP)—Rio newspapers estimated today that a third of Brazil's seven and a half million registered voters stayed away from the polls in yesterday's state elections—despite the appeals by the Catholic church and Democratic leaders for a large turnout to counter the Communist vote.

Communists, who claimed a total of one million votes throughout Brazil, turned out en masse to vote for 20 state governors and legislatures, a 50-man Rio de Janeiro town council and fill 25 vacancies in the national senate and 18 in the chamber of deputies.

Ballot boxes were opened and "token" tabulating begun in the different states, but no indication of a trend was expected until tomorrow.

Reds Defeated Twice In UN Group Meeting

Lake Success, N. Y., Jan. 20—(UP)—Soviet Russia was defeated on two counts in the United Nations Security Council this evening. The council over-rode Russian objections against consideration of the dispute between Britain and Albania and voted to accept the American proposal to postpone talks on disarmament for two weeks.

Father of Prohibition Passes Away at Home

Granite Falls, Minn., Jan. 20—(UP)—Andrew Volstead, the father of the Prohibition Act, died at his home tonight after an illness of about three months. He was 87.

Student Party Selects Jack Booraem To Succeed Chuck Heath as Chairman

Group Chooses Head Following Deadlock

By Sam Whitehall

After an hour of heated balloting, marked by several compromises and deadlocks, the Student Party Sunday afternoon elevated Jack Booraem to their chairmanship replacing Chuck Heath, who has served in that capacity since re-forming of the party last March.

Though he was the first nominated candidate for the position, Booraem, party wheel horse since its rejuvenation, withdrew his candidacy. However, after three deadlock votes between Johnny Jones and Johnny Clampitt, he accepted the position, upon a successful motion that he be elected by acclamation to serve as temporary chairman for one month, until another election will be held.

Heath Declines Nomination

Chuck Heath early in the balloting was put up for reelection, however, he declined, stating, "I have served three times. I believe that it is time for new leadership within the Student Party."

Immediately a motion was made from the floor, which carried unanimously, that an office of advisory chairman be created, Heath to serve in that capacity. As advisory chairman he will serve ex-officio on the party steering committee, and will render a report on pertinent business at each mass caucus.

Bill Mackie, recently elected legislator from the town district, was chosen as vice-chairman, and Bettie Washburn was reelected to her position as party secretary.

Within the week Chairman Booraem will choose a steering committee of nine members, all party officers to be installed in the group.

Five Fellowships Open to Students

Opportunities for five American students to study in English universities during the year 1947-1948 are being made available by the American Committee of Management for the Charles and Julia Henry fund. The fund provides fellowships of 600 pounds (about $2,400) a year. The fellowships are open to both men and women.

Preference in selecting the fellowships will be given to students graduating from American colleges this spring and to those who have graduated since 1942.

Those selected for fellowships will have a free choice of subjects to be studied, and may attend either Oxford or Cambridge university in England.

The fund, established under the will of the late Lady Julia Henry, also provides fellowships enabling English students to study at Harvard and Yale.

Applications must be submitted on or before February 28, to the Office of the Secretary of Yale university or to the Office of the Secretary of the Corporation of Harvard university.

Arts, Craft Course To Begin Tomorrow

Registration for the second arts and crafts course is now open at Person hall art gallery and classes will begin at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening. The course will cover approximately 44 hours and will be held every Monday and Wednesday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock in the Caldwell hall studio under the direction of Mrs. John M. Foushee.

Instruction will be given in art metal (trays, bowls, desk sets); wood carving and the finishing of various woods; simple jewelry (from metal, ceramic, shell, bead); leather (tooling, finishing, and the salvaging and restyling of old leather articles); simple plastics; fabric decoration (linoleum blocking, silk screening, and hand stenciling); weaving (square-knotting, card carving); woolly toy animals; and book binding.

The fee will be $15.00 plus a minimum charge for certain materials.

Formerly the Student party vice-chairman, Jack Booraem, left, was Sunday afternoon chosen as a compromise temporary chairman, after long and heated balloting. The group retained Chuck Heath, right, as advisory chairman. Heath, who declined to run for the chairmanship again, had served in that capacity for nine months.

IRC to Conduct Campus Poll On American Foreign Policy

Voting Will Be Held in YMCA All Tomorrow; Students to Indicate Presidential Choice

By Helen Highwater

Students will vote tomorrow on questions of American foreign policy in a sweeping poll of opinion sponsored by the International Relations club. The polling place in the YMCA will be open throughout Wednesday and ballots will be counted in the evening. Final results will be released Thursday.

A presidential straw-vote and questions involving General Marshall, Soviet Russia, Peron's Argentina, China and the atom bomb are to be featured in the IRC poll. The actual queries will be published in tomorrow's Daily Tar Heel.

With over 2,000 students participating, Harold Stassen led Henry Wallace and James Byrnes in last year's campus-wide poll of presidential preference. Newspapers throughout the state published the results and many commented on, what they called, the liberal trend at the University.

"It is not only the results of the poll which the IRC is seeking," explained the club's president, Betty Anne Green, "we are interested in stimulating thought and discussion of international affairs on the campus. As they vote, we hope that students will stop and think and discuss many of the controversial problems facing the world."

Doctors to Honor Late Dr. Manning

Approximately 700 North Carolina physicians, graduates of the University of North Carolina two-year Medical school, have been invited to attend a memorial luncheon here tomorrow honoring the late Dr. I. H. Manning, it was announced today by Dr. George L. Carrington of Burlington, president of the University medical alumni association.

"The theme of the meeting," wrote Dr. Carrington in letters of invitation mailed to medical alumni residing in the state, "will be Dr. Manning's contribution to medical training and care in the state and the projection of his spirit into the solution of our present and future medical problem."

Dr. Manning was a teacher in the University Medical school for 39 years serving as Dean from 1905 to 1933.

Mid-Winter Press Institute Will Convene Here Thursday

Bascom Timmons, Washington Correspondent, Will Deliver Address at Opening Meeting

Plans were completed here today for the opening Thursday of the two-day annual mid-winter North Carolina Press institute to be held here and at Duke university. Registration will begin at 4 o'clock at the Carolina Inn Thursday afternoon. The opening session is set for 8 p. m. in Gerrard hall with Herbert Peele, Elizabeth City, president of the North Carolina Press association, presiding.

Principal speaker will be Bascom Timmons, veteran Washington newspaper correspondent. Chancellor Robert B. House will welcome the delegates, and President Peele will respond. Frank Daniels, News and Observer, Raleigh, will introduce the speaker.

Breakfast Meeting

The executive committee of the association will hold a breakfast meeting at 8 o'clock Friday morning at the Inn, and at 10 there will be a meeting of the associated dailies and a weekly clinic.

Several members of Chapel Hill's writers' colony, including Paul Green, Noel Houston, and James Street, will participate in a roundtable discussion of "Communication for Today," along with Earl Wynn, director of the University's Communication center, and Professors Leon M. Pollander and Stuart Sechrist of the journalism department, at a luncheon at the Carolina Inn Friday at 1 o'clock. Professor Walter Spearman will preside.

Following the discussions, the University Glee club, under the direction of Professor Paul Young, will entertain. A business session of the Press association is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Friday night the group will move over to Duke university where the closing dinner session will be held, beginning at 6:45. Principal speaker will be Sidney S. Alderman, prominent Washington attorney and member of the prosecution staff at the Nuremberg trials, who will be introduced by Willis Smith, Raleigh.

Cherry to Give Awards

Governor R. Gregg Cherry will present the annual press awards. Dean W. H. Wannamaker of Duke university will preside, and President Peele will make a brief talk. A Duke university quartet, under the direction of J. Foster Barnes will sing several selections.

Preceding the formal opening of the Institute, the North Carolina Associated Press club will hold a luncheon at the Carolina Inn at 1 o'clock Thursday, with Brodie Griffith, Charlotte, president, presiding.

Independent Coeds Will Hold Meeting Tomorrow Evening

The Carolina Independent Coeds association will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial.

Betty Anne Green, president of the International Relations club, will address the organization on "The Potentialities of CICA."

President Betsy Ann Barbee urges all members of CICA to attend the meeting in order that definite plans may be made for the fashion show to be sponsored by the organization in cooperation with Montaldo's. A tentative date of February 20 has been set for the fashion show, but it is necessary that the organization give its approval before further arrangements may be made.

Also on the agenda is the discussion of crested bracelets for members of the organization, plans for May Day festivities, and the co-sponsorship with the Pan-Hellenic council of Miss Martha Lucas, president of Sweet Briar College, who will address the coeds on February 24.

President Barbee also stated that the meeting of CICA is open to any independent coeds who might be interested in attending or joining the organization.

In its twenty fifth year of publication, the Review serves lawyers of North Carolina with professional treatment of significant developments in the law of the state and the nation. Editors are chosen on the basis of scholarship and ability.

Other staff members appointed are: Joe H. Barrington, Jr., Walter E. Brock, Jr., William H. Burton, Jr., Thomas G. Dill, Henry L. Harkey, John R. Jordan, Jr., Miles J. McCormick, L. P. McLendon, Jr., J. Dickson Phillips, Jr., Louis J. Poisson, Jr., J. T. Rendleman, Claude F. Selia, and Noel R. S. Woodhouse.

Welfare Board to Meet Thursday Afternoon

The Student Welfare board will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Grail room. On the agenda will be further discussion of automobile problems, the necessity for the establishment of a central scheduling agency for campus activities, and the advisability of smoking in classrooms and assemblies.

Hundreds of children in North Carolina have won the battle against infantile paralysis and regained their health during the last several years as the result of treatment made possible by your dollars and dimes. Above are two typical cases—8-year-old Leona Truelove of West Asheville (left) and 6-year-old Janice Dillinger (reclining) of Hendersonville, who are being visited in the Asheville Orthopedic hospital where they are patients, by Philip S. Randolph, state representative of the National foundation for Infantile Paralysis; Dr. Kenneth S. Landauer, assistant medical director of the National foundation, New York, and Harry S. Gruver, chairman, Buncombe County chapter of the National foundation, Asheville, left to right. Contributions of your dollars and dimes during the current campaign, which ends January 31, will save the lives of many such youngsters.
