Presidential Visit To Last Three Days

Washington, Jan. 28—(UP)—The White House has disclosed that President Truman is going to pay an official state visit to Mexico City a little more than a month from now. And the President will make the trip by his favorite mode of travel—airplane. Tentative plans call for him to spend three days touring Mexico City and other sections of the country, as the guest of Mexico's new president Miguel Aleman.

Later on, Aleman will return the visit. The White House emphasizes, incidentally, that the visit will not be a vacation—but an official state trip in line with the "Good Neighbor" policy inaugurated by the late President Roosevelt.

Broughton Defeats York In Race For Council Post

Voting Is Light As UP Man Wins By Small Margin

By Bookie Jabine

In one of the lightest voting turnouts in the history of University politics, Bobby Broughton, University party candidate, defeated Ed York of the Student party, 355-269, for the post of representative-at-large to the Student council.

Jabie Heyward, head of the Elections board, stated that the total vote cast was 628.

Little Excitement

Few students passed through the doors of Gerrard hall which were open all day yesterday for polling. None of the regular election excitement was present as the "Y" court was virtually void of campaigners and handshakers during election hours.

The election yesterday was a run-off between the two candidates who ran in the general elections last December. In that race, Broughton received 577 votes to York's 465. Al Lowenstein, an independent, polled 411 ballots. The fact that Broughton did not receive a majority necessitated yesterday's run-off.

Student disinterest and the proximity to last quarter's election was responsible for the light vote, election spokesmen said.

Former Honor Council Member

New Councilman Broughton is a former member of the Honor council and the Student Legislature. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

York, who conducted a more vigorous campaign than the winner, is president of the Interdormitory council and a member of the Student Welfare board.

Due to the light vote, Elections board officials had counted the ballots by 6 o'clock last evening. Four of the votes cast were disqualified, Heyward explained.

WSSF Request Student Help

Food, Books, Clothes Needed by Foreigners

"Students are asked not to give, but to invest in the World Student Service fund," Earle Page told the newly-named solicitors for the WSSF campaign beginning here February 10, last evening in Gerrard hall.

Textbooks, clothing, food and medical care are urgently needed by students in foreign countries, and, Page said, "We have what they need." Plants have been demolished, there is a great shortage of teachers, and students in many countries, who feel they have a responsibility toward their homelands and fellow men, have begun teaching classes for their elders.

The adults are learning to read and write under student tutelage, Page explained, and are learning the workings of their government. American students, therefore are being asked to give, and give sacrificially, in support of the campaign, he concluded.

Stuart, Morenus Direct Drive

Information for solicitors was distributed by Gay Morenus and Walt Stuart, campus co-chairmen. Speaking before the group, Morenus explained "We have a large quota—$5500—and we have got to get an average of a dollar from each student we contact."

Duke University's campaign, with a quota of $5000, will begin the same day that the UNC campaign gets underway. Twin thermometers are to be placed outside the YMCA, and reports will be recorded daily.

Vets' Club to Honor Kenan Coeds Tonight

This evening the doors of the Veterans club will be thrown open for the coeds of Kenan dormitory.

The escort committee will meet at the club at 8 o'clock and call for the coeds by 8:30. The club will supply the music and the Liggett-Myers Tobacco company has guaranteed plenty of free cigarettes. Ben Douglas will officiate as the master of ceremonies during the floor show. Highlights of the program will be songs by Moffitt Sherard, a humorous skit by the Gordon twins, and Jack Borney at the piano.

WESLEY COUNCIL

Wesley foundation council will meet at the Methodist church tonight immediately after vespers. President Bob Dulin has requested all students who are planning to attend the State Student conference in Greensboro, February 15, to be present.

Vespers will be at 7:15, the meeting at 7:45 and the weekly Bible class at 8 o'clock.

Special Assemblies Called For Freshmen, Sophomores

Two special meetings, the first of their kind in several years, have been called for this afternoon in Gerrard hall to take the initial step forward organizing the freshman and sophomore classes.

Students in their sophomore year will meet at 4 o'clock followed by a meeting of all freshmen at 5 o'clock.

All students who do not have over 36 quarter hours will be considered a member of the freshman class while members of the sophomore class has been defined as "any student who has attended the University more than three quarters and has between 36 and 84 academic hour credits."

A spokesman for the group stated yesterday that "a nominating committee will be chosen at the meeting to prepare a nomination list for class officers and it is urgent that every freshman and sophomore attend their respective meetings."

Dewey Dorsett to Speak On Student Constitution

President to Recommend List of Amendments At Meeting of Legislature Tomorrow Night

By Barron Mills

Interest in the Student Constitution is expected to reach an all-time high tomorrow night in Gerrard hall when Dewey Dorsett, president of the Student Body, will recommend a list of amendments to the Legislature. In announcing his plans for presenting the constitutional changes Dorsett stated that "many people don't like the idea and have already tried to stop the changes."

The Constitution committee headed by Dorsett began its work back in the summer and has spent considerable time since then planning the amendments that will be recommended to the Legislature tomorrow night. Members of the Constitution committee were selected from all parties represented on campus and from all phases of the student government. Included in its membership are: Fran Golden, Ray Jefferies, Bill Tate, Charles Warren, John Surratt, Charlie Vance, and Tom Eller.

The Student Legislature will meet at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall tomorrow night instead of the regular hour, announced Charles Warren, speaker. The change was made in order to finish the meeting before the basketball game at 8:30 o'clock.

The committee began its investigations following Dean Weaver's report, which in effect stated that the constitution as it was passed is now in effect on campus with the exception

Expert to Assist Tourney Aspirants

H. J. Duerr, famous bridge teacher and tournament director, will be on campus this week as a guest of Graham Memorial to assist UNC bridge players who have been invited to compete in the intercollegiate bridge tournament in Chicago in April. Duerr, now on vacation between semesters from duties as instructor in the philosophy department at the University of Buffalo, will be in the Grail room of Graham Memorial each afternoon at 5 o'clock to lecture on advanced playing techniques and bidding.

Howell Peacock, Graham Memorial bridge director, announced that he is still on the lookout for undergraduate students who feel qualified to play in the intercollegiate tourney. Elimination will begin as soon as the Chicago officials send the bridge hands to Carolina. The officials will grade the bidding and play of the students and determine the ability of each contestant.

General College Shows Majority; Admissions Down

By Bill Sexton

Despite a jump in enrollment of several hundred students predicted for the winter quarter by University officials last fall, the student body has increased by only 92 students since the fall term, Central Records Office Director E. S. Lanier said yesterday. Final enrollment total for the winter quarter, Lanier says, is 6893—compared to the fall term's 6802.

Over 600 Withdraw

A total of 747 new students have registered at the University, but an unexpected 656, after the last quarter, withdrew, graduated, or failed to return, the Central Records office's figures revealed. Admissions officials had predicted before Christmas that approximately 500 new students would register in place of an estimated 250 withdrawals.

Largest division of the University at Chapel Hill is the General college, which lists 2885 students. The College of Arts and Sciences is second with 1664 registrants. 1034 students are registered with the School of Commerce.

Enrollments in other branches of the University include the Graduate school, with a total of 753, Law school (217), Library Science (32), Medicine (79), Pharmacy (184), Public Health (122), and Social work (39).

Officials Reach No Decisions On Victory Village Rentals

FPHA Representative Rejects UVA's Plan Which Set $11 as Average Rent Reduction

By Ed Joyner

FPHA, OPA, UVA, and University officials deliberated on the subject of lower rents in Victory Village for two and a half hours yesterday afternoon without reaching any decision which will immediately affect the rents now in effect. Recommendations made by Ruffin Bailey, spokesman for the University Veterans association committee, to lower rents an average of $11 on the different types of living accommodations in the Village were rejected by Federal Public Housing agency representative H. L. Sullivan. Sullivan commented that the figures which the committee advocated as a fair rent based on values of comparable property were "cockeyed."

Further Consider

Only concrete decision to come out of the discussion was that University Business Manager C. E. Teague and Superintendent of Utilities J. S. Bennett, with the advice of Forrest Polard, OPA director attorney for the Chapel Hill area and with a UVA observer, will settle upon what they consider a fair rent for the housing development and submit it to the Atlanta FPHA office for approval.

The group proposed that a committee of student veterans be set up to act upon applications of Victory Village residents for rent adjustments. Adjustments are made when rents consume more than 25 per cent of the resident's income.

Participants

Bailey and Prof. F. W. Hanft of the law school faculty were the chief spokesmen for the student veterans group, with UVA President Roy Moose, Tom Mitchell, Tom Cole, and Hugh Wells also taking part in the discussion. Teague and Bennett represented the University while Sullivan was present for the FPHA and Polard and W. E. Byrd, Jr., attended the meeting for the OPA.

Sullivan also gave the opinion that the FPHA would consider favorably an application from the student buyers' cooperative to rent one of the Victory Village structures for use as a store.

IRC Members Discuss Marshall at Meeting

"Which way with Marshall?" was the topic under discussion at the weekly meeting of the International Relations club Monday night with John Bristow as presiding officer.

Stuart Lucas opened the meeting with a report on General George C. Marshall, presenting a brief resume of Marshall's past experience, giving examples of praise he had received from many high sources, and stating the 3 main problems which face Marshall today—acquaintance with American foreign policy, selection of personal staff and advisor, and consultation with the President on changes in the State department.

Lucas's report was met with controversy by Vincent Williams who expressed much fear with regard to the fact that our government seemed to be taken over by the military. The discussion then became an open one, and centered mostly around the non-military and military aspects of the government. Bob Rolnick closed the meeting with a few comments concerning the direction our foreign policy will now take.

At next week's meeting the speaker will be a Dutch student, Henrietta Rooserberg, who will speak for the World Student Service Fund.

TOURNEY TONIGHT

Due to the basketball game last night, the weekly bridge tournament was postponed until tonight. Regular starting time remains at 7 o'clock in the main lounge of the student union.
