Draft Defiers Hold Ceremony Burning Cards Selective Service Warns Protestors

Washington, Feb. 12—(UP)—Opponents of peacetime conscription for military service have defied selective service headquarters and staged a demonstration in front of the White House.

Several months ago conscientious objectors picketed the presidential mansion and the justice department.

In this latest protest a small group of men, mostly World War I conscientious objectors who went to jail rather than war, gathered before the White House and publicly burned what they said were their draft cards.

This was done despite a warning from selective service headquarters that the willful destruction of draft cards is a crime punishable by five years in prison and fines up to $10,000.

Police and plainclothesmen kept the demonstrators moving after a brief pause for the draft-card-burning ceremony, but no one was arrested and it was indicated that the police were instructed not to make an issue of today's picketing.

Hitch-Hiker Robs Man On Chapel Hill Trip

Chapel Hill, Feb. 12—(UP)—A Morrisville tobacco worker told Chapel Hill police today that a hitch-hiker forced him to drive from Durham to near Chapel Hill at gun-point early this morning, and then robbed him of $10 in cash and Navy discharge papers.

Leroy Clegg said he picked up the hitch-hiker in Durham and drove toward Apex. When he reached Lowes Grove, the man pulled a gun and made him head toward Chapel Hill, Clegg said.

The unidentified man made him stop near the Institute of Government training barracks on highway 54 and robbed him. Then the hitch-hiker forced him to drive to the intersection of West Franklin and Rosemary streets in Carrboro. There the gunman departed on foot.

Top Flight Duke Campus Band to Feature Ace Drummer Sammy Fletcher as Conductor

By Dave Owens

From the school that gave America Les Brown and Johnny Long comes another great band, this time under the leadership of ace drummer-man Sammy Fletcher. The Duke Ambassadors, to be presented in an hour-long free concert by Graham Memorial, tonight in Memorial hall from 8 until 9 o'clock, have been the outstanding musical organization on the Duke campus for more than a decade. The present band is rated by many as "tops" for all time.

Fletcher took over as leader of the Ambassadors in 1942, and that same summer found him making his bid for the "big-time" under the management of Music Corporation of America.

WSSF Collects Total of $187 In Lenoir Hall

Contributions Reach $1,200 During Week

By Ed Long

A total of $187 was collected at lunch yesterday from Lenoir hall in the "Take a fellow student to dinner" campaign, in connection with the World Student Service fund drive, to swell total contributions so far this week to $1,200.

Collections were also made at the Carolina Inn and at the N. C. cafeteria, but these totals have not as yet been tabulated. Students who failed to contribute yesterday can still do so since the drive extends through today.

Not Release Tabulations

Dormitory collections are rising rapidly but results will not be announced until after the completion of the service fund campaign Sunday.

Gay Morenus and Walt Stuart, co-chairmen for the drive, have pointed out that relief goes to Asiatic countries as well as to countries in Europe. In China, where the need for relief work is greatest, the second great migration of students is still in progress. More than 90,000 students are moving back from the war-time centers of study in the interior to the university campuses on the coast which had to be abandoned with the invasion.

Hardships Immense

The hardships of travel are immense and the task of rebuilding shattered campuses is enormous. WSSF offers help and encouragement through relief operations at rail and road centers where supplemental food, lodging, medical aid and other necessities are supplied. Ten new relief centers are being established in cities where the aggregation of students is greatest.

Men's Glee Club Begins 3-Day Tour Tonight

The Men's Glee club, under the direction of Paul Young, will go on a three day tour tonight, presenting programs at Meredith college, tonight, Winston-Salem tomorrow night, and a final program at WCUNC Saturday night.

Rufus Norris, baritone, and John Ellis, pianist, will be featured soloists at tonight's performance in Raleigh. Tomorrow night and Saturday night's appearance will feature Ed Vom Lehn, baritone, and John Ellis.

Pianist John O'Steen will accompany the Glee Club for the entire tour. Director Young stated that the Club will give a campus concert in March.

Dance for Married Students To Be Held Tomorrow Night

A Valentine dance for all married students will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial tomorrow night from 9:30 until midnight. Admission is free and dress for the affair will be optional, according to Martha Rice, director of Graham Memorial, sponsors of the dance.

The "Stardusters," popular Candlelight Room quintet, will furnish music for the dance by courtesy of the student union night club.

"The dance will not start until 9:30 because of the Georgia Tech basketball game tomorrow night. Dress is optional so that couples leaving the game can just drop by Graham Memorial for the dance without having to change into formal or semi-formal dress first," said Miss Rice.

Free bids for the dance are available at the office of Graham Memorial or from any representatives of the Carolina Dames.

College Center Students Faring Well

Grades Are on Par With Average Here

The approximately 1,000 students enrolled in the 12 North Carolina College centers throughout the State are averaging practically the same grades as students in the University at Chapel Hill and State College in Raleigh on the same subjects, C. E. McIntosh, assistant director in charge of the centers, said recently.

The courses, including English, social science, mathematics, botany, chemistry, physics, French and Spanish, cover the same amount of material as do these courses being given at the University and at State, and the teachers, according to McIntosh, are for the most part as highly qualified as many University instructors.

Only Slightly Behind

The grades the college center students received this fall and winter, he said, were just slightly behind those of University students in all subjects.

One hundred teachers compose the staffs at the 12 centers which are Albemarle, Burlington, Burnsville,

Summer Enrollment May Break Record

Advance Applications Number 200 More Than Received at Same Time Last Year

Prospects for enrollment in the summer session look very promising, as indicated by the advance requests for information, according to reports from Chancellor Robert B. House and Director Guy B. Phillips today. There are 200 more requests now than there were at the same time last year when the enrollment for both terms was the largest in the history of the University, Director Phillips said. There were 3767 enrolled in the first term last summer, and 3351 in the second term, making an all-high total of 7118 for one summer.

The first term this year will open June 12 and continue through July 22, with the second term starting July 23 and continuing through August 29.

Must Apply in Advance

Due to the housing shortage, Director Phillips said, it will be necessary to apply for admission to the summer session in advance. All applicants not now enrolled in the University should apply at once for admission to either or both summer terms if they wish to attend, he said.

Applications should be sent directly to Director Phillips who will refer approved requests for campus dormitory space to Dean Katherine Carmichael for women and J. W. Wadsworth for men.

Men's dormitories will be operated on the same plans as during the regular term with priorities as follows: 1. Students now in residence (North Carolina veterans, North Carolina non-veterans, out-of-state veterans, and out-of-state non-veterans). 2. Former students, with veterans and non-veterans coming in the same order, and 3. new students, same.

Women, Men on Same Basis

Women students will be admitted to all classes of the summer session on the same basis as men. Those eligible are graduates of standard high schools, college students from other institutions, teachers holding regular state certificates, graduate students, special mature students who are not applicants for a degree, and institute groups.

A student entering as a regular freshman should apply directly to Director of Admissions Roy Armstrong. Director Phillips pointed out that a balanced program of graduate courses will be offered in the various fields. Particular attention, he said, will be given to graduate work for teachers, the courses being designed to meet the requirements of the North Carolina Graduate Teachers' certificate.

AVC Urges Control Of Rent Ceilings

At a brief meeting Tuesday evening held prior to the Duke basketball game AVC members heard a report on a current congressional bill to lift the ceilings on rents presented by Garry Fullerton.

At Fullerton's request a resolution was passed urging all veterans on campus to write individual letters to their congressmen to keep the ceilings in effect.

In addition the local chapter voted to conduct a campus public opinion poll in collaboration with some other organization.

All Credits Earned Can Be Transferred

Charlotte, Fayetteville, Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, Hendersonville, Murphy, Rocky Mount, and Wilmington. All have enrollments of 30 or more. Charlotte and Wilmington have the largest registrations with 278 and 212 respectively.

By vote of the North Carolina College Conference all credits earned in a college center are transferable to a college or university within this state.

Summer school director, Guy B. Phillips, announced that the largest enrollment in the history of the University is expected for this summer's session.

Solons Debate Amendments Assembly Postpones Council Discussion

By Bookie Jabins

After tabling the much-publicized student council amendment, the Student Legislature last night busied itself with constitutional changes of a more mechanical nature, passing three and defeating three.

Primary in importance was the unanimous passage of an amendment which would shift the spring elections from the first Tuesday in May to the first Tuesday in April, and advance the date of the December elections by one week.

Although the voting was unanimous, it was in the discussion of this bill that Speaker Charlie Warren and Parliamentarian Jimmy Wallace carried on a two-way verbal shooting match.

Wallace rose on the point as to when the amendments would be referred to the student body. Warren called Wallace out of order.

Wallace replied, "I am not." Said Warren, raising his voice, "Mr. Wallace, you are out of order, sit down!"

Wallace declared that his remarks were pertinent to the floor. Then the Speaker looked straight at Wallace and said, "I wish you would sit down," and went on to further discussion.

But Wallace refused to be pushed aside, and shouted, "As parliamentarian of this assembly, Mr. Speaker, I declare you out of order."

Then Wallace took a seat. It was unanimously approved that the amendments be put before the student body in the general elections this spring.

The amendment to put two faculty members on the Student Audit board met with expected opposition. Johnny Clappitt, chairman of the finance committee, rigorously opposed the measure. Finally, the change was amended so that the faculty representatives would have no vote as to the board's policy, only to act as advisory members.

Debate waxed long over the amendment to do away with the House Privileges board, but the assembly unanimously accepted the change.

Chief opposition to the bill was concerned with just who did have the power to check on the fraternity-coed visiting agreement.

Speaker Warren announced that there will be a meeting of the legislature this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall. This session has been called to discuss several bills which have been hanging fire to the constitution debate.
