Senate Caucus Fixes Budget

Group Hikes Figure Of Joint Committee

Washington, Feb. 18—(UP)—The Senate Republican caucus late today voted for a budget of $33,500,000,000 for the 1948 fiscal year. The figure is four and one-half billion less than President Truman's recommendation but a billion and a half more than that of the joint congressional budget committee.

The vote for the smaller cut was 22 to 19, with one GOP senator sticking to a five billion reduction figure.

Although the caucus vote does not bind the GOP membership in the upper house, it does indicate that the senate will vote for the lesser cut in view of the expected support from the Democrats.

Debates Tomorrow

Debate on the budget ceiling starts in the senate tomorrow. House Republicans will hold a caucus on it at the same time. The lower chamber is expected to stick to the six billion cut when it votes tomorrow.

The Senate is expected to debate the subject for about a week.

WSSF Asks Fraternity Group To Select House Solicitors

The central committee for the World Student Service fund campaign has announced that the Interfraternity council will be asked to appoint solicitors for each fraternity house, since only one fraternity had contributed at the completion of the drive Monday.

Phi Gamma Delta has contributed $47, according to Gay Morenus, co-chairman for the drive, bringing the tabulated total to $2,200. Fraternity solicitations will be made only through tomorrow. The campaign can be termed a success, Morenus said. "We barely topped the $1000 mark last year and the committee feels that the over 200 active campus workers for the campaign can be highly commended," she added.

The committee has released some sample total contributions from territories included in the drive. Among them were Victory village, $33; Kenan dormitory, $45; Alderman dormitory, $72; and Mangum dormitory $31.26.

Many groups on the campus have given special offerings in the campaign, including the Wesley foundation, the Baptist Student union, Aquinas club, Presbyterian Student group, Canterbury club, Congregational Christian Young People, and Methodist Young Adults' Sunday School class.

Ralph Hyde Quits Ivy Tower to Help Race Relations

Sociology Major Aids Negro Book Drive

By Ken Rothwell
"I'm tired of sitting in an ivy tower philosophizing about race relations and doing nothing about it."

These are the words of Ralph W. Hyde, a senior in sociology from Montgomery, Ala., who probably devotes more time to improving race relations than any other student on the campus.

When the Negro residents of Carrboro last fall decided to launch a book donation drive for the library in their community center, they received aid from such organizations as the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the American Veterans committee. Hyde, a member of both organizations, saw in this an opportunity to translate his words into a constructive line of action.

Collected over 700 Books

The campaign over on the campus, Hyde took it from there and formed the liaison between Chapel Hill and the leaders of the Negro community. Over 700 books had been collected, ranging from light fiction to highly technical textbooks, that had to be transported to Carrboro, catalogued, and arranged on shelves.

Since that time he and his committee of interested students have shared

Two Horns as Easy as One For Jivester Sonny Dunham

By Bookie Jabine

Two horns are as easy as one for Sonny Dunham, trombone-trumpet playing band leader who will appear here at Saturday's concert and dance sponsored by the German club.

One of the few top-flight musicians who have mastered both instruments, Dunham fronts an 18-piece band which features "subdued swing-appealing to both young and old."

On the bill with Dunham will be Paula Kelly and the Modernaires, a vocal group which have won fame chiefly through recordings.

Concert Saturday

The concert scheduled for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Memorial hall, while the dance, to be held in Woolen gymnasium, will get underway at 9 that evening. The German club figure will be held at the Saturday affair.

No newcomer to swing circles, Dunham has been under the big tent for several years playing with numerous other bands before forming his own.

Playing for Friday night's dance, which will be held in Woolen from 8 until 12 o'clock, will be Dean Hudson and his orchestra whose main claim to fame is innumerable college engagements and dates at some of the bigger east coast night spots.

Carroll Tomlinson, president of the German club, explained that tentative plans call for a concert in Memorial hall on Friday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock.

House Managers Group Invites Participation

The House Managers' association, organized several fraternities on campus during the fall quarter, invites all fraternities not participating in its program as yet to send their house or dining room manager, and/or treasurer to attend their meetings every Monday night at 6:30 in Graham Memorial.

The aim of the organization is to make for more efficient operation of fraternities from a house and dining room management standpoint. Mutual problems and possible solutions are presented, aside from the actual sharing of information about sources of supply, services, and prices.

Some of the more important problems under consideration are employee wage stabilization, uniform employee vacation policies, and a cooperative dining system.

Furniture Excess Will Be Checked In Dormitories

The buildings department of the University will make a check through men's dormitories of the upper and lower quadrangles in a few days to remove surplus furniture and to attempt to bring furniture in all rooms up to the required level, dormitories manager Bill Smith said yesterday.

At the present time there is not enough furniture available to equip fully all rooms, and the University has been unable to procure new furniture beyond the amount designated for new dormitories, Smith said.

Normal complement of furniture for a two man room is one double or two single tables, one bureau and two chairs; for a three man room, one double and one single or three single tables, two bureaus, three chairs; for a four man room, two double or four single tables, two bureaus, four chairs.

Students in rooms containing either more or less furniture than the normal requirements may report the discrepancies to Bill Smith in the Utilities office, South building basement.

UVA Open House Party To Feature Tumblers

Continuing their policy of open houses for women's dormitories the University Veterans' association this evening will entertain residents of Smith and Archer house.

A. B. Coleman will be master of ceremonies of the floor show which will feature a six-man tumbling act to be provided by the physical education department. Frank Alspaugh, former cheerleader, will lead the group and Bob Miller, R. H. Elliott, R. H. Swigart, Buddy Crone, and James Lloyd will participate.

Also on the program is singer Marion Butler, to be accompanied by Jack Bailey on the piano.

Nebraska Drama Group Will Sponsor Contest

The contest carries a prize of $100 for the winning play, which must not have been produced before its entry date. Entry blanks may be obtained from the department of dramatic arts or the English department.
