Budget Group Vote 30% Hike In Teacher Pay

Cherry Recommends Increase in Salary

Raleigh, March 6. — (UP) — The joint Appropriations committee has voted a 30 per cent salary increase for school teachers and 20 per cent pay raises for other state employees.

The pay increases were recommended by Governor Gregg Cherry, and the committee voted for a $30,000,000 reserve fund to underwrite the appropriation. The committee's action cleans up work on the appropriations and reserve fund bills. And work will start next week on the permanent improvements appropriations bill for the next two years.

Up until today, Cherry had recommended only 20 per cent raises for the teachers. But he sent the joint appropriations committee a letter recommending that $3,000,000 a year be added to the school budget which had been prepared by the Advisory Budget commission.

John L. Lewis Guilty States Supreme Court

Washington, March 6—(UP)—Supreme Court has found John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers union guilty of contempt of court for ignoring an injunction to call off the coal strike last fall. The 7 to 2 verdict of the Supreme Court was handed down at an extraordinary midweek session today. The high court upheld the ten thousand dollar fine imposed on Lewis personally. But it cut the union's fine from three and one-half million dollars to 700 thousand dollars—provided the union complies with the injunction against the strike. That means no coal strike can be called until Federal seizure of the mines ends on June 30th, unless Lewis goes to court again and secures judicial consent to break the union contract with the government.

Delivery of Class Tickets To Start Tomorrow Morning

"Lanier's Lottery"—as the new registration system devised by Central Records office director Edwin S. Lanier has been dubbed—will start paying off at nine o'clock tomorrow morning when first class tickets for the spring quarter will be delivered to students in Memorial hall.

The distribution will be alphabetically, as follows:

Joe Byrd Gets SP Nomination For Secretary-Treasurer Post

Party Completes Campus Major Endorsements Except Yackety Yack, Carolina Mag Editors

Culminating more than three weeks of research into qualifications the Student party Wednesday afternoon virtually completed its nominations for all major campus-wide posts except the editors of publications.

Joe Byrd, until recently clerk of the Student Legislature and now a member of the Legislature Ways and Means committee, won the Party's nomination for secretary-treasurer of the student body. He will be a running mate of Tom Eller and Don Shropshire, who received SP approval last month.

Student party candidates for members of the Student council were selected from a list of more than 30 names. Bob Dulin, Marvin Hogan, and Bill Wood were selected as the men's representatives. Nina DeBarry, Nan Guy, and Mimi Massey will be the women's representative candidates. The candidates for members-at-large are Barbara Cashion, Mary Swan, and Al Lowenstein.

It is expected that publications nominations will be made at a meeting Monday at 4 o'clock in the Roland Parker lounge. Party meetings have traditionally been open for all students on campus who are not members of another political party and a motion to expel a member failed by a large margin at Wednesday's meeting.

Commissions Open In Marine Corps To UNC Veterans

Veterans of any branch of the service now attending the University may obtain commissions in the Marine Corps by enlisting in the Corp's newly-launched platoon leader's classes, Capt. R. W. Smith, Jr., USMC, said today.

"Students selected for the program are enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve (Inactive)," explained Capt. Smith. "As reservists, they are subject to call to active duty only during a state of national emergency, unless they request such assignment. All training is conducted during the summer months, none during the college academic year."

Students enlisted in the program will take their training in two summer periods at Quantico, Va., receiving corporal's pay during the first phase and sergeant's during the second. After graduation from the University the trainees will be eligible for appointment to the rank of Second Lieutenant, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

All interested applicants are asked to contact Capt. Smith at the Naval Armory, sometime between March 10 and the 22, between the hours of 9:30 and 4:30.

Seniors Must Get Graduation Bids

Dotson Palmer, president of the senior class, has urged all seniors to order graduation invitations from the Grail booth in the YMCA as soon as possible.

Prices are $.35 apiece for leather covered booklets while the paper covered are $.25 each. Personal name cards have to be ordered separately. The booth in the YMCA will be open between the hours of 9 and 1 and 2 and 5 o'clock daily.

Di Senate Gives Shropshire Award

Meeting Wednesday evening the Dialectic Senate awarded their retiring president for the past two quarters, Don Shropshire, a Certificate of Honor. This award, given for outstanding work and accomplishments in the Di, is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a member.

Two bills were debated and passed by the Senate in their last session of the winter quarter.

By a vote of 14-0, a bill was passed opposing the actions of the U.S. American Activities committee of the United States Congress.

A bill in favor of increasing subsistence allowances of all single veterans attending college to $85 a month and all married veterans allowances to $110 a month was passed over strong opposition led by Dan McFarland. Charlie Long and Dick Owen led the fight for passage of the bill.

A copy of this resolution will be sent to the senators and congressmen from North Carolina.

Two members, Earl Fitzgerald and George Rabil, were initiated into the Senate.

Inauguration ceremonies for the new officers will be held March 26.

Broadway Comes to Chapel Hill...

'Arms and the Man' Will Be Presented Here By Barter Theatre Actors Monday Evening

By Harry Snowden

Broadway comes to Chapel Hill Monday evening when the Barter theatre presents George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" in Memorial hall. Featuring such stars as Chaucy Horsley, Herbert Nelson, and Tom McDermott.

Many of the Barter Players have appeared in Broadway productions and all have had extensive experience in the theatre. Chaucy Horsley, the leading lady, is called "a theatrical phenomenon, an actress who grew up on the 'Great White Way'." Under the direction of Robert Porterfield, the Barter theatre members have gained a reputation of being as versatile as they are talented.

Most Successful Comedy
As amusing and ironically true as when Shaw first conceived it, this play has been one of the modern theatre's most successful comedies. It was first introduced by Richard Mansfield in 1899 and since then has been performed with great success by such stars as Arnold Daly, Lunt and Fontanne, and the Old Vic's Laurence Olivier and Ralph Richardson.

"Arms and the Man" should appeal to many of the ex-G.I.'s on the campus because it is a satirical comedy based on the story of the professional soldier as compared to the war-time soldier," says the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot. "It is impressive for the timelessness of its message, delivered in the dry, rapier-like wit of Shaw's superb dialogue, dispelling many fanciful delusions about gloves of war and the nobility of heroes, yes, and of heroines, too."

Four Students Enter Writing In Arts Forum

Annual Event at WC Set for March 20, 21

The writing of four University of North Carolina students has been singled out for discussion at the Fourth Annual Arts forum to be held at Woman's college in Greensboro on March 20-22.

UNC authors honored by inclusion of their work in this forum of nationwide interest are Ralph W. Hyde, Edgar Bowers, Paul Ramsey, Jr., and Don Justice. Hyde's contribution is the short story, "Gabe and the Will of God," while the other men are represented by poetry. Three out of the four writers have had stories and poems published in the Carolina Magazine this year. Ramsey, Bowers, and Justice are members of the Carolina Writers club.

The Arts forum, which has quickly grown into a position of great importance both within the state and outside, was started as a small scale experiment in 1944. The second year it discussed work only from three colleges, all within the state. In 1946 the Writing forum took on a regional character and was representative of undergraduate work from 10 Southern colleges.

This year, the writing represents undergraduate efforts selected from 159 pieces of verse and 138 of prose submitted from 23 colleges. Such institutions as Kenyon, Bard and Hollins college, the Universities of Oklahoma, Tulane, Virginia, Iowa, Duke and Alabama are among those whose students' work will be discussed at the forum.

The panel of critics for the three-day session is led by Robert Penn Warren, author of the recent best-seller "All the Kings Men" and one of America's outstanding literary critics. Other members on the board include UNC English department men Lyman A. Cotten and Charles E. Eaton, and the Sewanee Review editor, John E. Palmer.

In announcing the Forum officials invited all interested students from UNC to attend the series of lectures, addresses and seminars. Fee for the entire program is one dollar. In addition to the purely literary, there will be the presentation of T. S. Eliot's verse-play "Murder in the Cathedral," an exhibition of student-paintings from colleges throughout the nation.

Taylor Says Recent Bills Tend to Protect Trusts

Idaho Senator Praises Work of Lilienthal In Address Sponsored by CPU Last Evening

"The numerous bills which have been introduced in Congress for the purpose of taking different industries out of the anti-trust laws constitute the greatest threat to anti-trust enforcement today," Glen H. Taylor, Idaho's banjo playing Democratic Senator, declared in a campus address last evening.

Senator Taylor named bills exempting newspapers from the coverage of anti-trust laws, which he said would destroy the effect of the Supreme court's decision in the Associated press case; the bill to exempt insurance companies, "making it possible for them to conspire together to increase premiums and decrease services, and the Bulwinkle bill, which would exempt railroads from the coverage of the anti-trust laws."

The Senator's address given in Memorial hall, was sponsored by the Carolina Political union, non-partisan student organization headed by Jerry Davidoff.

Banquet at Inn
Preceding the address, the Senator, who was accompanied by his wife, was guest of honor at a banquet at the Carolina inn. Introducing him to the Memorial hall audience was Wilkins P. Horton, former lieutenant governor and president North Carolina member of the Democratic National committee, who was also a special guest at the banquet.

Other guests included columnists Lynn Nisbet and W. T. Bost of Raleigh; Harry Ganderson, Greensboro attorney and one of the founders of the CPU, and Bernice Wechsler, president of the Woman's college International Relations club.

Railroad Monopolies
Senator Taylor said "the problem of railroad monopolies is one in which I feel an especial interest here tonight, for it is one of the most dramatic bonds between the west and the south. My part of the country suffers from the same difficulties as yours, and the solution to our problems is quite similar," he declared.

"The south and the west occupy a semi-colonial status, and both of us are producers of raw materials," he said. "We do not even manufacture the finished products we buy in our own retail stores. We grow and mine and we ship our raw materials to other parts of the country to be finished.

"Our economy thus remains unbalanced, and railroad freight rates are among the chief causes of this unfair situation," he asserted.

Senator Taylor said freight rates have been arranged "so as to permit the east to take the raw materials out of the south and the west cheaply and, at the same time, to block any attempt on their part to ship finished products—a neat way of guaranteeing that the south and the west would lose the advantage and profit from processing their own raw materials.

Cheap Electricity
"If we are to develop the west and the south, we need new sources of cheap electricity," Senator Taylor pointed out. "We must continue to develop our rivers, irrigation, flood control and navigation."

Referring to the TVA which he described as "the dream of a small group of determined legislators who zealously dedicated themselves to the public good, bringing cheap electric power to homes and farms throughout the region, Senator Taylor said the operation of TVA, under David Lilienthal, is "receiving a brilliant administration along the non-partisan, non-political lines prescribed in the original act.

"But while Mr. Lilienthal received the plaudits of the people of the area, he earned the undying enmity of the political bosses," he declared. "With puritanical inflexibility he refused to compromise with them in any way, rejecting their importunities to load the TVA payroll with political appointees. His eyes and the eyes of his colleagues were fixed on the goal of public service."

Desire to Destroy TVA
Senator Taylor said he believed the See TAYLOR Page 4

Piano Recital Will Be Given By Groseclose

Frank Groseclose, senior from Atlanta, Ga., will present a piano recital Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill hall in the fourth of a series of student recitals presented by students in the University Music department.

Groseclose, a pupil of Dr. William S. Newman, has written music for dance, and incidental music to an experimental play produced in the spring of 1946 by the Carolina Playmakers. He is a member of the Men's Glee club, and was one of the accompanists for last year's Christmas concert by the combined glee clubs in Memorial Hall.

The program will include representative works from the baroque, Viennese classical, romantic, and modern periods, including a J. S. Bach toccata and a sonata by Charles Koechlin, contemporary French composer. America will be represented in the program by a work of Ernest Bloch.

ROTC Summer Cruise Set for West Indies

Plans for the annual summer cruise of University ROTC students have been released by the local Navy unit, and tentatively call for a trip to Panama, Bermuda, and through the West Indies. Student trainees will report to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, on June 19, embark on a carrier, a cruiser and four destroyers on June 21, and return to Norfolk, August 15. Contract seniors of the Unit will accompany the convoy on a light cruiser for three weeks, but will return to Norfolk July 11.

Cruise schedules for freshmen and other students not participating in the above maneuvers have not been made as yet.

One or two of the Navy officers stationed at the University will also make the eight week cruise.

Herbert Nelson and Chaucy Horsley play a love scene from George Bernard Shaw's brilliant satire on war, "Arms and The Man," a Barter theatre presentation.

The proceeds will go to the Carolina for its members. Tickets can be purchased at the Y or Ledbetter Pickard's.
