

EDITORIAL:

- Proof of What?
- Raising Racquet
- World Affairs

The Daily Tar Heel

THE ONLY COLLEGE DAILY IN THE SOUTHEAST

VOLUME LV

United Press

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, APRIL 13, 1947

NUMBER 163

Paul Vittur, trombonist, and Billy Thompson, Chapel Hill grammar school xylophonist, will be the featured soloists in the concert to be presented by the University band in Memorial hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The program will include "Amparito Roco" by Jaime Texider; "The Merry Wives of Windsor Overture" by Otto Nicolai; "An American Rhapsody" by Victor Cherven; "Adagio" from Cello Concerto by Haydn; "Street Scene" by Alfred Newman; "La Sorella March" by L. Gallini; "Peter's Chinese Nightmare" by C. W. Coons; "Perpetuum Mobile" by Johann Strauss; "First Norwegian Rhapsody" by Melius Christiansen; and "Jericho" by Morton Gould.

NEWS BRIEFS

Auto Workers Wage Demands Taking Shape

Pay Hike not Enough, Declares Union Head

Detroit, April 12—(UP)—The new wage demands on the auto industry are beginning to crystallize.

Earlier today, General Motors offered a temporary ten cent per hour cost of living increase to 265,000 hourly rate employees. The United Electrical Workers union was the first to reject the GM offer, on the ground that it was unsatisfactory.

Reuther Statement

Then Walter Reuther, President of the United Auto workers, said the increase fails to meet the higher living costs. The UAW is demanding a 23 and a half cent increase. However, Reuther said the offer will be presented to GM workers for a decision. The third union involved in the offer, the United Rubber workers, has made no comment on the proposal as yet.

At the same time, the Auto Workers union also has filed strike notice against the Chrysler corporation. The union has been negotiating with Chrysler since last October over a 23 and a half cent hourly pay hike.

Return to Work Move Ordered by Mine Chief

Washington, April 12—(UP)—John L. Lewis is reported to have authorized each district president of his United Mine Workers Union to order a back-to-work movement to pits they consider safe. The move would clear the way for an early end to the mine safety strike.

Anti Closed Shop Bill Passed by Labor Group

Washington, April 12—(UP)—The House Labor committee has approved by an 18 to 4 vote a drastic strike control bill which, among other things, would outlaw the closed shop. Chairman Hartley predicts house passage of the measure by next Friday.

New Efforts Underway In Telephone Strike

Washington, April 12—(UP)—The Labor department says new efforts are underway to break the deadlock in the telephone strike. The Labor department says that what it calls "exploratory discussions" are being held with union and company officials.

Truman Praises F.D.R. In Missouri Address

Kansas City, April 12—(UP)—President Truman told a nationwide radio audience that "time will confirm Franklin Roosevelt's outstanding place in history." He praised the late President as "a great humanitarian who brought hope and courage to despairing hearts when fear was destroying the faith of the people."

WEATHER TODAY
Fair and Mild

Local 'Mr. Hush' Mystery Solved by Telephone Call

The mystery of "Mr. Hush" has been solved. But the lady who identified the Daily Tar Heel's now infamous picture will not receive a trip to New York with all expenses paid.

However, she does have the thanks of a bewildered staff whose members had sought vainly all week long to find out whose photo the newspaper had run over the name of W. Raymond Taylor of the Woman's college.

Eager beaver DTH reporters and headline writers vied for the honor of solving the riddle, but none came close. The University news bureau was also in the dark. Just as one of the DTH night editors was being credited with "the perfect crime," the phone rang.

A very pleasant-voiced lady was on the other end. One sentence later the mystery had been solved.

The man in the photo was L. P. McLendon, prominent Greensboro attorney and member of the Board of Trustees. "Mr. Hush," or rather Mr. McLendon, who at present has a son registered in the University, has made no comment.

The DTH staff, still slightly confused, apologized to both Messrs. Taylor and McLendon.

Graham Memorial to Present Famed Imitator Wednesday

Harry Welch, 'Man with Thousand Voices,' Called Greatest One-Man Show on Earth

By Dave Owens

The character whom Walter Winchell called "the greatest one-man show in all the world" will be presented in the main lounge of Graham Memorial on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the person of Harry Foster Welch, the man with a thousand voices.

Welch is the original and exclusive voice of Popeye, the spinach-eating salt in Paramount's zany comedies and often doubles as Olive Oyl, Wimpy, Pluto and incidental Goons. He was the Big Bad Wolf in "The Three Little Pigs" and six of the Seven Dwarfs, and can be Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and any of the chattering creatures of the Silly Symphonies.

King Gustave Laughs

"King Gustave of Sweden never laughed so much in his life," says Popular Science, "as at Harry 'Pop-eye' Welch doing the opera Carmen. Because of an amazing sound organ, he is able to imitate every instrument in a large orchestra, ranging from the French horn down to the steam calliope." Martinelli Swarhout, Tibbets, the famous bulls, and conductor Toscanini will be performed by the Man with a Thousand Voices.

Welch and his amazing voice range have appeared on programs with many celebrities. Besides being guest star at the Press club's banquet for President Roosevelt in Washington's Mayflower hotel, Welch has been seen with Mark Hellinger, Dorothy Kilgallen, Robert Ripley, Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, Bill Tilden, Harry Herschfield, Chic Young and Otto Soglow, among many others.

Entertains Royalty

During the first World War, when he was serving with the Fifth Infantry in France, he was much in demand as an entertainer. Once he went from the front lines to Paris for two weeks to entertain Albert, King of the Belgians, and Generalissimo Armando Diaz of the Italian army. Back at the front, he suffered a sharpnel injury in his left hip, but he explained, "I entertained all the fellas in the hospital." Just 15 years later he did the same thing for King George V of England at Buckingham Palace.

18-Wheeled Unit Has Generators

By Raney Stanford

Director Earl Wynn and staff members of the University's recently organized Communication center, which is badly in need of funds to carry on an ambitious program, have come to a conclusion that there must be a Santa Claus after all.

At an estimated cost of only $150, the Center has secured a gigantic 18-wheeled truck and trailer, valued at $106,000, from the United States Army Signal corps, to be converted into a radio strength field testing unit. This means, explains O. W. Hungerford, technical director of the Center, that the new equipment will be used to test the strength, range and coverage areas of ordinary radio stations, and of new frequency-modulation and television transmitters.

Fit in Well

With the high output possible in the portable generators (25,000 watts),

Winner of CMH To Give Talk This Evening

Aquinas to Sponsor Father O'Callahan

Father Joseph T. O'Callahan, S. J. Congressional Medal of Honor winning chaplain, will speak this evening at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall under the joint auspices of the Aquinas club and the Duke university Catholic club.

Termed "the bravest man I have ever seen" by Captain Leslie Gehres, commanding officer of the aircraft carrier Franklin, Father O'Callahan received the country's highest military award for service when his ship was struck and set afire 60 miles off the coast of Japan in March, 1945.

Navy Citation

His Navy citation read, "When the carrier was turned into a floating inferno by the aerial bomb and the explosion of her own ammunition and bombs! Chaplain O'Callahan left his battle station on the island bridge to go to the blazing flight deck. There he administered to the wounded and dying of all faiths, organized and led fire-fighting crews, braved already burning ammunition magazines, jettisoned live ammunition and manned a hose to cool hot bombs rolling dangerously on the listed deck. Though wounded in action, he continued his life-saving efforts in spite of suffocating smoke and searing heat."

Speaking to a graduating class at Georgetown university, Father O'Callahan said, "Almost everyone intends to take life seriously, but too often this resolve degenerates into a case of self-delusion. Many who think that they are taking life seriously are actually only taking themselves seriously. Who takes himself seriously is over-conscious of his rights; who takes life seriously is fully conscious of his obligation."

CRIL to Sponsor Speech By Hartt this Evening

Tonight's Sermon is Seventh in Series Featured by University Religion Group

Dr. Julian Hartt, professor of theology and philosophy of religion at Yale Divinity school will deliver the seventh in a series of University sermons this evening in Hill hall at 8 o'clock. The subject of his address will be: "The Church." As both teacher and pastor he is well qualified to speak on this topic.

Before coming to Yale Dr. Hartt was professor of philosophy at Berea college, Kentucky, having come there after graduate work at Garrett Biblical institute, Northwestern university, and Yale Divinity school. Between 1932-34 he served as pastor of a Methodist church in South Dakota.

These sermons are being presented by the Council for Religion in Life and are organized around the Hazen books on Religion. The CRIL, now under the direction of Ben Perlmutter, has presented many able speakers in this year's series. The organization has attempted to get, in so far as possible, the authors of this series of books. That failing, it has gotten substitutes as competent and engaging as possible.

DR. JULIAN HARTT

World Affairs Association To Debate Truman Doctrine

With a forum on the controversial "Truman Doctrine" the Association of the Study of World Affairs will open its program Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock to bring to the campus the most accurate information available on international relations of the present day. As yet the site of the forum has not been determined but announcement will be forthcoming.

Campus Leaders Participate

Participating in the forum will be leaders of campus affairs who can give all sides of student opinion on the subject. Bill Miller, former president of the Debate council and a candidate for the presidency of the student body will join with Jimmy Wallace to give opinions and facts in favor of the American foreign policy while Ben Rouzie, chairman of the Chapel Hill chapter of AVC and Blount Stewart, former chairman of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare will speak against it. Herb Bodman, secretary of ASWA, will moderate.

The ASWA was formed this winter with the purpose of taking active action to bring to the campus, and later to the state as a whole, all information available on present world problems. It is a non-partisan organization designed to present all sides without discrimination.

Magill Speaks

Preceding the forum, ASWA Chairman Orrin Magill, will speak on the objectives of the group and outline its program for the spring quarter, while after the forum there will be opportunity for students to interrogate the members of the panel.

YMCA Will Elect Officers Tomorrow

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock the YMCA will elect officers and board members for the coming year. All members are urged to attend this meeting which will be held in the main lounge at Graham Memorial.

The following have been nominated for positions: President, Charles Foley; Vice-President, Robert Purdue; Freshman Secretary, Ed Hamilton; Secretary-Treasurer, Meade Deggs.

Don Broad, President of the YMCA has asked all members to attend this important meeting.

Julian Hartt to Talk To Wesley Foundation

Dr. Julian Hartt, professor of theology and philosophy of religion at Yale divinity school and CRIL speaker, will address Wesley Foundation at 7 o'clock tonight on personal religion.

Wesley's Sunday evening program will begin at 6 o'clock with a supper and fellowship period. All students are invited to participate in all or a part of the activities.

Communication Center Gets Power Truck from Army

18-Wheeled Unit Has Generators

By Raney Stanford

Director Earl Wynn and staff members of the University's recently organized Communication center, which is badly in need of funds to carry on an ambitious program, have come to a conclusion that there must be a Santa Claus after all.

At an estimated cost of only $150, the Center has secured a gigantic 18-wheeled truck and trailer, valued at $106,000, from the United States Army Signal corps, to be converted into a radio strength field testing unit. This means, explains O. W. Hungerford, technical director of the Center, that the new equipment will be used to test the strength, range and coverage areas of ordinary radio stations, and of new frequency-modulation and television transmitters.

Fit in Well

With the high output possible in the portable generators (25,000 watts),

Valued at $106,000 and secured at a cost of only $150, the truck and trailer pictured above will add valuable equipment to the University's newly organized Communication center. They will provide a radio strength field testing unit and valuable equipment for the Center's motion picture production program.

Hungerford said, the truck and trailer will fit in well with Center motion picture production, being able to run cameras, lights, and sound-recording equipment in any place not served with power outlets of sufficient strength to do this type of work.

"We obtained the vehicle, and all the technical equipment contained in it, through the government disposal of surplus military properties," Director Wynn explained. "They told us if we could get it from Baltimore to Chapel Hill, it was ours."

During the week's vacation between the winter and spring quarters, four student veterans, George Aycock of Richlands, Robert L. Dewar of Fuquay Springs, Clyde K. Brooks of Ware Shoals, S. C., and Jesse H. Meredith, Chapel Hill, all ex-GI drivers, took the train to Maryland at the expense of the University and drove the massive truck back from See COMMUNICATIONS, page 4.