Police Report Twin Suicide In Jerusalem

Irgun Members Take Lives in Jail

Jerusalem, April 21—(UP)—Jerusalem police report that two condemned underground members committed suicide in prison tonight. The two Irgun extremists reportedly were slated to go to the gallows before dawn tomorrow.

Immediately after the police announcement, unconfirmed reports circulated that the condemned men blew themselves up just as their executioners were preparing them for death.

Double Suicide

The double suicide comes as the Jewish underground is renewing its attack against the British in retaliation for the execution of four extremists last week. The underground has warned that it will take ten lives for every one execution and as a result the authorities have clamped a strict curfew over the entire Jewish section of Jerusalem.

Chief Executive Warns Against Price Boosts

New York, April 21.—(UP)—President Truman has warned that an economic depression can be avoided only by prompt steps to halt "the rapid rise in prices." In a major address to the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, Mr. Truman asked business to lower prices wherever excessive profits made it possible. He said wage demands from labor have generally been moderate so far this year, and he urged labor to keep them that way. Mr. Truman said emphatically that "the government policy of supporting farm prices is not the cause of prevailing high food prices." The President urged extension of government controls over rents and again expressed opposition to income tax cuts now.

Secret Session Held By Foreign Ministers

Moscow, April 21.—(UP)—The Big Four foreign ministers held a two-hour secret session today in an attempt to make a deal on the major disputed issues of the Austrian peace settlement. Official spokesmen say that "further discussion" is expected, which may mean that important compromises are being studied.

Murray Won't Comment On Merger Invitation

Pittsburgh, April 21.—(UP)—CIO President Philip Murray was in conference with steel union leaders when the A. F. of L. announced it had invited CIO officials to a peace meeting on Thursday. Murray said he would not comment on the proposed merger until he received the formal invitation.

Marshall Asks Adoption Of 'Truman Doctrine'

Summer Session Pre-registration Begins In May

S and F Troupe Scores Big Hit On First Night

Sound and Fury's curtain rose last night on a stageful of entertainment, as the first performance of "What a World" hit the boards.

The large first night audience indicated audibly to the S and F troupe that they had gotten their money's worth out of the production. Tickets are still available for this evening's performance, the final one of the run, at 75 cents each, on sale at the Y, from S and F members, or at the door tonight.

"What a World" is scheduled to begin again tonight at precisely 8 o'clock, according to S and F President Bill Carmichael, who predicted that this evening's show "will be even more terrific than last night's."

Carmichael went on to state, "I can't promise anything, but our audience this evening should be prepared to expect anything, even a brand new show."

Roy Cole's orchestra is providing the music for the comic extravaganza, which features John Shearin on the vocals, a chorus of cute coeds, Carolina's leading gridiron men, and the inevitable and inimitable Dan the Dog.

Rev. B. C. Cooper Gives Album of Photographs To University Library

Rev. Bertram C. Cooper, new student chaplain of the Episcopal church, has presented a large album of reproduced photographs, depicting a pageant which was arranged in 1912 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Krupp firm of Essen, to the University library.

The album, bound in heavy white vellum and red gothic lettering, contains photographs showing 16th century scenes and personages forming the elaborate pageant which the Krupp millions had spared neither effort nor money to prepare.

There is irony inherent in this family glorification, since the actual pageant never took place, because of the great disaster in the Krupp works in 1912. The photographs in this album were made at the dress rehearsals.

Research and expense lavished upon making these costumes authentic, has made it of especial value in the history of costume, for students, or for anyone who wishes to visualize German dress of the latter Middle Ages.

The album was brought back from Germany by Margaret Bourke-White. Two pictures from it were used in an article on the Krupp family in Life Magazine several months ago. Later the book came into the possession of Mr. Cooper, who generously presented it to the library where its reproductions of costumes and its ironical sidelight on the Krupp family will be available for study and research.

Musicians at Home....

North Carolina Symphony To Appear in Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, home of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, will get its opportunity April 28 to hear the famed musical organization which is in the midst of its annual concert season, appearing in all sections of the state from the mountains to the coast.

Directed by Dr. Benjamin F. Swalin, the orchestra, whose personnel numbers upwards to 65, will appear in Memorial hall twice on Monday, April 28. The main concert, for adults, will be given that night at 8:30 o'clock, while the free school children's concert is scheduled for that afternoon at 2:30.

Tickets for the evening concert will be on sale, beginning next Monday, at Ledbetter Pickard's. It was pointed out at symphony headquarters here today that this will be a general ticket sale, adults $1.85, students $1.25, and not a membership concert.

The symphony's tour, the largest this spring in its history, will continue through May 16. Beginning in Reidsville April 9, the entire orchestra will have appeared in 25 different cities and towns by that time giving two concerts in the large majority of the communities.

DR. SWALIN

In February and March the Little Symphony, composed of 20 of the regular orchestra personnel, toured the smaller towns of the state. By May 16, the two groups will have given a total of 115 concerts in 59 different communities to set a new record.

The Gordon String Quartet, brilliant music ensemble under the direction of Jacques Gordon, will present a concert in Hill hall this evening at 8:30.

The program will include Brahms' "Quartet in C Minor," L'Oracion del Torero, by Turina; a quartet movement in C Minor (Unfinished) by Schubert; and Beethoven's "Quartet in B Flat Minor."

The public is invited to attend the concert, and guest tickets may be obtained from the office of Hill hall today. Seats will be reserved for the holders of guest tickets until 8:20, after which the general public will be admitted.

Affray Charges Placed by Police Against Watkins

With the trial of the three taxi drivers charged with assaulting a Carolina student set for today in Recorder's court here, Chapel Hill police announced yesterday that Martin Watkins, struck April 14 after he had been conversing with a colored woman, had been indicted for engaging in an affray along with the three drivers. Police said Watkins and the drivers would be tried together today.

Charges against Watkins, former High Point Golden Gloves champion, were filed by police yesterday after routine investigation of the incident reportedly revealed that the young veteran had "willingly" engaged in the tussle with the cabbies. The affray charges include the drivers as defendants, and are to be tried simultaneously with the assault charges filed last week against the drivers by Watkins.

Graham Memorial Gets Set of Notice Boards

Two new lobby display boards are now available for use for publicity purposes in Graham Memorial, student union director Martha Rice announced. These boards, purchased so that clubs and organizations might advertise their functions and meetings to better advantage, are 30 by 40 inches with masonite backing described as gold antique.

Posters should be limited to sizes not more than 11 by 15 inches, according to Miss Rice, so that none will crowd out the others. These measurements are the same as a Daily Tar Heel, folded once.

Havana Revolution

Havana, April 21—(UP)—Unidentified assailants with machine guns and pistols attacked the capitol buildings in Havana tonight while the Cuban Senate was in session.

Summer session pre-registration will begin early in May for those students now enrolled in the University, announced Central Records Director Edwin S. Lanier yesterday.

Class schedules have already been released, and may be obtained at the information desk in South building or in Memorial hall lobby.

According to Lanier, this is the first time that a class schedule has appeared for both terms of a summer session so far in advance, and the first time that it has appeared as one record rather than two separate schedules.

"Even though actual registration will not begin until May, those persons who expect to pre-register for the summer session are urged to submit preliminary, tentative enrollment cards this week," stated Lanier. The cards are available, along with the class schedules, at both South building and Memorial hall.

Issues Warning

Lanier warned that failure to submit the preliminary enrollment cards might result in a student's being unable to register for a course, or courses, of limited capacity.

For courses in great demand, the cards will aid in establishing a priority list of students for such courses, or, if possible, to create additional sections. It was stressed, however, that tentative enrollment cards do not limit or commit a student in any way if he happens to change his mind about taking any course.

Any student enrolling for the summer session may not take less than six nor more than nine credit hours, except with permission of his dean or adviser.

Jim Crow Laws Topic Of Phi Discussion

The Phi assembly will discuss the effect of the Jim Crow laws on contemporary society with the aim to determine whether they are outmoded and in need of amendment.

The subject matter has recently again been brought into the foreground by occurrences in Chapel Hill. Several students who have expressed their convictions openly and through the medium of the Daily Tar Heel have been invited to participate in the debate which will be held tonight at 7 p. m. in Phi hall, fourth floor, New East.

Visitors are cordially invited to attend.
