

The Daily Tar Heel

THE ONLY COLLEGE DAILY IN THE SOUTHEAST

VOLUME LV

United Press

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, APRIL 29, 1947

NUMBER 177

NEWS:

- Traffic Survey
- Veterans' Furloughs
- Allen-Kinberg

EDITORIAL:

- I'd Rather Be Right
- Vandalistic Violation
- Merry-Go-Round

NEWS BRIEFS

Marshall Tells Futile Story Of Conference

Says Russia to Blame For Meeting's Failure

Washington, April 28. — (UP) — Secretary of State George Marshall has told the American people the story of his 46 futile days at Moscow.

In his sober account of the recent Big Four Foreign Ministers conference, Marshall reiterated his charge that Russia was responsible for the failure of the meeting. Speaking over most major radio networks, Marshall accused Russia of blocking agreement on all major issues in the German and Austrian peace treaties by refusing to compromise on her demands—demands that Marshall said inevitably would lead Germany and all Europe back into dictatorship and strife.

Marshall also revealed for the first time some of the things that Stalin told him during their man-to-man talk just before the conference ended. Marshall says Stalin told him he did not expect any "great success" from the Moscow meeting. Stalin advised the Secretary of State to have patience and not become pessimistic because eventually all the deadlocked problems would be resolved.

With a slight touch of emotion in his voice, Marshall said, "I sincerely hope the Generalissimo is correct."

Strike Negotiations Show No Near Finish

Washington, April 28. — (UP) — Negotiations aimed at drafting a pattern for settling the nationwide telephone strike were adjourned tonight after a session at which the American Telephone and Telegraph company reportedly hinted it might back down from its previous refusal to make a wage offer. Negotiations will be resumed at 11 a. m. EST tomorrow.

WEATHER TODAY

Considerable cloudiness, no temperature change.

Experts Will Listen To Veteran Problems At UVA Clinic Today

All University veterans confronted with problems concerning National Service Life insurance will be given the opportunity to clear up such matters today by the University Veterans association, in the form of an expert-studded G. I. Insurance clinic scheduled to be held at the UVA club house from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 1 to 4 p. m.

UVA President Hugh Wells stated that the clinic will be set up by a group of men from the sub-regional Veterans administration office in Durham. These officials will be well-equipped to answer any and all queries concerning NSLI, including such issues as conversion of G. I. insurance, reinstatement, and option of benefit payments.

Film Will Be Shown

"One World or None," a new film on the effects of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima and its possible future use, produced under the auspices of the Committee on Atomic Information and secured through the University Communications Center will be shown free this afternoon at 5 o'clock on the fourth floor of Alumni building.

AVC to Meet to Hear Report of Convention

American Veterans committee members will hear a report on the southern regional convention held in Atlanta last week when the organization meets this evening at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church.

UP STEERING COMMITTEE

The steering committee of the University party will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Graham Memorial to discuss candidates for humor magazine editor.

Public Law 346 Veterans May Receive 'Furloughs'

State Engineer To Survey Local Traffic Problems

Allen-Kinberg Declare For Humor Mag Editorship

VA Will Grant Leave Period For Trainees

Forms to Be Ready Within Two Weeks

By Earl Heffner

"The old Army game has taken a twist for the better." Student veterans studying under Public Law 346, the GI Bill of Rights, in some cases are eligible to an ersatz furlough during periods of absence from the academic grind.

In a release yesterday from Veterans Affairs Officer Col. F. C. Shepard, this information was made public with the following announcement coming from the Richmond Branch office of the Veterans administration:

"It has been determined that authorized annual leave may be granted to veteran trainees at the end of the spring term in cases where the veterans have stated an intention to continue in school for the summer quarter, or to return to school at the beginning of the fall quarter.

"It will be necessary for the veterans to request such leave in writing, and veterans should be fully advised that this leave will be charged against their period of eligibility.

"In cases where school records are not available to indicate the amount of leave that the veteran trainee has already taken, the veteran's signed statement as to the amount of leave he has taken may be accepted.

"Accrued leave may not be granted to veterans who have finished their courses or who do not signify an intention to re-enter the same institution with the opening of the summer school term or the next regular session."

Col. Shepard revealed that forms for requesting such leave will be available within the next two weeks at the office of the veterans adviser, 208 South building, or the Veterans administration office, 119 Peabody. Notice will be published when the forms are available.

Requests for leave must contain the veterans C-number, the number of months, and the number of days of leave used during the 12-month period. However, the used leave will not include vacation periods between the fall and winter, and winter and spring quarters, but will include the 15 days granted last fall upon the request of the veteran and the days of absence from school during the regular session. In regard to the latter, the signed statement of the veteran will be the final authority as to how many days he has been absent from class.

Leave is accrued at the rate of two and one-half days a month with a maximum of 30 days allowed for each 12-month period.

Institution of this leave system has come as a direct result of intensive efforts sparked by Col. Shepard and the University Veterans association led by former President Roy C. Moose and the present UVA head, Hugh Wells.

Further information may be obtained from Col. Shepard or through the medium of letters addressed to the Daily Tar Heel editorial department.

Student Party Elects Town Representatives

The Student Party Sunday afternoon nominated Blanton Miller, Ben Perry, Jim Taylor, Blount Stewart, Ted Young, and Maurice Braswell for town representatives to the student legislature.

EDDIE ALLEN

Special Session Of Legislature Called by Warren

Speaker Charlie Warren has called a special session of the Student legislature for tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Di hall to complete consideration of the elections bill which has been hanging fire for some time.

At last Thursday's session, the assembly passed all sections of the measure except article six which deals with polling places. The bill, as drawn up by Johnny Clappitt's elections committee, provides for voting boxes to be placed in the lower quad, McIver, Gerrard hall, Lenoir hall, and the Carolina inn.

Numerous amendments were offered to this set up last week, but all were turned down since the legislature districts have not yet been reapportioned, and a bill is pending on the re-precincting of the town district.

Until these measures come off the table, lawmakers feel that final action cannot be taken on the elections bill.

In letters sent to the legislators, Warren made a statement urging members "to assume more responsibility and make the legislature an efficient body."

He also urged quick passage of the government record bill which would provide for the publication of an organ "to inform students of the progress of student government."

Journalists Enter Contest As Co-Editors

Columnists of DTH To Run for Office

Campus publications men, Eddie Allen and Jud Kinberg, were announced last night as candidates for co-editors of the newly-created humor magazine. This move by the two well-known Daily Tar Heel-Carolina Magazine writers is the first double-entry for a top post in the coming elections.

Allen, Charlotte Observer sports columnist before coming to the University, and Kinberg, New York Times deskman and former editor of the U. S. Army newspaper for the Berlin area, have both been active on campus publications this year. In releasing their candidacy, the two men gave as their prime objective, "a magazine that will present the top humorous writing on campus. Only by achieving that high standard can we hope to make permanent the publication of a humor magazine here."

Between them, Allen and Kinberg have a record of newspaper-magazine experience in collegiate, professional and armed services ranks. At UNC, Allen has been Associate Editor of the DTH, special writer for the Carolina Magazine and a contributor to its May humor issue.

Kinberg served as managing editor of the DTH before leaving for the Army in 1943. Since returning to school this fall, he has been active as managing editor of the Carolina Magazine and as a regular columnist for the DTH.

Both men have gained a reputation as humor writers through their newspaper columns, Kinberg being best known for his creation of the column-writing character, Dan the Dog. The two writers have also been active in the University News bureau, where Allen served as sports department head last year.

In their joint statement, the candidates said, "If we are to make the infant humor magazine successful in the year to come, we know that it will take the cooperation of just about everyone on campus. Together, we can establish it as the equal of any in the nation."

JUD KINBERG

Senior Banquet Tickets on Sale At YMCA Today

Tickets to the annual senior class banquet will go on sale this morning in the YMCA at 9 o'clock. The banquet, scheduled for May 8 at 7 p. m., will be held in the Carolina inn. Tickets will cost two dollars.

The banquet is one of the highlights of Senior week and will afford June graduates their last chance to get together before graduating. Several speakers are being contacted and the entertainment committee has promised to provide an outstanding speaker for the event.

Part of a gala Senior week schedule which also includes a barefoot day, "saddle shoe stomp," and the junior-senior dance featuring music by the Duke Ambassadors, the banquet will be held next Thursday night and will be over in time for those who have to study to do so. The junior-senior dance will be held on Friday, May 9.

Tickets to the banquet will be on sale all week in the Y from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

CLASS OFFICERS MEETING

All freshman and sophomore class officers and committeemen for the forthcoming dance will meet tonight in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial hall at 7 o'clock.

Study Results From Action By Legislature

Trustees Will Act On Recommendations

By Ed Joyner

As a result of action instituted by the Student Legislature, Robert A. Burch, State Highway commission traffic engineer, will come to Chapel Hill this week to begin a traffic survey preparatory to making recommendations to help solve campus and town traffic problems.

Burch, a graduate of the Yale school of traffic engineering, will study the problems of campus parking areas and make a survey of traffic passing congested points about the campus and town at rush periods. Following his survey, which will last a week or ten days, Burch will make recommendations for improvements to a safety committee which has been appointed by Chancellor Robert B. House.

With the increased University enrollment in the last year and a half a corresponding influx of motor vehicles brought new traffic problems to Chapel Hill. Recognizing these problems, the Student Legislature last fall passed a resolution asking Chancellor House to appoint a traffic safety committee to investigate and make recommendations to meet the situation.

The safety committee set up by House was chairmaned by Walt Brinkley and consisted of Clifford Pace of the Institute of Government, Sgt. R. S. Harris of the State Highway patrol, T. W. Bruton of the Attorney General's office, Town Manager T. E. Hinson and Town Attorney C. P. Hinshaw, P. L. Burch and J. A. Williams of the University Business office, and J. B. Linker and J. C. Lyons of the faculty.

During the winter quarter Duke Wilder replaced Brinkley as chairman and Allen Pannill was added to the committee.

One of the first problems that the safety committee came up against was the discovery that neither the Chapel Hill police nor the State Highway patrol or any other agency had authority to enforce traffic regulations on University streets.

To remedy this difficulty, T. W. Bruton of the Attorney General's office drew up a bill which provided that the highway "rules of the road" as set forth in chapter 20 of the North Carolina general statutes be made applicable to the streets of the University. The bill authorized the board of trustees to adopt any further regulations they deemed necessary.

After the proposed bill was considered and approved by the safety committee, the Chapel Hill board of aldermen, and the executive committee of the board of trustees, it was presented to the state legislature by the representatives of Orange, Wake, and Guilford counties and passed on April 5.

Since passage of the bill a sub-committee of the safety committee, composed of Duke Wilder, Clifford Pace, J. B. Linker and J. A. Williams, has been working out traffic and parking regulations to apply to the campus.

Final recommendations of the committee will be submitted to the board of trustees meeting in June and will go into effect during the summer sessions.

IT'S ORIGIN a debating society established in 1795, the Phi assembly is now in its 150th year on the Carolina campus. With its brother society, the Di senate, the Phi is credited with enlarging the University library, originating the Carolina white and blue colors, and of publishing the forerunner of the present Carolina Magazine. The officers of the society pictured are, top row, left to right: Robert Morrison, John Giles, Charles Britt, Margaret Goodman, Lester Sneed. Bottom row: Peter Gerns, James Hill, Chester Zum Brunnen, Orren Hyman, Margaret Jean Taylor, Charles Cowell.