Debate to Stop On Labor Rule

Proposed Bill Curbs Closed, Union Shops

Washington, May 12-(UP)-The Senate will finally vote on its labor bill tomorrow afternoon at 12:30. The upper chamber has approved a proposal by the Republican leaders which would prevent any new amendments from being introduced after today, with the final vote being taken tomorrow.

Sponsoring Talk In Gerrard Hall Students May Hear Communist Leader

Giving the University community a chance to get the personal angle on the Communists in the nation today, the Carolina Political union, nonpartisan student group, will present Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, chairman of the woman's division of the Communist party of the United States, in an address in Gerrard hall at 8:30 this evening.

Miss Flynn, who is expected to speak on the aims and position of the Communist party today, is the third speaker to be brought to the University this year by the CPU. Her topic is "Are Communists Un-American?"

Few people in the nation are more qualified to represent such views than is Miss Flynn, whose advent into radical politics came early in her youth when she joined and was an active organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, and from then until the present she has been associated with many important strikes and labor cases, including the Sacco and Vanzetti case, the Mesabe strike, the Tom Mooney strike and the Pat-

Jerry Davidoff, chairman of the Carolina Political union, who will preside at tonight's meeting, urged all who can possibly come to attend this presentation, "which will be an authoritative and exciting discussion of a much discussed topic."
