Carolina Tracksters Grab Southern Conference Championship

Duke's Ausbon Leads Scorers In Title Meet

Simmons Sets Pace; Moody Gains Record

By Morty Schaap

Carolina annexed its sixth Southern Conference title this afternoon when the power-laden tracksters swept past 12 opponents to score 83 points in capturing the 23rd Conference Track championship at Fetzer Field yesterday afternoon.

A heavy downpour caused the meet to be held up for a half hour and left the track in the form of a sea of mud. This caused most of the running events to be slowed down but even with this handicap some of the best times of the year were turned in.

Only Record

The only record that went out of the books was in the high jump when Freshman Jack Moody of Carolina leaped to a new mark of 6 feet 3 inches. The old mark was set back in 1931 by Stewart of Auburn. The new standard added a quarter inch to the books.

Double winners in this meet included Doug Ausborn of Duke, who was individual high scorer. He took first in the 100-yard dash and the broad jump, also added a second in the 220-yard run and ran on the winning Duke relay team to give him a total of 15 1/4 points. Chuck Simmons of the Tar Heel squad was second high with firsts in both hurdles a tie for third in the high jump and fourth in the javelin for a total of 14 points. Roger Neighbour of Duke took wins in the quarter and half-mile events.

The only other double winner was Tar Heel "Snipe" Seligman, who captured honors in the shot put and discus.

The other individual winners were Norm McLeod and Bob Bowles of Duke who tied in the pole vault, Ike Eichorn of Maryland in the javelin, Jack Milne of Carolina in the mile, Chuck Chambers of State in the 220-yard run and Jimmy Miller and Sam Magill in the two mile.

Milne ran off with the mile run finishing about 10 yards ahead of teammate Alvin Smith with Jimmy Miller in the third spot. Milne grabbed the lead at the end of the half mile and never was headed after that.

U. S. Palestine Role Makes Agenda of CPU

Leading off with an introductory report by Ben Perlmuter, the Carolina Political Union tonight will discuss the relationship of the United States to the current crisis in Palestine.

Discussion will begin at 8 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial.

Retiring Chairman Jerry Davidoff has requested that all members be present. Visitors also are invited.

Dr. Graham Set To Give Charge

Dr. Frank P. Graham is going to deliver the charge to the new officers Monday night in Gerrard hall. This is the annual inauguration ceremony, at which Dewey Dorsett will install all newly-elected officers.

Dr. Graham will tell newly-elected officers about the heritage and tradition of student government at Carolina and will admonish the new officers to give the campus vital and active leadership.

Near East Trouble Will Be IRC Topic For Meet Tonight

"Trouble in the Near East" will be the topic of tomorrow evening's International Relations club meeting at 7:30 in the Graham Memorial Roland Parker lounge.

Andre Saltoun, I.R.C. member from Baghdad, will report on the growing nationalistic movement in the Arab countries and on the policies of Russia, Britain and the United States in that crucial area. All students were invited by I.R.C. President John Bristow to take part in the discussion.

Meanwhile, the club's executive committee went ahead with plans for an extensive summer schedule of panel discussions and special speaker programs.

President's Mother Resting Peacefully After Heart Attacks

Grandview, Mo., May 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Martha Truman, mother of President Harry Truman, is reportedly sleeping intermittently but restfully following two heart attacks.

The report was issued by the President's personal physician, Brigadier General Wallace Graham, who added, "It's just a case of a fine old machine wearing out."

President Truman is now at the bedside of his 94-year-old critically ill mother. His plane landed at the Grandview airport in a thunder storm. The President then hurried through pelting rain to the little yellow cottage where Mrs. Truman had suffered a relapse.

As Inflation Continues

Subsistence Increase Hope Wanes Before GOP Decision

By Earl Heffner

Hope for an increase in GI subsistence took a fade-out yesterday with news from the University Veterans Association President Hugh Wells of a conversation between him and Solon Carl Durham, representative in Congress from the sixth district.

Wells explained that Representative Durham has little hope for the ability of H. R. 870, the increase measure, to get out of committee.

Roughly, the chaotic situation seems to broil down to a divergence of opinion between the Democrats, now a minority party, and the Republicans, recently installed on the legislative throne.

An Order

"The House Veterans Affairs committee wants to read out the measure, place it on the floor," said Wells, "but, reports are that the Republican powers that be have handed down an order that the bill remain in committee until Congress adjourns."

The gagging procedure is being further facilitated by the intricate workings of the Rules committee.

"Representative Durham has indicated," continued Wells, "that the increase probably will be forced to remain in committee until Congress adjourns. Then, when Congress convenes again, the entire program supporting the bill must be begun over again."

Contradictory

This cloudy report contradicts previous optimism resulting from study by the Ramey sub-committee of the veterans affairs group.

Wells pointed out that he and Representative Durham concur in the belief that the only hope for the early passage of the increase lies in pressure on the budget-cutting Republicans.

Symphony to Give Hill Hall Concert Next Wednesday

Miss Mary Louise Emery, graduate assistant in the Music department, will be the featured soloist with the University Symphony orchestra when it presents its third and final concert of the quarter Wednesday evening at 8:30 in Hill hall.

The orchestra, under the direction of Professor Earl Slocum, will play the "D Minor Symphony," by Franck; Stokowski's symphonic transcription of "Komm Süsser Tod," by Bach; and "Concerto No. 466," for piano and orchestra, with Miss Emery as soloist.

The University Symphony Orchestra has given three previous concerts this quarter, all under the direction of Professor Slocum. Admission to the concert will be free.

Dr. Jordan Will Give Sermon This Morning

Dr. G. Ray Jordan, professor of preaching at Candler School of Theology and one of the South's leading Methodist ministers, will deliver the morning, sermon at the 11 o'clock service at the Methodist church today.

Dr. Jordan is well known in this section, having served pastorates in Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

Dr. P. H. Epps, professor of Greek at the University, will speak to Wesley Foundation on the credibility of the Bible at its 7 o'clock meeting tonight. Wesley Foundation supper, to which all students are invited, will begin at 6.

Prior to Dr. Epps' talk new officers will be elected. A group of the students from North Carolina State college will lead the worship service.

Princetonian To Be Speaker Here on June 8

Memorial Hall Site For Final Service

Dr. Paul Lehmann, well known religious teacher and editor, who at present is visiting lecturer in social science in Princeton university, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the commencement early next month.

The sermon is scheduled for Sunday morning, June 8, in Memorial hall. Commencement gets under way Saturday, June 7, and continues through Monday, June 9, when graduation exercises will be held at twilight in Kenan stadium.

Visited Here

Dr. Lehmann visited the University here last winter when he delivered one of the regular quarterly convocation addresses for faculty, students and townspeople. He is associate religious book editor of Westminster Press.

A graduate of Ohio State university, Dr. Lehmann took his B.D. degree in 1930 at Union Theological seminary in New York, and for the next two years was an assistant in the Department of Systematic Theology. Appointed Fogg travelling fellow for 1932-33, he studied with Dr. Emil Brunner in Zurich and with Dr. Karl Barth at Bonn that year.

Upon his return to this country, he taught in the Department of Religion at Elmhurst college, Ill. He received his doctorate in theology at Union Theological seminary in 1936. He was ordained a Christian minister in 1937.

From 1941-46, Dr. Lehmann taught at Wellesley college and was appointed to his present position last year.

Author

He has published "Forgiveness: Decisive Issue in Protestant Thought" and a translation from German of the book, "Re-educating Germany" by Werner Richter.

Dr. Lehmann is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Haddam House editorial board and the American Advisory commission of the World Council of Churches which is preparing for the 1948 assembly in Holland.

Delegates to Report On Leaf Strike Study

Students for Democratic Action will hear a report from delegates sent to study the tobacco strike at the R. J. Reynolds plant in Winston-Salem at a special meeting to be held at 8:30 tomorrow night in the Grail room.

Local representatives were Margie Myers, Miriam Silverman, Clarence Barbour, Harold Bock and Ernest Boatman. They visited the scene of the strike yesterday.

DRUMMER BOY—Nelson Benton will be in the feature role of this afternoon's band concert at 4 o'clock on the lawn under the Davie Poplar with a trap drum solo. In case of inclement weather the concert will be held in Hill hall.
