

Phi Kaps Top Roaches, 4-1, To Gain Campus Softball Title

Jones Pitches Two-Hit Game

Beta, Independents Horseshoe Victors

By Gil McLeod

Phi Kappa Sigma's mural nine showed true championship form yesterday afternoon when it won the campus softball crown by stopping the Roaches, 4-1.

Tony Jones, whose two-hit pitching last Tuesday gave the Phi Kaps the fraternity crown, made a repeat performance in yesterday's contest when he and his teammates made the Roaches' sluggers look ineffective for the first time this season.

The Phi Kaps scored three of their four runs in the first inning when they lined out four safeties off the slants of Jim Godwin. After Bubba Austin had won a free trip to first, Don Ward beat out a bunt and Bud Stanbach followed with a single to score Austin from second.

Johnny Richardson then received a walk, and Don English came up next to belt out a line single scoring Stanbach and Ward. The other Phi Kap score came in the third inning when Stanbach tripled and English singled into center field.

The Roaches scored their single tally in the fourth when big Max Spellman caught one of Jones' floaters on the nose and sent it flying into left field for a home run.

In winning the campus softball crown, the Phi Kaps went through both the regular season and tourney play undefeated. Besides having several dependable hitters, they easily have the outstanding infield combination to grace the local diamonds this year.

Meanwhile, the horseshoe champs in both the fraternity and dormitory division were being decided in the pits beside Woolen gym, with the Independents and the Dekes grabbing the honors. The finals will be played the first of next week.

In the only tennis match played before the rains came yesterday, Phi Gams downed the Phi Deltas, 3-2.

In the fourth mural sport in yesterday's play, Sigma Chi scored a 1-0 soccer win over Physical Ed. No. 1.

'Mr. Rebound' Paxton Elected Captain Of 1947-48 Tar Heel Basketball Team

By Irwin Smallwood

Ham-handed Bob Paxton, Mr. Rebound of the White Phantom basketball team for the past three seasons, was named captain of the 1947-48 Carolina cage team yesterday afternoon in balloting which took place at the conclusion of the final scrimmage of the spring practice period.

Coach Tom Scott, who will begin his second year as prexy of Carolina basketball next season, sent his spring squad through a final game-like scrimmage yesterday afternoon, revamping the lineups twice in an effort to get a good look at several combinations. In both games the Whites were victorious, but the members of the teams were interchanged between the contests.

Nearman High

In the first game, Nemo Nearman paced the Whites to a 21-14 victory with 10 points, with Paxton leading the way in his usual brand of driving floor play. Taylor Thorne, Roger Scholbe, Dick Hartley and Johnny Dillon teamed to register the Red team's buckets.

The second half of the afternoon's scrimmage activity, which saw two entirely different aggregates playing together, turned into a much closer and interesting fray, and this time it was Dillon, with his hook shot of old pacing the way. Dillon, who failed to fit into the Scott system all last season, appeared on the road to recovery as far as Carolina basketball was concerned. He dropped in seven field goals to score 14 of the victorious White team's 34 points, with Paxton adding six, Coy Carson six, Dick Hartley six and Thorne two.

For the Blues in the second game, it was Art Weiner with six, Nearman with six, Sandy Poff with six, Kokey Kohler with four, Fred Swartzburg with four, King Cole with two and Marx Nathan with two that provided the points. That final score was 34-30 in favor of the Whites.

Dillon was overall high man for the afternoon with 17 points, but Nearman was right behind with 16. Hartley had 10, Carson nine and Paxton eight.

Yesterday's activity officially ended spring basketball work, and Coach Scott termed the undertaking as very successful. The two and a half weeks were spent improving the team in general fundamentals, passing and shooting.

Missing from the drills were White, Hamilton and Jim Hayworth, a trio of Phants who will be missed no little with the ushering in of the new season next winter.

Running Wild....

Tracksters Close Season With Undefeated Record

By Morty Schaap

The Tar Heel tracksters returned to Chapel Hill yesterday in high spirits after their win over the Cavaliers of Virginia, up in Charlottesville on Wednesday afternoon, as the win gave them a clean sweep in dual competition for the year.

However it was no new feeling for the distance men as they had swept through the rigorous hill and dale season last fall without tasting defeat.

Two possible tests lay ahead for the men of Fetzer and Ranson with the IC4A competition scheduled for Franklin field in Philadelphia on May 30 and 31, and the NCAA championship at Salt Lake City, Utah, in the middle of June.

As yet no definite plans have been made for men to be sent to these stellar meets but definite word is expected any day.

The win against Virginia had a sad note however, as Big Snipe Seligman lost his undefeated skein in the discus when he was beaten by Bill McBrackney. Billy Joyner, freshman high jumper, also had a rough break when he sprained his ankle on his second jump and was forced to spend the rest of the afternoon in the company of the team manager at the Virginia hospital. However, the ankle is much improved and he will be ready to go when the next season rolls around. Virginia also managed to break up the Carolina two mile domination when George Trachsel came in on Jack Milne's heels for second place, besting the other two Tar Heels by a good margin. It was the first dual meet of the year that the opposition has been able to score a point in that particular event.

With the covers of the record book being closed for dual competition in the track sports the boys brought in a total of ten straight victories, six in cross country and four in track, to give them the best athletic record for the school year.

Mural All-Star Nine Opposes ECTC Today

Carolina's All-star softball nine will see action again this afternoon when it will play a double header against the Eastern Carolina Teachers' college outfit, starting at 3 o'clock on diamond seven of the Navy field.

Handling the mound duties for the locals will be Tony Jones, who paced the Phi Kaps to their campus softball crown yesterday afternoon.

The Tar Heels and ECTC have played twice previously this season, with each winning a single contest.

Acting as coach for the Tar Heels will be Carolina's swimming tutor, Dick Jamerson.

Two Tilts Left For Local Nine

Tar Heels Currently Occupy Loop Cellar

The prospect of having to win both remaining tilts with the league-leading N. C. State nine in order to escape the Big Four cellar faced the Carolina baseballers yesterday as they went through a short drill on Emerson field.

A look at the standings shows the Tar Heels currently acting as the doormat to the other three teams. Two wins for Carolina will give the localcs undisputed possession of third place while a split will result in a dead-lock for the position with Wake Forest.

A pair of victories for the Techmen will give the West Raleigh crew its second straight Big Four crown. In the event that State drops both games, Duke will back into the title, having completed its slate last week.

Looking ahead to tomorrow's contest, Coach Walter Rabb opined that either Vinnie DiLorenzo, who lost Wednesday's overtime clash, or Monk Whiteheart will receive the starting nod. "I hope Vinnie will be able to work again," he stated. "We have a better chance with a southpaw."

Rabb also emphasized that the team played well Wednesday, despite suffering the fifth loss in a row. Bo Hackney was especially outstanding in the fray, collecting three hits and playing a brilliant game afield.
