Publications Heads Will Pick Campus Beauty Queen Today

Winner Has Chance for Movie Contract, Plus Week's Modeling in New York City

The heads of the various campus publications will use their "seeing eyes" this afternoon to select a campus beauty queen to be entered in a national contest sponsored by the Kaufman Company, an advertising agency of New York City.

Phi Assembly Makes Plans For Summer

Carrying forth plans for an active summer session, the Assembly of the Philanthropic Literary Society has been conducting membership interviews yesterday and today, and an estimated thirty-five affiliate members have already been approved and will be admitted at the regular session Tuesday night.

A number of students who applied for membership have not been given interviews because their applications arrived too late. All students who have applied without receiving acknowledgement or who wish to apply must attend a special orientation meeting in the Phi Hall on the fourth floor of New East Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The regular session will be held at the same time Tuesday night. Visitors are welcome to each meeting. Tuesday night Chester zum Brunnen, speaker pro tem, will introduce a bill designed to bring to the floor a discussion of lynching and anti-lynching laws in the South.

Among the planned projects of the Phi this summer are weekly supper meetings, several picnics, and speaker forums. Summer school students who do not plan to return this fall, as well as regular students, are being admitted this summer as affiliate members.

Robert Morrison will continue as speaker during the summer session; zum Brunnen, speaker pro tempore; Mary Sheely Little, clerk; Ray Conner, treasurer; Bryan Griswold, sergeant-at-arms; and Russell Johnson, chairman of membership committee.

Novel by Fitz-Simons To Be Made into Movie

Foster Fitz-Simons, member of the Dramatic art staff, has been informed by Rinehart and Company, publishers of his novel, "Bright Leaf," that motion picture rights to the forthcoming publication have been sold to Warner Brothers for $75,000.

Rinehart and Company commissioned Fitz-Simons to write a novel eight years ago, and the author had been working on it sporadically ever since. "Bright Leaf" is about North Carolina tobacco moguls. It will be published in the fall, and will be made into a movie later.

Nursery School to Remain Open for Summer Session

The nursery school at the Presbyterian church will be open during the first term of the University's summer session, from June 12 to July 22, and will continue through the second term if there is sufficient demand.

The school, which is non-denominational, is operated Monday through Friday, from 9:00 to 12:00. Children within the ages of 2 to 4½ are enrolled. The cost per child is $15 for each six weeks session. The school can accept several more children for enrollment for the first term. Children of veterans and students receive first consideration; faculty and townspeople are eligible for other available places. Parents who are interested should call Mrs. Robert Varwig at 7936 or 9432. Plans are being made for the transportation of children from Victory Village.

The program will include morning inspection, supervised play periods, rest, mid-morning lunch, music and rhythms, easel and fingerpainting, clay modeling, and story time.

The girls picked as Campus Queens will serve as models for a luxury item whose slogan is "Fit for a Queen." The name of the item was withheld since it will not appear on the market until August.

Carolina's Campus Queen will be entailed to work a week in New York as a model and will receive a handsome remuneration for her labor. She will also have a chance for a movie contract with Eagle-Lion pictures, J. Arthur Rank's new American motion picture company. The lucky coed will receive national recognition since the publicity is planned on a large national basis.

The girls vowing for beauty honors will be Betty Greve, May Queen; Joyce Peterson, Yack Beauty Queen; and Evelyn Pettitt, Sigma Chi cover girl.

The reason for the rapid selection of a girl who already has a "queen title" is that the choice must be turned in by June 15.

Slocum Takes Part In Band Convention

Earl Slocum, director of the University band, is attending the 13th annual convention of the American bandmasters association being held in Elkhart, Indiana, today, Saturday and Sunday.

The American bandmasters association is an organization of outstanding band directors dedicated to the task of raising the standards of American bands.

Henry Fillmore of Miami, Florida, is president of the association; Harold Bachman of Chicago is vice-president and Glenn Cliffe Bainum of Northwestern university is secretary-treasurer.

Besides Mr. Slocum, there are two other members from North Carolina, Capt. James C. Harper of Lenoir and James C. Pfohl of Davidson. Mr. Slocum was elected to membership in 1942.

DRIVING TESTS

Robert S. Weathers, driver license examiner, will hold driving tests in Chapel Hill beginning July 1 for applicants for new licenses. This is in accordance with the 1947 General Assembly law requiring re-issuance of motor vehicle driver licenses.

Teachers in the school are Mrs. Robert Varwig, director, Miss Betty Battle, and Mrs. Hilton Seals. Mrs. Varwig received her B.S. degree at Colorado A & M College, where she majored in home economics. After teaching home economics and assisting in the direction of a system of nursery schools in southern Colorado, she came here to the University, where she obtained an M.S. degree in public health, majoring in health education.

Miss Battle received her B. A. degree at the University and also studied a year in New York at the Co-operative School for Teachers. She was a nursery school teacher in Charlotte for a year. Mrs. Seals took her B. A. degree at Lenoir-Rhyne College and taught in the Durham elementary schools.

Members of the school's advisory council are Dr. W. Carson Ryan, Dr. William Perry, Mr. Ross Fink, Miss Muriel McLaughlin, Mrs. John Allcott, Mrs. N. J. Demerath, and Mrs. W. I. Ward.

Record Is Set For Enrollment

Summer Total Hits Highest Mark Ever

By Raney Stanford

The largest number of students in the University's summer session history, 4100, were enrolled here by last night, said Guy B. Phillips, director of this year's summer school.

"This approximate total does not include the special summer workshop, law, or public health students," Phillips explained. He said that regular enrollment would probably reach 4200 before closing, as a number of pre-registered students have not picked up their class cards yet. The number of second-term students has not been tabulated.

"The end of registration, and the deadline for all schedule changes, has been set at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon," the summer school head said.

After today, there will be no more Saturday classes scheduled until July 19, Phillips concluded.

Complete Off-Class Schedule Is Offered in Student Union

Truly "The corner of the campus, but the center of activity," Graham Memorial offers summer Tar Heels a great variety of recreational pursuits in fulfilling its function of the extra-curricular center of the University.

Starting next Monday evening weekly beginners bridge classes will be taught, open to the entire campus. Hal Peacock, Union bridge director, will instruct the group, which will meet at 7 o'clock.

Open contract bridge tournaments are held in the main lounge each Tuesday evening at 7:30. The nominal entry fee charged is divided up among the winning teams. Though it is requested that entrants bring their own partners, single entrants may be placed with partners after entering the playing, if necessary.

Every type of record may be listened to in the Graham Memorial music room on the second floor. A collection of $1500 worth of popular, light classical, and classical recordings is on file in the office, available for playing on the new demonstration model Zenith player in the music room.

For the time being the travel agent See STUDENT UNION, page 4.

Traffic on Campus Will Be Regulated By Specially Adopted Vehicle Rulings

University Plans to Install Another Water Filter Plant

To meet a critical shortage in the city and campus water supply, the University authorities are rushing building plans for a new water filter plant, capable of producing three million gallons a day.

The trustees' building committee met on June 4 and appointed W. A. Olsen of Raleigh as engineer in charge of designing and constructing the new plant. The committee plans to ask permission of Governor Cherry and the Advisory Budget commission to go ahead with the construction as soon as a contract can be let, to meet the emergency.

Mayor R. W. Madry of Chapel Hill recently asked all citizens to conserve the present water supply as much as possible. The plant now functioning was designed to produce only a million gallons a day, but it is currently operating at a much greater capacity than this original figure.

IRC to Begin Program For Summer on Monday

The International Relations club will inaugurate its summer session program with a business meeting Monday night at 7:30 in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

All present members and former members are urged to attend. Committee chairmen will be elected, and plans made for the reception of summer school students on June 16th. Summer plans include regular weekly discussions as well as faculty forums and outside speaker presentations.

Union to Sponsor Open House-Dance For this Evening

Graham Memorial will welcome all students this evening at a mammoth open house-dance in the student union building from 8 o'clock until midnight.

The main lounge will be converted into a dance hall and thrown open for informal dancing by recorded music, while the Candlelight Combo will be on hand in the Candlelight room on ground floor of the Union.

Though dancing in the main lounge will be informal, it is requested that ties be worn in the Candlelight room. General theme for the evening in the Candlelight room will be on the plan of a campus night club, complete with table service and floor show. The snack bar will be open during the afternoon, but patrons must be served at tables during the evening hours.

In the music room on the second floor students may listen to their favorite record choices chosen from the record library in the office and all upstairs lounges will be opened for games.

Emergency War Credits Now Being Evaluated

Student veterans completing requirements for graduation at the end of the first summer session and who wish to count war training credits towards their degrees, must have these credits evaluated by the Committee on Emergency War Credits by June 17.

Dean D. D. Carroll, chairman of the committee, said that such credit requests should be submitted to Mrs. Margaret A. Campbell, in room 316, South building.

Candidates for graduation at the end of the second summer session may have their war credits evaluated after July 22, Dean Carroll said.

University Band

The University band will hold its first meeting of the summer term in Hill Hall Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced yesterday afternoon by the music department. Director Earl Slocum will be present and all new students interested in the band are urged to attend the meeting to get in touch with Mr. Slocum at the earliest possible convenience.

Trustees and State Pass Auto Measures

By Charlie Gibson

As a climax to almost a year's work by students, faculty members, and the townspeople of Chapel Hill, the state motor vehicle laws are now applicable to the University. On May 27 the Board of Trustees also adopted special campus traffic regulations which will be legally enforced in the local courts.

In this manner successful action was accomplished on a major campus problem to which the Student Legislature first called attention in the fall quarter of 1946, recommending to the University administration and Chancellor House that a "safety committee" be appointed to improve the hazardous traffic conditions here. This committee was composed of representatives from the faculty, the township of Chapel Hill, State highway patrol, the attorney general's office, and the student body at large with a student, Duke Wilder, appointed as its chairman.

Upon consultation with the State attorney general, the committee found immediately that neither the Chapel Hill ordinances nor the State vehicle laws pertained to the campus at that time. The rules which the committee then formulated passed through the proper legal channels of the State and the University and are now law.

Major Issues

Posters giving the complete details of the regulations have been circulated throughout the campus. The major issues involved are the student ownership of automobiles, parking on certain streets, carelessness of pedestrians, and excessive speed in Victory Village.

Hereafter the drivers of all vehicles, public or private, are to obey the instructions of any peace officer having jurisdiction to enforce the Statewide motor laws as well as the campus and township magistrates. No person shall deface any official traffic devices. With the campus deemed as a business district, its speed limit shall be 20 miles per hour; and signs will be erected soon to curb speed at intersections further.

In Victory Village pertinent rulings will safeguard the welfare of veterans and their families living in dangerously congested areas where traffic is a particular menace. A speed of 15 or 10 miles will be enforced at those intersections around which children may play.

Pedestrians will not be allowed to walk in any street, roadway, alley, or driveway in such a negligent manner as to endanger his own safety or to constitute an unreasonable impediment to lawful vehicular traffic.

Parking will be carefully supervised. No person shall stop any car or

Dancing Classes Will Start On Tuesday for Six Weeks

Dr. Oliver K. Cornwell, director of physical education, has announced that on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock the first of a six week series of classes in social dancing will begin. The weather and the size of the crowd will determine whether the classes will be taught in Woollen gymnasium or on the patio outside the gym.

Bill Townsend, special student in journalism, former New York City and Miami Beach entertainer and dancing instructor, is teaching similar classes at Duke University and State college and will instruct the classes here.

Waltz, foxtrot, jitterbug, rumba, tango and samba will be offered to the students participating. Class hours will be divided into 20-minute periods, and the dance that the majority of pupils wish will be covered for each period.

The American dances will be taught on Tuesday, beginners from 7 to 8, and advanced from 8 to 9, and on Thursdays at the same hours, the Latin dances will be given. With the exception of the first two weeks when a required groundwork of tango, foxtrot and waltz will be taught, the choice of the dances to be taught will be up to those attending the classes.

"This series of dancing lessons is part of the regular physical education program," said Dr. Cornwell, "and there will be no charge made to students and their wives."

Several coeds with experience in dancing teachers will be on hand to assist Mr. Townsend.

Daily Tar Heel Needs Workers for Summer

There will be a mass meeting of all students interested in working on the Daily Tar Heel during the summer months Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the DTH office in Graham Memorial. Editor Barron Mills emphasized the fact that positions are now open on the editorial, news, sports, and business staffs.
