UVA June Ball Friday Night Will Feature 'The Carolinians'

Dance Is Highlight of Membership Drive; Will Begin at 8:30 in Woollen Gymnasium

Jimmy Marshall and his eight Carolinians will play for the June Ball to be sponsored by the University Veterans association at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening in Woollen gymnasium, according to an announcement by Hugh Wells, UVA president.

Highlighting the current UVA membership drive, the June Ball will be an informal affair with admission open to all University students. The dance will not be restricted to UVA members only as was first planned. However, membership cards will be on sale at a booth in the gymnasium Friday evening; and any veteran desiring to join the UVA at a later date may do so at the clubhouse.

Favorite Tunes

Friday's dance will feature tunes both familiar and new, arranged by the Carolinians themselves in a style that has earned them fame as the oldest student band on the campus. The Carolinians are veteran musicians of many other University dances dating back to the winter of '46. They have also made numerous week-end stands at nearby beaches such as their next engagement at the Casino club at Nag's Head.

Members of the group are Jimmy Marshall, leader, from Midgeville, Ga.; Marshall Stine and Chic Burroughs, Charlotte; Bill Brunson, Edenton; Tom Smathers, Canton; Bob Streetman, Marion; William Allen Garrett, Danville, Va.; and Otis Brown, Greensboro.

Dormitory Council Passes Proposed Recreation Shack

The Men's Interdormitory council voted at Monday's meeting to start immediate action on the procurement or erection of an interdormitory recreation shack, with the stipulation that such a building be located within walking distance of the dormitories.

It was also voted that a joint meeting of the Men's Interdormitory council with the Women's Interdormitory council should be held in order to plan and execute the project. This joint meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. next Monday in the Roland Parker Lounge No. 2, Graham Memorial.

Raising of Funds

It was voted that funds for the building should be raised by sponsoring dances, but a resolution was also carried to the effect that each Interdormitory council member should contact other dormitory men before the next meeting for suggestions on other ways of raising money.

A resolution was approved setting up a committee of three, appointed by the chair, to investigate the feasibility of holding a dance in the immediate future, to determine what orchestra will be available and to report on these items at the next meeting. Dick Major, John Rosser and Sydney Hughes, presidents of Battle, Graham and Pettigrew dormitories, respectively, were named members of the committee. Dick Major was elected chairman.

Legislature Meeting Slated for Thursday

Convening for the second legislative session of the summer term, student lawmakers will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Principal business on the agenda will be the election of a temporary director for Graham Memorial to replace Tag Montague, regular director who is not in summer school.

Speaker Jack Folger said yesterday that some new bills would be introduced and work for the session would get under way. He also invited all interested students, new and old, to sit-in on the meeting.

The legislature met last week and swore in three new members, in addition to naming Jimmy Wallace summer parliamentarian and Jesse Dedmond temporary chairman of the elections committee.

Red Progress Will Be Topic Of IRC Forum

How should the democracies meet the challenge of spreading Russian communism?—Four leading professors will thrash over this crucial problem tonight in the International Relations club's special faculty forum at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial's main lounge.

Following the forum, the audience will participate in the annual IRC reception for summer school students. Refreshments will be served.

Prof. W. Carson Ryan, education department chairman, will be pitted against visiting professor Karl E. Shedd of the University of Georgia. "Why is Communism succeeding?" will be the provocative title of the discussion. Philosophy Professor Hulmut Kuhn and Prof. M. S. Heath of the economics department round out the panel of speakers.

Weaver to Moderate

Questions from the audience will follow the informal debate of the faculty members. Dean of Men Fred Weaver will moderate.

"We are sponsoring this faculty forum in an attempt to get at the basic questions dividing our country and the Soviet Union," explained IRC President John Bristow.

Shortly before the forum, Lincoln Kan, recently returned Carolina delegate to the conference of the American Association for the United Nations, will deliver a brief report on his observations at the Lake Success headquarters of U.N.

Sound and Fury Will Meet Tonight

Sound and Fury, Carolina's musical comedy organization, will hold a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in Memorial hall to discuss plans for a minstrel show to be produced during the first summer session, President Billy Carmichael announced yesterday.

All persons, whether old members of S and F or not, are invited to attend the meeting. The show will require not only players, but also persons interested in helping out in lighting, makeup and other allied fields.

Any persons who wish further information about the activity before the meeting can drop by room 210 of Graham Memorial (the Daily Tar Heel sports office) between 2 and 5 where a representative of S and F will be on hand to answer all questions and sign up new members to the organizations.

Exactly what the minstrel will consist of has not been decided and this will be one of the chief topics of the meeting. The show will be the first summer entertainment of its type that S and F has produced since 1941.

New Football Seating Arrangements Announced for Next Season by Fetzer

Student Leaders and Athletic Officials Iron Out Difficulties After Discussions on Matter

By Irwin Smallwood

Student seating at football games, which became a point of hot controversy after the first home game last year, has been altered considerably for the 1947 season, it was announced yesterday by Athletic Director Bob Fetzer, who said in making the announcement that he and the athletic department hoped the changes made on the basis of student estimates for next fall would suffice.

What might have turned into an unfortunate student-athletic department feud was averted when president of the student body Tom Eller, Tar Heel Editor Barron Mills, Legislature Member Charlie Long and Sports Editor Irwin Smallwood requested a conference with Fetzer and subsequently worked out a plan whereby students would be seated to the best advantage possible.

Seats Begin on 50-Yard Line

Important changes include the moving of the student section 600 seats over from where it started last year to the 50-yard line, and the installation of temporary bleachers above the concrete stands for all home games. Next fall, the student section will begin the middle of the section directly in front of the press box and continue toward the goal line until the stands are filled.

For all five games next year, the sections which last year held approximately 1,000 will hold 1,500, thus putting a maximum of students in the best seats possible. Student admission will be handled in the same way it was last year, with the holders of the passbooks exchanging the coupons for reserved seat stubs at the gate.

Students wishing to bring guests to the games will be allowed to turn in their passbook coupon, pay the price of one ticket and secure two reserved seats as long as they last. However, they will not be able to do this until they are registered in school next fall and have their fall quarter passbooks.

Ticket Sales

July 1 reserved tickets for all home games will be put on sale across the counter in Woollen gym, and students will be eligible to buy them on the same basis as the general public. At present, season books are being sold at the Woollen gym ticket window.

At the same time the student seating announcement was made, ticket officials at Woollen announced that all faculty members and University employees who are entitled to them should apply at once for their season tickets if they want them. If they are not secured by July 1 they will be thrown in the single game ticket pool and be sold on a first come, first served plan.

Classes in University Will Meet on July 4

To clear up any possible confusion on the University's class policy for the 4th of July, Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer sessions, has announced that regular classes will be held on that date.

This procedure is necessary, Phillips explained, in order to get the required amount of summer work completed by September. He pointed out that classes have had to be scheduled for two Saturdays in this session, and three in the next, to accomplish this.

"The Law school," he continued, "by special arrangements, is running under a different schedule, and they will take the 4th off. However, they will make this work up the following Saturday."

WORLD FEDERALISTS MEET

The student chapter of United World Federalists will meet in the Grail room, Graham Memorial, Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

All members are urged to attend since officers for the summer sessions will be elected at this meeting.

Everyone interested in securing world peace by strengthening the U. N. charter into an organization with adequate powers to prevent war is cordially invited to attend and take part in the activities of the group.

Braswell to Lead Dialectic Senate During Summer

Maurice Braswell, junior pre-law student from Rocky Mount, was elected president of the Dialectic senate at last week's executive session. Braswell, who is also president of the Debate council, is a veteran of the army air forces.

Other officers elected for the summer are John Zucker, president pro tempore; Charlie Hodgson, critic; George Rabil, clerk; John Brock, sergeant-at-arms; and Earl Fitzgerald, treasurer.

The Di senate will meet tonight at 9 o'clock in Di hall, third floor of New West, to discuss its opening bill for the session, which is resolved: That the Senate of the Dialectic Literary society considers the recent actions of the communist party in Hungary aggressive and unlawful, a threat to world peace, and renders unfeasible any present measures for disarmament, and that the Senate recommends that the government of the U. S. represent to the Security council of U. N. that unless a free election can be held within three months to determine the will of the majority of the Hungarian people concerning their form of government, that the necessary increases in the expenditures of the U. S. for armaments will render it impossible to continue relief operations in Eastern Europe on their present scale, and make the extension of credits or loans in that area impossible.

Convocation Speaker Is Illinois Educator

The first convocation address of this year's summer school will be held in Memorial hall Thursday morning, July 3, Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer school, announced yesterday. Dr. George D. Stoddard, president of the University of Illinois, will be the principal speaker.

The address will be delivered at 10 o'clock in the morning, and, as usual for convocation meetings of this series, classes during this period will not meet.

Phillips said Dr. Stoddard, who is the former chairman of the United States commission sent to Japan to study educational institutions and practices, will speak on "Education East and West."

CAMPUS PARTY TO MEET

The Campus party will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial, it was announced yesterday by Chairman Jesse Dedmond.

JACK ELLIS

Music Major Will Give Piano Recital Tonight

Jack Ellis, University music major, will give his senior piano recital in Hill hall at 8:30 o'clock.

His program will include Mozart's Fantasia in D minor, Bach's English Suite No. 2 in A minor, and the Sonata in B flat major, opus 22, of Beethoven; also Schumann's Kreisleriana and three humorous dances, "The Grasshopper's Wedding," "String, String, Turn the String," and "Bear Dance," by the late Hungarian composer, Bela Bartok.

A native of Sherman, Texas, Ellis has been active in campus activities, having served as president of Sound and Fury, musical comedy club, and president of the University YMCA. He has appeared as soloist with the Men's Glee club and was recently initiated into Phi Beta Kappa. In 1944 he received the Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award for all-round service. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity, and during the war served in the navy.

Meet Set Tonight For Student Party

The Student party will hold its first meeting of the summer tonight at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker Lounge 3, Graham Memorial, Chairman Charlie Long announced yesterday.

The announcement of the meeting came after two meetings of the steering committee this week, when it was decided that several party meetings would be necessary during the summer session in order that investigations and work on the party platform may be carried on. Long urged that all members of the party now in school be present for the meeting.

"We have successfully carried out our first promise to the student body, that of improved seating arrangements in Kenan stadium. There is still much to be done," Long said.

The Student party is open to all members of the campus who do not hold affiliations with other political groups, and all students who are interested in good student government are sincerely urged to attend, Long said.

Alderman Coeds to Be Guests of UVA Tonight

Continuing its summer open house series, the University Veterans association will honor the coeds of Alderman dormitory this evening from 8:30 until 11 o'clock.

Phil Frazier, versatile piano stylist currently appearing at Danziger's, will entertain during intermission. Alderman coeds are urged to be ready at 8:15, when the escort committee will call.

Veterans wishing to join the UVA may obtain membership cards at the door.

JIMMY MARSHALL

English Group To Hear Niggli

Josephina Niggli, author of "Mexican Village," which won the Mayflower award of 1946, will speak on Formal Instruction and the Creative Student at the first meeting of the Chapel Hill group of the fifth North Carolina English Institute in Graham Memorial lounge Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Miss Niggli's talk will be based on her experiences as a newcomer from Mexico in a large Texas high school.

Clifford P. Lyons, head of the University English department, will welcome the Institute group and introduce Miss Niggli, who is teaching creative writing in the summer session. After Miss Niggli's talk, there will be a brief business session for organization and planning. This will be followed, according to announcement circulated on the campus, "by a half-hour or so of unsupervised language arts activity."

The local group of teachers of English is one of several campus divisions of the North Carolina English Institute, which this year will hold regional conferences during July at East Carolina Teachers college, Western Carolina Teachers college, and Appalachian State Teachers college. The Institute's final conference will be held at Chapel Hill and Duke University July 31 to August 2.

Sponsored by the University Extension division and the North Carolina English Teachers association, the English institute is made up of college and high school teachers of English and others having a professional interest in the improvement of English instruction.

Student Union to Present Magician in Show In Memorial Hall Tomorrow Night at 8:30

Graham Memorial will present Colin Shaw Smith, magician, in a program also featuring his wife Nancy and a little French dog named "Two-Forty" in Memorial hall at 8:30 Thursday evening.

Before he married and settled down to do graduate work in English and dramatics here at the University, Smith circled the globe with his slight-of-hand mastery. He toured with the USO camp shows for 30 months during the war as a magician and master of ceremonies, covering 125,000 miles in 27 countries to entertain approximately 2,000,000 servicemen.

This world-wide tour came as a climax to a career that began for Smith with backyard shows as a kid in Mt. Olive, his hometown. Professional shows came his way at the age of 15, and at 18 he became a full-fledged member of the impressive-sounding International Brotherhood of Magicians. As a popular showman and campus sorcerer, Smith later worked through Davidson by '39 and then went to Oak Ridge Military Institute to teach English for a year.

His performances have received lavish praise in Chapel Hill heretofore. After his show for the last

Boys State, newspapers throughout the State lauded his acts and especially his continuous humorous patter. This was a technique Smith says he developed while entertaining overseas where he traveled so lightly that he had to work "almost entirely out of my pockets."

"The cutest trick in the show," according to Smith, is his wife Nancy, a past music major at the Womans College who has earned her own reputation in church, little theater, and radio chores in this vicinity. Mrs. Smith will play several solos in addition to furnishing background music for the entire show Thursday evening.

The third veteran performer to appear at that time will be "Two-Forty," the grayish terrier Smith bought in a pet shop in Paris after the poodle flirted with him from the shop window. "Two-Forty" traveled around the world with Smith. He got his name from the matinee time in show business because he "seemed a natural-born ham."
