New Labor Act Will Be Aired By Di Senate

President Maurice Braswell announced that the Dialectic senate will meet tonight at 9 o'clock on the third floor of New West building with the Taft-Hartley labor act heading the agenda for discussion.

Discussion will center on whether the senate approves in general the principles and aims of the Taft-Hartley act, the principle that it is within the jurisdiction of the federal courts to issue injunctions, hear evidence, and render decisions in controversies between unions and employees which endanger or damage the public interest.

The third section of the bill states that the principle of the paramount interest of the general public should be extended to allow the Attorney-General to obtain injunctions and prosecute cases in the public interests where either unions, employees or the two together endanger or damage public health, safety or the reasonable rights of individuals.

Pre-discussion pollings point to a hot debate on this, the most controversial issue passed by the 80th Congress. The public is invited to attend and air their views on the issue.

High School Principals To Hold Meeting Here

The annual conference of North Carolina principals, of which there are now approximately 1300, is scheduled to be held at the University July 28, 29 and 30, it was announced this week by Prof. Guy B. Phillips, Director of the University's Summer Session, who will be in charge of local arrangements.

Purpose of the conference is to study plans for "improving the quality of educational service rendered to children of North Carolina," he said.

E. M. Thompson, principal of the Burgaw school, is president of the Association, and he will be assisted in directing the conference by J. Paul Lentz of Fairground School, Burlington, and C. C. Linnemann, Burlington high school principal, co-chairmen of the planning committee.

The work conference will open in Lenoir Hall Monday night, July 28, with a banquet session, to be attended by a number of guests from the State Department of Education and other organizations.

Kenan Coeds Will Be Guests of UVA Tonight

The University Veterans association will honor coeds from Kenan dormitory with an open-house dance tonight in the UVA clubhouse from 8:30 till 11 o'clock.

Entertainment planned for intermission includes specialty dance numbers by Dolly Doneison, talented Carolina coed, and a piano-acordian duet by two Durham lassies, Charlotte Ford, and Marian Moss.

Kenan Coeds are urged to be ready when the escort committee calls at 8:15.

Veterans wishing to join the UVA may obtain membership cards at the door of the clubhouse.

Bill Shuford Becomes Graham Memorial Head

Bill Shuford, newly appointed director of Graham Memorial, has announced that his plans for operating the student union will be similar to those of Martha Rice, retiring director.

Shuford said that Bob Coulter will replace Ned Reap as musical director of the Candlelight room, which will be open at the same hours.

The new director, whose home is in Asheville, is a former student at the University.

JULY 4TH CLASSES

All classes, unless otherwise changed by special arrangement, will meet as scheduled Friday, July 4, Guy B. Phillips, director of summer sessions, announced yesterday.

Jim Lilly Elected Chairman Of UP Steering Committee

New Party Head Makes Plans for Activity Of Political Group During Summer Sessions

Jim Lilly has been elected by the University Party as its temporary chairman during the absence of Elwood Mixon, regular UP head.

After Mixon's unexpected withdrawal from school, the UP steering committee met Monday afternoon and chose Lilly to direct its extensive program for the summer. Lilly, a senior from Birmingham, was UP vice chairman in '46, and he is now serving on the budget committee for the second year. He is also president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Following his election, Chairman Lilly announced that UP intends to hold weekly sessions of its steering committee throughout the summer. Every effort will be made to keep a critical eye on the activities of student government officials, to orient UP membership more adequately, to lay the groundwork for campaigns next fall, and to devise better means of stimulating student interest in campus affairs, Lilly said.

Lilly added that UP plans to strengthen its coalition with dormitory men which, along with student government as a whole, suffered greatly during the war years.

Schinhan Selected As Music Editor Of Folklore Book

Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan, pianist, organist and composer, professor of music at the University, has been selected to serve as music editor for the forthcoming four-volume publication of the Frank C. Brown Collection of North Carolina folklore by the Duke University Press.

Dr. Schinhan has devoted himself for many years to the folk music of this and other countries and is the author of a new book on the American Indian, which will be published in the fall.

16 Others to Help

The collection, consisting of manuscripts and records accumulated by the late Dr. Brown of Duke university, has been in the process of classification and editing for some time. Dr. Newman Ivey White, head of the English department at Duke, is in charge of the publication. Sixteen editors have been delegated to edit special assignments.

Dr. Schinhan, who has been a citizen of the United States for more than 25 years, is a member of a distinguished Viennese family, prominent for generations for their musical achievements. He studied music in European schools and received his Ph.D. from the University of Vienna. After teaching a year at Columbia university, he took up his present work here.

Co-op Grocery Is Great Aid to Married Veterans

By Ken Rothwell

"It used to be like packing supplies in the Aleutians to haul our groceries all the way from Franklin street out here. Now we just step across the street, and when you don't own a car you appreciate that," said a student-veteran recently when asked about the new co-operative grocery store at Victory Village.

His statement is a fairly good indication of the reception which this latest addition to the fast growing community behind Kenan stadium has received since it was added early in June.

Although the store opened only recently, there is a long story behind it which goes back to September of last year. At that time prices in town were soaring higher and higher and married veterans found that in order to live on $90 per month a rigid diet was a prerequisite. Led by people like ex-infantryman Tom McDade, Dr. Frank J. Kottke of the economics department and formerly of the U. S. Army, and with the support of the American Veterans' committee, a group of married veterans organized a buying club.

The buying club was designed from the beginning only as a stop-gap measure until the group could open

Deposits Being Taken For Room Reservations

All students now living in dormitories who desire to retain dormitory space for the second term of summer school must make a $10 deposit. Deposits will be accepted beginning July 1 and not later than July 10 at the cashier's office on the ground floor of the South building.

It should be understood that this is for the second summer session only and has no bearing on the fall term assignments, Housing Director J. E. Wadsworth announced.

To clarify room reservations and application procedures for men students, assignment to a dormitory room this summer has no bearing on the fall quarter assignment. It should be pointed out again that a separate fall quarter deposit of $6 should be made at the cashier's office on the ground floor of the South building. The housing office has no other way to know who desires to remain on the dormitory waiting list, Wadsworth said.

SHEPARD HEADS "WILDCATS"

F. Carlyle Shepard, University veterans adviser, was elected state commander of the 81st (Wildcat) division at a reunion of the veterans of both world wars held in Statesville last weekend.

The group voted to hold next year's reunion in Burlington.

Grad School Sets Quizzes For Students

All students now enrolled in the University graduate school on a provisional basis and who have not taken their record examinations are advised by W. D. Perry, institutional examiner, that the registration deadline for these quizzes is 12 noon, Thursday, July 17.

Students in this category can register with Perry in room 103 of Peabody hall between the hours of 8:30 in the morning and 4:30 in the afternoon.

The examination, which will measure general education in eight fields with advanced tests in the student's major subjects, is generally given quarterly. By registering before July 17 and paying a fee of $5, the graduate will be eligible for the next tests, to be given on August 4 and 5.

Students who cannot take the exam at the regularly scheduled time will have to pay a fee of $15 in order to take it at an irregular time or place, Perry said.

Legislature to Convene In Gerrard Thursday

A sheaf of at least half a dozen new bills is expected to be put before the Student Legislature at its meeting Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

In addition to consideration of new bills, student lawmakers will hear a report on a bill concerning expense appropriations for three delegates to the National Student Organization convention in Madison, Wisconsin, this fall.

The bill, which was introduced last week by Finance Committee Chairman Bill Mackie, would provide $600 in expense money for the delegates.

Legislators may also expect to vote on several new appointments made by Student Body President Tom Eller to fill summer vacancies.

Report will also be heard from Herman Baker's committee on the interdorm recreation shack bill, which was put before the body last week.

DTH Notice

All organizations desiring publicity are requested to turn in copy to the Daily Tar Heel office, second floor of Graham Memorial, on Mondays and Thursdays, respectively, to appear in Wednesday and Saturday papers.

This is necessary, Managing Editor Bill Lamkin explained, because of the early deadline set by printers of the DTH.

Convocation Thursday Presents Address by Illinois Educator

Dr. George Stoddard Headed Commission Assigned to Advise MacArthur in Japan

By Raney Stanford

Dr. George D. Stoddard, president of the University of Illinois, will deliver the first convocation address of the summer session tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. Stoddard, who has recently returned from heading a special War department commission working in Japan with General MacArthur on Japanese educational problems, will speak on "Education, East and West."

The convocation speaker is an outstanding leader in American public education. Before assuming his present position at Illinois he served for a number of years as commissioner of education for the state of New York.

Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer session, said that all students, faculty, and townspeople are cordially invited to hear the lecture, and that regularly scheduled classes of the 10 o'clock period will not be held to facilitate this.

The local chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, an honorary educational society, will hold a banquet in Dr. Stoddard's honor at 6:30 tomorrow evening at the Carolina Inn. The Chapel Hill chapter of the organization has about 100 members, and all the members throughout the state have been invited to attend the informal supper meeting.

Last Yack Distribution Slated for Thursday

This year's Yackety Yack will be distributed for the last time this term Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m. in the Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial.

A limited number of 1945 and 1946 Yacks will be on sale at that time for $1.50. It is necessary to sell these books at that price since there is no place in which to store them, it was explained.

It is still possible to get a friend's Yack by presenting his identification card.

Sound & Fury Tryouts Set For This Evening

Sound and Fury will hold tryouts for its summer minstrel show tonight at 7 o'clock in Memorial hall.

All persons interested in taking part in skits, specialties, chorus or technical work are asked to be on hand. Applications for membership to S and F may also be made at this meeting.

7,250 STUDENTS EXPECTED

Director of Admissions Roy Armstrong expects 7,250 students to enter the University this fall, according to recent estimates.

"We can't take care of any more than that," Armstrong said, "because of the shortage of living quarters."

a pound of beans, but rather than see a good idea drown in a sea of apathy many loyal members inconvenienced themselves to aid the cause.

Their persistence bore fruit early this spring when the University board of trustees approved the establishment of a co-operative store for the use of veterans only at Victory Village. Since that time the store has been built, stocked with canned goods, produce, frozen foods and all the other items that go in a grocery store.

Inasmuch as the store is a co-operative each married couple is requested to purchase ten shares of stock at $1 per share. On this stock dividends up to 5 per cent per annum are paid from the profits of operating the store. In addition each member receives a patronage dividend based on the total amount of his purchases.

Until the store was opened, the Chapel Hill Mutual Distributors, Inc., their official title, was accustomed to cutting down on overhead through the use of volunteer workers. Now, however, the store boasts a full-time staff. Mrs. Charlotte Hayes, wife of a veteran and long active in the organization, is manager. Mike Pochna, See CO-OP GROCERY Page 4

UNC Senior Drowns On Swimming Party

John Arthur Lewis, 27-year-old University senior from Bethlehem, Pa., drowned at Hogan's lake, five miles north of Chapel Hill, about 11:30 p. m. Friday. Coroner H. J. Walker of Hillsboro ruled the death accidental.

Lewis was on a party at the lake with a group of friends. He and several others were swimming when Lewis went down on the north side of the lake, according to reports received by Dr. E. McG. Hedgepeth, University physician.

Dr. Hedgepeth said artificial respiration was administered, but to no avail.

The victim was a resident of Lewis dormitory. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lewis of Bethlehem.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Bethlehem.

Congress to Consider Cashing of GI Bonds

A bill to cash GI terminal pay bonds, passage of which has been continuously encouraged by the University Veterans Association and the local chapter of the American Veterans Association through their representatives in Washington, was added to the "must" program of Congress as it entered the last scheduled month of the session.

An armed services sub-committee expects to conclude hearings this week on the bill which would permit cashing of the five-year terminal leave bonds issued to former servicemen and women. It may reach the House floor next week.

Involved are an estimated $1,800,000,000 in government bonds which now cannot be cashed until five years after their date of issue. The Senate has not acted on the legislation.

Interviews for IRC Will Be Held Today

Students interested in joining the International Relations club may attend membership interviews this afternoon from 1:30 to 3 in the Graham Memorial Roland Parker lounge.

Special summer membership for students attending one or both of the sessions have been arranged, IRC membership chairman Ken Cruse announced.

Last week, the IRC accepted six new members as follows: Anne Brewer, Evalyn Waddell, Banks Talley, Fred Bates, William Greene and William Murphy.

STUDENT PARTY MEETING

The Student party will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 3, Graham Memorial, Chairman Charlie Long announced.
