A.D.A. Organizer Set to Give Talk On Monday Night

Barney Taylor, World War II veteran, prominent member of the American Veterans committee and field secretary for Americans for Democratic Action, will speak here Monday evening at 7:30 in the Roland Parker lounge of the student union.

According to Clarence Barbour, chairman of the local chapter of A.D.A.'s subsidiary organization, students for democratic action, Taylor is coming to Chapel Hill to organize an A.D.A. chapter here. He was persuaded to do this by Winston Broadfoot who met him at the AVC national convention in Milwaukee last month.

Everyone Welcome
"Taylor is primarily interested in signing up Chapel Hill residents at Monday's meeting but all students are most welcome to attend," said Barbour.

Americans for Democratic Action and its affiliate, Students for Democratic Action, are national organizations with hundreds of chapters all over the nation. A progressive, political-action group, A.D.A.'s membership includes such outstanding liberals as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Veterans Advised On VA Procedures

All veterans who drop out of school at the end of this session, whether graduating or otherwise, should check by 208 South building to have their subsistence pay stopped, Veterans Advisor Carlyle Shepard announced.

Shepard also announced that veterans may file applications for leave of absence pay if they plan to enter school again this fall. Forms for this procedure may be obtained in Shepard's office, 208 South building.

Veterans who registered at the University on June 12 for the first time under the G.I. Bill of Rights and who plan to attend the fall quarter are requested to report to the veterans registration section in Memorial hall July 24. At that time these veterans should fill out a "declaration of intentions" form which will expedite receipt of subsistence checks in the fall.

WAGER'S BOOK PUBLISHED

Paul W. Wager of the University department of political science has written a 124-page book on North Carolina titled "North Carolina, the State and Its Government." The book has recently been published by the Oxford Book company of New York and is on sale at bookstores here.

The Rev. Theodore Jackman, executive director of the Palestine Research Institute and a member of the speaker's bureau of the American Christian Palestine Committee, will speak on "Arabs and Jews in the Holy Land," in Hill hall Friday night at 8:30 o'clock.

The speaker, who is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of London, has studied and observed conditions in Palestine for almost six years.

A number of campus organizations are cooperating with the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation in sponsoring his appearance here. Among them are the American Veterans committee, the Baptist Student union, the Carolina Political union, International Relations club, Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America, Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Wesley foundation, YMCA, Lutheran Student association, and the Canterbury club.

The American Christian Palestine committee, national sponsor of the Rev. Mr. Jackman, is composed of a group of prominent laymen, ministers,

Classes for Second Session Set To Get Under Way Thursday

Registration Is Expected to Reach Total Of 3,600; Dormitory Space Still Available

The second summer session will open next Thursday with all regular classes meeting as scheduled. New students for the coming term will register on the preceding Wednesday, Director Guy B. Phillips has announced. The term is slated to close on August 29.

Pre-registration for the second term stands at approximately 3,600 students, and officials estimate that new registration will raise this total to 3,600 or 3,700.

Director Phillips said there is still dormitory space for a small number of new enrollees.

"A number of courses which began this term will be continued through the second," he continued, "and new students may take these courses even though they missed the first period." Phillips explained that most of the courses falling in this category are those providing for the renewal of teaching certificates and for general professional purposes.

Several new visiting professors will arrive on the campus to teach special courses during the second session. The English department leads with eight, representing colleges and universities in all parts of the country, while the Education, Zoology and Music departments will have two each. The Departments of History, Law and Psychology each will have one visiting educator during the second summer session.

Graham Memorial Continues Service to Summer Students

Graham Memorial is continuing in many ways its services as center of summer camp activities, and in addition is now lining up attractions from the summer entertainment circuits for the campus pleasure-seekers.

Tonight, Harry Hinson and his Stardusters orchestra will play for dancing in Graham Memorial's Candlelight room, which is located in the basement of the building and is frequently referred to as "the coolest spot on the campus."

The Candlelight room is open each week night from 8 till 11 o'clock and from 8 till midnight on Fridays and Saturdays. Music for week-night dancing is furnished by the "juke-box" but if enough interest is shown, a band will be available on weekends. A snack bar is operated to provide cold drinks and sandwiches. There is no admission charge and stags are not only allowed but will be extremely welcomed.

A bridge tournament is held every Tuesday from 7:30 till 11 o'clock under the direction of Hal Peacock, who also conducts an instruction class every Monday night in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Beginners and novices are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to improve their game.

Other Facilities

Other recreational facilities of Graham Memorial are limited at present due to the expansion of the student body and student activities. However, facilities are now available for ping pong, chess, checkers, playing cards for bridge, and pinocle. A varied assortment of magazines and newspapers can be found in the main lounge.

Another popular feature is the Music Lounge on the second floor. A Zenith record player is available, and music lovers can check out their favorite albums from the main office. This room may be kept for one hour normally, but when no one else is waiting it may be kept longer.

On Sunday, August 3, Graham Memorial will present the Ebonaires, formerly known as the Deep River Rhythm Boys, to the campus in Memorial Hall. The Ebonaires are quoted by many persons as being America's foremost male quartet, and are now in their 19th year of touring the United States and Europe. These noted singers are especially known for their renditions of such famous songs as "Shortnin' Bread," "Wagon Wheels," "Brahm's Lullaby," and "Asleep in the Deep," and many others. The Ebonaires appeared here last summer and were well received.

Many organizations meet daily in the various lounges and office rooms of Graham Memorial but there is still room for other groups. Arrangements and reservations can be made in the main office.

TWO DORMS CLOSED

Ruffin and Manley dormitories will be closed for repairs on July 26 and must be vacated by July 28, James E. Wadsworth, housing director, has announced. All students now living in either of those two dormitories may obtain new room assignments for the remainder of the summer in the housing office at 207 South building.

Dormitory Groups To Sponsor Dance Next Friday Night

A floor show consisting of an all-professional cast, under the direction of "Bud" Robinson, will be the highlight of the Interdormitory dance next Friday evening from 8 to 11:30 o'clock. The affair will be informal.

Jimmy Marshall and his Carolinians, local campus orchestra, will play for the event, which will be held in Woolen gymnasium.

The dance is being sponsored jointly by the Men's and Women's Interdormitory councils, to help raise funds for the erection or purchase of a dormitory recreation shack, where dormitory groups can hold informal social functions. Other organizations on the campus, town students, and fraternities will also be able to use the shack when it is not being used for dormitory-wide functions.

Tickets for the dance may be purchased from dormitory presidents and they will be on sale at the "Y" Thursday and Friday from 11 till 12 and 1 till 4.

Miriam Evans is president of the Women's Interdormitory council, and Frank Hassell is president of the men's group.

House Addresses Di, Phi Societies

"Life at Carolina was rougher when I was an undergraduate here thirty years ago," said Chancellor R. B. House in an address Thursday night before the quarterly banquet of the Dialectic and Philanthropic societies. "A student would think nothing of firing a revolver into the air several times," the Chancellor continued.

Challenging the students to spend some time every day in reading for the sheer love of great literature, the Chancellor advised, "Pick your favorite poets before you are thirty-five."

Important Elements

"Reading, writing, and speaking are elements of the spirit and the soul," House believes.

When asked a question on labor-management relations, the Chancellor replied, "That's Frank's department; I would not want to comment. My field is theological unrest and agrarian doubts."

House thinks that students today are more interested in politics and government than were the students of thirty years ago, and consequently modern students have more social responsibility. "The Carolina Political union and the University Veterans association would think nothing of sending a resolution to the president of the University informing him that the slop buckets in Old East need emptying." Thirty years ago we would not have thought of that.

Gym Dancing Classes Continue Next Term

The physical education department will continue to sponsor dancing classes at 7 o'clock every Tuesday and Thursday night in Woolen gymnasium throughout the summer, Dr. Oliver K. Cornwell, physical education director, has announced.

American and Latin dancing classes directed by Bill Townsend have proved so popular among summer students thus far that a wider terpsichorean program is scheduled for the next six weeks. Townsend has slated a new beginning division to start next week on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7 o'clock.

Advanced dancing will also be continued free of charge. Waltz, foxtrot, jitterbug, and polka steps will be taught on Tuesday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock while the more popular Latin dances including rumba, tango, and samba will be practiced on Thursday nights during the same hours.

Difficulties of Printing Cause Shutdown Until Next Autumn

Lack of Personnel at Local Printshop Said To Be Reason Paper Will Not Be Published

By Bill Lamkin

Publication of the Tar Heel has been discontinued for the second summer session due to difficulties encountered in the printing of the student newspaper, it was made known yesterday through a statement by the University Publications board.

J. Merritt Lear, faculty adviser to the Board, explained that every effort was made to continue publication of the Tar Heel on the present semi-weekly basis.

But the Orange Printshop, where the paper is printed, has declined to renew its contract for the second session because of a shortage of personnel.

Pugh Cites Reasons

W. M. Pugh, manager of the Orange printshop, said he was ceasing publication because several members of his staff have recently resigned, leaving him with an inadequate force to continue. He pointed out that his head floorman and a linotypist left about two weeks ago. Another linotypist is critically ill in a Durham hospital, he said.

Pugh said he was also short on newsprint.

An effort was made to get the Tar Heel printed by a Durham plant, but investigation proved that the shop was not equipped to handle the job.

Lear has assured DTH Editor Barron Mills that plans are well under way toward getting the paper printed next fall on its regular daily basis.

Statement by Mills

Following is a statement by Editor Mills:

"We regret that we will have to cease publication during the rest of the summer months due to circumstances beyond our control. Next fall the Daily Tar Heel will again appear, complete with syndicated material (L'I' Abner, Bill Mauldin cartoons, etc.) and a 24-hour United Press wire service. Perhaps the brief interlude will give us the time we need to whip together a bigger and better publication."

Humor Editor Hodgson Wants Summer Stories

Tookie Hodgson, editor of "Tarnation," new campus humor magazine, requests potential staff members to submit any manuscripts they may have for the first issue next fall.

Hodgson states that due to an early November deadline, he wishes to obtain all of the material that he can during the summer months. Articles may be mailed to the Daily Tar Heel office, since Editor Hodgson is not in school during the summer months.

RESERVE OFFICERS MEETING

The Chapel Hill chapter of the Reserve Officers Association will hold its July meeting in the Carolina Inn Monday evening at 7:30. Major E. R. Rankin, chapter president, has invited reserve officers of all services to attend the meeting.

Shepard Is Elected To Red Cross Post

Carlyle Shepard, University Veteran's adviser, has been elected to succeed W. D. Carmichael as chairman of the Chapel Hill Red Cross executive committee, the nominating committee reported to the annual meeting of the local Red Cross last week in the Carolina Inn.

A unanimous vote of thanks was given Mr. Carmichael for his fruitful work as chairman during the last two years.

Hazlett Cited

Captain E. E. Hazlett received a citation from the national headquarters which expressed appreciation for his work as chairman of the membership drive. "Due to the fine work of the committee members and the enlightened public spirit of the community," announced Captain Hazlett, "the total contributions were 70 per cent above the quota."

University President Frank P. Graham was called upon to say a few words concerning his recent election to the National Board of Governors of the American Red Cross. Reminiscing beyond our control. Next fall the Daily Tar Heel will again appear, complete with syndicated material (L'I' Abner, Bill Mauldin cartoons, etc.) and a 24-hour United Press wire service. Perhaps the brief interlude will give us the time we need to whip together a bigger and better publication.

Housing Office Urges Quick Fall Applications

J. E. Wadsworth, University housing office, has urged all students who will attend the University next fall who have not yet made room arrangements for September to contact the housing office in 207 South building as soon as possible.

With the enrollment estimated at 7,250, approximately 3,000 students will have to be situated off campus. Dormitory space for men is now being assigned with the dates of entrance into school and of room application considered.

The University has a total of 3,907 accommodations in the following categories: men's dormitories, 2,131; quonset huts 580; Nash and Miller halls, 186; women's dormitories, 678; and Victory Village (exclusively for married couples), 350.
