Opening Convocation Will Be Largest In Carolina History Legislature To Consider Executive Appointment Confirmations

Eller Choices Are on Agenda Of Night Meet

By Chuck Hauser

Executive appointment confirmations loom as the most important and exciting items of business facing the Student Legislature when it convenes at 8:30 this evening in Gerrard hall.

Party lines are expected to tighten up to trip some of those persons whom Student Body President Tom Eller has appointed to positions in student government.

Eller has made the following choices, which must be approved by a majority vote of the Legislature:

Eller's Choices
As chairman of the Elections board: Al Winn; to the Student council: Al Lowenstein; to the Women's council: Margaret Cole; to the Student Legislature: Leon Meldin, Walt Arnold, Stan Cohen, Bill Wood, Thurman Williams.

Two bills will be introduced to the Legislature from the Finance committee, according to Bill Mackie, committee chairman.

One bill will call for the appropriation of $250 to aid the Collegiate Council of the United States in its work. The other asks $80 to provide a fund for expressing condolences to the families of deceased faculty and student body members.

Political bystanders believe that important legislation will be presented to the law-makers by Charlie Long, speaker pro tempore. When questioned, Long's only statement was, "No comment."

WESTERN CAROLINA CLUB
The Western Carolina club will hold its first meeting of the year tonight in Horace Williams lounge at 7:30. Bud Reagan, temporary president announced yesterday.

Reagan said that it is important that all members be present, especially those new students interested in joining. The meeting will consist of election of officers, introduction of new members, and discussion of plans for the coming year, including the big "Sadie Hawkins Day" affair.

TWO HOUSES MAKE ONE
Evanston, Ill. (UP) — Mrs. Grace Merrick found a new solution for the housing problem. She wanted to build a home but could not get a city permit. She finally got a place to live by buying two old houses and having them put together.

UNC Operations Supervisor, UVA Head Discuss Lighting in Victory Village

As a result of the recent attack on a student's wife in Victory Village, a conference was held yesterday between Hugh Wells, president of the University Veterans Association, and J. S. Bennet, supervisor of operations for the University, to discuss street lighting problems in that area.

It was decided that the main problem was not one of insufficient lighting, as the University authorities feel that there are enough lights, but of replacement of burned out and damaged bulbs.

At present there is no arrange-

CP Elects Two New Officers, Lays Plans for Yack Campaign

The Campus Party, meeting in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial Tuesday afternoon, completed final organization and publicity plans in support of its candidates for Yackety-Yack editorship, a three member board composed of Ruth Evans, Harold Bursley, and Gene Johnstone. At an earlier meeting held September 29 the party unanimously nominated the board for the editorial position.

The Party elected two new officers to fill existing vacancies, Don Hames of Cliffside as secretary and Ashley Branch of Winterville as Publicity Director.

Ralph Sherrill reported to the group on the malpractices existing in the quonset hut area. He advocated that a better organization of the residence area be achieved and that a roster be placed in each hut to aid visitors in locating students living there. It was also pointed out that one of the weak links in Student Government has been that of dormitory government. The party was urged to take an active, but informal, part in stimulating interest in dormitory affairs and in the election of qualified officers.

Campus Party president Jess Dedmon presided over the meeting.

Discussion was led by Dr. Clarence Heer of the university economics department, who expressed the opinion that voluntary control would be more effective than a return to ceiling prices and rationing.

Establishment of a Chapel Hill Consumer council made up of both campus and community leaders, will be the first step in the SDA program. The Council will secure local support for the President's food saving program, exert consumer pressure against local prices which are out of line, and encourage local interest in national price and food policies.

A committee appointed to draw up for distribution to the student body a table of comparative food prices in local eating places. The group also voted to congratulate the University on its success in the SDA program.

Another problem which has caused much comment in the village is the one of unlighted telephone booths in the area. University authorities have agreed to formulate a plan to change this also disagreeable situation.

Last year the agreement stated that coeds must report any and all violations of the regulations. The board requested that co-

Balkan Inspection Receives Approval By UN Committee

Lake Success, Oct. 8—(UP)—The U.N. Political committee voted today to establish a permanent international commission to patrol the Balkans.

Though the General assembly must now act on the American-sponsored proposal, today's vote in the Political committee is considered clear indication that the U. S. will easily muster the two-thirds majority for its plan in the assembly. Balloting was 34 to six, with nine members abstaining.

The committee approved two sections of the U.S. proposal, delaying action on a third which would fix on Yugoslavia, Albania, and Bulgaria the blame for aggression against Greece. Recommended were establishment of the "watchdog" commission, and a section empowering the commission to call at will special sessions of the General assembly.

During debate on the patrol proposal Soviet Vice-foreign minister Vishinsky accused the U.S. of "timidity" in offering its compromise solution for the Balkan issue. He described the compromise as an "ultimatum born of cowardice."

But American Delegate Herschel Johnson brushed off the critical tirade by remarking that he didn't understand the Soviet minister's "dialectics."

94-Cent Bank Haul Nets 15-Year Term

Charlotte, Oct. 8—(UP)—A 94-cent bank holdup netted 17-old Pete Belk of Monroe 15 years imprisonment today.

Belk told Judge E. Yates Webb in Charlotte Federal court today how he and Walter Hammonds, 16, took $13,94 from a bank at Peachland, N. C. September 26.

A frightened teller abruptly broke up the holdup by screaming. Attempting to silence her, young Belk tried to strike her head. In the process Hammonds was shot by his companion's gun, and Belk fled, leaving the wounded 16-year-old with the loot. All but 94 cents was recovered.

Coeds May Visit Fraternities Today, House Board Announces

The privilege of visiting in fraternity houses by coeds becomes effective at 11:30 this morning, Margaret Coles, chairman of the House Privileges board, announced last night.

A new visiting agreement was drawn up at an HPB meeting late yesterday, but the actual text of the regulations has not been completed. When completed, the visiting agreement will be posted in women's dorms and in the fraternity houses.

The new agreement is patterned after that of last year, the HPB head announced, but two major changes are included:

(1) Coeds will be permitted to enter the houses 30 minutes earlier in the morning, with opening shifted from noon to 11:30 o'clock.

(2) Coeds will be responsible for reporting only their part in any violations of the agreement. They will not be required to report the part of fraternity members or other visitors in violations.

Last year the agreement stated that coeds must report any and all violations of the regulations. The board requested that co-

TARNATION

The business staff of TARNATION will meet this afternoon at 3 p.m. in Roland Parker Lounge No. 2, Graham Memorial for the discussion of several important items concerning the magazine.

Members of Di Hear Address By Dr. Archibald Henderson

By Elaine Patton

Dr. Archibald Henderson—who has won almost as much campus renown for his gray suits, shirts and colors of contrasting colors, and his umbrella as national renown for his writings (including biography of George Bernard Shaw), lectures and studies of relativity—spoke before the Di Senate last night at 8:30.

Dr. Henderson discussed the topic "Oratory and Art of the Public," centering his observations about the Di and how the status of the Di may be improved. His discussion of oratory included examples of false and true oratory. This was followed by his discussion of art in which he referred to the portrait gallery as the "mirror of life," representing great people and their way of life.

The most impressive portrait of the Di is, perhaps, the one of James K. Polk who, Dr. Henderson pointed out, was a member of the Di Society and the only student from this university to become President of the United States. Other important portraits pointed out were the ones of William R. Davie, founder of the University, and of John Wine Mason.

Dr. Henderson, a native of Salisbury who came to the university in 1894, has been a loyal supporter of the Di ever since his arrival and expressed a desire to see it take better care of its art gallery, many of the portraits having been done by famous artists. He feels that this collection could be enlarged, the portraits carefully preserved and from time to time the pictures could be alternated in the Di hall.

A great deal of enthusiasm was displayed in the animated discussion which followed Dr. Henderson's lecture and in which all members and visitors of the Di participated.

William P. Kellam Accepts Position With UNC Library

William P. Kellam, formerly a member of the University library staff, has accepted appointment as assistant librarian to Charles E. Rush, director of libraries here.

A native of Greensboro, Mr. Kellam received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Duke university and his A.B. in L.S. from Emory university. His experience includes two years at Duke, three years at the University here, five years as librarian of North Carolina State college, seven years as librarian of the University of West Virginia, and one year at South Carolina.

During this period he served for five years as chairman of the West Virginia Library commission and two years as president of the West Virginia Library association. In addition he has served on several committees of the American Library association, including the chairmanship of the agricultural libraries section. He is a Methodist and is interested in work with young people, especially Boy Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellam, the latter from Durham, have two children, a son who enrolled in the University this fall, and a daughter in high school.

STUDENT PARTY MEETS

In a final session before Tuesday's special election, the Student Party will assemble this afternoon in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial at 3 o'clock.

Bill Wood, chairman-elect of the party, urged all SP members "to bring prospective voters who want to meet the SP candidate."

Numerous Students Have Not Claimed Laundry Refunds

Almost 1,500 University students who were in school during the summer terms have money waiting for them that they don't even know about—that's what University laundry office sources disclosed yesterday in announcing that they have on hand $1200 worth of unclaimed laundry refund checks ranging in value up to $8 each.

Summer school students who did not receive refunds may obtain their checks from Mrs. B. L. Smith in the laundry office, 132 E. Franklin street. All checks are void after Oct. 25, sixty days from date of issue.

Unclaimed refund checks from last spring quarter are now on file in South Building basement and may be called for at the cashier's office.

RADIO MEETING

The newly-formed Amateur Radio club has called a meeting for all students and faculty interested in short-wave broadcasting to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Swain hall.

SOUND AND FURY

All members of the finale of the freshman night show of Sound and Fury must attend a special meeting with necessary costume on Monday night at 7 o'clock. Pictures will be taken at that time. Those needing makeup must arrive early.

THETA PSI EPSILON

Theta Psi Epsilon, chemistry sorority, will meet at 7 o'clock this evening in the Alpha Chi Sigma room in Venable hall.

Senate Discusses Drinking at Frats In Front of Coeds

The Coed Senate, assembling in Gerard hall Tuesday night for its first meeting of the fall term, discussed the problem of women confronted with drinking on fraternity premises. Speaker Barbara Cashion, presided.

It was recommended by the Senate that coeds who are confronted with this problem leave the fraternity or report themselves for staying. This recommendation was introduced to replace the present rule, which holds the coed responsible, not only for reporting her own conduct, but for reporting members of the fraternity whom she sees violating regulations as well.

It was announced that three senators are to be elected from the student body to fill present vacancies. A meeting is to be held for this purpose Monday at four o'clock in Gerard hall. All coeds are asked to attend.

UNC-Georgia Grid Show Tonight

The Monogram club will sponsor the showing of movies of the UNC-Georgia game tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall, Len Szafaryn, president of the organization announced. All students are invited to attend the picture.

Tonight's showing is the first of a series planned by the Monogram club. The club intends to show films every Thursday night of the football game played the previous Saturday.

CLUB TO MEET

The Henry Wallace club will meet tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker lounge No. 1. Included on the agenda will be election of officers and outlining of policy.

German Club Signs Randy Brooks and His 'Golden Trumpet' To Play for Fall Dances During Tennessee Game Week End

The famous "Golden Trumpet" of Randy Brooks has been signed to provide music for the Fall Germans scheduled for the October 31-November 1 week end, announced Bob Ettenger, president of the German club, yesterday.

Brooks and his orchestra will come to Chapel Hill from an engagement in the Pennsylvania hotel's Cafe Rouge in New York, having recently finished engagements at the Roseland Ballroom, also in New York, and at Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook, well-known to many University students whose homes are in the North.

Brooks, a native of Sanford, Maine, made his professional debut in New York City in 1945.

Features of the band, according to Brooks' advance publicity, include his trumpet solo of Hora Staccato, apparently a favorite with the men with the horns these days; the "band-within-a-band," a combo formed from several of the orchestra members to present their version of a jam session; featured artists such as musical comedy star Gracie Barry and recording artist Phil Brito, in addition to the regular with the band, Harry Prime and Wayne "Buzz" Bridgeford.

The following members of the executive committee of the German club were selected to be in charge of arrangements for the weekend at a meeting of the board Tuesday night. Bob Ettenger, tickets; Judd Hawk, Decorations; Rosette and figure, Frank Frazer, publicity, Bob Lee; piano accompaniment, Ken Merritt.
