Dr. Hardin Craig To Give Talk On 'Crisis and Responsibility'

The opening assembly of the academic year at 10:10 this morning in Kenan stadium will feature an address by Dr. Hardin Craig entitled "Crisis and Responsibility" as an incentive to the University on its 154th birthday.

DR. HARDIN CRAIG

Dr. Craig's appearance on the program comes in response to numerous requests, stated Chancellor Robert B. House, who arranged a Craig "replay" after the Shakespearean authority's convocation address last year. At that time his talk on the subject of "A North Carolina Renaissance" drew an audience that taxed Memorial hall's capacity and then evoked nationwide praise. Appeals for copies of this former address are still coming from individuals, business concerns, and universities all over the country.

Other highlights of this year's University Day celebration will be an academic procession by the faculty with a special N.R.O.T.C. color guard; music by the 125-piece University band and the combined men's and women's glee clubs, 200 strong; a brief memorial to former students, faculty and alumni who have died since last University

Day; and the announcement of five new stone tablets to be mounted in Memorial hall. Classes at 10 and 11 o'clock will be cancelled, but noon classes will be resumed as usual. The book exchange, the library, and all University offices will be closed for the occasion between 10 and 12 o'clock to permit the entire campus personnel's attendance. Students will have seats reserved for them on the west side of the stadium and can enter most conveniently from either gate no. 2 at the north center section or gate no. 3 nearest the Bell Tower.

Ushers who will direct students, townspeople, and any other interested persons to the space held for them are all chairmen of important campus organizations. They are as follows: Bob Broughton from the Student Council; Donleen MacDonal and Bill Tate, Women's and Men's councils; Bootsie McWilliams and Bill Hight, inter-dormitory councils; Margaret Jean Taylor and Leon Ladd, Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity councils; and Ruth Evans and Charles Foley, Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. These ushers should meet at the north gate at 9:45 for program distribution under the supervision of chief marshalls Barbara Cashion of the Coed Senate and Jack Folger, speaker of the Legislature.

Arabs Reported Massing Army For Invasion

Beirut, Lebanon, Oct. 9—(UP)—Arab troops are reported to be massing along the borders of Palestine, ready for a possible invasion of the Holy Land. Abdul Pasha, Secretary General of the Arab League council, says that the Lebanese and Syrian governments have ordered units of their armies to assemble at the frontier, and that the first units have already started marching. Pasha says that the Egyptian government is also ordering strong contingents of its army to move up to Palestine's southern frontier.

Reports indicate that if an invasion starts, the Arab army would be composed of trained forces from Egypt, Iraq, Syria and Lebanon, and would fight hand-in-hand with the Arab underground army in Palestine. The reported troop movements came after the Arab League officially recommended that the seven Arab states get ready for military action if the British withdraw from the Holy Land. A spokesman for the League says that this time the Arabs mean business, and that united Arab forces will fight any plan that does not establish Palestine as an independent Arab nation.

The Jewish Agency has called on hundreds of war veterans to form a Jewish army for what is called a "Life or death showdown" with the Arabs. Mrs. Goldie Meyerson, head of the Agency's Political department told veterans at Tel Aviv that salvation for Palestine rested in the Holy Land, not at Lake Success. Mrs. Meyerson said that the Jews are not looking for trouble, but are ready for it.

The report that Arab troops have been ordered to mass along the Palestine border has created a sensation at the United Nations. The Syrian delegate to the U.N., Faris El-Khoury, says that he has had no official confirmation of the report. He adds that he hopes it is not true. However, El-Khoury says that Arab troop movements would be the natural way for Arabs to show that their threats are not bluffs.

Torchlight Parade, New Song To Feature Pep Rally Tonight

A torchlight parade, a brand new fight song, and talks by Tar Heel co-captains Sparger and Wright and by a member of the coaching staff are the highlights of tonight's pep rally, announced Myrt Sherard, head cheerleader. The pep rally will begin in Y court at 7:15 this evening, said Sherard, and will proceed as a torchlight parade over the usual circuit, ending up in Memorial hall, where a yet-un-named member of the coaching staff will address the rally, followed by the team co-captains, George Sparger and Joe Wright. The new Carolina Fight song, which was first presented to the student body by the University band at the Carolina-Georgia game, will be featured in tonight's rally in preparation for the game tomorrow. The song was written by John McManeus, a University alumnus and former president of the band here. Students are requested to bring the words of the song, printed below with them to the rally this evening.

Carolina Fight Song

Carolina, Carolina, fight for N.C.U.
All hail to colors white and blue,
Let's make a touchdown,

Carolina, fight!
We fight for Alma Mater,
Fight 'til the day is through,
We sing your praises, Carolina,
Fight, fight for N.C.U.!

Chaperones Must Be Approved For Coeds' Visiting

Coeds will only be allowed in fraternity houses this weekend if a chaperone approved by the Dean of Women is present, announced Charlie Blackburn, chairman of the House Privileges board, last night. The chaperones will be necessary because, according to a general statement issued by the Board, "A complete visiting agreement has not been reached between all parties concerned."

Vancouver, British Columbia, Oct. 9—(UP)—Royal Canadian Mounted police in Vancouver have confiscated more than 4,000,000 dollars worth of opium on a Dutch ship.

Postmaster Reveals That Undelivered Mail For Students Accumulating Fast

Undelivered mail for students who have not filed address changes is piling up steadily, Postmaster W. S. Hogan warned yesterday. "Many students have failed to notify us when they move," Hogan declared; "and it's practically impossible for us to make delivery." Another delivery problem is caused by quonset hut residents

Russia Schedules Watchdog Boycott

Lake Success, N. Y., Oct. 9—(UP)—Russia disclosed today that she will boycott the "watchdog" commission which the United Nations plans to send to the Balkans.

Immediately after the Russian announcement, Yugoslavia and four other Soviet satellites said they also would ignore the commission. The Russian bloc's snub of the commission, which still has to be set up formally by a two-thirds vote of the General assembly, practically wrecks its chances of bringing any solution of the Balkan problem.

The commission has virtually no prospect of succeeding if Greece's northern neighbors refuse to cooperate and decline to let commission investigators enter their territory to obtain evidence.

Fiscal Probe Into Publications Is Scheduled By Finance Committee Of Student Legislature

Co-operative Store of Victory Village To Give Customers Patronage Dividend

Following an executive meeting held last week officials of the veterans co-operative grocery store at Victory Village announced that a five per cent patronage dividend would be paid all customers. A patronage dividend, they explained, is a cash rebate based on the total amount of groceries purchased by members.

Yack Lists Plan For UNC Students Of Law, Pharmacy

Special provisions have been made for photographing members of the Law and Pharmacy schools, according to an announcement made yesterday by Yackety-Yack board of editors, Gene Johnstone, Ruth Evans, and Harold Bursley.

Monday of next week has been set aside exclusively for pharmacy students, and only law students will be photographed on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

These special arrangements have been made, because of the heavy work loads and class schedules carried by those affected. "We are especially anxious," Board Member Evans declared, that all of the men and women in the above category take advantage of these arrangements so that this Yack will be representative of all the students.

Gene Blake, senior section editor of the Yackety-Yack, likewise indicated that complete representation will be one of the major goals of this year's annual. In a statement issued yesterday, he called on all seniors to stop by the Yack office and fill out their class cards.

"It is important in the interests of an accurate and complete picture of the people of this campus that all students, especially seniors have all of their activities listed in the Yack, and that will not be possible unless we have a class card from every student," he stated.

Editors Johnstone, Bursley, and Evans moved also to explain what is to be done with the proofs of individual pictures which are now being returned to the students. Where the proofs are accompanied by instructions, no explanation is necessary.

However, Chidnoff of New York failed to enclose instructions with all of the proofs sent. All students receiving sets of that kind are asked to select their best picture and bring or send it to the Yack office. The board of editors will then take care of having them finished.

Dance Scheduled By Monogram Club

The Monogram club is sponsoring an informal dance Saturday night after the UNC-Wake Forest football game. Jimmy Marshall and his orchestra will play for the dance which will be held in Woollen gymnasium from 8:30 until 12 p.m.

Tickets for the dance may be purchased at Lenoir dining hall, Woollen gymnasium, and the Y. The price is $1, stag or drag. Although the dance is informal, it has been requested that men wear coats and ties.

Part of the proceeds from the dance will go to the University club for sponsoring pep rallies and part to the building of the inter-dormitory shack.

Student Party Plans To Hold Meet Today

A campaign meeting of the Student Party will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial.

Square Dance To Be Staged At Y Tonight

As a final prelude to the fast-approaching Sadie Hawkins day festivities, a mountain-style square dance will be staged in Y court from 7:45 till 10 o'clock this evening.

The Student party will sponsor the affair in honor of its candidate for editorship of the Yackety-Yack, Art Melton. With caller and orchestra recruited from the ranks of the Western North Carolina club, the dance is to follow immediately the Wake Forest pep rally, and will adjourn at 10 o'clock to the Rendezvous room for round dancing.

Arnold Wilson, caller last year at the WNC square dances, will lead festivities, and "the Little Brown Juggers," an ensemble of bona fide mountain musicians directed by Ed Norwood has been signed to play. Refreshments for the dance will be handled by the staff of the Rendezvous room under direction of Manager Don English, SP headquarters announced last night.

Art Melton, honorary chairman of the Dance committee, admitted "vote-getting" was one of the purposes of the dance. But, added Melton, "we are inviting coeds to come as 'stags' so that the crowd can make new friends; and we've got the best in music!"

And Melton reminded that it would be one of the last social functions before male and female resume their traditional Sadie Hawkins day hostilities.

The dance has been timed so that the pep rally crowd can begin dancing immediately following the march through town. Immediately after the outdoor square dancing, Scott Gardner and his Rendezvous orchestra will take over for round dancing at Graham Memorial from 10 until one o'clock.

CICA Chooses Sadie Pearson New President

Sadie Pearson was elected president of the Carolina Independent Coed association in a special meeting called Wednesday night for the purpose of filling this and other vacancies.

Mary Ellen Reaves received the post of secretary, and Anne Scott Dellinger was voted into the position of social chairman. Two new members of the executive council (at-large) are Myrtle Westbrook and Elizabeth Thomas.

The positions of president and social chairman were open as a result of the resignations of Nina DeBerry and Margaret Goodman, respectively. Sadie Pearson vacated the secretarial post to take over the presidency. Tentative plans for the year were discussed during the meeting, including a tea for all new independents on Sunday, October 26, and a dance during the latter part of the fall quarter.

The CICA has scheduled its annual membership drive to begin in the near future, and all coeds who are interested in joining the organization are urged to attend the next meeting.

JEWISH SERVICES

Jewish Services will be held this evening at 7:30 in the Roland Parker Lounge. Mr. Claude Shotts, executive director of the YMCS, will be the guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Shotts, who was in Europe as a member of the American Friends Service Committee, has recently assumed his duties at the Y.

All Executive Appointments Approved; Appropriation Made of $250 to CCUN

An investigation of the financial condition of campus publications was voted last night by the Student Legislature in its second fall session.

Proposed by Charlie Long, Student Party floor leader and speaker pro-tem, was a bill authorizing the Legislature's Finance committee to determine if the Publications board might exceed its budget allowance. The bill placed top priority on the probe, asking a report "as soon as possible."

Ed Joyner, treasurer of the board, said that yesterday afternoon three of the four publications allotments were completed, and that the board would have its final budget complete within a week. Joyner did not indicate whether the board expected to exceed its allotment in the student body budget bill passed last spring.

In a session punctuated by Student party victories, the Legislature considered four major items of controversy, finally approving three:

- (1) Confirmation of executive appointments to fill vacancies in student office.
- (2) An appropriation of $250 to the Carolina chapter of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.
- (3) The Publications investigation.
- (4) Amendments to the Elections law, which were sent back to committee.

All but one of the six appointments by Student Body President Tom Eller were confirmed unanimously, and the sixth unexpectedly received only slight opposition.

Eller's appointments included Margaret Cole, to Women's council; Stan Cohen, Bill Wood, and Leon Melvin, to the Legislature; Al Winn, elections board chairman; and Al Lowenstein, to the Student council.

The appointment of Lowenstein, a member of the original committee which drafted the Constitution, was expected to meet stiff opposition. But a hurried conference between opposition leaders Tag Montague and Miles Smith resulted in a decision not to contest the SP nominee's confirmation.

The vote was 20 to 8. A stiff debate which found the ranks of both the University Party and the Student Party split developed over the finance committee's favorable report on

Try-Out Response To Sound and Fury Impresses Leaders

According to Pete Strader and Ken Gammage, things seem to be looking up for the Sound and Fury productions. The recent response to the try-outs for the coming production, "Gin Lane," was enough to make the casting heads jizzy.

Because of the small number of students previously attending the University, the group has been composed, until recently, of the same people from production to production.

No matter how good actors are, an audience soon tires of seeing the same faces time and again. The need for new blood was evident—and fulfilled.

For the first time in its very recent history, the casting heads of Sound and Fury have had so many competent people applying for all of the major roles in the new musical comedy that they had a hard time choosing the ones most suited to the parts.

The hard work of picking from a large number of applicants did not make anyone sad; however, on the contrary, the spirits of all concerned were buoyed by the sight of so many wanting to join the production.

With the large number of new members in the group, Sound and Fury audiences can, and will, expect bigger and better performances.

Ernest House, University Party legislator, and SP Leader Charlie Long sided together in support of the appropriation, while Joe Byrd, SP; Basil Sherill, SP; and Tag Montague, UP, opposed.

A vote on the CCUN appropriation was 18-13.

Amendments to the Election laws included provisions shifting elections violations to the jurisdiction of the Student council, setting definite dates for inauguration of newly elected officials, and ordering special elections for publication editor vacancies within four weeks of the time the vacancies occur.

An appropriation of $75 for condolences to survivors of deceased students and faculty members was quickly passed.

Lecturer Hans Rothe, Director of 'Saint Joan', Has Had Many of His Works Performed in Europe

Guest Lecturer Hans Rothe, who is directing the first play of the Carolina Playmakers thirtieth season, Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan," which will be presented here on October 29 through November 1, has had over 3,000 performances of his translations of Shakespeare staged in Europe, and he served as an assistant to the world famous German theater manager and producer, Max Reinhardt, from 1925, until 1930.

Rothe, who is a director and playwright as well as a translator was invited to Chapel Hill last spring as guest lecturer in the department of dramatic art and is continuing his lecture work this year. He is also engaged in translating American plays for use on the European stage for the Rockefeller foundation.

which he directed, and nine of his plays have been translated into Spanish. While with the Leipzig theater, which he joined as a director in 1920, he directed productions of plays by such modern playwrights as Georg Kaiser and Ernst Toller, as well as Shakespeare and Goethe.

HANS ROTHE

"The Night Arrival," one of his earlier plays, was staged at the Globe theater in London during 1938, in Madrid during 1940, and in Stockholm during 1945. He later wrote it as novel, which was published in Spain.

His work with Reinhardt included directing the directors of Reinhardt's four theaters. Sometimes he made trips to London or Paris to select new plays to be done in Berlin.

Nazi pressure forced Rothe to leave Berlin and go to his winter home in Florence, Italy, in 1934. All of his plays, including his Shakespeare translations, were banned in Germany by 1936, and in 1939, he moved to Madrid, where he remained with his wife and small son until he came to Chapel Hill last March.
