

No Law Against Reds, Indicates House; Graham Letter Opposes Communism

By Chuck Hauser and Bill Sexton

In a noncommittal answer to the question of what would be done to admitted Chapel Hill Communist party head Junius I. Scales, University Chancellor R. B. House stated yesterday that, "There are no University, state, or federal laws regulating political affiliations of University students."

Thus committing the administration in no way on the situation, House declared that was all he could say at the present time.

Scales, an army veteran and graduate student here, admitted his affiliation with the Communist party in a signed statement to the Daily Tar Heel Wednesday afternoon, the same day mimeographed handbills entitled "The Lowdown on High Prices" were circulated with Scales' name printed at the bottom as chairman of the Chapel Hill Communist party.

In the absence of University President Frank Graham, a statement from him on the situation could not be obtained, but a recent letter written by the educator declared that he was opposed to Communism in all its forms.

An excerpt from Graham's letter reads, "I stand on the American Bill of Rights and therefore am opposed to Communism, which in Russia does not provide the guarantee of the Bill of Rights and would not provide those guarantees if it should triumph in America."

In his statement to the DTH Scales said, "I am proud to be a member of a party which is democratic both in its own structure and in its outlook."

In the previously-quoted letter by Dr. Graham, a firm contradiction of Scales' words appears, branding the party as undemocratic. "Our American democracy is prevailing and will prevail over Fascism, Communism, and other undemocratic philosophies and movements," the letter declares.

The only comment received from Scales yesterday was in answer to a question about the number of people in the Chapel Hill Communist party. Referring to a state newspaper comment which said "well-informed sources" estimated the number at between 12 and 18, Scales stated, "I'd rather not say whether it was an overestimate or an underestimate, but I think there's reason to believe that very soon it will be an underestimate of our size."

In a press conference held yesterday afternoon, Governor R. Gregg Cherry declined to comment on the Chapel Hill Communists, repeating an old Will Rogers line, "All I know about it is what I've read in the papers."

HILLEL SERVICES

Dr. Hardin Craig of the English Department who delivered the principal address at the convocation this year, will speak at Jewish Services this evening. The services which are sponsored by the Hillel Foundation will be held at 7:30 in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial. All are welcome.

Scales' Statement Is Released In Full

Following is the complete statement given to the Daily Tar Heel Wednesday by Junius Scales, chairman of the Chapel Hill chapter of the Communist party:

"I have been associated with the Communist Party for a number of years. I am speaking in the name of my party in the hope that I may in a small way dispel some of the dangerous illusions and falsehoods about the Communists which are being used to distract us from the real problems which we must solve: a decent living standard for all the people, a peaceful world, a more democratic America without race discrimination.

"I have had an opportunity of meeting many outstanding Communists, and I can say from long experience and close association that the Communists are the most human, the most principled, the most courageous, the most selfless people I have ever known.

"I am proud to be a member of a party which is democratic both in its own structure and in its outlook. As a Southerner, I am especially glad to belong to the only organization which fights for the full and complete equality of the Negro people.

"Finally, I am glad that my party's patriotism expresses itself, not in hostility toward other countries, not in slavish ven-

Di Senate Submits Pair of Proposals

Meeting on Wednesday night, the Dialectic Senate discussed a system of registration for the next two quarters and recommended two suggestions for the consideration of the University registration committee.

The first proposal passed by the Senate resolved that two members of the Student body be appointed by the Student legislature to the registration committee. The second resolved that a schedule of courses with their instructors, hours, and summarized contents be made available one week before registration for each quarter.

John Zucker, chairman of the Di ways and means committee, read the bill formulated by his committee. Several false facts stated in the bill were clarified by such authorities as Dr. E. C. Markham, member of the registration committee, and Edwin S. Lanier, director of the University central records office.

Carolina Mag Makes Debut With Outstanding Features

Carolina fans anxious to see the Tar Heels triumph over Tennessee tomorrow may benefit from an article in "How To Watch Football," in the Carolina Magazine which makes its first appearance of the year on campus today.

Written by Daily Tar Heel Co-Sports Editor Billy Carmichael, the football feature is one of the high spots of this month's magazine. Illustrations are offered by John Sink.

Editor Fred Jacobson said yesterday that distribution will be begun today, will be concluded by noon Saturday. Other features include a cartoon by Jack Niles entitled "Fresh Frosh" which satirizes the average freshman's first acquaintance with the University.

Humor is introduced into the Mag by John Davis, author of a feature. Davis reveals in his work a hidden coded headquarters for the apprehension of elusive males.

Also included in the issue is the monthly Carolina Parade authored by former DTH Managing Editor Earl Hefner with the assistance of Jud Kinberg, managing editor and PIC correspondent.

Bennett Says Improvements Soon Complete

Two long-awaited alterations to the face of the University campus will soon be completed, J. S. Bennett, University building supervisor, said early this week.

The first of these will be filling in and sodding over of the "Big Ditch" across the main part of the campus from Bingham hall to Venable hall. This deep excavation, dug for the heating pipes going to the new dormitories across from Woollen gym, has been open since early last summer.

Bennett also said that the dirt road and parking lot between the infirmary and the medical building is being paved. Bennett said the tar and rock surfacing being laid here should be especially helpful in reducing the many complaints about the bad weather condition of the area.

Eller Warns Scalpers Of Civil Prosecution

Following is a statement sent by Student Body President Tom Eller to Dean of Men Fred Weaver presenting the position of student government concerning scalping.

"While we do not believe Student Government should relinquish its responsibility in handling any such students as may carry on the practice, we recognize the obvious handicap under which the authorities are now operating—that of not being permitted to arrest students. Our disciplinary machinery is probably not broad enough to achieve the results which would be desirable. Therefore, we shall, through the DAILY TAR HEEL, inform the student that he is responsible not only to Student Government, but to Civil authorities as well. We shall attempt to make it clear that the student scalper is liable to prosecution in the Men's Council as well as in the courts, or both. He may be turned over to the authorities by the Council or his case may be taken up by them if he is arrested. The students will be warned that the aid of civil authorities has been solicited, though no specific branch will be mentioned."

Quorum Lack Necessitates Deferment Of Redistricting Project By Legislature

By Jim Spence

Charlie Long's long-awaited campus-town redistricting bill did not reach the voting stage in the Student Legislature meeting in Di hall last night due to lack of a quorum.

The redistricting bill, which provided for a new division of the campus and town into legislative districts, was introduced by the speaker pro tempore of the Legislature two weeks ago. In spite of the fact that most members were present for the hearing of some nine other bills presented to the Legislature last night, there was not a quorum at the time when Long's bill was brought up for discussion.

Financial Setup

The first forty five minutes of last night's legislative session was used by student body treasurer Sam Daniels to explain the present financial setup of the Student government. Daniels made a plea to the Legislature to defer further appropriations until more block fees were brought into the treasury. He said that this is the first time that the students of the University have really had control of the finances and that he is doing everything possible to make the chance good.

After discussion of the condition of student finances, Daniels brought up the subject of expense accounts turned in by Bill Miller, Herman Baker, and Johnny Clampitt. Clampitt said he went by train to the National Student association convention in Wisconsin and that he turned in an air travel account with the consent of the Legislature in order to help defray other high expenses of the trip.

From Own Pocket

Herman Baker came to the floor to state that he was willing to turn in a correct expense account by train travel if he were assured that Miller, who traveled by air, would not have to pay that added expense from his own pocket.

Miller had only a brief statement for the legislators, assuring them that whatever was decided to be a fair decision he was willing to abide by it.

After the discussion Daniels, Miller, Baker, and Clampitt left to go to the Men's Honor council from whose session no decision had come as the Daily Tar Heel went to press.

Immediately after the four men had left the legislative chambers, the assembly passed a bill unanimously authorizing the delegates use of air travel expense account funds.

NY Photographers Finish Yack Work

Quiet progress was the order of the day at the Yack office yesterday. The board of editors, weeping no tears for those who fail to heed their repeated warnings, heaved a small sigh of relief as the men from Chidnoff's betook themselves and their equipment back to New York.

In the month that they were here, the photographers had posed and "shot" a little over 5,000 of Carolina's students. Although some of these students yesterday had not yet appeared to fill out class cards, the editors hoped that they would do so. As pointed out before, even if a student's photograph has been taken it cannot be run without the class card's information to accompany it.

A class card may be filled out, they added, whether or not the proofs have been returned to the student. In fact, the Yack office has nothing to do with the proofs. They are sent direct from Chidnoff's to the student and are to be returned by him direct to New York.

It was revealed that this year's Yackery Yack schedule is being maintained at dates far in advance of last year's. Earlier this week, the last of the contracts for organizational space was signed, and the end of the week will find 60 per cent of the organizational pictures already taken.

On Saturday, Les Badden will make up the Yack feature on the cross country team.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES

March Field, Calif., Oct. 30—(UP)—The wreckage of an Army attack bomber which has been missing with five crewmen aboard since last night has been found on the slopes of towering Mount Baldy. All five of the occupants are dead.

Judicial Powers Held By Fraternity Council

By a vote of 7 to 1, the Student council voted Wednesday night that the Interfraternity council should have the judicial power to try violators of the House Privileges board agreement. Tom Eller, president of the student body, declared before the meeting that the case was "one of the most important things considered in the history of the Student council."

Eller questioned the practicality of declaring the IFC judicial power unconstitutional. He foresaw increased policing of fraternities if they came under the jurisdiction of the Men's Council. He doubted that any fraternity man would turn his brother in under such an arrangement.

Speaking of those seeking to take the judicial power from the IFC, Eller said, "What these gentlemen would achieve is idealistic but thoroughly lacking in practicality. They are in essence building a brick wall down the middle of the road. If the Council declares IFC judicial power unconstitutional, it will be a disastrous blow to student government."

After Eller's speech, the room was cleared for discussion and voting by the Council members.

Pep Rally

A big pre-game pep rally for tomorrow's clash with Tennessee will be held tonight beginning at 7 o'clock in the Y court, the University club announced last night.

A parade through town will get the proceedings underway with marchers returning to Memorial Hall for the final part of the rally. Coach Bob Fetzer along with an as yet unnamed football coach will be the principal speakers at the yelifest.

Valkyries to Present Miss Payoff Choices

Candidates for the title of Miss Payoff will be introduced to the student body Sunday night at the Valkyrie Carnival, to be held in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock.

Wayne Thompson will act as master of ceremonies, presenting the campus beauties who will vie for votes during the week of the World Student Service fund drive, November 2 to 8.

Music will be provided by Roy Cole's orchestra, and the cheerleader will direct the community sing.

Miss Payoff will be crowned at the Battle of Bands dance November 8, and will come from one of the following entrants: Joan Lucas, sponsored by Chi Phi; Ferne Hughes, Spencer; Virginia Hill Morris, Stacy; Tenn Mason, Alderman; Chris White, Pi Beta Phi; Beckie Holton, Alpha Gamma Delta; Elizabeth Thomas, CICA.

"Y" Court Dance Scheduled Tonight

Hallowe'en and the night of the festive fall Germans features another significant event: The final square dance practice session tonight before Sadie Hawkins day next Friday.

Informal square and round dancing will hold forth in the Y court from 8:30-12 tonight, with Taylor Dodson of the intramurals department calling figures. The dance is under sponsorship of Graham Memorial and music will be recorded.

In case of inclement weather the hop will be held in the Rendezvous of Graham Memorial. P. A. Lee and Betty Dodson will assist in leading the square dances.

Today's Concert Will Begin Weekend German Club Fetes

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the fall German club weekend, for many the biggest event of the quarter, will begin with a concert in Memorial hall.

The German club has brought the band of Randy Brooks and two feature singers, Gracie Barrie and Phil Brito, to entertain the members of the club, their dates and friends.

Other functions of the week are to be the dances in Woollen gymnasium tonight and tomorrow night and the Valkyrie Carnival on Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Music for the Carnival will be furnished by Roy Cole's orchestra, with Wayne Thompson as master of ceremonies.

Today's program is to last from 4 until 6 o'clock. Friday night's dance is to last from 9 o'clock until 1 and Saturday night's dance from 8 until midnight.

Brooks' orchestra, recently rated as third most popular dance band in the nation by "Downbeat," is expected to furnish topnotch music for both the dances and concert.

Bill Tate, chairman of the dance committee, has announced that no drinking of intoxicating beverages during the fetes will be tolerated, nor will any person under the influence of alcohol be permitted to participate in the events.

Tate has also requested that no persons take bottles or cups containing soft drinks into Memorial hall during the concert this afternoon.

The Interdepartmental Council and Dean Carmichael announced yesterday that coeds attending the dance tonight may obtain 2 o'clock permission.

German Club

These 13 attractive young ladies are sponsors for members of the German club which is giving a set of two dances tonight and tomorrow night in Woollen Gymnasium. Randy Brooks and his orchestra is furnishing music and will give a concert from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon in Memorial hall.
