

Railway Caravan, Rally in Capital Set For Travelling Tar Heel Rooters

Fans To Parade Through Capital On Way To Field

By Marty Carmichael

A mammoth pep rally and parade in Washington are slated to supplement the railway caravan this weekend, the University club announced today.

Myrt Sherrard and the cheerleaders predict a huge turnout for the pep rally, to be held at 12 noon on Saturday in the park directly across from the Hamilton hotel, 14th and K streets.

Route of Parade

Chuck Voigt, University club president, has secured a parade permit for the following route: From the park at 14th and K streets, east on K streets to 9th, north on 9th to V street, and east on V street to a special parking area at the stadium. All parade participants are encouraged to adorn their vehicles.

The parade will leave immediately after the rally, in order to reach the stadium on time. "If the students and fans really 'steal the thunder' Saturday morning, the folks at home will know that the Tar Heels are really hooked up with that old Carolina spirit and are out to win," Mike Loftis, former White Phantom manager, said last night.

Wake Forest To Be Seminary

Wake Forest, Nov. 12—(UP)—The campus and buildings of Wake Forest college will be offered to the Southern Baptist convention as a seminary for the southeast.

The North Carolina Baptist conference meetings in Winston-Salem has voted to offer the property for sale because the college will move to Winston-Salem some time in the next few years.

The state convention has ordered a committee headed by Doctor Ralph A. Herring of Winston-Salem to negotiate for the sale of the campus. The group hopes to get one and a half million dollars from the deal.

The director of the Wake Forest enlargement campaign reports that more than one million dollars has been pledged for the campaign. Horace Eason of Shelby says that sum has been pledged by 509 churches.

Playmakers Will Hold Public Tryouts For Cast of 'Mikado' Friday, Tuesday

Public tryouts for "The Mikado," the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta which is to be the third major production of the Carolina Playmakers, are to be held Friday afternoon, between 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall and again Tuesday afternoon at the same hours.

"The Mikado," which is sponsored jointly by the Playmakers and the Music department, is scheduled for presentation on January 30 and 31, in memorial hall. Lynn Gault, dramatic art department, and Paul Young, music department, are co-directors of the production.

The tryouts will consist of chances to both sing and read, but the directors pointed out that no one will be expected to

Plane Will Provide One-Day Round Trip To Game Saturday

A special football flight will be made from Chapel Hill to Washington Saturday to provide one-day round trip transportation to the game.

The flight leaves Chapel Hill Airport at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and arrives in Washington at 10:45. Returning, the plane leaves Washington at 7 o'clock and arrives at Raleigh-Durham Airport at 8:45 p.m.

Total round trip fare for this one-day flight is $20. Reservations can be made at the Carolina Motor club office, 111 West Parrish street in Durham. The plane is a DC-3 and there are 25 seats available.

A regular air line flight leaves Raleigh-Durham airport at 11:57 a.m. and arrives in Washington at 1:17 p.m. Reservations must be made at Raleigh-Durham airport.

Alumnus Kay Kyser Warns N.C. Leaders About Good Health

Raleigh, Nov. 12—(UP)—Orchestra leader Kay Kyser warned leaders of North Carolina health associations that private enterprise is getting its last chance to meet the medical needs of the people.

Kyser a University of North Carolina alumnus, has been a leading advocate of the Good Health program from his native Tar Heel state. The program to build new hospitals and medical centers and a four-year medical school was passed last spring by the state legislature.

Kyser has made a recorded address for the first annual North Carolina Education conference in Charlotte, sponsored by the North Carolina Hospital association.

The Tar Heel radio star says that of the medical profession and existing health agencies don't provide an adequate program for medical care, the people will take over and tell them how they want things run.

Kyser says various health agencies, the nurses, and doctors are tangled in what he calls "A kind of guerrilla warfare." He says it is time for them to get together and lay the groundwork for cooperation at the present meeting in Charlotte.

WNC YACK PICTURES

Bud Reagan, president of the Western North Carolina Club, announced today that there will be a special meeting of the club tonight at 7:30 in Graham Memorial for the express purpose of having pictures made of the group for this year's Yackety Yack.

Plane Hogs Highway, Truck Driver Fined For Resulting Wreck

Jerseyville, Ill., Nov. 12. (UP)—There is still plenty of room in the skies for the growing number of airplanes. But when a plane starts tangling with highway traffic, there is apt to be trouble.

That's what happened near Jerseyville, Ill., when a converted army trainer ran out of fuel and landed in a field. The plane was refueled and its pilot, M. G. Davis was given permission to take off on highway 67. State patrolmen held up traffic on the highway while the plane took off. But at the head of the traffic line was a truck driven by S. R. Swartz of Jacksonville, Ill. Just as the plane roared down the highway, Swartz started up. The plane hit the top of his truck, knocked off several oil drums and broke the tail gate, causing $100 damage. The plane was not damaged and Davis continued on his way.

Today Swartz was fined 60 dollars because of the collision. He said he thought the officer had given a signal to go ahead.

Tickets For Special Will Be Sold Today In YWCA Lobby

Complete with band and cheerleaders, a special train has been scheduled to carry Carolina fans to the Maryland game in Washington, and a railway agent will be on duty in the YMCA today from 8:30 to 2 o'clock to sell tickets.

The caravan will leave Durham tomorrow evening at 9:30, arriving in Washington at 6:45 Saturday morning. The passengers may stay on the train until a later hour if they wish.

Return Sunday

The return trip departs from Washington Saturday night at 11:55, and is scheduled to reach Durham at 8:30 Sunday morning.

The round-trip coach fare, including all of the extra enjoyment of good company and lots of fun, will be 13 dollars, and it will be easy for large "parties" to assemble aboard the train. In addition to the coaches, a limited number of Pullman accommodations will be available. Further information can be secured from the ticket agent at the YMCA, or from Bob Watson at Graham Memorial.

Last year organized caravans accompanied the Tar Heels to Baltimore and Knoxville.

AVC Hears Franz On Discrimination

"Racial discrimination in this country lowers our prestige in the eyes of many countries whose citizens are not of the white race," said Laurent Franz Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church.

Speaking before the local chapter of the American Veterans committee, Franz, former southern delegate to the Civil Rights congress, emphasized the threat to civil liberties inherent in such acts as the Truman loyalty oath.

The veterans group voted to join the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in sponsoring a campus-wide protest against high prices to be held on November 20. Martha Aiken was appointed to work with SCHW's Aubrey Williams in preparing a program to which all campus organizations will be invited.

Following a report by chairman Jehan Van De Velde it was decided to co-sponsor a program on religion in life with the American Friends on December 7.

Expensive String of Thefts Reported By Dormitory Occupants, Weaver Says

By Paul Rothman

Over $200 in cash and personal property valued even more have been reported stolen on campus, Dean Fred Weaver reported yesterday.

On September 27 one of the occupants of "C" Alexander lost a pair of shoes, green suit, green sweater, pair of gray flannel trousers, three "T" shirts, and a sport coat. The clothing was taken while the men living in the room were attending a football game. That same night of September 27 Talmadge Rose, 218 Lewis dormitory, had $49 stolen from his room while he was taking a shower.

On October 24 thefts centered in the quonset hut area. James Street, hut 10, lost a red wool shirt, and Bob Edwards, hut 9, a brown corduroy jacket. Three nights later the robberies were located in Manley dormitory, where money and football tickets were taken. A wallet containing $70 cash, German club dance tickets, and identification papers was stolen from L. C. Rights, room 212, and two tickets to the Tennessee-Carolina football game were taken from Mead Diggs' dresser drawer, room 406.

Two reports from Everett dormitory show that thefts there

Flu Shots Offered Starting Tomorrow

One-does flu shots will again be given free to all University students on a voluntary basis starting tomorrow, announced Dr. E. M. Hedgepeth on the University infirmary.

The shots are being given, as last year, to prevent a possible influenza epidemic which would be disastrous in Chapel Hill, due to the limited medical facilities here in proportion to the large student body.

The inoculations will begin tomorrow in Memorial hall, chosen for its central campus location, from 9 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock, and will continue from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The schedule calls for continuance Saturday morning, 9 to 12, and next Tuesday, 9 to 1 and 2 to 5 o'clock. Students may report to the Infirmary during regular office hours and receive the shot any time from Friday until December 1.

"There is enough vaccine on hand now to inoculate approximately 80 per cent of the student body," said Dr. Hedgepeth, "and more can be obtained if the demand calls for it."

"Last year about 85 per cent of the students availed themselves of this free service," he continued, "and out of that number we had only three people report any serious reactions."

The vaccine on hand, which cost almost $3,000, is judged about 80 per cent effective, and in addition to the expense, considerable time and trouble has been involved in obtaining the preventative.

When the University provided the shots in late October of last year, they were pioneering in a program which is being carried out in many colleges and universities all over the country this fall.

Dr. Hedgepeth stressed the responsibility each student has not only to himself but to everyone enrolled in the University to prevent a possible flu epidemic by taking the shots which are available at no cost to the individual.

Sixteen Names Still Waiting On Last Winter Housing List

J. E. Wadsworth, University housing director, announced yesterday that on his records of students who entered school here during the winter quarter last year and are still waiting for dormitory rooms there remain only 16 names.

These students may receive assignments as soon as they occur by contacting the housing office in room 22 of New East annex immediately. Unless they report there before next Monday, their $6 room deposits will be refunded and their names cancelled from priority lists so that other students might be accommodated.

The following men should see Wadsworth at once: Holcombe C. Adams; Grady T. Allred, Jr.; Calvin B. Baldwin, Jr.; William C. Brown; Frank S. Bryson, Jr.; Marvin W. Cates; John A. Hanson; Harvey R. Honig; Homer Hudson, Jr.; Rufus A. Hunter, Jr.; Lamar Jones; Charles F. Lassiter; John H. Oliver; James E. Owen; Thomas G. Smothers; and Arvin V. Thornburg.

Delta Sigma Pi Will Hear Dykstra

The Delta Sigma Pi commerce fraternity will hold a professional meeting tonight in room 103, Bingham hall at 8:15. The meeting, originally scheduled for 7:30 o'clock, will be open to all students in the Commerce department as well as members and pledges of Delta Sigma Pi.

Mr. J. E. Dykstra, professor in the Commerce school, will lead a discussion on "Production and Job Possibilities." The meeting will be the first in a series of professional programs planned to continue throughout the year.

SP Schedules Consideration Of Nominations for Today

The Student party will meet at 4:30 this afternoon in Rolan Parker lounge No. 1 to consider nominations for Student Legislature, Student, Men's, and Women's councils, and for junior and freshman class officers, announced SP Chairman Charlie Long yesterday.

Long added that stress would be laid on the class nominations in view of the bad publicity given them in light of student body President Tom Eller's veto of the elections bill. He asked that all interested persons be present at the meeting.

Continuing on the subject of class elections, the SP head stated, "Complete confusion reigns on the issue of freshman class officers for two main reasons. The Legislature, in an attempt to rush the election, failed to properly provide enough time for publicity. The result was that some parties failed to nominate and the freshmen did not know what was going on."

"President Eller very wisely saw fit to veto the entire measure," continued Long, "so that the Legislature could meet and revamp the election bill."

The second reason given by the chairman was that the majority of freshmen on campus are completely ignorant of election procedure here, and could hardly be expected to understand a subject which, in his opinion, many officials in student government do not entirely understand themselves.

"When the news of what was happening became known to the freshmen they took immediate action," declared Long. "Due to a lack

Jutilla To Speak This Evening In Hill Hall; Winiewicz Set To Deliver Address On Monday

Polish Ambassador To Be Sponsored By CPU and IRC

By Sally Woodhull

Josef Winiewicz, Polish ambassador to the United States, will speak Monday night at 8 o'clock in Hill hall under the sponsorship of the Carolina Political union and the International Relations club.

Named ambassador to the United States at the end of 1946, Mr. Winiewicz arrived in this country in January, 1947. He is a graduate of the University of Poznan, and has been editor of newspapers in Poland and in Hungary.

In London

For several years he was in London as an expert in problems concerning preparations for the peace conference, and from November, 1945, to December, 1946, he was minister counselor of the Polish embassy in London.

As a member of the Polish delegation to the Peace conference in Paris, in the summer and fall of 1946, Mr. Winiewicz took a leading part in discussions of treaties with former Axis satellite nations.

UN Delegate

He was one of Poland's delegates to the preparatory commission of the United Nations organization in London, and was named a delegate to the first session of the United Nations assembly in London and the second session in New York.

A reception for Mr. Winiewicz will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial immediately following his speech.

Ohio corporal who holds the Congressional Medal of Honor has re-enlisted and has been assigned to recruiting duty. And that is something he should have done difficultly taking in stride.

'Hey How You' to Be Exchanged Tonight In Ten Different Languages at Meeting

By Bob Rolnik

"Ni how ma!... Comment allez-vous!... Saludos Amigos!..."

Chinese, French, Spanish and seven other versions of Carolina's friendly "Hey you" will be exchanged at 8 o'clock when sixty foreign students get together in Graham Memorial's Rolan Parker lounge for a reception and organizational meeting sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

With refreshments to smooth the way, the students from every continent but Antarctica will formulate future plans, give their impressions of America and hear from Foreign Student Advisor Dr. Sturgis Leavitt, head of the Romance Languages department.

"The University has a greater number of foreign students than ever before in

No Unemployment In Finland, Says Finnish Minister

By Jim Spence

"There is no unemployment in Finland," said Dr. K. T. Jutilla, Finnish minister to the United States, in an interview last night shortly after his arrival in Chapel Hill with his wife and daughter. "There is a shortage of labor, power, and raw materials but the Finnish people are working hard."

Dr. Jutilla, who will speak at 8 o'clock tonight in Hill hall under the auspices of the International Relations club, is head of the Finnish legation to this country and has served in this post since 1945. He has been in this country several times before, however, once as a Fellow of Rockefeller Foundation studying agricultural economics and marketing at Cornell university.

In an extemporaneous address tonight, Dr. Jutilla plans to stress the problems and accomplishments of postwar Finland. "For instance," he says, "We have to pay Russia 300 million dollars reparations under the Paris peace treaty of September, 1946. We have already paid 40 per cent of that amount. We will pay the remainder within the next five years."

Dr. Jutilla states that Finland has received 120 million dollars from the United States in the last two years which is being used for industry, agriculture and the import of certain foods. He says that American money is the third factor in the rising production of Finland—listing Finnish forest resources and the people's hard work as the other two factors.

When asked about the reported 99 per cent literacy of the people of Finland, Dr. Jutilla said that the figure was very correct. "Since the 16th century," he stated, "the Lutheran church has been advancing education to the people. A couple could not even be married unless they could read and write."

Dr. Jutilla has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Finland since 1938. He was minister of supply in 1944 and a member of parliament in 1945.

He will address the student body at Wake Forest college this morning at 10:30.

He will be introduced before his address here tonight by Elton Edwards, former president of the local International Relations club and a law student here.
