

WEATHER

Cloudy and cool with probable rain.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Fees Going Higher
Good Parking News
Manny's At It Again

VOLUME LVI United Press CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Thursday, November 20, 1947 Phone F-3371-F-3361 NUMBER 49

Local Groups To Hold Anti-Inflation Rally

By Kenneth Rothwell

Coinciding with President Truman's call for a special session of Congress to combat the rise in prices representatives of some 35 town and campus groups will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall for a public "Hit High Prices!" rally.

According to Aubrey Williams, Jr., chairman of the sponsoring group, all shades of campus opinion will be represented in the various groups that have been invited.

"If we overlooked any organization it is accidental and we hope they will attend anyway," he said.

Gillin to Moderate

Dr. John P. Gillin of the sociology department will act as moderator while Dr. Frank Kottke and Mr. Clay Cochran of the economics department will present the broad national picture of the price situation. Nelle Morton, executive secretary of the Fellowship of Southern Churches, is scheduled to tie in the effect of inflation on the local southern scene. Martin Knowlton will give a brief sketch of the current conditions among the farmer and industrial worker.

Open Discussion

"Immediately following the presentation of these speakers the floor will be thrown open for discussion of a concrete platform to be adopted by the audience. Since every group has been invited to present their recommendations we hope to arrive at a conclusion that will satisfy

(See RALLY, page 4)

CP Releases Qualifications, Statements Of Candidates Eric Coefield, Bob Haire

Qualifications and statements of two candidates, Eric Coefield and Bob Haire, running for president of the freshman class and student council member, respectively, were released by the Campus party yesterday afternoon.

Coefield, from Edenton, was the former president of his class and also of the student body during his last high school year. He resides in Miller hall on campus.

"In acceptance of the Campus party nomination for the presidency of the freshman class," he stated, "I pledge my support to the best interests and desires of the

Lab Theater Plans Printed Programs

A. E. Westover, director of the Laboratory theater production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," said yesterday that the group plans to have printed programs for its showings on Sunday and Monday nights, although the play is being offered free of admission.

The arrangements are being made through Graham Memorial, joint sponsor of the student group along with the Carolina Playmakers, and the play will be staged in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Praises Work

Westover is very enthusiastic about the progress of the production and praised work being done by both the cast and technical crews.

He pointed out David Samples, Joliet, Ill., Frederick Johnson, Chico, Calif., Catherine Covington, Portsmouth, Va., and W. P. Covington, III, Winston-Salem, for special mention.

In "Saint Joan"

Samples is a newcomer to the campus who recently appeared in the Playmaker production of "The Merchant of Venice" (See THEATER, page 4)

Paul Ramadier Quits Position as Premier At Crucial Moment

Paris, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Premier of France Paul Ramadier resigned tonight at one of the most crucial moments in the nation's history.

Ramadier and his Coalition cabinet gave up the job to head off a disastrous clash between French Communists and the right-wing forces of General Charles De Gaulle.

Their action cleared the way for the aging socialist leader Leon Blum to form a middle-of-the-road government to avoid a possible civil war.

General Strike

The fall of Ramadier's streamlined regime came as Communist labor leaders threatened to paralyze all industry in poverty-stricken France with a general strike. More than 350 thousand workers, most of them vital dock and mine employees, are idle as a result of the spreading wave of walkouts.

President Vincent Auriol is expected to appoint Leon Blum the new Premier of France tomorrow.

The 75-year-old Socialist has been talking with leaders of middle-of-the-road parties all day long but the new cabinet still has not been completed, according to latest reports.

The secretary-general of the Socialist party, Guy Mollet, says Blum's government probably would include 13 ministers and would carry 10 more votes in the National assembly than the 300 held by the old regime.

He hinted, however, that Conservative leader Paul Reynaud would not be handed a portfolio because he disagrees with the present economic program.

There is one bright spot in the "French" picture tonight, though, as the report that workers themselves are showing more and more opposition to a general strike is received.

Leaders of the powerful Confederation of Labor have met in emergency session over dissonance in the ranks.

Durham Club

Plans are now being formed to organize a Durham-Carolina club with the express purpose of giving a Christmas dance over the holidays.

A mass meeting of all Durham Tar Heels will be called in the near future to organize the club. Time and place of the meeting will be announced later.

Clampitt Elected UVA Head; Group Adopts Constitution

Johnny Clampitt, campus Orientation committee chairman and NSA delegate, was elected president of the University Veterans association at a meeting early this week.

At the same time a new constitution for the association was adopted following a lively discussion led by Hugh Wells.

Clampitt, a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, will succeed Wells as president, having defeated his opponent, John Roeder, by approximately a two to one vote.

Hubert Aenchbacher will replace Jim Dean as vice president; Dick Cohan will replace Patricia Connelly as treasurer; and Field "Doc" Clark will replace Patricia Connelly as secretary. The three-man board of governors has not as yet been appointed. All elections will be effective December 1.

The extensive reports compiled by committees appointed to investigate food prices and housing conditions in Chapel Hill were withheld until the next meeting of the organization at 8 o'clock next Monday night.

JOHNNY CLAMPITT

Phi Assembly Approves Law To Stop Lynching Actions

By a vote of 13 to 11 the Phi-anthropomorphic assembly passed a resolution favoring the proposed Federal anti-lynch law at a weekly meeting Tuesday night in the Phi hall. The Assembly bill favors an act by Congress which will make federal law enforcement agencies responsible for the prevention and prosecution of lynching and crimes involving mob action.

Addressing the assembly Professor Clyde Cass Carter of the Commerce School spoke on the merits of such a legislative act. He stated that the states were either unwilling or unable to prevent mob action and that persons accused of lynching in the South stood little chance of being convicted by a local jury.

Upholds Act
Praising the F.B.I., Carter said that federal law enforcement agencies would be much more efficient in preventing lynchings than local agencies. He added that federal courts would be more impartial as federal judges and prosecuting attorneys, being appointed by the President, were unhampered by the fear of not being re-elected if they acted counter to public opinion.

Carter said that it was impossible to determine the constitutionality of the anti-lynch law which is scheduled to come before Congress soon as such a measure has never come before the Supreme Court. He thought, however, that such a bill would be ruled constitutional under the "due process clause" of the 14th amendment.

Leads Opposition

Leading the opposition to the bill, George Rodman stated that the bill was aimed at the South. He added that such an act would be unconstitutional as it gave the Federal Government power to determine whether local law enforcement officers were negligent in performing their duties. Other opponents of the bill argued that the measure is now useless as public opinion in the South is strongly opposed to lynchings and the number of such crimes have greatly decreased in recent years. They also claimed that the measure would be a violation of state rights.

Also passed by the assembly was a resolution favoring the State Student Legislature which is to convene in Raleigh.

DTH POETRY CONTEST

Tomorrow is the final day that entries will be accepted for the Daily Tar Heel poetry contest in answer to the "Ode to the Tarheels." The winner of the two game tickets will be announced early next week.

Oak Ridge Scientist To Discuss Implications Of Atomic Energy

Speaking at 4:30 this afternoon on "The Implications of Atomic Energy," Dr. Oscar K. Rice, member of the Association of Oak Ridge Scientists and Engineers, will open the second panel-discussion within two weeks to be sponsored by the Association of Carolina Scientists.

Today's address by Dr. Rice will be followed by an open forum which will include, besides the speaker, Dr. Nathan Rosen, Dr. Joseph W. Straley and Dr. W. A. Bowler.

Presented by the ACS and the student chapter of United World Federalists, the program will be held in Roland Parker lounge, Graham Memorial.

Both the American plan and the Russian plan for international control of atomic energy will be discussed. The two plans will be compared with the view of exploring possible bases of agreement. The scientists will not only express their own views on the vital matter of international control but will also present the views of various scientific societies.

Each of the scientists will speak for ten minutes on a different aspect of the problem and necessity of international control of atomic energy. Russell Baldwin, president of the UNC chapter of United World Federalists, will act as moderator.

A similar panel was held November 6 sponsored by the Collegiate Council for United Nations at which Dr. Rice spoke on "Report from Oak Ridge—Atomic Energy Control." A report of his address by DTH reporter John Stump the following day caused quite a bevy of contributions to the DTH "Write Away" columns, in which Dr. Rice called Stump's writing "misrepresentation of the address."

Russell Baldwin, World Federalists chapter president, said today's meeting is being held to clear up the misunderstanding which came as a result of Stump's article.

Following the forum World Federalists will hold a short business session.

Friendship Train Drive Gains Momentum In Second Day of Existence on Campus

The Friendship train drive gained momentum in its second day of life on the campus today. Town and University organizations have shown impressive support of the campaign.

John Donovan, assistant to Drew Pearson, yesterday told the University Friendship train committee that all cash contributions and food commodities must be in Washington by November 30. But because of Thanksgiving holidays, the University committee announced that the campus campaign will end Wednesday, November 26, when all contributions must be in.

Four contribution boxes were placed today, one each at Lenoir hall, Carolina theater, YMCA, and Graham Memorial. Provisions are being made to give the town people an opportunity to contribute to the train fund.

"Myrt" Sherrard, head cheerleader of the University, said he would make announcements at the Duke-Carolina football game Saturday, asking for support of the drive. The facilities of radio station WDUK of Durham have been offered the committee for the purpose of raising funds.

Tuggle Webster, chairman of the Friendship train drive in Durham, said that the committee might buy their commodities in Durham and use the Durham train to ship the goods to Washington.

Marriage Lectures Passed By Senate Tuesday Evening

The Coed Senate Tuesday night passed a bill introduced by Bonnie Thrash providing for a series of lectures on marriage to be given to coeds. These lectures are to be given beginning in January, 1948, by Mrs. Ernest R. Groves, local authority on marriage, and during alternate years so that the same class of girls will not necessarily hear them twice.

The budget drawn up by the finance committee was presented to the Senate by Doris Harrill, treasurer, and the Senate, approving the budget granted $1445 to Subsidiary organizations.

WNC Club to Give Dance Bids Tonight

Invitations for the annual Western North Carolina Club dance will be distributed tonight at the regular meeting of the club in Graham Memorial at 7:30 announced President Bud Reagan today.

Arrangements for the dance to be held in the George Vanderbilt hotel in Asheville on December 27 were completed this week, said Reagan, and the number of invitations are limited so distribution will be on the basis of first come, first served.

Final plans for a Thanksgiving holiday party in Asheville will be presented at tonight's meeting by social co-chairmen Betty Brown and John Brady, also said Reagan.

The annual Christmas dance will be about the 30th for the club and the third since the cessation of hostilities. Last year's dance was limited to 300 people, all of which attended, and was a huge success.

Unlisted Students To Report To Yack

The following students who have had pictures taken for the Yackety Yack, and whose names do not appear in the new student directory, are requested to come by the Yack office, second floor of Graham Memorial, to fill out "activity cards." It is essential that this be done immediately if pictures are to be in the yearbook. Overby J. Fleming, Forrest Lockey, Jr., Robert Mushabac, and Harry C. Pratt.

The Yack board of editors also stressed the importance of all other students who have not filled out these cards by doing so by Friday afternoon.

NO MOVIES

Due to the Sound & Fury production at Memorial hall the Monogram club will be unable to present their weekly football movie tonight.

An announcement will be made later as to what night the Maryland pictures will be shown.

Vaughn Monroe Dance, Concert Tickets Go on Sale in Y Today, Announces Grail

An open ticket sale will begin at 8 o'clock this morning in the Y of Grail-Vaughn Monroe dance and concert bids, it was announced yesterday morning.

There are approximately 200 complete bids to the two dances left, and several hundred single tickets to the dances and concert tomorrow afternoon.

Sales will be made today to anyone who wishes to buy the tickets, and there will be no limit on the number of bids a person may purchase.

The stand in the Y will be open from 8 o'clock this morning until 4 o'clock this afternoon, selling dance duets at three dollars each and tickets to the concert for one dollar.

It was pointed out yesterday that the dance will be semi-formal, not formal as indicated on the bids. This means, explained Grail delegate Jack Fitch, that men will wear business suits and women evening dresses.

The dances begin at 9 o'clock on Friday night, lasting until 1, and 8:30 Saturday until midnight.

The Vaughn Monroe radio show will be broadcast from Woolen gymnasium Saturday evening at 9:30, according to word received from the program's sponsor, and will last for the usual one half hour.

Tales of Woe from Perspiring Customers Exhaust Sellers at Duke Ticket Windows

By Herb Nachman
Strangely enough Carolina students seem to be interested in Duke tickets.

When it was announced yesterday that several hundred tickets would go on sale at the gym at 2 o'clock, the students responded, and brought their lunch with them.

Lady ticket sellers who were forced to listen to hundreds of explanations as to "Why I need a Duke ticket," reported that sleepy customers began lining up, or sitting, up in front of the window before 10 o'clock.

By the time 2 o'clock rolled around and the tickets were ready to go on sale, one of the ticket sellers remarked, "This lobby looks like Grand Central station."

At 4 o'clock, it was even worse. Each prospective buyer that approached the window would "wipe the perspiration off" and proceed with his tale of woe.

Most of the stories fell into three categories, (1) Parents coming up, what to do? (2) Date coming over, what to do? (3) Wife needs ticket, what to do?

The three ladies behind the window, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, Mrs. Marilyn Todd and Miss Susan Barbee remarked that they had certainly played Santa Claus—now "Frankie and Johnny can sit together."

After the 350-400 tickets available were exhausted, the gloomy announcement of "All Gone" sent tired but still hopeful students on their way.

Vernon Crook, ticket manager, said that these were the last tickets available for the game. Student wives were to have been given a chance to purchase tickets before 2 o'clock when they were then offered for general sale.

"The plan was to serve some 800 student wives first," Mr. Cook said, "many did not take advantage of the application privilege before they went on general sale."

Meantime, the traditional Carolina queue has exhausted both tickets and ticket seller.

Organist Robert Baker Came to Chapel Hill Mainly to Play Golf with Professor Haydon

By Sally Woodhull

Robert Baker, nationally known organist who will present a recital tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Hill hall, claims that his chief purpose in coming to Chapel Hill was to play golf with Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the department of music.

But the program of his recital, and his previous accomplishments, give evidence that his recital will be of chief importance to the campus. Teacher of organ-playing at Union Theological seminary and organist and choir master at First Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, Mr. Baker will play selections by Mozart, Schroeder, Rinck, Vivaldi, Bach, Vierne, Bingham, and Liszt.

"Dr. Haydon and I played golf every morning last summer, when we were supposedly teaching on the faculty of the University of Michigan," Baker said, "so I certainly hope this weather clears up before tomorrow morning."

Although his main field is sacred music, Baker got his start playing a theater organ as a boy, in the days when they flashed songs on the screen, and "you try to follow that darn bouncing ball—and then the screen would slip."

He received his bachelor of music degree at Illinois Wesleyan, and graduate degrees in sacred music at Union Theological seminary. He has studied under Clarence Dickinson and E. Huntington Woodman, a pupil of Cesar Franck, as well as taking further work at Columbia university.

ROBERT BAKER

Baker likes jazz—"Mrs. Baker, who is a pianist, and I frequently go on a jaunt to 52nd street, he says," to hear the distinguished exponents of that style. "He says it's a good thing for all musicians to have some groundwork in jazz—"it gives a flexibility in accompaniment."

Born in Pontiac, Illinois, Baker claims that he is something of a "biological sport," since there are no musicians in his family background. On his first trip to Chapel Hill, he says he "loves it" and is tremendously impressed with "The Sunny South, and that sort of thing."

Baker's recital, to be presented at 8:30 o'clock tonight under the sponsorship of the Music department, will include the following selections: "Fantasia in F Minor, Mozart;" "Three Short Intermezzi," Schroeder; "Rondo for the Flute Stop," Rinck, arranged by Dickinson; "Adagio," from "Concerto in D Minor," Vivaldi; Prelude and Fugue in A Minor, Bach.

Also on the program are Ancient Jewish Melody; "Diversissement," Vierne; "Rhythmic Trumpet," Bingham; "The Nativity," Langlais and Fantasia and Fugue on Bach, Liszt.