IFC Establishes UNC Scholarship As War Memorial

The Interfraternity council announced yesterday that it has established a university scholarship to be known as the Interfraternity War Memorial scholarship.

Made possible by the contributions of every fraternity man at the university, the scholarship is planned as an annual award. According to Bob Nelson of the IFC, who attended the national interfraternity meeting, this scholarship is believed to be the first of its kind ever established in this country.

It will be awarded to "an outstanding North Carolina high school senior" who will be selected for the honor by the University Student Aid committee in cooperation with IFC. Selection will be made on the basis of previous record, scholastic accomplishment, and financial need.

The recipient thus selected will receive $500 per year during each of four years in residence, making the total value of the scholarship $2,000.

The administration of the award will be in the hands of the regular University Aid committee. It was set up by the IFC scholarship committee under the leadership of Eugene "Bud" Prata, its chairman.

Phi Defeats Bill To Send U. S. Troops To Palestine Under U. N. Control Plan

By Gordon Huffines

The Philanthropic assembly unanimously defeated a proposed measure to send 40,000 American troops to Palestine under United Nations' control Tuesday night at the weekly meeting of the assembly. The Phi bill was proposed as a measure to end strife between Jewish and Arab factions in the Holy Land.

Little support was given to the bill by Phi debaters as substitute bills were continually introduced before the assembly in attempts to defeat or alter the original measure.

Advocates Consultation

Leading a strong block in the assembly, Representative George Sieber introduced as a substitute to the Ways and Means bill, a measure which advocated consultation with Russia and other members of the UN over the matter of sending troops into a partitioned Palestine. The vote on the substitute bill found the assembly in a 10-10 deadlock which was broken by the negative vote of Speaker Chester D. zum Brunnen, defeating the measure.

Other alternative measures based on the principles set forth in Representative Sieber's bill were also defeated by determined members who refused to be distracted from the original measure.

Oppose Force

Strong opposition to the use of force was expressed by Phi members who advocated peaceful arbitration as the only workable solution in settling the conflict between the two races over the partition of Palestine. Other members pointed out that, besides the prohibitive cost of maintaining 40,000 troops in the Holy Land and the danger involved to American soldiers, such action would increase attacks by Russia and its satellites on United States "imperialism."

Referring to the strategic importance of Palestine, supporters of the bill argued that United States' military power was needed in the Holy Land to protect American interests in the near East. It was also asserted that the measure would give the UN power to provide opportunity to test the strength of the organization by enforcing the decision to partition Palestine.

Hits Partition

Asserting that the main problem was to find a way for the Jews and Arabs to live together, Representative Earnest House stated, "Peace must come from internal harmony." House expressed opposition to the partitioning of Palestine and asserted that force should not be used to enforce the UN decision.

Speaker zum Brunnen announced that Robert Morrison, former speaker of the Phi will be the guest of the assembly at a supper meeting which it to be held at the Carolina Inn tonight at 6:30.

Two Young Republican Groups Formed Here Within Two Days

Preston Stephens Heads First Club

At a meeting Monday night, a Young Republican club was formed here on the campus by a number of students.

The subject of organizing was discussed beforehand with G. N. Harvard, chairman of the Republican party of Orange county and A. A. McDonald, a prominent Republican of Durham, according to Milton Southerlin, one of the organizers of the group.

Under the advice and approval of Harvard, this meeting was called for the purpose of making a permanent organization of the Young Republican club on the campus of the University of North Carolina.

J. F. Crawford, Republican of Chapel Hill, was the guest speaker. He assured the newly formed club that the party would administer every effort toward the success of the organization.

The announced goal of the Young Republican club is the analysis and betterment of prevailing conditions in the South and keeping in closer contact with the national situation.

Officers elected were: Preston Stephens, president; Coline Smith, vice president; Milton Southerlin, secretary; and Alton S. Parrish, treasurer.

Tuesday's Meeting Draws 22 Students

Twenty-two Republican students have formed a Student Republican club here on the campus. The organization was formed at a meeting of the group held Tuesday evening in the Di senate hall of New West.

Temporary officers and committees were set up at that time. The newly elected president Bob Nelson, speaking for the entire membership, said after the meeting, "We shall apply for affiliation with the national organization, and we will work in cooperation with the state and county Republican groups."

Other officers elected in addition to Nelson are: Peter A. Moore, secretary; and Charles Britt, treasurer. Committee heads are: Policy committee, Coline Smith; publicity committee, William Hipple; and program committee, Jerry Weiss.

Those present included Richard Cheatam, Mary Gusta Beall, Paul M. Gaskill, Charles Winston Hall, Robert Nelson, Morris Knudson, James W. Hutchens, W. H. Hipple, W. P. Penny, Jackson L. Carson, Warren J. Wickler, Clarence Hayes, Charles S. Homan, D. G. Moore, Jerry Weiss, Charles Britt, Al Lowenstein, Peter Moore, Coline Smith, Parrott Parrish, Allen Moore, and Charles Long.

Last Chance

Today is the last day that students may exchange coupons for Saturday's basketball game with Duke at Woollen gym.

Students are reminded that after today no student pass-books will be honored and that admission Saturday will be by reserved seat only.

Any tickets remaining after today will go on public sale Friday morning for as long as the supply lasts. The tickets will be priced at one dollar each.

Tickets for the State college game two weeks from Saturday will go on exchange for priority holders beginning Monday morning. Book numbers 4501-8000 and 8501-9000 will be honored during the week.

Trustees Meeting Approves Changes In Faculty Staff

By Raney Stanford

The executive committee of the University board of trustees approved the appointment of Harvey Eugene Lehman as an assistant professor of the department of Zoology at a meeting yesterday morning in Gov. R. Gregg Cherry's office in Raleigh.

The newly-chosen zoology teacher is currently engaged as a laboratory assistant at the Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole, Mass. He was graduated from the University of Maryland in 1941 and received an M. A. from Chapel Hill in 1944.

Resignations Approved

The committee also approved the resignations of Howard K. Beale of the University's department of history, Earl L. Newcomer of the department of botany, T. Ross Fink of the department of education, and C. B. Robson of the political science department.

According to information released by the committee, Professor Beals has resigned as of July 1, 1948 to accept an appointment at the University of Wisconsin, while Professor Newcomer's release was postponed January 1, 1948 to enable him to accept a position at the University of Connecticut.

Goes to Peabody

Instructor Fink, currently on leave from the education department, has accepted an appointment at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn. Professor Robson is quitting his post as head of the political science department, but will continue to serve in the department.

The trustees group granted A. C. Howell of the English department a leave of absence during the Spring quarter so that he may serve as a visiting professor at the University of San Carlos in Guatemala. Leave was granted Professor Howell after he had been invited to take this appointment by the State department and the South American school.

Price Promoted

Daniel O. Price, of the department of sociology and anthropology was promoted to an associate professor in that department and to a research associate in the Institute for Research in Social Science at yesterday's session.

Governor Cherry is the ex-officio chairman of the committee, which is composed of 12 members of the board of trustees.

UP LEGISLATORS

Thurman Williams, chairman of the University Party, has called a meeting of all UP legislators for 3:30 this afternoon in Graham Memorial.

Five Bills On Agenda Of Special Legislature

By Chuck Hauser

The Student Legislature will meet in special sessions for the first time in 1948 at 8 o'clock this evening in Di hall.

Five items of business now reside on Speaker Jack Folger's agenda for tonight, with possibly several new bills in the offing.

What appears to be most important is the pending constitutional amendment bill which would take away the appellate jurisdiction of the Student council and would reduce the Men's and Women's Honor councils to mere social violation courts.

The amendment provides for the Student council to try all cases of Honor Code violations and to sit as a constitutional judging body. The Student Legislature would be given the power to settle jurisdictional disputes.

A bill to provide for the setting-up of a coed affairs committee of the Legislature is scheduled to hit the floor tonight, and strong opposition to it is expected from the feminine corner.

Three more bills are in the lineup, the list being headed by the magazine consolidation bill, which provides for a new literary-humor-variety magazine under the name of the present "Carolina Mag."

The speakers fund bill is designed to bring better speakers to the campus by a pooling of the funds now allotted to the Di, Phi, CPU, CCUN, and IRC.

The banking facilities committee bill would set up a committee of the Student Legislature to study the possibilities of organizing a student bank at the University. The bill came out of the Finance committee last week but did not reach the floor for discussion due to an early adjournment.

Three Student-written Plays on Bill As Playmakers Present Experimental

By Mark Sumner

Three one-act plays will be presented tonight and Friday night at 7:30 by the Carolina Playmakers for their 121st bill of student written experimental plays. The productions will be staged in the Playmakers' theater, and no admission will be charged.

The first play is "The Terrapin Sticks Its Neck Out" by Robert Rolnik of Brooklyn, N. Y. It is under the direction of Mildred Howard, and the cast includes Leslie Thornbury, Katherine Finney, Richard Katsin, Robert Barr, Donald Draper, and Nathaniel White.

Scene of Play

The scene of the play is set in the office of the Daily Terrapin at Polk University. Frank Echols is stage manager, and Leslie Thornbury designed the setting.

The second play will be "Au Fond du Coeur" by James Gieger of Miami, Fla. James Moos has charge of directing the show, and Murray McCain is stage manager.

The cast includes Robert Gutknecht, Edwin Duke, Phillis Isenhour, Porter van Zandt, and George Upchurch. The scene is placed in Biskra, Algeria, and the setting is by Walter Creech.

"Morning Dialogue"

The last experimental was written by John Wills of Raleigh, author of last year's "Mask of the Black Bishop", and it is called "Morning Dialogue".

"Morning Dialogue" is being directed by Elizabeth Dawson, and the cast includes Sue Shanker and David Samples. Robert Hall is stage manager and Joseph Fidler designed the setting.

Pair Will Seek Secretary Post, Cheerleader Job

Bob Kirby, 23-year-old Charlotte junior, has been nominated by the University party for the post of secretary-treasurer of the student body.

UP Chairman Thurman Williams also announced yesterday that Charlie Stancell, Chapel Hill native with several years of experience on cheerleading squads, has been nominated for head cheerleader for the coming year.

Kirby is a member of the Student council, the Grail, and is on the Dance committee for his second straight year. A commerce major and former member of the University club, he first entered the University in the V-12 program in 1943.

High School Prexy

He was commissioned an ensign, and served 36 months, returning here in September, 1946. The candidate first entered the political world when he served as president of the student body of Central high school in Charlotte.

Stancell has seen several years of service under various head cheerleaders since he first entered the University in 1936. He was forced to withdraw from school for approximately three years, and he spent three years in the Army air force as a first lieutenant. A great deal of his time in the Army was spent flying the hump from Burma to China in a C-46.

The two nominations help to close out the growing UP slate for major campus offices. The list at present carries the names of Jess Dedmond for president (nominated with the Campus party), Johnny Clampt for vice-president, and Ed Joyner for Daily Tar Heel editor (triple-party nomination with SP and CP).

Acrobatic Dancer To Star GM Show

Dallas Byerly, acrobatic dancer, and his new partner, a twelve-year-old girl from Sanford, will be featured in an adagio acrobatic routine at tomorrow night's Rendezvous floor show.

The show, directed by Clarence Barbour, newly-appointed director of entertainment for Graham Memorial, will open at 10:30, running for about half an hour.

Byerly, a freshman from Sanford, has been seen before in Rendezvous shows, but this is the first campus appearance of his new partner. Described by director Barbour as a "dancing prodigy," she weighs only 65 pounds, and "stands on her hands and walks on ladders on them."

Others featured on tomorrow night's informal entertainment bill include Riqui Casino, popular singer from Winston-Salem; and Skippy Mann, who will sing a black-face number at a white, roll-around piano.

Other senses than the visual will be appealed to during the open house through the generosity of Edward K. Danziger, who will contribute delicacies from Danziger's candy kitchen for all attending the affair.

YWCA Junior Council Will Tour Y Building

Meeting in the Y building at 7 o'clock this evening, members of the YWCA Junior council will be conducted on an informal tour of the building by old cabinet members and student staff members.

Mrs. S. A. Rosenberg, director of Hillel foundation, and Claude Shotts, YM executive secretary, will tell the group something of their respective jobs, and a cokes party will be held after the meeting.
