Jim Godwin Nominated Vice President By Campus Party Tom Kerr Is Endorsed By Student Party For Tarnation Editorship

Editorial Aide

Seeks Humor Mag On Campus Lines

By Donald MacDonald

Tom Kerr, present assistant editor of referendum happy Tarnation, was announced yesterday as Student party candidate for the position of next year's humor magazine editor.

Kerr (rhymes with Tar) was unofficial editor of the latest issue of the victorious humor magazine which hit the campus shortly before last week's referendum. According to Editor Tookie Hodgson, who was confined to the infirmary because of an automobile accident, it was Kerr who handled the last minute lay-out and organization which brought the magazine out on time.

Top-Notch Humor Mag

The candidate's name will appear on the campus-wide ballots in the April elections. "If elected," Kerr said yesterday, "I will continue the present policy of Tarnation, at the same time seeking to discover the general campus ideas of college humor. When this is done, the campus will be given a really top-notch humor magazine."

The SP nominee is a freshman who hails from Pasadena, California. His experiences in the publications field began when he was elected editor of his school newspaper for both his junior and senior years in high school. He later worked for six months on the staff of a national magazine in New York city.

Kerr's nomination came at the regular Monday night session of the Student party in Graham Memorial.

Major Undecided

The rising sophomore is undecided about his major course of study, although his interests lie in publications. He will probably seek a degree in either English or journalism.

As yet, no other candidate has announced for the magazine editorship.

Tri-Delt Award Open to Students

Applications are now being accepted for the Delta Delta Delta scholarship, which has again been made available to women students in colleges where there are chapters of the sorority.

The applicants may or may not be fraternity members, but they must be well-qualified students working toward degrees. They must show promise of becoming valuable citizens in their future communities. The Delta Delta Delta committee on awards shall be the sole judge of the respective merits of the applicants. The successful candidates will be notified by May 15. The awards will be sent to them at the time of enrollment in the next term of school.

Application blanks may be secured from Audrey Branch, personnel adviser to women, in 104-C South Building. Completed applications must reach the committee by March 31.

FAITHFUL TO THE END

Pascoag, R. I. —(UP)— Mrs. Emily Pullen, 90, died in her isolated, snowbound home. Her 72-year-old handyman, George Daly, worked for 48 hours shoveling a 1,000-yard path so he could carry word of her death to the outside.

UP LEGISLATORS MEETING

The University party legislators will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

Society Editor Jane Mears Is Elected By Senate to Edit Coed's Handbook

Jane Mears, Daily Tar Heel society editor, was elected by an overwhelming majority of the Coed Senate to the position of editor for Woman's Handbook at the Senate meeting Tuesday night.

Miss Mears, who was highly recommended by DTH Managing Editor Ed Joyner for the position, has done desk work on the Daily Tar Heel for two years and is the DTH's first society editor. Previous to her entrance to Carolina she was assistant editor of the "Chaser," newspaper at Chevy Chase junior college, in Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Upon notification of her election to the position Jane said, "Nothing makes me happier than to receive this honor and I will direct my talents and experience toward doing something concrete for those who will soon share our life at Carolina."

Following the election, the Senate passed a bill abolishing the point system which has limited the number of activities in which a coed might participate. It was pointed out that the point system might prevent the most qualified candidate from holding the most appropriate office and lessens the interest of coeds in student government.

The floor was opened for discussion of the two bills being considered by Legislature, the first of which is to place supreme power in the hands of Legislature by giving it power to revise all Senate action except social rules while the second bill is to do away with the Senate altogether. It was pointed out that the Senate is the one organizational force which keeps the coeds together and the Legislature is not sufficiently representative of all the women students. Therefore, all coeds are urged to attend the Legislature meeting tonight.

A bill stating that coeds must have approval of Dean Carmichael's office before visiting fraternity houses or attending fraternity parties is to be considered at the next Senate meeting, according to a statement made by Barbara Cashion at the close of the meeting.

Committee Passes Anti-Lynching Bill

Washington, Feb. 25 —(UP)— A Republican dominated House committee has approved a strong anti-lynching bill, a measure President Truman called for in his famous Civil Rights message.

The bill, as approved by the committee, sets up Federal penalties for lynch mobs and for local officials who fail to stop them. GOP leaders expect the measure to be approved by a full committee tomorrow and it may reach the House floor in record time.

With Republican support as well as pressure from the White House, Southern Democrats feel that they can't stop it in the House and they realize that even a Senate filibuster will be tough. Meanwhile, House Democrats have released a list of 74 members who say that the President is threatening to split the party with his Civil Rights proposals.

Republicans are giving their all-out support as it fulfills one of their 1944 election pledges. In addition, it angers the Southern Democrats and widens the gulf between President Truman and the solid South.

House To Accept Johnson's Award

Charlotte, Feb. 25 —(UP)— Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall is scheduled to arrive in Charlotte tomorrow to speak at a Brotherhood Week meeting.

At the meeting, the Carolina Israelite publication will formally name Ambassador Herschel V. Johnson of the United Nations General Assembly as the Carolinian who has done most toward American Brotherhood during 1947.

The award will be accepted for Johnson by Robert B. House, Chancellor of the University of North Carolina.

Johnson, a Charlottean, is unable to attend the program. Doctor Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, originally was slated to fill in for Johnson but he has been called to Lake Success for a UN conference.

The Carolina Israelite gold medal award is made annually. Another feature speaker at the program will be former North Carolina Governor J. Melville Broughton of Raleigh.

Discrimination Bill

By Gordon Huffines
The Phi Assembly defeated a proposal to admit a limited number of Negroes to the University on an experimental basis Tuesday night by an 8-8 tie. The refusal of Acting Speaker Pete Gerns to cast his vote to break the tie automatically defeated the bill.

Declaring that segregation in North Carolina schools is detrimental to advancement and free the admission of Negroes to the University to determine the feasibility of a non-segregated school system.

Representative Graham Jones, introducing the measure to the assembly, asserted that the present non-segregation policy of the South is inviting outside interference in the form of federal legislation to solve racial problems. Maintaining that the University should lead the way in liberal reform, Jones stated that, "Science has proved that racial determinism, and all that it implies, is a false doctrine." Other supporters of the measure stressed the fact that the bill advocated equal educational opportunities for the Negro rather than equal social opportunities. These members maintained that admitting Negro students to the University would advance the educational status of the Negro and would be an ideal experiment to determine whether or not the two races could work together in an "educational atmosphere."

In an attempt to defeat the measure, the opposition bloc proposed an amendment to the effect that the Phi should support the Negro regional institutions now being considered by Southern governors. A clause favoring state appropriations for the improvement of Negro primary and elementary schools in North Carolina was also added to the amendment, but the measure was defeated by representatives who charged that the proposed amendment was avoiding the real issue.

Opposing the non-segregation experiment, representative David Sharpe stated that the plan (See DISCRIMINATION, page 4)

New Religious Group Formed To Continue Duties of CRIL

By Margaret Gaston
A new group, the Council of Student Religious Organizations, has replaced the Council for Religion in Life. At an organizational meeting Tuesday night the new council elected its officers and approved a constitutional charter.

The new organization differs chiefly from CRIL in that its membership is restricted to representatives of groups whose primary concern is the religious life of the University. CRIL had included such other organizations as the International Relations club.

Harmon is Proxy
Elected to head the council was Paul Harmon, president, Joan Schlosberg, secretary, and Gray Sanders, treasurer. Claude Shotts, secretary of the YMCA, will serve as advisor.

Groups represented in the new Council are the Baptist Student Union, Canterbury club, Hill foundation, Lutheran Student Association, Pilgrim Fellowship, Presbyterian Student groups, Wesley foundation, YMCA, YWCA, and the Christian Science organization.

Pastors to Advise
The Council will include one student from each of the member organizations, and the student shall be an officer or a member well acquainted with the policies and activities of the organization which he represents. The student pastors and other group advisors will participate in the work of the Council in an advisory capacity.

In the last meeting of the CRIL Mr. Shotts was authorized to appoint a committee to consider the future of the Council for Religion in Life. Vivian Parks, president of the Baptist Student Union, reported for the committee in the meeting last night by presenting the constitutional charter, which was accepted with few changes.

According to the charter the purpose of the Council is to serve the religious life on campus in the following manner: (1) To coordinate the activities of the various member organizations, (2) To serve as a medium for the exchange of information about the work of the member organizations, (3) To study the campus in order to determine the areas of religious need not being met by the current programs, (4) To recommend activities, events, and services that will contribute to the religious life on the campus.

Broad in Scope
Mr. Shotts has this to say about the dissolving of the CRIL "CRIL was so broad in its scope and representation that it ceased to have a function as a council. It tended to become a competitive organization and tried to define its functions independent of its constituent member organizations."

Each representative has been asked to make synopsis of activities of the group he represents. The council will meet in the next two weeks.

Man Who Stole Two Quarters Given New Trial By State Supreme Court

Raleigh, Feb. 25 —(UP)—The State Supreme Court has reversed the conviction of a man who was sentenced to five to seven years for the theft of two quarters.

Edward Minton was sentenced by Judge Clawson L. Williams after trial in Edgecombe county. He was convicted of stealing two quarters from the coastal lunch in Tarboro.

The reversal was rendered by the Supreme Court on the ruling that the conviction had been made on circumstantial evidence. Associate Justice Sam Ervin said it was insufficient to sustain a conviction unless the facts shown point out unerringly to the defendants guilt. He said the facts in the case would not stand the test.

A new trial was also granted D. O. B. Choate of Sparta who was charged with performing an illegal operation in Swain county. Harvey Grant was also granted a new trial by the Court. Grant was convicted with manslaughter in the death of his brother-in-law Ray Woods.

Justice Winborne said that the lower court's verdict that Grant's plea of self defense would not stand unless they were satisfied he had retreated to the wall before shooting Woods.

Carmichael Receives Member-at-Large Nomination from University Party

Billy Carmichael III, Sally Woodhull, Dick Gordon and John Stump are the University party candidates for the Publications board, party officials announced yesterday.

Carmichael, junior member of the board, will seek the post as member-at-large.

Besides being co-sports editor of the DTH, Carmichael is co-sports editor of the Yack and feature writer for the Carolina Magazine. He is a member of the Student Entertainment committee and has served on the GM Board of Directors.

A rising senior from Chapel Hill, Carmichael is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He was president of Sound and Fury last year and has played Jayvee basketball.

Sally Woodhull from Allentown, Pa., and Dick Gordon from Merion Station, Pa., will seek the two Senior positions on the board.

Woodhull is a transfer from Woman's College where she was make-up and news editor of the Carolinian. She was also a member of the Square Circle, honorary math society.

Since entering Carolina, she has been a reporter for the DTH.

Cherry Comments On Civil Rights

Raleigh, Feb. 25 —(UP)— Governor Cherry has returned to his office from a trip to Washington to confer with other Southern governors about regional schools.

However, the meeting which drew most of the headlines was the meeting with Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island. McGrath is chairman of the Democratic National committee.

In Cherry's opinion there is nothing in President Truman's Civil Rights program to cause undue alarm. He says there is no point in stirring up trouble and says he thinks the biggest accomplishment of the meeting was that it gave a lot of people a chance to blow off steam.

As Cherry puts it, some of the points in the bill will not affect North Carolina at all. As to the so-called Negro problem he says North Carolina has always gotten along pretty well with a minority race and there is nothing in the Civil Rights bill to worry about.

Watchman's "Wink" Lands Him In Jail

Houston, Tex., Feb. 25 —(UP)— The wink that landed him in jail, a 56-year-old night watchman explained today, was entirely an occupational accident.

The man was arrested after the target of the eye-click, a young woman, told police he started "following me around" six months ago.

"It's the way daylight affects my eyes after working all night," he told police. "Daylight makes my eyes blink."

A Houston city ordinance makes it unlawful "to stare at an make what is commonly called goo goo eyes at a female."

The watchman will face the judge tomorrow.

Photographs of the students who participated in the Natural Bridge Y conference last week-end are on display in the YM and YWCA offices, and additional copies may be ordered there.

'Plight Of Venus'

Taking Venus as his example and model of art through the years since classicism, John V. Allcott, head of the University Art department, has evolved a compact and eye-opening explanation of the rise of modern abstract art which he described in one short hour to an audience, composed chiefly of his colleagues, in Hill hall last night.

"The Plight of Venus," as described by Professor Allcott, is the inability or the lack of inclination on the part of everyone other than artists or students of art to see that modern art is not dishonoring Venus or any other subject by painting or sculpturing in abstract.

"This manner of expression is still strange to most of us, and we are apt to be hostile to it—even as our fathers were hostile to the art of their time," Professor Allcott said. "And so, because of this hostility, there is a Plight of Venus."

"But if we remember that reality as sensed by our time is different than in former times, and that artists are driven to apprehend reality, to give it form, beauty and direction, then we will approach humbly and inquisitively the work of our artists. And little by little, or with sudden joyous bounds, we will come to share the thought currents and ideas of our day. We will see that artists are still concerned with honoring Venus, and we will understand Venus more soberly and deeply than ever before. If this comes to be, then there will be no Plight of Venus."

With the aid of tiny drawings, mostly his own, and some photographs made into slides for a screen, Professor Allcott traced in vivid manner the transition from classicism, to realism, to impressionism, expressionism and abstract, giving a running commentary on the thought behind each movement.

Professor Allcott has been invited to give this same lecture at the Museum of Modern Art in New York in April.

Candidate Was In Legislature, On Men's Council

By John Stump

Jim Godwin, rising senior from Tillman, South Carolina, has been nominated for vice-president of the student body by the Campus party.

The third man to declare for the vice-presidency, Godwin goes into the campaign with service in each of the three branches of student government.

Following his transfer from State college to go into the Marine program here, he spent three years in the service. He returned to the campus in 1946.

At State, Godwin held the position of secretary of the student body. Previous to that, he served as vice-president of the sophomore class, secretary of forestry and as a member of the student council.

Since coming to Carolina, Godwin has been on the Men's Honor council, and has served in the Student Legislature. He earned his varsity football letter here at the University and is vice-president of the Monogram club.

When informed of Godwin's nomination, Student body president Tom Eller commented "There can be no doubt of his qualification for the office." A member of Phi Delta Theta, Godwin's accomplishments have caused him to be included in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Godwin promised yesterday that "If elected, I shall devote an honest effort to do my best to fill the requirements of the office." Godwin's nomination came at a meeting of the party held Tuesday evening. It was by acclamation.

The meeting was addressed by ex-party chairman Jess Dedmond, who is running for president of the student body with a joint CP-UP nomination. Dedmond reported on the recommendations coming out of the discussions on student affairs held at the Natural Bridge Y conference last week.

Dedmond urged the group to study carefully the suggestions of the conference and pointed out that it will be the duty of the political parties to take a stand on many of the findings which were made.

New WNC Group To Meet Tonight

President Bud Regan of the Western North Carolina club announced that the club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Roland Parker Lounge at Graham Memorial. Regan said the club was reorganized at a meeting two weeks ago and is now functioning with a new staff of officers.

"All new members will be welcomed at Thursday's meeting," said Nell Evans, new membership committee chairman.

George Simpson was appointed to head the program committee while John Brady was reaffirmed as chairman of the entertainment committee. Johnny Orr took over the reins of the dance committee.

Ragland Medicus has been placed at the head of transportation section. The club maintains a service for persons wishing to obtain rides and persons wishing to obtain riders to and from the vicinity of Asheville. "Any person wishing to use our service is requested to contact me as early in the week as possible," said Medicus on accepting the position.

The publicity committee is headed by Carroll R. Melton.
