Determined Blue Devils Turn Back Phantoms For 56-45 Win In Durham

John Dillon Has Great Night On Hooks But His 18 Points Fail To Halt Duke

By Billy Carmichael III

Duke Stadium, Durham, Feb. 27-Two gentlemen of the old school of Carolina basketball played their hearts out for Coach Tom Scott's Carolina Tar Heels here tonight, only to see their efforts go to no apparent avail as the back-to-thewall Blue Devils of Duke shot and fought their way into the Southern Conference tournament.

by dropping the Chapel Hill entry into defeat, 56-45, before around 7,000 howling fans.

It was lanky Johnny Dillon who turned back the pages to giv the assemblage a look at the Dil lon of old as he 1) dropped n five of his specialities; 2) made eight for 11 free throws; 3) fouled the big Duke center, Ben Collins, out in the early part of the second half; 4) then fouled our Collins' successor, Doug Ausbon who was running wild at the time; and 5) turned in the scrappiest game of his career.

The other gentleman was Bol Paxton of rebound fame who lived up to and beyond all the clippings of his altitudic attainments. Paxton controlled the defensive boards for the Tar Heels all the evening and helped to keep the Scottmen in the game through his efforts.

Getting back to the stark truth of the matter, the Duke entry won the ball game by taking more shots than did the Carolinians and thereby scoring more points. The men of Gerry Gerard needed the win to be sure of making the referees determined that not tonight. Heaven alone would have to protect the poor working boy. Dillon pushed the losers to within one point, 24-25, of the Dukesters, but a short rally by the winners at this point forced the Tar Heels back to a 25-31 deficit at the half.

Duke pushed farther to the fore at the start of the second half with Doug Ausbon hit for two quick field goals. Cole matched one of these, but You-
