There will be a party for all members of the Western North Carolina club and all Western North Carolina students who wish to attend Monday afternoon, March 22 at 4 o'clock at the Bent Creek picnic grounds, entertainment chairman Johnny Orr announced yesterday.

He suggested that members get together and plan their own table and bring their own refreshments.

Dr. Miller graduated with highest honors in physics from Cambridge university and took his Ph.D. work under the famous Lord Rutherford. He has been working in atomic energy research during the past five years, but not in connection with atomic weapons. His work is related to the application of atomic energy to treatment for cancer.

Red Cross Campaign Campus Solicitation Goes Into Third Day

By Sally Woodhull

The campus Red Cross drive will complete today its third day of solicitation in a campaign to raise $2,000 as part of the nationwide Red Cross drive.

Graham Memorial director Bill Shuford, head of the student drive, has made a final appeal to everyone who has not as yet contributed to do so today. Contributions will be accepted at the campaign headquarters in Graham Memorial, he said.

Collections Direct

Shuford also stated that dormitory, fraternity, and sorority representatives making solicitations should bring their collections direct to the student union office without necessarily contacting organizational heads.

The goal of $2,000 for the campus will require, Shuford said, a small contribution from everyone. "We sincerely hope," he said, "that everyone will take part in the drive inasmuch as it is such a worthwhile cause."

Cites Jobs

Citing particular jobs that the Red Cross has undertaken during the past year, Shuford mentioned the Texas City disaster and the Maine forest fire as occasions when the Red Cross gave aid to many homeless and destitute people.

"I also wish to acknowledge the extremely cooperative spirit shown by the heads of organizations," Shuford said, naming Jack Thompson of Interfraternity council; Emile Saleeby of Men's Interdormitory council; Fernie Hughes, Pan Hellenic council; and Bootsie MacWilliams, Woman's Interdormitory council.

"If each individual on campus can capture the enthusiasm of these organization leaders," Shuford said, "I have no doubt that the campaign will be a success."

DEGREE APPLICATIONS

Students who expect to complete the requirements for a degree at the end of the Winter quarter are reminded that they must have filed an application for a degree card with their Dean in accordance with the instructions of their particular school.

Degree candidates should check with the University Cashier, Room 01, South Building, before leaving the University since no degree can be awarded to students with outstanding fees.

Also featured in the magazine, which is now on sale in the dorms, is an article on Duke's recent collapse as a major athletic power, an interview with the chairman of the House Veteran's committee, plus humor, fashions and close-ups on campus personalities throughout the South.

Students Must Make Deposits On Rooms For Coming Terms

By Raney Stanford

Students desiring rooms in the University's dormitory for the coming summer and fall terms must make a separate deposit for each term with the University Cashier, J. E. Wadsworth, housing officer for the University, announced yesterday.

Current dormitory residents and those students living in Nash and Miller halls, and the quonset huts, have the privilege of reserving space for these future terms, but a deposit of $10 for summer school and one of $6 for the fall must be made at the Cashier's office on the ground floor of South building before April 1.

Point Emphasized

"A room reserved for the summer only does not entitle the occupant to that space in the fall," Wadsworth emphasized.

If these deposits are not made, housing authorities said, the residents will revert to their proper places on the room priority schedule.

Wadsworth expressed the hope that all occupants of Nash, Miller and the quonsets would get dormitory space for the summer session, even though Stacy, Everett, Alexander, Graham, Aycock, Lewis, and Whitehead dormitories will not be available.

To Be Reassigned

"Residents of these buildings who plan to attend summer school will be assigned to other rooms," he explained.

Because Alexander and Stacy are scheduled to be reserved for freshmen next fall, Wadsworth said the men now in the dormitories who are returning for that session will also have to be reassigned.

Horner, O'Rourke To Appear Here

Charles Berman, chairman of the Pi Delta Alpha honorary dental society, announced yesterday that Dr. John T. O'Rourke and Dr. Harlan H. Horner will be in Chapel Hill next week to discuss the problems of dentistry with pre-dental students.

The two men are coming here as representatives of the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association.

"These two men probably know more about dental education than any other two men in the nation," Horner said. "It would be very beneficial for all pre-dentals on campus to meet and talk with these men."

Horner and O'Rourke will arrive Tuesday, March 16. Berman said that a luncheon has been planned at the Carolina Inn for 11:45, and an open discussion will follow.

All pre-dental students who are interested in attending are requested to contact Berman at the Tau Epsilon Phi house, 4011 for a reservation.

KEYS MUST BE IN

Graduating residents of men's dormitories are asked to turn in their room keys to Room 02, South building, before leaving the University, Dormitory Manager Bill Smith requested yesterday.

Charlie Hodson's Platform Opposes 'Machine Politics'

By Chuck Hauser

Charlie Hodson, junior from San Antonio, Texas, has increased to four the field of presidential candidates running in the April 6 general campus elections.

Hodson, who graduated with an A.B. in political science last December and is now a special commerce student, is in the race as an independent.

Opposes Machine Politics

In announcing his candidacy, Hodson declared that he opposed "undemocratic machine politics which all too often determine the outcome of an election before the voter has cast his ballot."

"An elected independent candidate," he continued, "is always voted into office on his own qualifications and not those of any political party."

Hodson has been a member of the Student Legislature, former parliamentarian of the Dialectic Senate, and member of the varsity debate squad.

Marine for Four Years

A veteran with four years of Marine corps service behind him, the candidate has also been in the Debate council and the Carolina Political union here.

"Greater cooperation between all Carolina students toward better student government is an essential part of our campus life," he stated. "The time has come to stop piddling around with our intentions. Student government has come of age."

Hodson will run against Jess Dedmond (CP-UP), Mike Rubish (SP) and Dick Manning (Ind.) when the spring balloting begins.

Official notification of the change has been sent to all parties by Chairman Winn. The fact that March 25 falls on the first day of classes in the spring quarter and the subsequent confusion were cited as the reasons for the extension.

Plans Move Ahead For Literary Mag

The organization, content, and technical make-up of the forthcoming Carolina Quarterly finally assumed definite printed form yesterday afternoon when a committee under Julia Ross submitted a completed prospectus to the magazine's temporary headquarters in Graham Memorial.

In accord with the Student Legislature bill which authorized the quarterly, the editors and business manager of the magazine during its first year of operation will be selected by a faculty committee and the student members of the Publications board.

However, in ensuing years, the two officials will be picked by the faculty committee in cooperation with the incumbent executive staff of the quarterly. The faculty committee referred to will be composed of two journalism and three English department members.

The quarterly will be supported by funds other than those appropriated by the Student Legislature, with the exception of a $2,000 underwrite given for the purpose of starting the publication.

The quarterly apparently will not specialize, because according to the prospectus "No creative work will be excluded provided it has literary merit." Provision was made for contributions from both student and outside sources.

Planned as a 64-page publication, the quarterly will sell to students for one dollar a year and to others for $1.50.

Daniels to Speak
Jonathan Daniels will be the guest speaker to the New Comers Club on March 16th at a meeting to be held in Graf Memorial at 4:00 o'clock.

Topic will be "Is the South Changing?"
The New Comers Club whose members have been with the faculty no longer than three years, extends a cordial invitation to all faculty wives to attend this meeting.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Richard Calhoun and her committee.

Civil Service Posts Open In Public Health
The U. S. Civil Service commission today announced an examination for filling Health Program Specialist positions in the Public Health service in Washington and throughout the United States.

Yearly salaries range from $3,397 to $7,102. No written test is required for this examination, but previous experience or college education will be necessary. The positions to be filled involve travel and frequent change of station.

Age limits for Health Program Specialist positions are 18 to 62 years, but may be waived for persons entitled to veteran preference.

Poll Of Campus Veterans Planned

Opinions from veterans on everything from the Unstead act to the administration of the Atom Bomb are currently being requested by the Carolina magazine in the course of a poll being conducted by the publication.

After the results of the poll have been tabulated, they will be published as part of a Magazine tentatively titled "V-E plus 3". According to Mag Editor Fred Jacobson, it will be a study of how the veteran now views the results of his five year fight "to make the world safe for democracy."

To obtain the information requested, the magazine has had a mimeographed form prepared. It will be placed in Lenoir hall, the Y, and in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The form will contain a list of questions requiring a simple Yes or No answer (Sample: Have you benefited from your military service?), a place for the answers, and space in which the person filling out the form is requested to put his name.

The last named precaution has been made necessary because of the possibility that otherwise some people would answer more than once. In this connection, Jacobson asked yesterday that all veterans attempt to participate. Otherwise, he pointed out,

CLASS TICKETS READY

Class tickets for the spring quarter should be picked up at Registration hall, Venable, before this Friday, by all students who are returning and have paid all debts outstanding with the University.
