Non-Partisan Board Completes Selection Of Council Nominees

The non-partisan board for selecting Men's Honor council nominees closed its second and final session last night with a complete slate of candidates for seats on the Men's council.

Christ's Crucifixion Featured Tomorrow In Morning Services

Community Easter sunrise service, to be held at 6:30 Sunday morning in Forest theater, will be the second in a series of services commemorating the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ participated in and sponsored by students and by churches of the community.

Play Featured

Tomorrow's sunrise service will feature the performance of "The Resurrection of Christ," a play translated and arranged by Kai Jergenson and Robert Schenkan and directed by David Samples. Claude Shotts and the Rev. John Manley will lead a worship service, and Easter hymns will be sung by a choir composed of 125 school children.

Dressed in white and carrying candles, the children will be accompanied by a brass quartet. Other music will include chimes from the bell tower and records of medieval hymns.

Breakfast Follows Service

Following the service, breakfast will be served at the Presbyterian, Baptist, and Methodist churches, to which all students, whether members of the student groups or not, are invited.

At 9:45 tomorrow morning, the Presbyterian church choir, under the direction of Paul Young, will present the Bach cantata, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death," with Organist John O'Steen accompanying the performance.

An Easter resurrection drama was presented first during the time of Charlemagne will be performed at the Episcopal church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, closing the Easter observance.

CORRECTION

Max Snipes, manager of the new Graham Memorial barber shop does not work with the University laundry, he says. An error in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel had transferred him from his own University barber shop on Franklin street to the UNC laundry. Our apologies, and Mr. Snipes can cut our hair anytime.

According to board spokesmen, the names of the students chosen will be released within the next few days. No news other than the fact that the slate was complete was available last night.

The first meeting of the board was held Thursday night, at which time several applicants were considered. It was thought yesterday that a third meeting would have to be scheduled tonight to complete the nominations, but the slate was apparently quickly filled yesterday evening.

Voting members of the board consist of four representatives from each of the three political parties. These are: Student party: Gran Childress, Dortch Warriner, Bill Mackie and Herb Alexander; University party: Thurman Williams, Charlie Loudermilk, Len Butt and Anne Cooper Knight; Campus party: Bob Haire, Bob Ormand, Tom Lockhart and Walt Arnold.

Two-Thirds Vote

Nominees were chosen by two-thirds vote of the board and applicants were not asked their party affiliation or where they live. A minimum of four and a maximum of five nominees for each position were chosen.

Names will go on the ballot without party endorsement and no publicity will be released except through the selection board. It has been brought out that any student who wishes to do so may run for a council position independently but no party nominations will be made other than those released by the board with the backing of all three parties. Bill Tate, chairman of the Men's council presides over the board. Non-voting members sitting in an advisory capacity are Tom Eller and Mike Carr.

UVA 'Welcome-Back' Dance Slated Tonight

The UVA will hold its Welcome-Back dance tonight at 8:30 at the clubhouse.

This is the first function of the association for the spring quarter and is under the direction of A. B. Coleman.

The snack bar will be open under the direction of Lionel Nelson. Music will be furnished by the house.

Dick Cohan and Gene Braswell will be on the door to sell tickets. The club will continue to sell memberships in the book line this morning and Monday.

The new arrivals pay little attention to the drums of oil standing on the dock, although the oil is said to play an important role in their destinies and the destiny of Palestine. (International)

SP Gives Backing to Four Candidates, Saleeby, Davenport, Keener, Seixas

By Chuck Hauser

Four more vacancies in the Student party roster were filled yesterday as the SP announced endorsement of four candidates already in the spring election race.

Emile Saleeby for president of the senior class, Ed Davenport for vice-president, Hurshell Keener for sophomore class president and Vic Seixas for president of the Carolina Athletic association were the latest to receive the SP backing.

Saleeby was nominated by the Campus party, which also backed UP nominee Ed Davenport. Keener and Seixas are CP nominees.

Saleeby, who is president of the Interdormitory council and a member of the University Veterans association Board of Governors, also serves on the Orientation committee and the Student Welfare board. He is the vice-president of the University club and the chairman of the Student Grounds committee.

Ed Davenport, who will go into the vice-presidential office unopposed, hails from Winterville, South Carolina, and is now serving as a member of the Student Legislature.

Hurshell Keener, from Lenoir, is a member of the Student Legislature and the Dialectic Senate. He held the position of student body president while in high school.

Vic Seixas, number nine amateur tennis player in the country and national intercollegiate runner-up, is the SP-backed CP candidate for GAA president. Seixas lives in Philadelphia.

The four endorsements almost close out the Student party slate for the April 6 general elections, but SP Publicity Director Fred Thompson announced yesterday that the party's Student Legislature nominations would be forthcoming soon.

Young Republicans Announce That Stassen May Come Here

Harold E. Stassen, self-announced contender for the Republican presidential nomination, announced in a letter to the Young Republican club that he might be able to appear before the student body of the University of North Carolina during the spring quarter. The organization had sent a letter to Stassen inviting him to come here and speak.

In the letter to the organization Stassen said, "I will look forward to speaking at the University of North Carolina but cannot make a definite commitment now because of an extremely heavy schedule for the next several weeks." Plans are being made to get Stassen to come here, and a calendar is being sent to him with dates that are free from too much campus activities.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, another prospective candidate, sent a letter to the organization commending the formation of the club on the Carolina campus.

At last Thursday night's meeting, plans for an open-to-all-students picnic were discussed. This will be one of the club's main social functions during the spring quarter.

CAMPUS PARTY

The Campus party will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Roland Parker lounge 2 to hold its final nominating session. Chairman Bob Haire urged that all party members and candidates be present.

Dr. Graham To Address Student Body At University Convocation Wednesday

Satterfield Will Play Tonight For Graham Memorial Dance

Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra will provide music for Graham Memorial's Easter dance tonight in the main lounge from 8:30 until midnight.

Especially in honor of new students, the dance is being given by the student union staff in cooperation with the Orientation committee. Open to old as well as new students, the affair will be free of charge.

Off-Campus Work

Satterfield's orchestra is well known on campus, having played for many campus dances as well as for a concert given last quarter. Made up of students, the band has a personnel of 15 plus the girl vocalist. Off-campus engagements for the group have included appearances at many colleges and towns throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

GM's lounge will be transformed into a virtual spring wonderland with decorations of cut flowers and plants, and the snack bar in the Rendezvous room will be open, serving soft drinks, hot and iced coffee, toasted sandwiches, candy, and other refreshments.

Newly-redecorated in keeping with the spring feeling, the Rendezvous room is open seven nights a week for dancing and refreshments. New students are especially invited to become acquainted with this and other features of the student union.

Bill Shuford, director of Graham Memorial, in announcing the dance, said, "It is my sincere hope that a large number of students will turn out for this first dance of the season. Particularly do we want them to avail themselves of the opportunity of utilizing Graham Memorial facilities more than they have done in the past. We certainly want those students who have not been in the habit of visiting Graham Memorial to start the quarter off right."

The regular Saturday night bingo session usually held in the main lounge will not be staged tonight, Shuford said, but will be held throughout the remainder of the quarter.

"The staff of Graham Memorial," Shuford said, "is here for the sole purpose of serving the student body. Every student should feel perfectly free to call on them for assistance when needed."

Professor Frank W. Hanft Will Continue Christian Beliefs Lectures This Spring

Frank W. Hanft, professor in the University Law school, will continue his popular lectures of last year on Christian beliefs again this spring, Dean of Men Fred Weaver announced yesterday.

The first talk, entitled "The Essentials of Christian Belief," will be given Monday evening at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall, and the rest of the series will come similarly on the following Mondays.

"Professor Hanft has been asked to resume the class because of its success last year," Dean Weaver explained. "An average of 200 persons attended each session then."

An outline of the procedure used in these "classes" states that the Christian religion "will be treated in the manner best suited to the needs of those who are concerned with religion in their personal lives and behavior rather than in the manner of formal scholarship or as a subject of historical or literary interest."

Professor Hanft will conduct the sessions informally, endeavoring to approach his subject in lay terms rather than theological. Student participation in the discussion is encouraged, and the classes' sponsors also urged a regular attendance of those interested, as the series will be conducted with a definite plan and continuity.

Work In Indonesia To Be Discussed; Classes Suspended

By Charlie Gibson

Dr. Frank P. Graham will make his first public report on his work as the United States delegate on the U. N. Indonesian commission in a special convocation ceremony next Wednesday.

At 11 o'clock in Memorial hall the Dialectic Senate and the University convocations series will jointly present Dr. Graham, widely-known Southern educator and president of the Greater University. His speech will be recorded by the Communications Center to be rebroadcast nationally at a later time over stations yet to be announced.

No 11 O'Clocks

All 11 o'clock classes will be suspended Wednesday in order that the student body might attend the convocation. However, 12 o'clock classes will be resumed as usual.

"Dr. Frank," as he is affectionately called, will relate his experiences and observations while working with a three-man council that successfully negotiated a truce between the Dutch East Indians and their mother countries. His co-workers were Dr. Paul Van Zeelan, former prime minister of Belgium and Justice Richard Kirby of Australia.

"New Hope"

The treaty culminated four months of arbitration and won praise for Dr. Graham from President Truman in a reception at the White House. The importance of the Indonesian settlement as a trial for other current international disputes was stressed by the president when he told Dr. Graham personally, "The effectiveness of United Nations machinery as demonstrated by your work has given new hope to those who have faith that by such democratic processes this ideal can be realized."

Dr. Graham tendered his official resignation from the Security Council on February 13 to resume his duties in Chapel Hill. At that time he was immediately appointed a special adviser to the State department by Secretary George Marshall in case any further advice might be needed on Indonesian affairs.

Dr. Graham has also held many former national positions including membership on the War Labor board. He is currently president of the board of directors of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Physics, an organization of 14 Southern universities that works with the atomic research authorities at the Tennessee scientific center.

Arvey, who has just returned here after talking with Democratic National Chairman Howard McGrath in Washington, will probably be one of the most influential delegates at the Philadelphia convention.

Chicago Demo Backs Gen. Ike

Chicago, March 26 — (UP) — A powerful man in the Democratic ranks said today that he wants General Ike Eisenhower instead of Mr. Truman as the party's presidential nominee.

The man is Jacob Arvey, chief of the strong Chicago Democratic organization who took over the big political machine when Mayor Kelly retired.

Arvey said "as of right now" he personally likes Eisenhower over Truman. He would not say how, he will vote as a delegate to the convention, but he did say, "I hope General Eisenhower is available. He is the kind of liberal with whom we could win, both nationally and locally."

The Socialist party is also wondering whom it will run for president this year. Party officials say it may be Norman Thomas again. Thomas has run for president five times already, and party spokesmen say that he may become a candidate this year because of the third party.

"Wallace has brought incredible confusion into the ranks of American liberals," they pointed out. "American liberals many of whom would support Mr. Thomas."

ANTI-UMT GROUP

The Anti-UMT committee will hold another emergency meeting today at 5 o'clock in the Grail room to complete plans for the Stop-the-Draft rally next Tuesday night. All interested members—old and new—are urged to attend.

Republicans Hear Smith, Hipple Talk

Coline Smith and Bill Hipple, active members of the Young Republicans club, spoke at the state Republican convention held in Durham March 18.

Miss Smith spoke on the formation of the club here and pointed out some of the important features that the club will sponsor during the coming quarters before the election.

She explained that the club hopes to put the policy of the Republican party before the students and serve as the group which will express the desires of the students and their expectations of the coming administration.

Hipple spoke to the session on the speech in which the president requested emergency legislation as a method of combatting the Russian threat abroad. Hipple asked that every means of diplomacy be considered before any nations be committed to war and that all hopes of peace cease to exist.

Ways and Means committee Chairman Parrott Parish announced at the club meeting last Thursday night that a series of discussions on the Republican aspirants for the presidential nomination will start immediately.

Carolina Has First Choice . . .

Dr. Ali Wants FPG In Indonesia

By Raney Stanford

"We regret that Dr. Graham will not come back to our country, but I have come to understand in the past two days that you here at the University like him also," Dr. Ali Sastroamidjojo, Indonesian minister of education, smilingly said today in the Chapel Hill educator's office.

"Dr. Ali"

Dr. Ali, as most of his English speaking friends seem to prefer to call him, is visiting the University to survey its facilities with view of applying American methods to the educational problems of his homeland. He came to this country as Indonesia's spokesman before the United Nations Assembly in Lake Success in New York, taking part there recently in the debates over the report of the International Mediation committee between the Indonesians and the Dutch, which the University president headed.

Following the U. N. session the East Indies educator decided to look at American educational methods for as long a time as his limited stay in this country would allow him. He has visited Columbia university, Yale, and for an impression of a state-run institution, he came to Chapel Hill due to the friendship he has with Dr. Graham.

Many Visits

"I am very much impressed with the school, its teachers, its atmosphere of youth and learning, and the intimate way it works with the outside, practical world," Dr. Ali said. During his stay here he has visited the University Extension division, the Communication Center, the Play-makers, the Social Science Institute of Research, the Graduate school, the College of Arts and Sciences, and talked with all the deans and the heads of these departments.

The visiting educator seemed to be most interested in adult education and professional training. He pointed out that 90 percent of the population of his newly-formed country is illiterate, and the critical need is there for extensive education to wipe out this illiteracy and to develop the kind of trained leaders that will help the nation assume its proper place in the world.

He expressed a hope that students from his country could soon come to the United States to attend the schools here in order to further these aims.

Back to New York

Dr. Sastroamidjojo attended a luncheon given in his honor at the Carolina Inn yesterday, and left for New York City last night.

"I regret I cannot stay longer, for I have enjoyed, and have learned much from my stay here," he said.

Dr. Ali was disappointed in learning one thing, for he had hoped to see the UNC-Virginia baseball game scheduled for Emerson stadium yesterday, but due to the game's being shifted to Lynchburg, he will have to leave for Indonesia next week without having been initiated into this special feature of American life.
