UNC Procures Rolling Plant For Filtering

An Army portable water filtering plant, valued at $12,000, has just been procured by the University from war surplus supplies, J. A. Branch, school purchasing agent, said yesterday. University Business manager Claude Teague said this piece of war-time equipment will be of great service to the University community, increasing the volume of purified water from the present filter plant by 100 gallons a minute.

The school's water facilities are greatly overtaxed, he added, and it will be some time before the new plant that is to be built in Carrboro will be ready for service.

The portable plant is set up in a GI truck, obtained by the University in the same transaction, and is located beside the present filter plant. It can operate at maximum output 22 hours a day if cleaned frequently. It is driven by electricity instead of the gasoline motor used by the army.

Branch said the only expense to the university in procuring this valuable piece of equipment was an outlay of $90 and the task of driving the plant down from the war surplus equipment depot in Baltimore.

Stassen Questions MacArthur's Policy

Washington, March 27—(UP)—General MacArthur's position on Communism came up for political argument today.

In Milwaukee, Harold Stassen challenged the way General MacArthur is handling what Stassen calls the "Communist threat" in Japan and Korea. Stassen implied a charge that Korea is what he called "one of the worst spots in the world for Communist infiltration."

Parts Are Open For New Plays

Tryouts for three new one-act plays on the Carolina Playmakers' 122nd bill of student-written experimental plays will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Playmaker theater.

The three new plays include "Spanish Moss," a comedy by Robert Barr, "The Atom Cantata," Libretto by Sam Hirsch and music by Harold Schiffman, and "Mr. Albert W. Blinks," a comedy by Robert Rolnik. Production dates for the experimental bill are April 8 and 9.

The tryouts are open to everyone, and many parts are to be cast, including sixteen singing parts for Hirsch's "Atom Cantata."

DAMAGE SUIT FILED

Omaha, March 27—(UP)—The strikebound Omaha Cold Storage company has filed suit for $160,000 damages against local 120 of the CIO. Packinghouse workers and 43 individual members. The company charges that the strike forced it to buy outside its own plant at higher prices to fulfill commitments.

NOTICE-OF-RETURN CARDS

There will be a fine of $5 for each student who fails to bring his notice-of-return card to Venable X before 5 o'clock tomorrow.

Senator Takes Back Charge Against China

Washington, March 27—(UP)—Senator Vandenberg has taken back a charge by his Foreign Relations committee that Chinese leaders are corrupt and inefficient.

In a surprise statement, Vandenberg withdrew the report. He says it "created an impression which was not intended."

He took full responsibility for the report, saying, "I regret the incident."

Subsistence Increases Go Into Effect April 1; First Additional Pay May 1

Recent legislation increasing subsistence payments for veterans under PL346 who are carrying a full study load becomes effective on April 1 and will be included in the checks received on May 1. Veterans eligible under PL16 will receive an increase, but the scale of increase has not been released.

Full instructions on necessary steps to qualify for the increased subsistence payments will be enclosed in April 1 subsistence checks. A reasonable length of time will be provided to secure the necessary papers, but quicker action will be obtained if the veteran will have these papers in his possession when his April 1 check reaches him:

Campus Red Cross Drive Raises $943.68 With Fraternities Listed Most Generous

By Sally Woodhull

A total of $943.68 was raised in the campus Red Cross drive staged March 9, 10, and 11 as part of the national drive, according to Graham Memorial Director Bill Shuford, who headed the student drive.

Citing fraternities as particularly outstanding among organizations soliciting for the drive, Shuford named Phi Delta Theta as the top group, with a collection of $61.77. Runners-up in the fraternity division were Sigma Alpha Epsilon with $54, and Sigma Chi with $51.23.

"We wish to commend the fraternities for the part they played in helping to make the drive as successful as it was," Shuford said. The total collection in fraternities was $369.22, approximately 40 percent of the entire solicitation.

Chi Omega led the sorority collections, with $34.22 out of the total of $67.24 solicited among sororities. Women's dormitories collected $126.40. Spencer led with its collection of $25.43, and Carr followed close behind with $24.55.

Collections in the men's dormitories totaled $228.18, and Alexander led with $33.27. In Victory Village $151.64 was collected.

"I wish to thank all those who personally helped me to conduct the drive," Shuford said, "and to thank members of the Men's and Women's Interdormitory councils, Pan-Hellenic council, and Interfraternity council, and particularly the heads of those organizations—for their extreme cooperation."

Ferguson, Ormand Aid Assisting Shuford in the administration of the drive were Joe Ferguson and Bob Ormand, and heads of organizations who led the campaign were Jack Thompson of Interfraternity council; Emile Saleby, Men's Interdormitory council; Ferne Hughes, Pan-Hellenic council; Bootsie MacWilliams, Women's Interdormitory council; and Mrs. Dorothy Cooke from Victory Village.

"Although the campaign was not as successful as we would like it to have been," Shuford went on, "we feel that a good job was done under the circumstances. Persons participating in the drive were extremely handicapped by the fact that the drive occurred so near exams."

MITCHELL HONORED

Washington, March 27—(UP)—The nation has paid in part the debt it owes to the late Brigadier General William "Billy" Mitchell. Mitchell, who was court-martialed 22 years ago for demanding a strong air force, was honored today by top military officials. A special gold medal of honor was presented to his son, William Mitchell, Jr.

Prominent speakers heard by the delegates during the course of the conference included Richard Winslow, assistant to Warren Austin, the US delegate to the UN, Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois, Dr. Katz-Suchy, Polish ambassador to the US, and Senator Claude Pepper of Florida.

Pepper and Stevenson especially emphasized that although the UN has failed to reach a decision on many issues, it has reconciled national differences on as many more.

Triumphant Chicago Delegation Returns

The University delegation to the Intercollegiate UN conference held Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in Chicago returned to Chapel Hill last night jubilant over the election of Delegation Chairman Bill Crisp to the conference presidency.

Ann Wells and John Stump, the other two delegates, declared that Crisp's virtually unanimous election on the first ballot to the highest office available at the conference could be interpreted "both as a tribute to Crisp and as a great honor for Carolina."

With the exception of Duke, the University was the only North Carolina group represented at the meeting, which was attended by 51 universities from the United States and Canada.

In accordance with the plan to make the conference a mock assembly functioning in the same manner as the United Nations, each of the universities present

Names to Appear On Ballot Without Party Affiliation

By Herb Nachman

The names of fifteen Men's Honor council nominees, chosen by the first non-partisan selection board in the history of student government at the University, were released late yesterday afternoon by President Tom Eller.

The candidates are: Seniors: Herman Bryson, Rock Hill, S. C.; Paul Mengel, New Bern; Well-born Phillips, Orlando, Fla.; Stan Smith, Asheboro; and Bill Payeff, Aiken, S. C.

Juniors: Sophomores Herman Bryson, Rock Hill, S. C.; Charles McRae, New York city; and Charlie Loudermilk, Atlanta, Ga.

Sophomores: Bruce Sanborn, Gastonia; Roy Holsten, Glen Rock, N. J.; Garland Jonas, Ponte Vedra, Fla.; and Chuck Northend, Daytona Beach, Fla. The board chose one graduate student for nomination, Gene Jones.

These men will be backed by all three political parties for election to the council. Their names will be entered without party reference.

Elter Comments

In commenting on the function of the board which was composed of four representatives of each of the parties, Eller said, "The board functioned in a highly efficient and cooperative way. This is a new thing on campus and sets a precedent for selecting non-partisan candidates to sit on a judiciary body. I hope it will be continued and improved next year."

He continued "The fact that all three parties have been able to cooperate in selecting candidates for the most responsible positions in student government is an indication that they have the interest of the Student Body at heart."

Qualifications Omitted

Eller said that the board requested that no qualifications of the candidates be mentioned, their party affiliations, or where they live in Chapel Hill. It was brought out that in mentioning qualifications it would be difficult to give each one equal space and therefore the board requested it be omitted.

Candidates were interviewed by the board in several meetings and were asked questions per (See COUNCIL, page 4)

Moravian Church To Hold Services

Winston-Salem, March 27—(UP)

Thousands of worshippers are gathering here tonight in preparation for the 176th annual Easter sunrise service of Moravian church.

Historic old Salem square will be roped off tonight and the throng of worshippers will be awakened early tomorrow morning by the brass bands of the Moravians parading through the streets. The multitude will gather before dawn in Salem square.

There Bishop Kenneth Pfohl will begin the service of simplicity, which will be concluded in the Moravian graveyard nearby.

The service attracts hordes of visitors to the city annually, as well as many worshippers who live in Winston-Salem.

Some 150 policemen and 600 soldiers will help to handle the crowd tomorrow.

Candidate Gerns States Platform

Pete Gerns, nominee of Campus and Student parties for senior membership on the Publications board, submitted the following platform yesterday.

"1. Monthly open meetings sponsored by the Publications board and the editors of our publications to hear students' suggestions for improvements. This will do away with any excuse of the editors might have for not printing what the student body wants and will provide a means by which the student body can express its opinion on its publications directly to the ones in charge."

"Don't Waste Money"

"2. Close cooperation between the Publications board and the financial committees of our student body. Let's appropriate the necessary funds to our publications, but let's not waste students' money. Close cooperation between these agencies, especially during budgeting time, will work toward better distribution of available funds."

"3. Orientation of Publication board members as to their duties shortly after their election by the student body. This feature will help those who have not had much to do with the financial side of publications become better acquainted with a publication's financial problems."

Selection by House

"4. A yearly joint meeting of the Publications board, editors and business managers, to prepare a slate of three qualified faculty members, one of whom to be selected by Chancellor House according to the provisions of our constitution. By this method of selection we will get the most qualified faculty members to sit with the Board."

Gerns, who is present business manager of Tarnation and writes the "Campus Forum" column for the Daily Tar Heel, stated that he will uphold these planks in the interest of the student body if elected to the Publications board.

STEAMER AGROUND

Norfolk, March 17—(UP)—The Coast Guard says an excursion steamer with some 100 passengers aboard went aground off old Point Comfort, Virginia today. It is now floating free with the tide.

Student Registration for Bond Election Is Almost Negligible as 400 Sign Rolls

Out of a total of approximately 400 registrants for the April 6 municipal bond issue election, the number of students who registered was negligible, City Manager G. W. Ray said yesterday.

Compulsory Meet For Candidates Called Tuesday

There will be a compulsory meeting of all candidates running for office in the spring elections on Tuesday at 7 o'clock in Gerard hall.

Al Winn, chairman of the Elections board, said yesterday that the meeting is compulsory for all candidates and party chairmen, or their representatives.

Groups responsible for tabulation of ballots were also announced yesterday. These are the Elections and Rules committees of the Student Legislature, five representatives appointed by the speaker of the Coed Senate, one member from each of the three Honor councils and the Elections board.

Ballots for students who will be election day will be available confined in the infirmary on upon written request to Al Winn, No. 8 Steele, by 5 o'clock on the day preceding elections.

Party Platforms Will Be In DTH

Starting Tuesday and running through next Sunday the Daily Tar Heel will print the political platforms of the major candidates for office in the April 6 general elections.

The following schedule will be adhered to, and candidates are urged to submit their platforms immediately to avoid the possibility of losing their rights to DTH space:

Tuesday: vice-presidential and secretary-treasurer candidates; Wednesday: political platforms; Thursday: presidential candidates; Friday: nominees for Tarnation editorship; Saturday: Daily Tar Heel and Yackety Yack editorial aspirants; Sunday: candidates for head cheerleader.

Chapel To Give Medieval Plays

The Chapel of the Cross will present a series of medieval Easter Resurrection dramas tonight at 8 o'clock.

First given in the time of Charlemagne, the plays date from varying periods between 923 and 1400. The Chapel of the Cross was the first to present these plays since that time.

They were first presented in 1941 under the direction of Dr. U. T. Holmes who is also directing tonight's play. The second time they were presented was in 1946.

The plays will be presented in the following sequence tonight: The "St Gall" play, the "Limoges," the "Winchester," the "Madrid," the "Klosterneberg" and the "Rouen."

Members of the cast include the three Marys, played by Hilda Frances Lawrence, Louise Patrick and Elizabeth Royal; Angels, Joseph Hutchison, William Hover and John O'Steen; Peter, Hanford Henderson; John, Terry Holmes; Jesus, the Rev. Bertram C. Cooper; chorus, Dr. U. T. Holmes, Cameron Murchison, David Harris, John O'Steen, Terry Holmes and George McMahon.

Music was transcribed from the original manuscripts by Dr. W. L. Smolden of the University of London. They will be sung in Latin. Text of the songs will be translated in the programs. Costumes for the production are by Mrs. Joe Hull.

U. S SILENT ON PALESTINE ISSUE
ALTHOUGH HE HAD BEEN EXPECTED to state the U. S. views on the proposed establishment of a trusteeship over the Holy Land, Warren Austin, (right, top) chief American delegate to the U. N., surprised the session by remaining silent. At left is Sir Alexander Cadogan, British representative. At bottom, Jewish leaders make little effort to conceal their concern. Shown (l. to r.) are Karel Lisicky, chairman, of the Palestine Commission; Raul Diez de Madina, vice-chairman and Abba Hillel Silver, the American spokesman for the Jewish Agency. (International)
