PUT UP BY THE RUSSIANS where their zone joins the American sector in Berlin, this street barrier effectively halts all traffic in and out of the area. After two hours, the Russians abandoned the road block which had been set up on the boundaries of their zone in the German capital. Russia, however, cut off all rail traffic from Berlin to the American, British and French zones of Germany. (International Radiophoto)

UP Chooses Slate For Next Election To Fill Legislature

The University party yesterday announced its list of candidates for the Student Legislature.

Dorm men nominated by the party include Miles Smith, Rufus Bynum, Jim Gwynn, Kyle Barnes, Dick Bunting, Marvin Nathan, Bill Thorpe, Wilson Yarborough, Ted Leonard, George Dunlop, Jim Hardison, Larry Fox, Sherman Levine, and Joe Kump.

Those nominated to represent the coeds from town districts are Marietta Duke, Mary Ann Tabor, Ann Wells, Mary Lea Thorne, Emily Ogburn, and Marjory Riddick.

The party candidates for men's town positions are Thurman Williams, Charlie Loudermilk, Joe Leary, Andy Corinash, Jim Nance, Herb Mitchell, Bill Benbow, and George Rodman.

Candidate Loudermilk is vice chairman of the UP, a non-partisan board nominee for the men's council, and vice president of the Chi Phi fraternity. Corinash is a member of the IFC and IFC coed and is dining room manager of St. Anthony hall. Mitchell is president of the freshman class and a varsity debater.

Smith, an ex-chairman of the party, is speaker pro tem of the legislature at the present time and a former chairman of its Elections committee. Williams is chairman of the party at present. Barnes, formerly president of the senior class at R. J. Reynolds high school in Winston-Salem and now president of the Sigma Chi pledge class, is also a candidate for the presidency of the sophomore class.

Leonard, the secretary-treasurer of the freshman class, has been co-nominated by the Campus party. Fox is a member of the Daily Tar Heel sports staff.

Kump, a member of Kappa Sigma, is a former class president of Charlotte Central high school and made his letter there in football. Also a Kappa Sig, Hardison is a graduate of Sewanee Military academy where he played varsity football, basketball, and baseball and was a member of the honor council, dance committee, and cotillion club. He and Kump are freshmen.

Mass Meeting Called Tomorrow

By Chuck Hauser

All students are urged by President Tom Eller to attend the mass meeting at Hill hall tomorrow night to become acquainted with the major candidates for office in Tuesday's election.

Roy Cole's orchestra will be on hand to provide music for the affair, which will feature three-minute talks by the candidates for president, vice president, secretary-treasurer and editor of the Daily Tar Heel, and two-minute talks by candidates for the editorship of Tarnation and Yackety Yack.

The entire meeting is only scheduled to last one hour, in order to permit students to attend the Franz Polgar hypnotism show which is to be presented at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall by the Student Entertainment committee.

"It is the duty of all students to come and acquaint themselves with the people who will assume office for the coming year," President Eller emphasized last night.

The mass meeting was compulsory for coeds last year, but that move was done away with this time because it was felt that the campus would sufficiently realize the importance of the gathering to be present.

Campus Party Picks 14 Dorm Candidates For Legislature Race

Making the final announcement concerning its slate for the Spring elections, the Campus party yesterday released the names of the 14 candidates it has nominated as dorm representatives to the Student Legislature.

Three of these men are running for six month's terms, and the remaining 11 will be seeking full terms.

Those running for "short" terms are Darwood Jones, John Rosser, and Bobby Wilmoth. Jones is a rising sophomore from Louisville, Kentucky. Rosser, a rising senior, is president of Graham dormitory and a member of the Interdorm council, while Wilmoth, a rising junior resident of Old West dormitory, is from Winston-Salem.

Those running for full terms are Richard Bowen, Eric Coffield, Tom Cunningham, Anies Daye, Ellis Hall, Ben Kistler, Ted Leonard, Bob Ormand, Banks Talley, Ed Washington, and Jack Worsham.

Bowen is a member of the Di Senate and the debate squad. Coffield is president of Miller dormitory, and Kistler is a member of Sound and Fury.

Ormand, a Grimes resident, has been a member of the Debate squad, speaker pro-tem of the Di, and a Red Cross drive director. He is a former member of the legislature.

Washington is a Dean's list man and a member of the football squad. Cunningham, a resident of Mangum dorm, is a political science major; Daye is an Old East resident of Winston-Salem, and Hall also a Winston-Salemite is a resident of Everett. Leonard, a Sigma Chi from Greensboro, Talley, an Everette resident, and Worsham from Ruffin complete the slate.

Mental Magician to Give Another Show Here in Memorial Hall Tomorrow Night

By Sally Woodhull

"He came. We saw. He conquered!" was the comment by Chapel Hillians following the first appearance of Dr. Franz Polgar, telepathist and hypnotist extraordinary, here on the campus. Polgar will again conquer the campus at his third appearance here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Everywhere that "The Amazing Dr. Polgar" has appeared, the reaction has been similar. Audiences are baffled, perplexed, and highly amused by Polgar's demonstrations of mental telepathy, memory feats, and the power of suggestion.

Professors Floored

Entitled, "Miracles of Mind," the program entertains the layman and baffles the scientist. William Engle, science editor of the New York World-Telegram wrote, "Polgar floored the professors of psychology at New York university in their tests. It was, they agreed, an undeniable demonstration of thought transference."

Tomorrow night's performance is being sponsored by the reorganized Student Entertainment committee in an attempt to pay off the $1,500 debt incurred by the group when student entertainment was on a voluntary basis.

To Liquidate Debt

Under the new organization of the committee, each student will pay 25 cents per quarter toward entertainment of a classical nature for the entire student body, and an attempt will be made to secure artists of excellent quality. In order to make the program a success, the previously incurred debt must be liquidated.

"Students are therefore getting more than an evening of grand entertainment when they attend Monday night's performance," said Bill Shuford, Graham Memorial director who is handling ticket sales for the Polgar show. "They are also helping to start student entertainment off on a sound financial basis, a condition essential to its success."

A native Hungarian, Polgar knew not a word of English when he arrived in America, but that did not deter him, he claims. For thoughts, like appearances on the lecture platform, Dr. Polgar rapidly became such a success that he is now one of America's most successful and popular lecture personalities.

The respect in which Dr. Polgar is held is indicated by the fact that he is the only member of his profession to be listed in "Who's Who in America."

Helfman Will Present Novel Lecture With Piano Accompaniment Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Hill hall, Max Helfman, distinguished musician and lecturer, will present an unusual type of lecture-recital, using as his title, "Jewish Music and Jewish Survival."

Helfman illustrates at the piano a running dialogue, comprising early Bible cantillations, old synagogue chants, tunes of Jewish folk life, as well as from modern works of contemporary Jewish composers. Helfman demonstrates the significance of music in Jewish survival.

In addition to being a conductor of the People's Philharmonic Choral society of New York, Helfman is nationally known as music director of the Brandeis Camp institute and music director of Temple B'nai Abraham of Newark, N. J.

As conductor of the Choral society, he has performed programs of contemporary choral music with such soloists as Paul Robeson, at Carnegie hall, Town hall, Metropolitan Opera house and Madison Square garden.

Tonight's program is under the auspices of the local Hillel Foundation. There will be no admission charge.

No Platforms Today

The platforms of candidates for head cheerleader, according to the schedule published twice during the past week in the Daily Tar Heel, were supposed to be published in this edition.

Of the three candidates still in the race, none had turned in platforms by the time the DTH went to press last night. It was learned that Jerry Pence, independent candidate, is out of town for the week-end, and neither Norm Sper nor Charlie Stancill could be located last night.

The Daily Tar Heel regrets that it cannot fulfill its intentions of printing the political platforms of all major candidates for office in Tuesday's general campus election.

Young Democrats Club Secures Ramsey as Speaker for Tuesday

"The Democratic Party in North Carolina" will be discussed by D. Hiden Ramsey of the Asheville Citizen-Times here Tuesday evening under the sponsorship of the Young Democrats club.

A native of Virginia, Ramsey has been general manager of the Asheville paper since 1930. Prior to that time he was both editor and vice-president of the Times.

Having received his A. B. degree at the University of Virginia, he took his A. M. there in 1913 and the following year was an instructor in the department of economics.

Ramsey approaches the topic of the Democratic party with a wide field of experience behind him. In 1940 he was a Democratic elector at large at the North Carolina convention. He has also been a member of the State Planning board, the State Department of Education, the executive committee of the North Carolina conference for Social Service, and chairman of the Board of Trustees for Western Carolina Teachers college.

A member of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association, Ramsey has held the positions of president of the North Carolina Press association and president of the Asheville Chamber of Commerce.

In referring to Ramsey, J. M. Saunders of the University Alumni office said, "In North Carolina, Hiden Ramsey has achieved a reputation as an articulate spokesman of great causes. He has used his keen mind, his facile pen, and his silver tongue to spell out for North Carolina the trends and aspirations of our people. He has been an ardent advocate in North Carolina for public schools, public service, and—most recently—in the North Carolina Good Health movement."

The public is invited to hear his address.

Congress Argues UMT and Draft

Washington, April 4 —(UP)—Congress heard more of the pro and con today in the controversy over a draft and universal military training.

Thoroughly against both of them is a famous American historian, 73-year-old Charles Beard. He did not testify in person before the senate armed services committee. Instead Dr. Charles Tansill of George Washington University read Beard's statement.

Beard argued that military training violates the principles on which America was founded. He says it would give the Army too much power.

Says Beard, "If the President and military leaders force conscription upon the American people, they will find that instead of gaining in national security, they will have destroyed the real essence of American strength—the spirit of a free people which has twice brought victories over conscripted armies."

Red, US Intrigue Stirs In Berlin

MP Blockade Holds 9 Armed Russians In Railroad Depot

The nine Russians holed up in Berlin's railroad headquarters apparently decided to bed down for the night yesterday. Every now and then one of the Soviet officials appeared at a window of the ancient red brick building and stared down at the American military police blocking the front door.

General Lucius Clay has announced that he will keep his troops around the building as long as the Russians keep armed guards inside. The railroad headquarters is in the American sector, a spot which Clay maintains should be kept free of armed Russians. It was a spot that observers likened to a scene from a comic opera. Russian majors and even be-medalled generals would drive up to the guarded building, exchange a few words with the American MP's, and then stalk away.

Entering the Building
The stiff military atmosphere was altered slightly when a Soviet officer smiled broadly and shook the hand of an American lieutenant who refused to allow him to enter the building.

Other Russians were more formal. They carefully placed food and vodka on the sidewalk in front of the doorway. Then German workers carefully picked up the baskets and carried them to the hungry Russians within.

General Clay told newsmen that he had given orders that any American who is nervous because of the current crisis could leave Berlin.

Surplus in Tax Revenues May Bring Special Session of State Legislature

Raleigh, April 4 — (UP) — Speculation over a special session of the State legislature may soon be bubbling anew, despite comments by Governor Cherry apparently designed to remove that pot from the political stove.

The financial report from the state department of revenue is what touched off the latest special talk. The talk is not unexpected, for last winter Cherry indicated he would consider special session demands after revenue experts had a chance to take a look at income tax returns.

They had a look this week. Their reports says that income tax returns in March passed last year's record total by more than $2,200,000. What's more, the report showed income tax revenue for the first nine months of the current fiscal year to be more than four million dollars above the estimated revenue from income taxes for the entire year.

Jewish Aid Asks $3,000 On Campus

The sum of $3,000 will be sought this year in order to assure the fullest participation in the nationwide $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal for the relief, rehabilitation, and resettlement of displaced and distressed Jews in Europe, for the settlement and economic upholding of Jewish Palestine, and for aid to refugees arriving in the United States, Norm Ripps, chairman of the campus drive, announced today. The drive will open officially Monday, April 5.

The United Jewish Appeal is charged with providing for the more than 180,000 Jewish children of varying ages whose care, education and vocational training is a major factor in the ultimate reconstruction of Jewish life abroad.

Most of the soliciting will be individual, Ripps stated, and "when the committee men approach you, give what you can so that these needy children can live! The welfare of the children of the world should be and is a great concern to Americans, especially those who can appreciate the privileges of a good education." Donations may be sent to the Hillel Office in the Y.M.C.A. building or to Norm Ripps, 107 Fraternity Court.

COEDS' ROOMS

Coeds must apply for room reservations by tomorrow for the summer or fall quarter, or their room will be assigned to a new student. The reservation can be made in the office of the Dean of Women, 104C, South Building.

WILSON YARBOROUGH AND DICK BOREN (left to right) are seeking election as members of the Student Legislature and Men's Honor council respectively. Yarborough, a doubly endorsed UP-SP candidate, is a photographer for all campus publications. Boren was nominated for the council by the non-partisan selection board. He is a member of the Legislature, the Orientation committee, and the Coalition council.

MONROE LANDRETH, Campus party candidate for Student council, is chairman of the Student Audit board and president of the Charlotte-Carolina club.

Expense Deadline Is Set Tomorrow

The deadline for filing expense accounts for candidates in Tuesday's elections has been set at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Men should file their accounts with Al Winn, 8 Steele, and coeds with Katie Guion, Spencer dormitory. All candidates not presenting proper statements will be disqualified.

According to the elections laws, "A copy of all literature, and itemized description of any other campaign expense and a complete, itemized signed statement of expenditures shall be turned in to the Elections board on or before 6 p. m. of the day preceding the day of elections, at a place to be set by the Elections board."

"Vendors' bills shall accompany these statements whenever possible. If a candidate has had no expense he shall submit a signed statement to that effect on or before the above mentioned time. "Failure to submit this statement by the time set forth shall disqualify the candidate concerned."

McGregor Speaks To Commerce Group

C. H. McGregor, head of the Commerce school's marketing department addressed the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity banquet held Thursday evening in the Carolina Inn.

McGregor's talk was concerned primarily with present business trends and an attempt to gauge those which may be expected in the immediate future. During the course of his talk, he reviewed the history of the expected Recession which has not yet materialized. He pointed out that, in spite of the fact that business was still abnormally poor, Northern merchants had cut beginning salaries for college men a total of 25 to 75 dollars per month.

He reminded his audience that this seriously affected the hopes of a Carolina commerce graduate who might now be fortunate to start work at a $175 per month salary.

The speaker explained that, although department store sales have been held up by special sales, an enforced cut of as much as 15 per cent in prices could put their operations in the red.

Recession has been held off, he said, by pent-up demand, but the draining off of family savings by inflated costs has now (See MCGREGOR, page 4)

BILL DUNCAN AND KYLE BARNES (left to right) are running on the UP ticket for editor of the Yackety Yack and sophomore class president respectively. Duncan is now serving as Yack picture co-ordinator and has had five years of experience in publications work. Barnes has also been nominated by the UP for the Student Legislature; he is president of the Sigma Chi pledge class and was president of the National Honor society in high school.
