George Tindall, graduate student in history from Greenville, S. C., was elected as chairman of the Chapel Hill and University chapter of the American Veterans committee for the coming six months, at the regular chapter meeting Tuesday evening. The retiring head of the veteran's group, Jehan Van de Velde, was chosen to fill the post of vice-chairman.

Other officers elected in the semi-annual balloting included Henry Adams as corresponding secretary, Bill Evans as recording secretary, and Mike Pochina as treasurer.

Following the elections chapter members approved a request that each should write a letter to the members of the University Board of Trustees and to President Frank Graham urging all the fairness possible in the latter's consideration of the entrance applications recently submitted to the University by three Negro students.

Another feature of last Tuesday's meeting was a talk by Rev. Charles M. Jones of the Presbyterian church on practical measures for publicizing the President's committee report on civil rights and putting its recommendations into effect.

Ramsey Cites Merits of N. C. Democratic Party in Address

The Democratic party has given to the state honest, intelligent, forward-looking administration of its affairs, stated D. Hiden Ramsey in his address Tuesday night on campus concerning 'The Democratic party in North Carolina.'

Ramsey, general manager of the Asheville Citizen Times and prominent North Carolina Democrat, was sponsored by the campus Young Democrats club.

"If there has been political achievement in North Carolina since 1901," said Ramsey, "the Democratic party must have credit for it."

Ramsey pointed out that in the fifty years that the Democratic party has been in power in North Carolina, there has been no plausible charge of corruption in the party of any high-place official. He went on to say that the party had inflicted upon the people of North Carolina such men as Huey Long, Jim Folsom, and the Talmadges.

"I will not vote for a yellow dog if he is on the ticket," said Ramsey. "I will vote for a Democratic scoundrel."

The swelling in the ranks of the Democratic party of this state and the shrinkage of the Republican party, according to Ramsey, is due to "the record that the Democratic party has written that attracted to its support the increasing support of the people."

"North Carolina," he declared, "has done one job better than any other state in the Union, with the exception of Delaware. We have put behind the education of the child in North Carolina the wealth of all the people. That is an achievement of the Democratic party."

On race relations Ramsey stated that "the Democratic party has steadfastly refused to use the race problem as a political issue." He also pointed out that a reporter from the Wall Street Journal, sent to North Carolina to cover the political scene, wrote back that no state in the Union, not even Northern states, had better race relations than those in North Carolina.

Ramsey declared that North Carolina had made great progress in race relations, and would continue to make progress unless hampered by outside interference.

Willie P. Mangum Medal In Oratory Is Offered Again

The Willie P. Mangum Medal of Oratory will be offered to seniors this spring for the first time in eight years, according to Earl Fitzgerald, chairman of the Debate council.

This year the medal will be awarded to the winner of an oratorical contest to be held sometime during the quarter before commencement.

Fitzgerald said that at one time this medal was the most coveted award to be offered at the University. The details of the contest will be given at the next meeting of the Senior class. If no more than ten persons show the desire to participate, the contest will not be held, Fitzgerald said.

The award was established in 1878 by the late Misses Mangum, of Orange county in the memory of their father, William Person Mangum of the class of 1915. Originally, the medal was awarded to the member of the Senior class, who during his four years prior to graduation exhibited the best qualities of oratory, debate and scholarship.

Three generations have continued the award: Miss Preston M. Leach of Washington, D. C., Mr. Willie P. Mangum Turner of Winston-Salem and Mr. Willie P. Mangum Weeks of Washington, D. C., class of 1915.

A list of distinguished citizens of North Carolina who have won the medal in the past was released yesterday by Dean Fred Weaver. In commenting on the list, Weaver said, "This is probably the most impressive list of winners of any one award at any university in the country."

The list includes Robert Winston, noted writer and judge, who was the first student to enter the University when it reopened following the Civil War.

Others are: Charles Aycock, North Carolina educator and governor; Dr. E. D. Alderman, former president of UNC, Texas, Tulane and Virginia; Dr. E. K. Graham, cousin of Dr. Frank Graham and former UNC president; and Charles E. Madry, well known minister and missionary who is now studying creative writing here.

Long Lacks Only 56 Votes For Runoff; Final Town Legislature Vote Released

UP Nominees Sweep Balloting for Town Legislature Posts

By John Stump

Complete and official returns from Gerrard hall showed yesterday that, as expected, the University party had elected all of its nominees for town men's positions in the Student Legislature.

The eight UP nominees running for full one year terms and Bill Benjamin, UP nominee running unopposed for the short term, polled a vote ranging from 651 for Benjamin to a low of 536 for Andy Corinash whose name was mangled on the ballot and appeared as Kornish.

Tom Kerr, who was also running for editorship of Tarnation, was high man on the Student party ticket with 465 votes. He was elected as the ninth successful candidate. The Campus party did not nominate any candidates for the positions and all other SP candidates were defeated.

UP Chairman Thurman Williams led the ticket for full terms with a total vote of 645 while Bill Benbow was in second position with 642. One write-in vote was recorded for debater Blanton Miller and one for someone identified on the ballot only as "Cracker." Both were in opposition to Benjamin.

Total votes cast for candidates for one year term are: Bill Benbow (UP) 642; D. F. Blackwell (SP) 139; Gil Burnett (SP) 323; Joe Byrd (SP) 374; Erwin Danziger (SP) 258; Earl Hartsell (SP) 333.

Tom Kerr (SP) 465; Andy Corinash (UP) 536; Joe Leary (UP) 567; Charlie Loudermilk (UP) 584; Herb Mitchell (UP) 580; Dick Murphy (SP) 303; Jim Nance (UP) 601; George Rodman (UP) 555; Ed Tenney (SP) 319; Thurman Williams (UP) 645; Carter Woolfolk (SP) 285.

For six months term; Benjamin (UP) 651.

GLEE CLUB

The Women's Glee club will meet at 5 o'clock today in Hill hall.

JESS DEDMOND was only 56 votes away from the presidency of the student body at midnight last night with 600 votes left to be counted. The results from those 600 may mean the difference between a run-off with Charlie Long and the presidency on the first ballot, Jim Godwin was also leading Johnny Clampitt in the vice-president's race by a margin which could be easily upset with the returns from the last few hundred ballots.

Students To Give 'Sweep It Clean' As Benefit Show

"Sweep It Clean", musical satire on city politics, will be presented on April 20 and 21 in Memorial hall by students of the dramatic art and music departments for the benefit of the Koch Memorial fund. It will be staged by Marty Jacobs of the Playmakers, with book and lyrics written by Bob Barr and Louise Myers with fourteen new songs by Frank Groseclose.

Proceeds of the musical-comedy are earmarked for the improvement of Playmaker facilities and the construction of the Memorial Theater in honor of Prof. Koch, Playmaker founder. "Sweep It Clean" has the endorsement of Sam Selden, head of the dramatic art department, and the entire Playmaker staff, Josephina Niggli, famed Chapel Hill author, and the Koch Memorial committee.

The cast includes such top talent as James Geiger in the role of the incapable Senator Dodder, Pat Palmer and Claude (Slate) Rayburn play the comedy leads as the scatterbrained Gee Gee and naive Armbruster. Forrest Covington and Edsel Hughes hold political roles as the crooked Mayor Ross and the honest garbage collector MacNair. Sidney Schertzer, noted for his Playmaker character parts, plays the stooge go-between.

Romantic leads are sung by Sam Greene and Hilda Frances Lawrence with Dick Johnson and Mary Jo Cain doing the dancing leads. Gloria Gunn plays the comedy part of the WCTU chairman. Music is supported by a chorus of twenty-one.

Director Jacobs has danced in Broadway musicals, Lost Colony at Manteo, and directed Army musicals on the West Coast as well as appearing in 20 Playmaker productions. Mary Jo Cain, dancer at the Lost Colony for the past two years, will choreograph the show with the assistance of Frances Johnson, James Riley and Jim Byrd will design scenery and lighting. Costumes will be made by Irene Smart, head of the dramatic art costuming department. Betty Young will stage manage and Walter Johnson is master electrician.

Godwin, Childress Still Hold Leads; Amendments Pass

By Chuck Hauser

With 600 votes from Gerrard hall still uncounted at midnight last night, Charlie Long was still keeping his foot in the run-off door of opponent Jess Dedmond's presidential house.

The finals for the presidential candidates read Dedmond (CF UP) — 1,243, Long (Ind.) — 630, Rubish (SP) — 340 and Manning (Ind.) — 323. Only 56 votes kept Charlie Long in the run-off, and the 600 which were being counted as the Daily Tar Heel went to press will undoubtedly be very important to a great many people.

Godwin in Lead

Jim Godwin, the SP-CP candidate for the vice-presidency was holding a 79-vote lead over UP opponent Johnny Clampitt at presstime. All counts are minus the 600 ballots still out from the Garrard polls, and all counts are still unofficial, according to the Elections board. The V. P. tabulation: Godwin — 1,324 and Clampitt — 1,245.

The hard-working ballot-counters under the direction of Elections Board Chairman Al Winn went to work at 7 o'clock yesterday evening, and looked forward to a rough night of work before all the counting could be completed.

Childress Ahead

In the running for secretary-treasurer, Gran Childress (SP) was leading Bob Kirby (UP) and Earl Fitzgerald (CP) with 767 ballots to Kirby's 715 and Fitzgerald's 610.

For editor of the Daily Tar Heel, Ed Joyner (SP-UP-CP) was sailing into office over Independent Art Melton with a vote of 1,643 to Melton's 748.

For editor of the Yackety Yack Gene Blake (SP-CP) was edging out Bill Duncan (UP) by a tabulation of 636 to 610, while Charlie Gibson (CP) was leading the Tarnation editorship race with 507 votes followed by the UP combination of Tom Wharton and Bob Smith with 480, Tom Kerr (SP) with 302 and Fred Burgess (Ind.) with 108.

Latest results pointed to a run-off between Norm Sper (SP-674) and Charlie Stancell (UP-599) for the head cheerleader's spot, as Jerry Pence pulled 174 independent votes to bring up the rear.

The unofficial word shortly after midnight indicated that all five of the proposed amendments to the constitution had passed the electorate, with the only dissenting voting district being Alderman, which strongly tried to defeat the amendment concerning the autonomy of the Student Legislature over the Coed Senate.
