

Netters, Linksmen Gain Victories Over Williams; Both Teams Battle Michigan In Home Action Today

Tennis Team Scores Whitewash Triumph For Eighth Straight

By Larry Fox

Everybody got into the act again on the varsity tennis courts yesterday, the Tar Heels hanging a 15-0 defeat on the shoulders of the visiting Williams netters with only one match going the full three sets.

The locals improved in their second match with the Massachusetts racquet-wielders. When the two teams met Wednesday Carolina dropped one singles encounter to triumph 14-1. Today the Wolverines from Michigan invade Chapel Hill to face the undefeated Tar Heels starting at 3 o'clock.

No. Two Game Tops

The feature match of the afternoon took place on the number two court where Clark Taylor came close to having his string of singles victories broken at seven by Stu Robinson, Williams' sophomore ace.

Taylor was on his game through the first set, winning handily, 6-3. However, Robinson found himself in the second cant and his well-placed shots forced Taylor into numerous errors to win, 6-4. The final set went to twelve games before Taylor captured a hard-fought 7-5 decision and the match.

Playing number one for the Tar Heels, Vic Seixas took both sets from Charley Schaaf with little difficulty, 6-1, 6-4.

Morris Wins Eighth

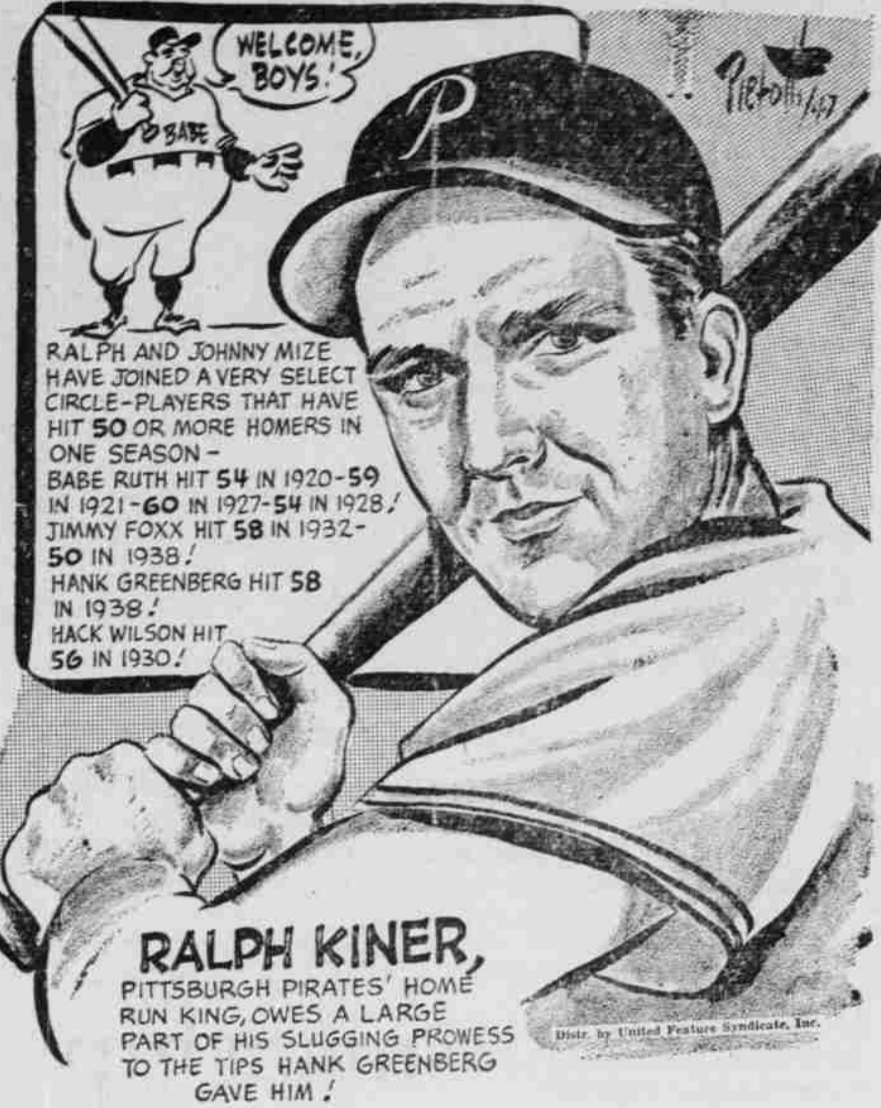

Fred Scribner, captain of the visitors, dropped his match to Charley Rice by a 6-2, 6-4 count. Ray Morris also won his eighth singles encounter of the campaign to keep pace with Taylor. He outplayed Dick Palmer, 6-4, 6-2.

Don Skagle also joined the select trio of undefeated solo players by outscoring Pete Thuber, 6-3, 6-4. Heath Alexander and Stan Gruner both won their singles matches without too much trouble. Alexander downed Russ Platt, 6-2, 6-0, and Gruner bested Lew Lincoln by straight 6-1 scores.

Sam Daniels took the initial cant from Ed Spencer, 6-3, but had to go play 14 games before winning the final set and the match, 8-6.

Jim Gallion defeated Williams' Pat Humphreys, 6-1, 6-4 and Les Dameron outscored Jack Mason, 9-7, 6-1, for the final Tar Heel singles wins.

The first week of intramural softball play closed yesterday in a last flurry of heavy hitting and late game winning rallies. No less than seven games were decided with a late inning rush that was not to be stopped. The tightest game of the afternoon was played between Emerson and Whitehead. Undeclared Golfers Cop 22-5 Decision For Fourth in Row

By Billy Carmichael III

The Ward-less Tar Heel golf team found themselves able to carry on creditably in the absence of their ace yesterday afternoon as they drubbed a weak-shooting Williams College sextet, 22-5, at the Hope Valley country club.

It was the locals' fourth straight win of the season and possibly their poorest performance of the year. But when the chips were down, the lads of Coach Chuck Erickson proved they had the winning shots in their bags and came home with points to spare.

The Carolina golfers will seek their fifth win of the season this afternoon at Hope Valley, facing Michigan, Big Nine champions. The match will begin at 1:30.

Footballer Bob Cox moved up to the No. 1 spot for the afternoon and found himself confronted with more than he was prepared for in the person of visitor Buckie Marchese. Marchese banged his way around the par-70 layout in the best of style to card a 36-35, one over par total for the day.

Cox Tallies

Cox, in trying to match the efforts of his opponent, did score one of the best Tar Heel tallies of the day, a 76, and salvaged a point for the winners.

Jack Brantley, playing in the first foursome with Cox, shot another point-winning round in shutting out his rival, 3-0, and ably assisting Cox in grabbing the best ball points for the Carolina entry.

Roy McKenzie led the way in the second foursome, also registering a whitewash win while partner Harvey Oliver was spotting Williams' Bill Cole one point while winning two himself. The best ball in this foursome was halved, each team netting one and a half points.

Brooks Stars

At the No. 5 post up-and-coming Frank Brooks, who plays each shot for keeps, tied Cox for the top Tar Heel honors with a 37-38-76 total. The Siler City freshman added another clean sweep to the Carolina slate, notching a 3-0 win and coupled with Dan Nyimicz to gather the match points in the final quartet.

Nyimicz, breaking into the lineup for the first time in two years, got off to a shaky start and was even at the turn. But on the (See GOLFERS, page 4)

Ward's 78 Trails Mangrum at Masters

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Augusta, Ga., April 8—North Carolina's Harvie Ward found the big time competition of the Masters' invitational golf tournament a little tough as pro Lloyd Mangrum took a first round lead in the feature links event.

Ward carded a 39-39—78 to place way down the list of 64 starters in the event. It was only the second time the Tar Heel ace had played the course though, and the experts around the Augusta National country club still rate the Tarboro lad a threat for amateur honors.

Mangrum took an early lead in the tourney, firing a 69, three under-par for one of the toughest courses in the nation.

Tied for second place at 70 are Ed Furgol, Ben Hogan, Claude Harmon, and Herman Keiser.

Jayvees Prepare For PJC Contest

In hopes of notching their second win of the current campaign, Carolina's diamond jayvees will meet the Presbyterian Junior college nine of Maxton tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This will be their last contest until the April 17, when Coach Henry House's men meet High Point High school in a return engagement after having dropped a 3-0 decision to the Bisons last Tuesday.

Two changes will grace the Tar Babies' lineup tomorrow. Bill McGinn is slated to take care of the mound chores and Stan Goodman will probably get the nod at the keystone sack. The rest of the lineup will be the same except that Jake Carter will open at first only if a southpaw does the tossing for Presbyterian.

No information is available on the Maxton aggregation at the present time, but this will be the first encounter of the Housemen against a team of college standing. On the outcome of this game, most of the predictions for the jayvees' Big Three meetings will be based.

The first of these loop affairs will be against the Blue Imps of Duke on April 21 and will be followed by a tussel with State's juniors three days later.

SENIOR LIFESAVING

All persons interested in senior lifesaving are requested to be at the pool Monday afternoon for the first session. Swimming coach Dick Jamerson announced yesterday.

Classes of one-hour duration at 3, 4, and 5 o'clock will be conducted. Jamerson warned that no persons will be permitted to start the course after Monday's classes.

Tar Heel Nine Drubs Gamecocks 16-6; Club Moves On To Clemson

By Jack Wade

Columbia, S. C., April 8—The heavy hitting of the touring North Carolina baseball club went on a 10-run display in the sixth and seventh innings here today to provide the Tar Heels with their first Southern conference triumph of the season, a 16-6 win over South Carolina.

Behind 6-5 up until the sizzling sixth, the Tar Heels exploded for six runs in that frame, then came back in the next to drive in four more. Rip Ryan's homer down the left-field line, the team's first round-tripper of the year, highlighted the sixth-inning splurge. Whitey Black of the winners and Ted Parone of the losers also hit for the circuit.

The Tar Heels continue their jaunt through the Palmetto state this morning when they move on to Clemson to oppose the Tigers, loop champions last season. Southpawinnie DiLorenzo will shoot for his second win of the year and will probably be opposed by "Nig" Griffith, who twirled a three-hitter against Davidson earlier this week.

Robinson Second

Frank Robinson, North Carolina's top righthander, went all the way on the mound to register his second success of the campaign. The Cana Cannonball ran into trouble in the early innings but settled down after the fourth to pitch shutout ball the rest of the way. He aided his own cause by collecting three hits, a feat also accomplished by Ryan and Jim Hobbs.

After the visitors from north of the state line had pushed across two markers in the first, the Gamecocks came right back in their half of the inning to knock out half of their hits for the contest and take a 3-2 lead. Parone's four-master was the big blow in the rally.

Gamecocks Keep Lead

Both teams came up with a total of three runs in the third and fourth stanzas and the home forces continued to maintain their one-run advantage until the sixth. The six-run outburst saw the Tar Heels make the most of homer, several walks, and a pair of errors to take over permanent control of the ball game.

The New York Yankees had little trouble in subduing Augusta, Ga., of the Sally League yesterday afternoon, 10-1, in an exhibition contest staged at Augusta. Frank Shea and Joe Page combined their pitching artistry in holding the Georgians to three hits while the Yanks collected 10 off three Augusta hurlers.

At Asheville, N. C., the Brooklyn Dodgers, led by fiery Leo Durocher, tamed the Asheville professionals by a 7-2 count. Some pinch pitching by work-horse Ralph Blanca spurred the Dodgers to victory. Four Asheville hurlers were blasted from the hill by powerful Dodger bats. The Detroit Tigers, with Freddie Hutchinson and Hal Wagner as batterymates, defeated the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association easily at Atlanta yesterday by an 8-3 score. The Tigers knocked out 13 base bingles in notching the win. At Clearwater, Fla., the two Philadelphia teams locked in a tight battle yesterday, which the Phils finally won, 4-3. The Phils blasted Lou Brissie for 16 base hits while the Athletics could only touch Schoolboy Rowe for seven blows.
