Laboratory Theater Will Present Drama In GM This Evening

The Laboratory Theater of the Carolina Playmakers will present Nikolai Gogol's famous comedy-farce, "The Inspector General," in the main lounge of Graham Memorial tonight at 8:30 o'clock. No admission will be charged, and the play will be presented again tomorrow and Monday nights at the same time.

The play, directed by James Byrd, is a satire on official crookedness and inefficiency, and has remained fresh to theater audiences throughout the world for the hundred years since it was written. It is universally conceded to be one of the greatest European comedies of the past century, and one of the best Russian comedies ever written.

Mistakes Identity

The story deals with a poor clerk, passing through a Russian village, who is mistaken by locals officials for the inspector being sent by the Czar.

The cast includes veteran actor James Geiger as the "Mayor," Eleanor Ringer (Saint Joan) as the Mayor's wife, and Phyllis Isenhour as his daughter. James Riley, who is well known for his scenery designs and for his part as the artist in "The Binkle Plan," will act the role of the clerk.

Local land owners will be Mac Shaw and Murray McCain. The local city officials are Bob Barr, Pete Strader, Karl Harrell, A. F. Westover, III George Upchurch, and Frank Echols.

Cast Listed

Other members of the cast are: Helen Brown, Bill Ayers, Edna Dooley, Marty Jacobs, Gloria Gunn, Reggie Kachigian, Mary Jo Cain, and Pat Palmer.

The Laboratory Theater, co-sponsored by the Playmakers and Graham Memorial, is an entirely student managed organization, and the plays are directed by students. The group has scored consistent successes since its organization last year.

Among the more popular have been "Fashion," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "The Imaginary Invalid," and "Aria de Cappello."

Methodists Slate Bicycling Outing

Wesley foundation members will leave for an overnight bike hike to Hillsboro this afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to an announcement made yesterday by the Recreation committee. A program of recreation has been planned for the event, including a fried chicken picnic tomorrow noon on the return trip.

The students will return to Chapel Hill in time for the regular Sunday night supper at 5:45 and the seminars which are in their third week of progress.

The topics and leaders are: "Christianity and Other Religions," Prof. Warren Ashby; "The Christian Stand on Civil Rights," Prof. Howard Beale; "Towards a World-Wide Christianity," Rev. J. R. Nelson; and "Religion and Psychological Adjustment," Mr. C. E. Elliot.

University Concert Band Schedules Program Of Selections Tomorrow Afternoon in Hill Hall

The University Concert Band will present its annual spring concert Sunday afternoon in Hill hall at 4 o'clock.

The band, under the direction of Earl Slocum, will be making its first appearance of the year. The public is invited.

William Fitzgerald, New Bern senior music major and clarinetist, will be the soloist for the concert. Fitzgerald will be featured in a Slocum arrangement of the "Solo de Concours" by Messager.

Two major symphonic works, the Second Movement of Howard Hanson's "Nordic Symphony" and the Finale of the Shostakovich Fifth Symphony will be featured by Slocum and the band.

Coed Officers Hear Address By R. B. House

By Sally Woodhull

Nearly 100 coed officers of this year and next met Thursday night in the final session of the Coed Leadership Training program, a banquet at the Carolina Inn.

Headed by Sadie Pearson and sponsored by Coed Senate, the training program was a cooperative effort by all coed organizations to improve the quality of leadership among women students.

Chancellor R. B. House, who was introduced last night by Dean Katherine K. Carmichael, spoke to the coeds on problems that would meet them as officers next year. He pointed out the influence of women students on men, saying that women set the ideals which men strive to follow, and that he was extremely proud of Carolina's coeds and their accomplishments.

To the question of a sorority college, Chancellor House gave "a polite no," explaining that the University could not give land to such a project since plans for future construction have already been made for all University-owned land.

Barbara Cashion, outgoing speaker of the Coed Senate, presided at the affair, and Mrs. Betty Rose Dowden of the YWCA gave the invocation and benediction. Barbara recognized the outgoing presidents of the each of the organizations represented, and they in turn presented the officers for next year.

Present at the banquet were members of Coed Senate, women legislators, and officers of the following groups: Women's Athletic association, YWCA, CICA, Pan Hellenic council, the five sororities, Women's Glee club, Theta Psi Epsilon, and Chi Delta Phi.

Other guests in addition to Chancellor House and Dean Carmichael included Mrs. House, Dean and Mrs. E. E. Mackie, Isabel McCleod, Kathryn Cook, Twig Branch, and Mrs. Cappie Swain.

YOUNG PARENTS ADVISED

New York, (UP)—The New York City department of health has prepared a 136-page handbook on baby rearing which it will send free on request to parents having a first child.

Other top numbers include compositions by Verdi, Moussorgsky, Shostakovich, Howard Hanson, and Vaughn Williams.

Other features include Ferde Grofe's "Mardi Gras," from the "Mississippi Suite." Comic relief will be provided by Howard Cable's amusing musical pot-pourri, "Jingles All The Way."

Wallace Group Set To Leave Tomorrow For Winston-Salem

A caravan of local Wallace-for-President supporters will journey to Winston-Salem tomorrow to attend the North Carolina Progressive party's first convention which will feature addresses tonight and tomorrow by Senator Glen H. Taylor, running mate of Henry Wallace in the coming Presidential race.

To Speak Here

Senator Taylor will speak here in Hill hall on Monday night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the local Wallace for President club.

Faculty, students and townspeople are expected to join the car caravan scheduled to leave from the bell tower at 8 o'clock tomorrow, Mike Pochna, caravan director, announced yesterday.

The convention, which will draw an estimated 2,000 Wallace followers from points throughout the state, will be held in spacious Liberty warehouse.

Two Dollars and Up

Senator Taylor will be the principal speaker tonight at a dinner ceremony designed for the raising of campaign funds. Those attending will pay $2 and up for plates, local sources report.

Tomorrow's all-day session will feature Taylor's address on third party principles and aims, and will hear reports from delegates concerning Progressive party action in North Carolina to date.

Attending the convention from here will be Bill Richardson, president of the local Wallace club, and others including Paul Morehead, Aubrey Williams, Bill Evans, Mrs. W. Y. Richardson and John Myers.

LEGISLATURE ABSENCES

The following members of the Student Legislature were absent from Thursday's session: Richard Allbrook, Bill Benjamin, Kate Conner, Edie Knight and Wally Robinson.

Excuses may be turned in to Thurman Williams, chairman of the Rules committee. Williams has reminded legislators that recommendation for dismissal from the Student Legislature will be given anyone charged with three unexcused absences.

Palestine Powderkeg Due to Blow Top According to Recent News Releases

New York, April 23 (UP)—The fuse is burning short on the Palestine powderkeg.

The Arabs are getting ready tonight to evacuate its greatest port, Haifa, in a 1948-style Dunkerque.

The United Nations, charged with keeping the peace in the Holy Land, is still bogged down in wordy debate. Now, it appears that it will limit its immediate action to trying to save Jerusalem.

British to Leave

In three weeks, the British will leave. As for the Jews, they consider Palestine already partitioned into separate states. For them, partition is a reality and the Jewish state has been born.

Comay scoffed at the American plan for a UN trusteeship over the Holy Land. "To use sitting in Jerusalem," he said. "It is simply fantastic to think that a UN governor-general could move in and expect to take over."

State Endangered
He admitted however that if Moslem nations sent their regular armies to ring the Holy Land, the future of a Jewish state would be endangered. Comay said such an invasion is the only act that could prevent the full collapse of the present Arab fighting forces.

Meanwhile, a British news agency dispatch reports that the Jewish Haganah army has imposed martial law on the conquered port of Haifa.

Mackie Elected

The new Student council has elected Bill Mackie chairman for the coming year. Mackie replaces former chairman Jim Pascal.

Weddy Thorp, junior from Rocky Mount, was named clerk of the council. She replaces Nina DeBerry.

The council will hold an open hearing this coming Tuesday night on procedure for appeals to be followed during the year. Mackie announced that anyone interested may attend.

The new council is composed of Wayne Brenengen, Fred Thompson, Iris Bost, Fern Hughes, Mary Davis, Martin Carmichael, Sam Magill, Weddy Thorpe and Mackie.

Kansas Police Say Force May Be Used Again

Kansas City, Mo., April 23 (UP)—Kansas City police warned tonight that they will use force again, if necessary, to break up mass picketing in the meat strike.

Club-swinging police turned a crowded union hall into shambles today in the latest clash in the nationwide packinghouse strike. The man in charge of the cops, Captain Eli Dahlin, said, "We're not going to have any more trouble here. We'll beat them all on the head if necessary."

That is just what the Kansas City cops did today. Captain Dahlin called out the entire headquarters force, except for two women clerks. The police marched over to the Cudahy plant and broke up the pickets in a bloody 10-minute battle.

Then they chased the fleeing pickets into a nearby union hall and battered them into submission. The cops made a shambles out of the union hall. Furniture was broken, women were kicked, and several of the strikers soon needed medical attention, including one with a possible skull fracture.

The way was cleared for non-strikers to go to work at the Kansas City plant, but as for peace in Kansas City, as one striker put it, "If they want blood, we'll give it to them next time."

Warning Issued

The warning was issued by the agency's Jerusalem representative a few hours after his arrival at Lake Success. Michael Comay reported that the Jewish Haganah army has seized the initiative all over the embattled country and he added that to all practical purposes the British rule has ended in Palestine.

Comay scoffed at the American plan for a UN trusteeship over the Holy Land. "To use sitting in Jerusalem," he said. "It is simply fantastic to think that a UN governor-general could move in and expect to take over."

State Endangered
He admitted however that if Moslem nations sent their regular armies to ring the Holy Land, the future of a Jewish state would be endangered. Comay said such an invasion is the only act that could prevent the full collapse of the present Arab fighting forces.

Meanwhile, a British news agency dispatch reports that the Jewish Haganah army has imposed martial law on the conquered port of Haifa.

Broughton, Albright, Scott Declare Stands On Political Matters

Raleigh, April 23 (UP)—Two gubernatorial candidates and a United States senatorial candidate came out strongly tonight favoring and opposing various national and state issues.

The three are former governor and candidate for the U. S. Senate J. Melville Broughton and North Carolina gubernatorial candidates R. Mayne Albright and W. Kerr Scott.

Broughton at Statesville

Broughton, speaking tonight at Statesville asserted that States' rights should be maintained strictly. The Senatorial candidate said the relationship between the states and the federal government should be one of complete and wholesome co-operation in the public interest, and he added that North Carolina has been a leading example of such cooperation.

He cites farm, health, minerals, Social Security and veterans programs as examples under state and federal co-operation and points out that a minimum of federal control has been necessary.

States' Rights

As Broughton puts it, "As we insist upon the maintenance of the principle of states' rights, we should never forget that state responsibility is the companion principle. The two working together, will mean a better citizenship and a more prosperous state and nation."

Clean Politics

He tags his program as "Planned Progress and Clean Politics." The young World War II veteran claims that North Carolina needs new voters, new candidates for office and new leadership toward new goals. He says we are losing ground under machine control.

Meanwhile, W. Kerr Scott, speaking at Charlotte today, has come out for more support of wildlife restoration. He praised the recent action separating game and inland fish administration from the Department of Conservation and Development.

Soil-Water Problem

He says the whole problem comes back to conservation of soil and water resources. "As we improve the soil, stop erosion and make farm land more productive, we are getting down to the fundamentals of more and better hunting and fishing."

Scott has pledged his full support to the new Wildlife Resources commission.

Helicopter Pilot Gets 'Ticket' for Parking

Washington, April 23 (UP)—White House police were kept in a dither for about 20 minutes this afternoon by a helicopter pilot.

Police complained that he flew down to within 200 feet of the executive mansion, then the flying windmill hovered motionless in the air while a passenger snapped pictures. The arial photographer was on a picture assignment for a magazine.

The police telephoned the Civil Aeronautics administration for advice on how to shoot off a helicopter. The CAA regulations forbid any flying over the capitol.

The CAA stepped into the picture and, for the first time in history, gave a pilot a "ticket" for parking too close to the White House.

U.S. Secretary of State Marshall Is Headed Home From Bogota

Bogota, Colombia, April 23 (UP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall is flying to Washington tonight after successfully closing one of his toughest diplomatic deals.

The nation's top spokesman on foreign affairs left the Inter-American conference here late this afternoon. Shortly before his departure he had a farewell luncheon with a handful of top Latin-American statesmen.

He told them urgent matters demanded his return to the State department in Washington and would not allow him at the conference until April 30, when it is scheduled to adjourn.

Political observers point out that Marshall accomplished his blueprint for battling Communism in the new world.

Tragedy Strikes Lenoir Carnival

Lenoir, April 23 (UP)—Tragedy took top billing at a small vagabond carnival which pitched tents on the outskirts of Lenoir today.

The body of a carnival worker, identified as Bill Taylor, was found today on the festival grounds. Police Chief Stanley Crisp said Taylor apparently had been hit on the head with a piece of iron pipe. His skull was fractured.

The dead man, who was about 35 years old, is believed to have joined the carnival at Atlanta.

Church Organizations to Stage Drive To Get Clothing for Overseas Relief

Hoping to take advantage of the spring clothing change-over, the various church groups, CRIL, the YMCA, the YWCA will stage an Overseas Relief drive for clothing, bedding, and shoes, during the week beginning May 9.

Charlie Enman, chairman of the committee for the campus drive, said yesterday that clothing would be collected in basically the same manner as in the clothing drive earlier in the year when large boxes were placed in each dorm, sorority and fraternity house. Also a room to room canvass will be made by overseas relief representatives.

All clothing collected during the weeks drive will be packed and then shipped to Europe to be distributed purely on the basis of need with no regard to creed, race, or religion.

Chapel Hill churches will conduct the drive in town and in

Stassen States 'Mad War Move' May Be Coming

Akron, Ohio, April 23 (UP)—Harold Stassen, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said here tonight that the world faces the danger that Russia might make what he calls "a mad move toward war," if the veto power of the United Nations is not remedied.

In a speech delivered here, the GOP presidential hopeful urged that the United States and other interested nations act to offset the danger of war. He suggested that a joint policy be established to act on any violations of the territorial or political rights of any nation.

SQUARE DANCE

The Presbyterian church will sponsor a square dance tonight at 8 o'clock. European folk dances, waltzes, polkas, mountain and western style square dances will be featured during the evening.

There is no admission charge and everyone is invited to attend.

Elaine Patton

Elaine Patton, 22-year-old junior from Jonesboro, died at approximately 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon while enroute to the University infirmary after she had collapsed in front of McIver dormitory, where she lived on campus.

According to Dr. E. M. Hedgepeth of the infirmary, County Coroner H. J. Walker was called in as he is required to be in all cases of unexpected death where the cause cannot be easily determined. Walker requested a post-mortem, which is being performed at Duke university hospital.

The infirmary notified Miss Patton's sister of the death. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.
