Runners Seeking Third Win of Season In Test With Middies at Fetzer Field

By Larry Fox

Carolina's track team will have one of its biggest tests of the season when the Tar Heels run into speedy Navy from Annapolis here this afternoon at Fetzer field beginning at 3 o'clock.

MARK BURNHAM
... running daily double.

The Middies, who are as much at home on the cinders as on board ship, faced the Duke Blue Devils in Durham yesterday. In the last meet, they triumphed over Manhattan college and Villanova in a triangular meet. Manhattan almost always produces top track aggregations as do the Wildcats.

Last season the Tar Heels took a close 66-65 decision from the future admirals and this year there will not be much more of a difference in the final tally.

Carolina Won

Carolina won the meet in the last event, when the Navy mile relay team was disqualified for passing the baton illegally. Today's meet probably won't be decided until all but the last few events have been run off.

Navy's greatest scoring punch will probably come in the 440, 880 and the mile relay. The Middies are blessed with a wealth of middle distance men led by Gunner Garibaldi. The relay quartet of Garibaldi, Elliott, Angleman, and Duncan should cop their event with little difficulty.

Jim Oberholtzer, who generally performs in the distances, will be the big threat of the visitors in the 880. However, Julian MacKenzie and John Bristow ought to score quite a few points for the Tar Heels in the half mile.

Weight Trio

Navy's weight trio includes two footballers and should make things close for Bob Seligman and Fred Ogen in the shot putt and Seligman and Larry Klosterman in the discus. Dick Scott, who took first place in the discus for Navy in their triangular meet, captained the Middy eleven last fall.

MacKenzie will double in the meet and run in the mile as well as the 880, Mark Burnham and Jimmy Miller will also run the four lap distance. Miller will see further action in the two-mile and he will head the Tar Heel entry along with Sam Magill. Dick Hall is the big man in the mile for Navy.

The lineup for Carolina this afternoon will be much the same as in the earlier meets this season.

Navy Tracksters Top Duke in Durham Meet

Durham, May 7—The Navy track team took a 67.5-6-63 1-6 decision from the Duke Blue Devils here this afternoon in the Middie's preview to their clash with Carolina in Chapel Hill tomorrow.

The Sailors took eight of 15 first places and a total of seven seconds to win the meet.

Dick Ambrogli led the Middie scoring with 10 points from first places in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Jim Oberholtzer tallied nine for the visitors. He capped the 880-yard run and tied for first in the mile. Oberholtzer was well out in front in the mile, but stopped short of the tape to wait for teammate Frank Raab.

Dick Hall scored the biggest win of the afternoon when he came home in the two-mile about 200 yards ahead of his nearest opponent.

Baseball, Net Teams Rained Out; Both Play Journey Finales Today

Hearmen Play Hoyas In Nation's Capital

College Park, Md., May 7—Ole Jube Pluvius smiled with disfavor on the scheduled Southern conference scrap between North Carolina and Maryland here this afternoon, with the result that the game was washed off the slate.

The Tar Heels, on what started out to be a three-game tour of Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D. C., still have one contest remaining—that against Georgetown in the Capital City tomorrow. The touring Carolinians will be seeking to snap a two-game losing streak in the non-conference encounter.

Southpaw Vinnie DiLorenzo was set to hurl today's clash, but the rainout may cause a slight change in the pitching schedule. Instead of sending their number one ace against the Hoyas tomorrow, Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walt Rabb might stick with Tommy Andrew, who was the original choice to face Georgetown in pre-tour planning.

In such a case, DiLorenzo would be saved for the Big Four and Southern conference battle with Wake Forest in Chapel Hill next Tuesday.

Today's cancellation is the first that the Tar Heels have encountered this year in their conference competition. Currently topping the 16-team standings with a 9-2 record, the Carolina club holds a 11-2 game lead over Wake Forest and Washington and Lee, who are tied for second with 7-3.

Tar Baby Tilts Are Cancelled

Two Tar Baby engagements—in baseball and tennis—were cancelled yesterday, thereby cutting down on the Carolina sports action for today.

The jayvee baseball journey to Greensboro to oppose that city's high school Whirlies was washed out by yesterday's rain in the Gate City. Originally slated for today, the game was moved up one day because of a schedule conflict. No arrangements have yet been made for playing off the scrap.

The freshman tennis team was also set to see action this afternoon but that encounter—against Maury high school of Norfolk—has been postponed until May 17. Unless another match is arranged in the next few days, the yearling netters will not face outside competition until that date.

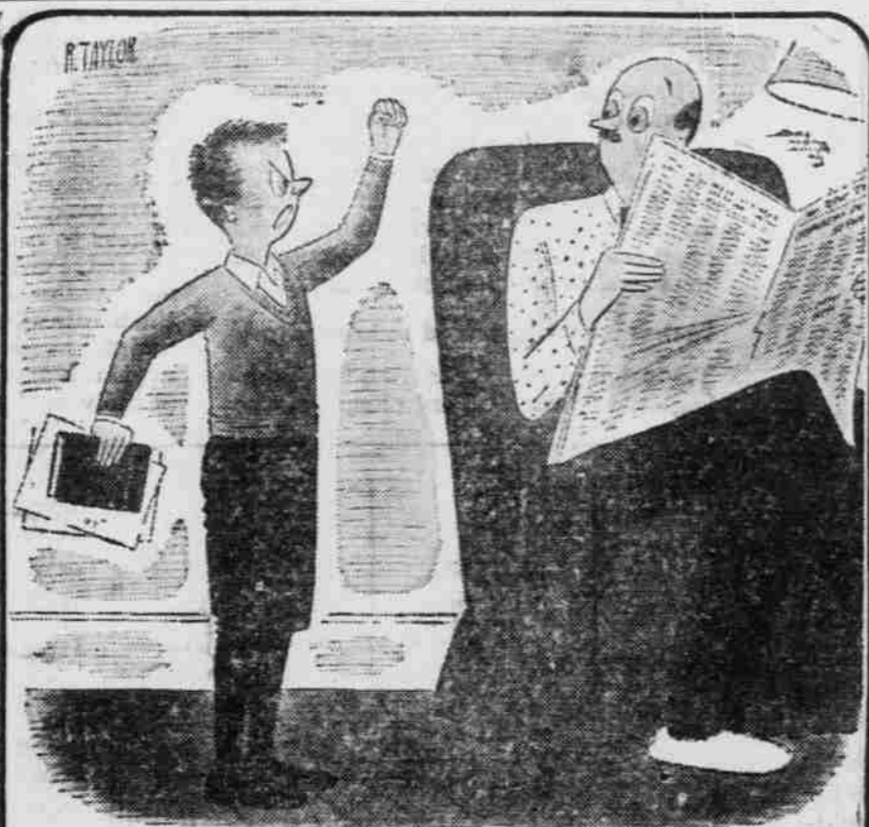

The Tar Baby baseballers will not be out of action that long, however. Coach Henry House's charges travel to Maxton on Monday to play a return tussle with Presbyterian Junior college.

Later in the week, the Tar Babies are scheduled for two little Big Three games. They meet State's juniors in Raleigh on Thursday and are at home on Saturday to face Duke.

Barron Takes Lead In Goodall Tourney

New Rochelle, N. Y., May 7—(UP)—Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., came through with a three-under-par 69 to take the second round lead in the $10,000 Goodall round robin golf tournament. There was to have been a third round today at the Wykagyl course here but rain forced postponement of that until tomorrow.

His 69 gave Barron 11 points today, for a plus 24 after two rounds, and a one-hole lead over Bobby Locke of South Africa.

Ward Rated Favorite to Cop Medal Title As Duke, Wake Forest Rule Team Choices

By Billy Carmichael III

Pinehurst, May 7.—North Carolina's defending Southern conference golf champions will put their somewhat-tarnished crown on the line here tomorrow when some eight or more loop schools tee off in a 36-hole competition for individual and team honors in the annual conference go-round.

But the Tar Heels are not exactly the favorites to regain their title. They fell 25-2 before Duke on Tuesday and both Wake Forest and State, two of the other entries in the big action, hold dual meet wins making it a toss-up for the favorite for team honors.

Rest of Field

The rest of the field seems to be playing a little out of its class. Davidson is the strongest of the remaining entrants with George Washington, Washington and Lee, and VPI rounding out the field.

Team honors will be decided on the basis of the squad posting the four lowest 36-hole scores from among its six individual competitors.

Even with the evenly matched field of four top flight teams, the Dukesters will probably get the pre-tourney nod of the experts on the basis of their depth and experience. Wake Forest has what looks to be the ablest group of players, but a group that are young and somewhat-untried.

State Runs

State runs hot and cold and therefore falls in the class with the Tar Heels who could regain their title if and when they played at the top of their game.

The lads of Coach Chuck Erickson do have a chance though to cop individual honors in the tourney and that chance seems to ride on the shoulders of Harvie Ward.

Ward won the North-South amateur crown recently over the same No. 2 Pinehurst country club course that will be the scene of the competition tomorrow, and his past performance here has installed him as the favorite to capture the medalist honors.

Ward Faces

Ward will face a stiff test from several other conference stars. Notably among them are Jimmy McNair, the Duke ace, who topped the Tarboro Tartar, 4-3, at Hope Valley this week, and Wake Forest's Arnold Palmer who Ward beat by the same score in the North-South semi-finals.

The rest of the Tar Heel team entry will be the same group of faces that have been swinging the club's for the Carolinians.

Monogram Picnic

The Monogram will hold its gala spring picnic this afternoon at Hogan's Lake, it was announced yesterday by president Bill Pritchard.

The big affair will be open to all those who took part in the Blue-White football game and their dates, together with all monogram members and their ladies.

Trucks to the lake will leave the gym for the convenience of the picnickers at 4, 5, and 6 o'clock, Pritchard also stated.
