On Mothers Day

There really was no reason for a specific day to be set aside as a tribute to the world's loveliest women - our Mothers. For ours is an ever present reverential regard and homage to the women who labored through early years, when life's impressions were kindled in stainless minds, and who now take wordless pride in the images they have created. So it is that when we salute our Mothers publicly, as we do today, it is an expression of outspoken love and devotion meant as a reminder that though they are never forgotten, we pause in our routine, especially today, to honor their names, to glorify their sanc-

It is to be imagined that even on "her special day", our Mother's will confine their thoughts to those who are far from home. Her prayers, symbolic of every Mother's unselfishness, will be for sons and daughters not present to share in the day's blessing and tribute.

This Sunday, then, our mission will be rededication to one of the few perpetual monuments of true devotion - a Mother's love. Those few words you have written in a letter, the message in a telegram, the thoughtfulness of a gift and attendance at a special church service - these are your ways of remembering America's unconquerable pillar of strength.

Objectives For Mr.Dedmond

On May 17, one week from next Monday, the Board of Trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina will meet in Raleigh. According to the constitution adopted by citizens of this campus in May of 1946, one of the duties of the president of the student body is to represent the students in all dealings with the trustees of the University.

When Mr. Dedmond walks into the meeting of the 17th, we hope he remembers one of the greatest needs of the campus today—a new student union. Graham Memorial is doing its best to serve 7,000 students, but the building and its facilities are obviously inadequate.

Whether or not the trustees can do anything concrete toward a new student union to replace the present overworked one is an extremely dubious question, but the matter should certainly be brought to their attention.

Another thing Dedmond must do on that Monday morning, if he is to fulfill the duties of the office he was elected to by the student body, is to explain to the trustees in no uncertain terms that we need and must have a 75-cent increase in the block fee we pay each quarter. Latest observations seem to point to the fact that Dedmond does not approve of the increase, but his job is not to express his own opinions but the feelings of the student body.

There is nothing more urgent than the need of money when an organization is operating in the red. This campus is in the red $6,600 for this year and will be in the red $5,426.85 more for the 1948-49 budget. Something must be done, and an increase in the block fee is the only practi-

When Fresident Jess Dedmond walks into the trustees' meeting on Monday, May 17, we hope that he will have two things to present to them—the need for a new student union and an increase in the block fee structure.

State Your Opinion On The Budget Suppose you are a veteran and that you get 75 bucks a month from Uncle Sam. Suppose that $75 is your total income. That's $2.50 a day in a 30-day month. Now suppose it costs you 25 cents to eat breakfast, 73 cents to eat lunch and 88 cents to eat dinner. Suppose laundry costs you 20 cents a day, cleaning 10 cents, and a room to sleep in 47 cents, and you allow 7 cents a week for soap, tooth paste and razor blades. That's $2.64 a day. You're not going to any movies and you're not buying any new clothes, but still you're paying out more than you're taking

What would you do? You could quit eating breakfast or you could wear dirty clothes, or you could start sleeping in a tent. Rather than do any of these things, though, most of us would go to work and get some more money.

The Student Legislature is up against a like problem. It isn't declaring any dividends in entertainment to the students and it isn't buying campus organizations any new clothes, but still it is having to pay out more than it is taking in. It could make the campus go without breakfast or wear dirty clothes by cutting down appropriations to student government, publications and other organizations, or it could make some organizations live in a tent by cutting off their appropriations entirely. If the Legislature is to keep giving us the same quality of government and publications and other organizational activity, however, it must have more money.

Student fees play Uncle Sam to the Legislature. They provide its $75 a month. To give the legislature sufficient funds for operation at a normal level these fees will have to be increased. After investigating the situation, the Finance committee reported to the legislature Thursday night a bill to raise fees 75 cents a quarter. The bill was sent back to committee for further consideration. The Student Council may be called upon to rule on a point of constitutionality. If the ruling is favorable the bill will come up for a vote.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill. N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8:00 per college year. $3.00 per quarter.

LEASED WIRE OF UNITED PRESS

Represented for National Advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc.
National Advertising Service, Inc.
New York, N. Y. Associated Collegiate Press

Business Manager

NIGHT EDITOR: Chuck Hauser NIGHT SPORTS: Bob Goldwater

Washington Merry-Go-Round Kerr-Stares

Where Oh Where Has The Ballot Run Away To?

By Tom Kerr

Hate to steal this from the news department, but we bumped into some strange doings over in the Law school. From our sources we get it that the law students chose not long ago to take a poll for the Durham Morning Herald on their thoughts and feelings on the Negroes-in-the-law-school ques-

All the conscientious law students took their little ballots, filled out the three questions including an essay on the race subject, and, as instructed, put the ballots in the ballot box. All was well.

About this time some eager beaver over there decides to study late into the night. This bit of not too trustworthy info came out the next morning when our local hero claimed that the ballot box was there at his 1:30 departing time.

You guessed it. The next morning the ballot box was gone. Needless to say, this caused quite a stir among all those potential jurists. So the Manning hall "Mr. District Attorneys" pulled out their magnifying glasses and promptly set to work.

Now we wouldn't want to point an accusing finger, but very unreliable sources let us know that the Wallace club and the Carolina Conservative club have alread seen investigated. South building was given the once over, and even one of the Law school's efficient secretaries was questioned.

No telling what the outcome of this curious whodonit is going to be, but we take this opportunity to strongly suggest an investigation of the Heyhowyou club.

Write Away

May I call our attention to a typographical error appearing in the editorial " . . . Also Applies Here," May 7.

The phrase which reads "American's . . . are deplorably ill-informed about their own government and the men who runt it," should obviously have read "Americans . . . are deplorably ill-informed about their own government and the runts who man it."

Hale Chamberlain

WHAT'S UP Graham Memorial

So you find it kind of hard, after a more - than - pleasant weekend, to look forward to Monday? Don't we all.

But if you can manage to make it through the day tomorrow, you can find some mighty pleasant listening in GM's main lounge at 6:30 tomorrow evening. Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 and his Twelve Contra Dances will be played on the regular recorded dinner

Ike Takes Staff To Columbia

Washington - The Republicans were right in calling the turn on General Eisenhower's use of Army personnel after his retirement from the Army. However, it's interesting that the man who called the turn was Congressman A. L. Miller of Nebraska, spearhead of the MacArthur-for-President movement.

These boys don't like Eisenhower. Also it's significant that other high-ranking generals and admirals have continued to use Army-Navy personnel after their retirement. For instance, Admiral Ernie King, now retired, used not only a Navy office but Navy clerical personnel to write And if all the money spent on Gen. John J. Pershing during his retirement were added up it would total over a million. Pershing, though retired for years, continues to be the second highest paid Government official, drawing a salary of around $26,000 a year. Only the President or the United States tops him. In addition, Pershing has a colonel as an aide, plus other Army personnel, and for years has lived at

Walter Reed Hospital. Eisenhower has a staff of three assigned to him at Columbia - Maj. Robert L. Schulz, an aide; WAC warrant officer Margaret Hayes and Master-Sergeant Leonard Dry, a chauffeur. He also draws a salary of $15,751 a year for life from the Army in addition to his salary as president of Columbia University. Note - Pershing, though appointed by Woodrow Wilson, is the son-in-law of the Republican Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, the late Francis E. Warren of Wyoming. The Republicans now consider Eisenhower a Democrat.

The Social Whirl

Undersecretary of Commecre William C. Foster was having heavy conferences with Dave Austin, vice president of U. S. Sttel, Adm. Ben Moreel of Jones and Laughlin, and other steel tycoons when a colored messenger brought in a note for the under-

"It's very important," he said. "I'm to wait for a reply." The meeting came to a standstill while Foster read the note then reread it.

"Take a look at that note," he suggested to the steel tycoons. It was a message from Foster's wife, explaining that she had lost her key to the liquor closet. She wanted the Undersecretary of Commerce to do something about it before a cocktail party to which she had invited guests that afternoon.

Note - Foster sent his wife a duplicate key, went on talking about the steel situation.

GOP Secrecy

Democratic Congressmen were decidedly trked with their Republican colleague from California, Bud Gearhart, for demanding that hearings on the continuation of Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade treaties be held in secret. But their ire was nothing compared with the anti-Gearhart resentment of a group of ladies.

Congressmen Gearhart made the mistake of referring to these ladies as "sewing circle sisters" who wanted to make "State Department statements" about reciprocal trade treaties.

However, the so-called sewing circle sisters just happen to be members of some of the most important and respected women's organizations in the country. They include Dr. Bessie Randolph of the American Association of University Women; Mrs. Arthur F. Anderson of the YWCA; Mrs. Joseph M. Welt of the National Council of Jewish Women; and Miss Rose Schneiderman of the National Women's Trade Union League.

Indignant at the Congressman's decision to hold secret hearings over a matter affecting the entire nation, the "sewing circle sisters" got off a hot telegram of protest to the Ways and Means

Meanwhile the committeemen themselves were having a fiery fiery debate behind closed doors over the secrecy ban imposed by Congressman Gearhart.

"This is an important matter in which the public is getting interested," protested North Carolina's Bob Doughton. "The evidence should be heard in open hearings." "We don't have time for full-dress hearings," replied Gearhart.

"If the House doesn't act fast and get this legislation to the Senate by May 15 the President may not be able to sign it before June 12, when the State Department's authority to make these trade agreements with other nations expires."

"It wouldn't take any longer to hear testimony in open sessions and you know it," snapped Doughton. "Besides, the State Department prefers that the hearings be public."

"I would say that you are in a poor position to criticize the State Department for star-chamber proceedings when you're trying to conduct one yourself," hotly interrupted Democrat Aime Forand of Rhode Island.

However, the Republicans supported Gearhart. The Democrats and the women's organizations which wanted to testify were voted down. The trade hearings will be held in secret.

Battle Over Atomic Scientists

You are going to hear a lot about the personalities of the Atomic Energy Commission before the final debates are over about their reappointment.

One thing that came out during the closed-door session between atomic scientists and the Senate Atomic Committee was that Atomic Commission Chairman David Lilienthal, chief target in the political brawl, wants to resign after completing one more year of service. So does his colleague, Robert F. Bacher.

The Professor Has A System

Scram Bum, You're Done Typed

Professor A. Reid Winsey of utter continually, 'Yes, profess-DePauw University classifies in a typical small liberal arts college, one collects an astonishing array of interesting types. Several weeks ago, after a delightful dinner of crabmeat and pickles they all returned to

"1. The athletic type—The academic processes hold no terrors for the hero of the gridiron. His fraternity brothers have a complete file of my lecture notes and examinations. It's a rare treat to find him in class. So nice of him to come.

"2. The playboy type-The morning after finds him in class in his roommates shoes on the wrong foot. He drops his pipe but never quite recovers it. I hand it to him after class.

"3. The academic type-Probably the most objectionable of all. The head is attached to the spine on a hinge and nods back and forth during the entire Greencastle, Ind. —(ACP)— lecture and the mouth and eyes or. Yes, professor.

"4. The negative type—All "After 15 years of lecturing right brother, you put me in this class now just try to teach me something. You would put me in the front row. I can hear him uttering under his breath, 'For gosh sakes let's get this

"5. The lovey dovey type-Must be taken together for they are inseparable as two Siamese twins. Hearts and music, violets and poetry, these two love birds are majoring in Marriage and the Family.

"6. Camouflage-He always brings an armload of books to class to impress me, I guess. The boys are on to him, however, and someone is always picking on him. At the moment he's sitting on a tack and trying to get some one's feet off

"7. The popular type-She had four fraternity pins this semester, three last, and spends her class hour twisting the ends of her beautiful hair. This little stunt is sure to drive any instructor insane.

"8. The wholesome type-Wears what every college girl should wear, acts like every college girl should act and talks like every college girl should talk-constantly. She's at it now.

"9. The clock watcher-I suppose she has wound her watch three times already. She always starts shuffling her feet and putting on her coat about 15 minutes before the end of the "10. The sexy type-This would-be campus queen just loves the boys, all the boys, all the time. She doesn't care what the other girls think of her clothes, they're just jealous.

"11. The tardy type-Always bursts into the room in the middle of your most important statement. Of course, her seat is taken and the battle begins in earnest."

This 'n That

Full Moon in '44, Crisis in '48

By Bill Buchan

(Four years ago this July, I got very sentimental and homesick as 18 year old kids, on their way to war, have an inclination of doing.

After a long session of discussing the world's trouble with another kid from Indianapolis, I went down below (to F deck, I believe,) and put all my troubles and "dreams" on paper. After we arrived in England, I mailed the "article" home. Several days ago, while going through some old letters, I found the thing and no one else better than I knows how silly or sentimental it is. However, with the current world crisis I thought it might prove something or other to print the "dreams" of a war-headed soldier on the third anniversary of the ending of one particular phrase of that war. The headlines, from current newspapers, are added just for the kicks. Form your own conclusions.)

"We were watching the moon and thinking of other full moons we'd seen in other places. Thinking! ! That's about all one has to do these days so far from home . . . think and play poker or read "Pocketbooks". Tonight I was thinking about Pinebluff and Shorty's mind was recalling the busy streets of Indianapolis . . . two places -miles apart, but connected now by the little ward "Home". One is inclined to learn just how much that little four-letter word can mean when he sails beyond the Lady enroute to a

HOUSE BODY PASSES CONSCRIPTION BILL FOR PEACETIME ARMY

". . . Home!! Wonder when we'll be going back? That thought must be in the minds of all the men lined up along the rail staring silently at the sky. That and another much more important one-What are we going home to? BATTLE-READY BRITISH SPEED TO · PALESTINE

"Men from New York City and other large cities joke when they discuss which corner they are going to sell pencils on. Rather a grim joke, however. Someone today suggested in a bull session that when we go home the people will "meet", "greet" and "forget". UMT-DRAFT COMPROMISE IS APPROVED

BY TRUMAN

"When we go home, depends almost com, pletely on the men overseas, but what we po home to, we can do nothing about but any what we want. Often that doesn't do much good Congressmen make trips overseas to see [themselves how the war is progressing. No one ever suggested sending a committee of infantive men to the United States to see how Congreis progressing."

CLAY SAYS NAZIS BECOMING ACTIVE IN REICH AGAIN "Home"-would we go home to raise some to return to Europe in twenty-five years for another war?' US IS OFF ON FIVE-YEAR MILITARY PLAN &

". . . we'll always be counting the days and a months until the time when we can return to the United States, for there we have country that really is worth fighting for There. we have a faith in one another that nothing no matter how strong, can tear down." TOUGH ANTI-COMMUNIST BILL FACES

HOUSE VOTE "We don't feel sorry for ourselves. I believe that there are very few men aboard who actually do. We are just uneasy sometimes about what the future brings. The old master across who was overseas in 1918 might have known what he was talking about when he said that just like the first time, the people would meet greet, and forget us. . . And yet, when one sits down and really thinks it over, he knows there is nothing to worry about."

VIOLENCE MARKS BOGGING OF PEACE PLANS IN JERUSALEM

", . . he knows that a country that has progressed so far in so few years will take care of the returning men. He knows that this time the Ameican people will see to it that a peace is made that is real and that will last." PARIS FEELS FEAR OF WAR MORE THAN

WASHINGTON OR LONDON

Tate Of The Campus

A Coed Makes The Edit Page

By Lindsay Tate

Today a coed has actually been allowed to enter the relms of the mighty fourth estate. Since the Wallace Club and Communists decidedly minority groups, are so well publicized, perhaps it's time for the coed viewpoint on campus activities to be expressed.

Financially speaking, the condition of the campus is in the red. Various and sundry plans have been suggested by a special investigation committee and Jess Dedmond. It is to be hoped that the legislature will not deem it necessary to carry out Miles Smith's bill to drop the underwriting of the literary quarterly. There are many valid reasons for the Carolina Quarterly, and it would be extremely unadvisable for the Student Legislature to override the opinions of those 1400 students who signed a petition to sex up such a publication. There seems to be methods of economizing that would not affect appropriations already made to the Debating Council, Speaker's Bureau, and other worthy organizations. Mr. Dedmond's suggestions to the Student Legislature seem the most reasonable.

In the legislature, things were pretty quiet last week. The Smith Bill to drop the appropriation to the Quarterly and another redistricting bill to "unconfuse the Elections committee" were the only business. The Election committee is holding open meetings Monday through Wednesday afternoons. If you're interested in being represented fairly in the legislature, you might drop around. Joe Leary is more than glad to hear new ideas. Here's a hope that the question will be settled once and for all-or at least until

Summer plans are growing in every quarter

Of course, there'll be a host of people back at summer-school-seems they can't bear the thought of missing a party at Hogan's Lake. Others will loaf; some few will be working. I'm putting in my bid for the Encampment for Citizenship in New York. It sounds like a worthwhile six weeks. See Al Lowensten for details. After the Sweetheart weekend, the Sigma Chi seranaded five girls in the Alderman-Kenan-McIver triangle. Three seranades went to McIver, one each to the other dorms. Current saying is, "With men who know their coods best, it's McIver 3 to 1.

The current GM joke is courtesy of Billy the third. It's unprintable-see him.

Commendations and a gold plaque shold go to whoever is responsible for resuming bricklaying on campus walks. If the draft goes through, some freshman here now may see the completion of the project. Speaking of the druft, it's hard to believe that only three years ago, we were speaking glibly of a (quote) lasting Academically, mid-terms are over and the parties have resumed. Might mention that finals are only five weeks off and an hour or two now might save a headache later.

Hollywood Film Shop

She's Agin Editorial Writers

HOLLYWOOD (UP) - Made-

Miss Carroll spent six years in Europe as a Red Cross worker in war and in reconstruction. Nobody can tell her now, she says, that because she's also an actress she lacks political intelligence. "Nobody wants actors and actresses to take any interest in politics," she said. "I say that all Americans-and I mean allought to take an intense personal interest in national politics and world politics as well." What touched off Miss Carroll's storm was a New York newspaper editorial expressing a low opinion of movie star political activity. The political intelligence of movie stars, it said, was "very, very low." Miss Carroll got her half-

Irish temper up when someone showed her the editorial on the set of her new picture, James Nasser's "An Innocent Affair." "It's so unfair," she sputtered.

"Actors and actresses are just as profound, as a class, as editorial writers.

"This is an election year. I am an American citizen, although born in Britain of an Irish father and as French mother. I love France. I love freedom and the institutions for which we Americans fought.

"This man writing in the leine Carroll has declared her paper wants to write me and all

Miss Carroll knows qualifications as a citizen. They own war on editorial writers. my fellow players off as poli- include years on the fighting tical dumbbells. Who does he fronts of North Africa, Italy, France and Germany.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

-Black tea -Learned critic To raise -Jason = ship 21-Pight 22-Seed

dynasty 30 – Like s pixte 32 – Emmet 33-Irish noble 34-Near 36-High hat person 38-Bloodthirsty 0-Compars point 41-Truck 44-Swaps 46-Mocking look

26—Large cats 27—Barrier 29—Old Chinese

5- Amounts owed 6-A number 7-Norse poetry 8-Yes iSp I 9-Liver fuice 10-Invokes deity 11-Pastening pin 13-To cook by Near East

19 -Germany 23-Kind of horse 26-European finch 28 -Part of Ireland 34 -Clarden flower