BACK TO NATURE is the theme of these two graduating seniors who are taking advantage of Senior Barefoot day by wading in a puddle of water located in front of Graham Memorial. They are "Jud" Hawk from Atlanta, Ga., and Jean Anne Ramsdell from Plant City, Fla. Last Friday dignified seniors stepped down a notch or two by throwing off both shoes and really getting next to that 'ole Carolina tradition.

Phi Assembly Gubernatorial Choice Will Be Decided at Meeting Tonight

The Phi assembly will endorse the man that it considers to be the most capable for the position of governor of North Carolina at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Phi hall. This will be the last open meeting of the Phi until the fall quarter.

Advisors to Discuss Orientation Program

Second in the series of training programs for next year's student advisors will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounges 1 and 2, according to Teenie Royall, chairman of advisors.

The executive committee, composed of dormitory chairmen and the officers of the group, will meet at 7:30 to discuss problems brought out in dormitory meetings last week.

The completed orientation program will be discussed, and suggestions from each dormitory group will be given. Committees will also be appointed at this meeting.

Oratorical Contest Scheduled Tonight; Eight Will Compete

The Willie P. Mangum contest in oratory will get underway at 8 o'clock tonight in the halls of the Dialectic Senate with eight seniors competing for the coveted award.

Those participating in the contest will be William A. Lane, Morton Seif, Randall McLeod, Marshall Pinnix, John Zucker, William R. Coulter, Charles Hodson and Peter Long.

Previously, the medal has been awarded according to the participation of the contestants in extra-curricular activities, especially elocution, during their four years. This year, the award has been renewed and offered by the Debate council on the basis of a single contest held before commencement.

Established in 1878 by the Misses Mangum in the memory of their father, Willie Person Mangum, class of 1815, the award has been received by many graduates of Carolina who have since been outstanding in politics and civic life both in North Carolina and nationally.

Wesley Foundation Groups to Hear Rhine

Dr. J. B. Rhine, professor of psychology at Duke university, will speak tonight at the bi-weekly supper meeting of the Married Couples and Graduates group of Wesley foundation.

Dr. Rhine, who has been at Duke since 1928, is internationally known for his work in extra-sensory perception. He has conducted many experiments in this field and written several books on the subject, including: "Extrasensory Perception," "New Frontiers of the Mind," and "The Reach of the Mind."

HENDERSON CLUB

The Henderson-Carolina club will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial.

To Model for Fontaine

Ferne Hughes Is Drene Girl; To Head for New York June 7

By Doris Thomas
A week at the Waldorf with all expenses paid and limousines calling for you to take you from dinner at the Stork club to a big theater party to which you will wear beautiful new clothes made especially for you—these are things that just don't happen often except in movies or books.

That is, they just don't happen to you or me. But one comely Carolina coed, Ferne Hughes of Rainelle, W. Va., is going to get that week at the Waldorf complete with a newly fashioned wardrobe for her stay and will be, along with three other lucky girls like her, royally entertained.

Ferne, a junior, was one of only two girls selected from Southern college by Compton Advertising, Inc., of New York, for the Drene Shampoo company to endorse this product in a new advertising campaign beginning in the fall.

Ferne was picked after being interviewed, along with a dozen other Carolina coeds in Chapel Hill by Anne Carnahan, New York newspaper woman. She will go to New York June 7 where she will work for two days, at a rate of $10 an hour, as a model for Drene in the studio of Allan Fontaine. The rest of the week will be spent at theater parties, luncheon at the Stork club and shopping.

Ferne has just received notice of her selection. "I just can't get over it," she said. "If I were from a big city, it wouldn't seem quite as strange, but I'm just a

Movie Of Card Stunts Is Scheduled Tonight

By Herb Nachman

Films of the annual Blue-White game and the new card stunt system will be shown at 8:30 tonight in Memorial hall, according to Norm Sper, head cheerleader.

The movies of the game are in black and white, taken by Dr. O. K. Cornwell, while the card stunt films, taken by the Monogram club, are in full color.

In addition to the Blue-White game itself, the first two scrimmages of the spring practice will be included in the showing. All eight of the card stunts will be shown, including the spelling out of the blue-white pattern.

Attempts to Settle Planetarium Strike Are Made in Durham

Durham, May 17—Further efforts to settle the current wage dispute within the J. A. Jones Construction company of Charlotte were made yesterday.

A statewide meeting of the North Carolina council of Building and Construction Trades held here at the A. F. of L. Temple has appointed a committee to confer with officials of the company to settle the dispute which has halted construction at several Jones projects in this area.

Difficulties arose last week when hoisting engine operators, cement finishers and iron workers left their jobs Monday after asking the Jones company for a general 25 cents per hour wage. All of the men were members of the A. F. of L.

J. R. Casey, secretary of the Durham council of the trades, said that "the North Carolina council is determined to do all in its power to come to a satisfactory settlement with the Jones Construction company in an effort to prevent statewide difficulties in the building construction field."

Projects of the J. A. Jones company in this area are the new Liggett and Myers cigarette factory, the library addition and new physics building at Duke university, the University of North Carolina Morehead planetarium and the Burlington mills at Neuse. (See STRIKE, page 4)

Orientation Counselors

There will be a meeting of all those who are to be orientation counselors this evening at 10 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

All those selected by the Orientation committee for this job are strongly urged to attend.

Fitz-Simons' Novel ...

Filming Of 'Bright Leaf' Well Underway

By Mark Sumner
Foster Fitz-Simons, director of the Carolina Playmaker production of "Cyrano de Bergerac" and an assistant professor in the dramatic arts department, has received word that the motion picture version of his new novel, "Bright Leaf," will be completed next spring by Warner Brothers studios. The novel is to be published next fall by Rhinehart and Company.

The novel, with its motion picture version, serve to highlight one of the most interesting backgrounds on record for a college instructor. Fitz-Simons has been a playwright, actor, director and dancer.

He graduated from the University during 1934, and joined the Ted Shawn professional dance company, touring the United States and South America. Pre-

HANK BEEBE

Harold 'Hank' Beebe Will Present Recital In Hill Hall Tonight

Harold "Hank" Beebe, graduate student in music from Pittman, N. J., will give a piano recital in Hill hall tonight at 8:30.

After four years in the Navy during the war, Beebe came to the University as an English major, studying piano under Wilton Mason of the music faculty. He received his A.B. degree last August and is now doing graduate work toward an M.A. in music.

A member of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity, and Sigma Chi, Beebe is prominent in music activities. He directs a chorus composed of members of Sigma Chi and this year won the men's division of the Valkyrie Sing, broadcast later on the University Hour. Two of his compositions have been heard extensively on the campus: "Tradition," a humorous reaction to Carolina lore, and "Queen of the Alpha Taus."

Sound and Fury Meet Schedules Election

Sound and Fury, campus musical comedy organization, will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Sound and Fury office on the top floor of Memorial hall.

According to Kennedy Gam-mage, president of the group, officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting and plans for the summer and fall quarters discussed, together with overall policy matters.

Present officers include Gammage, president; Tommy Thomas, vice-president; Jerry Weiss, treasurer; and Faith Adams, corresponding secretary.

ARA MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Air Reserve association tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the old Air ROTC building behind the Naval Armory. All reserve personnel are invited to attend.

Raleigh, May 17—The executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina took no action today on the three Negro applications to the University Medical and Law schools, apparently leaving the matter up to the state legislature.

According to a statement released by the committee, "The matter of admission of Negro students to professional schools of the University of North Carolina was not considered by the executive committee on a point of order that the matter is beyond the authority of the executive committee and/or the Board of Trustees, under the law."

Governor Cherry, in whose office the meeting today was held, had commented a week ago that, "I don't believe the trustees have any authority to pass on the question. In my opinion, it is a legislative matter."

The three Negro applications which were reviewed by the committee were submitted approximately two months ago by James Walker of Statesville and Harold Thomas Epps of Asheville, law students at North Carolina college in Durham, and Dewey M. Clayton, III, of Timberlake.

Walker and Epps applied for admission to the University Law school on the grounds that North Carolina college is not recognized by the American Bar association. Clayton wishes to enter the University Medical school.

The trustees today also named a new head of the University Department of Mathematics. He is Dr. William M. Wyburn, president of Texas Tech. Dr. Wyburn, who is replacing Dr. Archibald Henderson, will begin his duties at Chapel Hill September 1 at a salary of $8,000 per year.

The board directed Attorney General Harry McMullan and J. C. B. Ehringhaus to draw up a compromise agreement for the $500,000 dispute over the fares over-charged in intrastate rail traffic during the war years.

Winning Students To Be Recognized At Awards Night

The annual Awards Night program, at which students with outstanding records in scholarship and extra-curricular activities will be presented citations, prizes and medals for the year ending, will be held in Hill hall tomorrow night at 7:15.

Following music by the University band, President Frank P. Graham will make a short talk, after which Chancellor Robert B. House will take over as chairman for the presentation of the prizes and medals.

Among the outstanding awards to be made are the John J. Parker, Jr., medal for leadership, the Algeron Sydney Sullivan service award, and the Ernest H. Abernethy Publications award, all of which will be presented by Dean of Students E. L. Mackie; the Patterson medal for excellence in athletics, the Foy Robergson, Jr., medal for contribution to team morale in basketball, and other athletic awards, to be presented by Athletic Director R. A. Fetzer; the Kay Kyser scholarships in music and drama, and the Frederick H. Koch scholarship, and Carolina Playmaker mask awards, to be presented by Director Samuel Selden.

UP MEETING

The University party Steering committee will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Graham Memorial.

Reynard Alias 'Radar'

Campus Head Dog Disappears; Thought to Be in Hoosegow

By Jim Dickinson
Was Reynard, alias Radar, campus head dog, actually whisked away to jail at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning?

Evolving from that question was a two-fold mystery Sunday as Radar's supporters sought to find out if the chief of dogs was guilty of the crime with which he was charged, that of nibbling a chunk from the leg of an unsuspecting night watchman.

... Is on Its Way

They wondered at the same time if maybe Radar was "taken for a ride" in a conspiracy which would automatically boost George, number 2 dog, into head position.

It all started weeks and weeks ago when Dan the Dog disappeared again in still another yet unsolved mystery. At that time it was necessary to award Dan's post to a dog of proven leadership, poise, responsibility, and peace-making ability.

Radar, boasting a record of seniority and unquestionable canine quality, barely nosed out George and Big'un, the two nearest contenders. Big'un held the number 1 post during the summer session last year in Dan's absence.

Many of George's supporters thought at the time that their favorite was the victim of a dirty deal. The Sunday morning episode, by a similar token, leads several Radarites to believe that foul play took place in the dead of night.

As it stands, George has taken over the driver's seat pending Radar's return. His fans are boasting that Radar "has been taken care of."

Others report that Radar is in confinement for a week or two in a dog hospital as insurance that the night watchman was not "mad-dog bit."

Only one thing remains as dead fact. Radar was gently deposited in the back seat of a police squad car at 1:30 Sunday morning and removed to an undisclosed destination.
