

WEATHER

Fair, hot and sultry today except for possible thunder-showers in afternoon.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS

Yellow Journalism
Write Away to Write Away
The Hard Look

VOLUME LVI

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, JUNE 29, 1948

Phone F-3371-F-3361

No. 183

CCUN Leader Speaks On Voice Of America

Roberta Stirling, rising University senior, will be featured on a "Voice of America" broadcast on Independence Day, according to an announcement by the national headquarters of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

She will speak in her capacity as the new North Carolina State Director of the CCUN. Miss Stirling made the recording for the July broadcast while she was attending the third annual CCUN national institute in New York during the past week.

During the session Bobbie Stirling also gave a report on the work accomplished in North Carolina in its first year of existence. She said, "We in North Carolina are proud of the magnificent reaction to our work from the college students, civic and governmental leaders and the people of North Carolina for which the United Nations was conceived."

Miss Stirling's new post was officially confirmed by National headquarters at the Thursday election. She had been nominated by a steering committee of the North Carolina state organization at their convention in May under the leadership of the former state director Lincoln S. H. Kan. The North Carolina CCUN grew from one organized chapter to 28 separate units on the campuses of colleges in this state.

The CCUN has for its objectives the promotion of understanding, interest and support among the people of North Carolina and in the United Nations. The organization works primarily with college and civic groups. Its future plans include expansion into the high school and teaching levels. It is now cooperating with the newly established United Nations Information Center sponsored by the United Nations directly. The CCUN was largely responsible in getting the Center here.

There will be a short meeting of the CCUN at Graham Memorial at 3 o'clock Wednesday. A report of the national conference will be given by Kan who attended the last two days of the meeting. All those interested in international affairs are urged to attend.

Students Attend Air Corps Camp

Six Air Reserve Officer Training Corps from Carolina are participating in the annual summer encampment for AROTC at the Orlando Air Force Base. A total of 625 students from twelve different educational institutions in the Southeastern states are attending the camp.

The Carolina trainees are Robert Gray, C. B. Mendenhall, James H. Waynick, Grey Adams, Earl Hartsel and Harry Thomas, Jr.

Carolina Songs Ring Out

Tar Heels Mix With Texans At CCUN Meet

By L. S. H. Kan

"Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices" mixing with Cornell Alma Mamma swirled through the smoke and beer fumes.

It was the German-American club in New York... the gathering of students who left their initials and what was more important their college names.

But it was not all play for the weary CCUN members. Their committees had sat up many nights watching the dawn wind sweep the empty littered streets while they framed resolutions which might truthfully reflect the present day thoughts on foreign affairs of the nation's collegians.

Many of the delegates had instructions, as to what they were to achieve and what they were to say. All over the nation the college men and women wanted to be heard through their national organization. They wanted "in" in the world they were to live in, and had fought for, and which would belong to their children.

No More Yack News Except 'Expected'

The Yackety Yacks, so help us, are expected here for delivery sometime Friday, according to the Lassiter Press in Charlotte, where they are being printed. Of course, this is the third week that they have been expected on Friday, and if you want to believe it, it's entirely up to you.

Students are requested, however, to refrain from calling the Daily Tar Heel office, the Graham Memorial office or Gene Johnstone. More information can be obtained from the Charlotte people than anyone in Chapel Hill knows at the present time. At last reports, some 300 Yacks were completely finished and they, in addition to several hundred others, are expected—as we said—to be here Friday for delivery.

CIO Labor Leader To Speak to AVC

William Smith, North Carolina CIO Director, will speak tonight at 7:30 at the Presbyterian church on "Labor, the Veteran and Politics" under the sponsorship of the American Veterans Committee.

Affiliated with the labor movement for much of his life, Smith joined the CIO in 1938 after being associated with the maritime unions. He has held many important positions all over the country, serving successively as Regional CIO Director for Florida and Georgia, for North Carolina and Virginia, for New England and the West Coast. At present, he is directing activities for the CIO organizing committee in North Carolina.

AVC members are asked to remain for a short business meeting after the speech in order to elect a new secretary. The membership committee will report on its current drive. In addition, plans for a forthcoming beer party will be considered.

Guest speaker at the July 29 evening session will be Hon. H. P. Taylor of Wadesboro, University Trustee.

Dr. Harold Benjamin, Dean of the College of Education, University of Maryland, will speak at the July 29 morning session.

Conclusions to be presented by the various panel groups and a summary by Dr. Arnold Perry of the University School of Education will comprise the final program Friday morning, July 30.

Among the well known North Carolina educators who will participate in the Conference are Dr. A. M. Proctor, Dr. Gertrude Hildreth and Dr. Mabel Rudisill, all of Duke University; Dr. J. D. Messick, Dr. A. H. Hurlbut, and Dr. Leo Jenkins, all of East Carolina Teachers College; J. E. Miller of the State Department of Public Instruction; Dr. Clyde Erwin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Paul Reid, Controller, State Board of Education; Walter E. Hess, Angier, Managing Editor, Bulletin of Second School Principals; J. P. Booth, Lenoir; W. M. Jenkins, Durham; M. E. Yount, Superintendent, Alamance Schools; Mrs. Annie Laurie McDonald, Lenoir Rhyne College, and Dr. Dennis Cooker, Dr. Perry, Dr. J. Minor Gwynn, Dr. Dorothy McCuskey, and Dean Guy B. Phillips, all of the University School of Education, and Charles Milner, associate director, University Extension Division.

Dean Phillips is in charge of local arrangements.

... In Yankee Land

Philosophy Head Publishes Book

The North Carolinians acquitted themselves well. Their new state director Bobbie Stirling had transcribed the thoughts of the young people of North Carolina for a Voice of America broadcast. Norman Bie of Asheville Biltmore had shown the students from other states how wide-awake the smaller colleges were in world thinking. Flora Riggan of Flora Macdonald College and Barbara Yount of Lenoir-Rhyne College upheld southern charm and new thinking.

California, Washington, the Dakotas, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, New York students, and those from other states listened to representatives of the United States, Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt and Foster Harding of the New York Times. They were attentive and discriminating. The delegates weighed the words and if they found the reasoning lacking they would question the speakers for a better explanation.

(See TAR HEELS, page 4)

Fight Against Polio In Victory Village Reported Underway

With its first case of poliomyelitis still less than one week old, Victory Village, with the wholehearted cooperation of its residents, the University, and the local health authorities, has almost completed its campaign of education, sanitation, and spraying in an effort to halt the further spread of the dread disease, according to Mayor Bill Goulding.

The infantile paralysis victim, Mrs. Frank W. Nelson of 206-A Jackson Circle, wife of a rising senior in the Department of Physical Education, is reported to be doing nicely at the Rex Hospital in Raleigh where she was taken last Wednesday following the positive diagnosis by Dr. Fred Patterson of the University Infirmary.

Little Sue Nelson, 13-month-old daughter of the Nelson's who showed some of the same symptoms as her mother and was taken to Duke Hospital in Durham for observation, has been declared a negative case by the officials of that institution.

Sanitary Engineer James A. Westbrook of the District Health Department has expressed great satisfaction with the progress of the preventative campaign conducted in Victory Village.

"Not only have the villagers completed 75 per cent of the spraying and garbage can cleaning, but the idea has spread to other parts of the town," the health authority stated yesterday.

"The University trailer crew has cleaned its garbage cans and coated them with kerosene, and the laundry house and the bath houses there have been sprayed with DDT."

With the case of the feared polio reported in Victory Village, there has also been a heightened interest in learning about the disease among the townspeople, the (See POLIO, page 4)

Picnic for All At Hogan's Lake

A picnic derby will be held at Hogan's Lake next Tuesday afternoon between 5 and 8 o'clock with hay wagons to take all interested students from the "Y" to enjoy food and games with prizes.

Tickets for the hay ride, picnic, and full afternoon of entertainment will be sold Thursday, Friday, and Monday in the "Y" lobby. Admission will be 50 cents for all those who became "Y" members by pledging donations to either the YMCA or the YWCA during registration. All other students besides these in whose honor the affair is being given are also cordially invited but must be charged 75 cents to cover food and transportation.

The outing is being sponsored jointly by the YMCA, the YWCA, and the Hillel Foundation as part of their summertime program. Committee members in charge of the campus-wide social are Emily Ogburn, Faith Adams, and Charlie Gibson, all working with Bob Barrus, summer director of the "Y."

Notice for Women

All women students who plan to be here for the second summer term are now asked to pay at the Cashier's Office in the basement of South Building a $6 room deposit for the second term. The receipt received for the deposit from the Cashier should then be taken to the office of the Dean of Women where the actual room reservation will be made.

Faculty Club Meets

Prof. N. J. Demerath of the University Sociology Department will be the speaker before the bi-weekly luncheon of the Faculty Club on Tuesday, June 29, at the Carolina Inn. His subject will be, "Living Conditions in Chapel Hill."

Republican Meeting

The Young Republican Club will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounge 3 of Graham Memorial. All Republican students are invited to attend the meeting and take part in discussions.

Fourth of July University Band Concert Slated

The University Veterans Association and the Chapel Hill American Legion will sponsor a 4th of July program in the Forest Theater featuring a concert by the University band and a talk by R. L. McMillian, ex-state commander of the American Legion.

The program, starting at 4 o'clock, will be presided over by Hugh Wells, President of the UVA. The Reverend Joyce of the Carboro Methodist Church will offer a prayer and Chancellor House will give a short talk.

In case of rain the program will be held in Memorial Hall.

The UVA will also sponsor an open house on Wednesday night in the clubhouse. In addition to the jackpot, valuable prizes, donated by the merchants of Chapel Hill, will be given away. Because no one answered the jackpot question last week the jackpot has now accumulated to $20.

UVA Investigates Veterans' Claims

The University Veterans' Association met yesterday and voted to investigate the complaint of veterans with dependents who claim that their pay raises have not been retroactive to April 1.

Last February 14 President Truman signed the bill that gave the raise to the vets. Later the Veteran's Administration sent out a letter saying that if vets with dependents wanted to get the raise for their dependents, and have it retroactive to April 1, they must file their claim before July 1. The vets complaint is that although he filed the claim the raise so far has not been retroactive to April 1.

Hugh Wells, President of the UVA, said that he had contacted F. C. Shepard, Veterans Advisor, and that Shepard said if the vets with complaints would see him, he would promise action within 48 hours. Shepard's office is on the third floor of South building.

Wherry Resigns Position Here

Prof. Robert J. Wherry, professor of psychology at Carolina since 1937, has resigned to become a member of the Psychology Department of Ohio State University, it was learned here today. His appointment at Ohio becomes effective October 1.

Professor Wherry is a graduate of Ohio State in the class of 1925 and also received his master's and doctor's degrees there.

From 1944 to 1947 he was chief of the Research Analysis Section in the Adjutant General's Division in Washington, his work being concerned with selection tests for aerial gunners and the development of tests, interview procedures and rating forms for numerous military projects.

Shaw No Atheist

Shaw Biographer Started Career With Snapshot

By Jim Dickinson

The George Bernard Shaw collection of 10,000 items now on display in the main corridor of the library got its start some 40-odd years ago with Shaw sending the mandatory message, "Send me your photograph," to Dr. Archibald Henderson, who was then a graduate student at the University of Chicago.

It all began when young Henderson, an ardent admirer of Shaw and his works, sent across the sea an humble request that Shaw consider him an applicant for the man-sized job of writing the Shaw biography.

"You look like the man who can do the job," was Shaw's prompt reply upon receiving the aspiring student's photo. A humorous connotation of this message was seen by Henderson when later he visited Shaw and saw the author's release to newsmen that only a "desperate" man would attempt to become the Shaw biographer.

Dr. Henderson, mathematics department head and the only authorized Shaw biographer, contributed the Shaw collection to the library recently after 50 years as a University faculty member

Special Legislature Slated for Thursday

A special session of the Student legislature will be held at 7 o'clock Thursday night in the Di Senate Hall in New West, according to George Rodman, Parliamentarian of the body.

"It is imperative that all members and proxies be present, as the appointment of the temporary student council by President of the Student body Jess Dedmond will be considered," said Rodman, who is ranking member of the Student legislature in the absence of the president and the president pro-tem during the summer months.

The parliamentarian stated that other matters of importance would be discussed at the meetings.

Di Senate Again Discusses Truman

Harry Truman's candidacy to be the next president of the United States will again be the topic for discussion when the Dialectic Senate meets tomorrow night at 9 o'clock in the Di hall, third floor, New West.

The bill on Truman was to have been argued pro and con last week until the Di moved to adjourn early to hear the broadcast of the Republican convention. Tonight it will be reconsidered along with the President's recent uncomplimentary remarks about Congress.

Gran Childress, summertime speaker of the Senate, has extended a special invitation to the meeting tomorrow to all those who are interested in joining the Di at this time, either for the summer alone or permanently.

Members of the Philanthropic Assembly will also be welcomed since their own forensic group is inactive until fall.

Newsome Writes For Britannica

Dr. A. R. Newsome, head of the University of North Carolina History Department, has contributed an article on this state to the 1948 Britannica Book of the Year, the annual summary of the preceding year's events which is published by the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

He is one of a number of authorities on business, industry, science, politics and education who have contributed to the 1948 Britannica Book of the Year which contains nearly 1,000 articles covering the developments of 1947.

Shaw No Atheist

Shaw Biographer Started Career With Snapshot

The collection consists in nine cases of Shaw's writings including drama, art, music, novels, cartoons, caricatures and scenes from plays. Also included is Dr. Henderson's first biography of Shaw written in 1911.

Shaw terms the biography of 1911 as a "signal service" rendered him by his lifelong friend and biographer. Prior to that time, Shaw has written, he had been called a Shelleyan atheist, vegetarian, humanitarian, street-corner agitator, and a leading spirit in Fabian society.

"Henderson pulled me together into one character," he wrote. "I became an individual where I had not even been a species. I had become uncollected odds and ends. Henderson collected me and advanced my standing very materially."

Shaw wrote that he has never been able to feel convinced that he was worth all the labor Dr. Henderson devoted him.

"But if he thinks so it is not for me to gainsay him," said Shaw. "I have tried to give him authentic facts without hampering him as a critic."

WSSF Benefit To Present Soup To Nuts For Charity

Everything from entertainment and laughs to dates and faculty slaves will be offered the audience at the World Student Service Fund benefit show this Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Tickets for the charity review will be sold between 9 and 1 o'clock in the "Y" lobby beginning today. The price of admission—55 cents—is for a full two-hour show to include a novelty auction, a one-act comedy by the Playmakers, and skits and musical numbers by Sound and Fury. Proceeds will be given to WSSF by the YMCA, the YWCA, and the Hillel Foundation to further world-wide education.

Bynum Hall Loses Gymnasium Claim

Extensive building programs at the University of North Carolina have taken away the novelty of the phrase, "something new has been added" but local interest was aroused this week when something old was taken away.

No longer will strangers in Chapel Hill wander into Bynum Hall looking for the swimming pool or a place to take a shower. For the Roman capitals, "GYMNASIUM," prominently embossed across the facade of the building, were scrapped off.

Although Bynum was renovated to house the Journalism Department, the Press and the News Bureau in 1939, the label "GYMNASIUM" remained until this week.

And during those nine intervening years occupants of Bynum were obliged to explain apologetically from time to time that the swimming pool was no longer located here and the athletic department was to be found in Woolen Gymnasium "across the highway."

Bynum was built in 1905 by William Preston Bynum in memory of his grandson, William Preston Bynum, Jr., a member of the class of 1893, who died in his junior year. It served as the gymnasium until 1939 when Woolen Gym was built.

Possibly the best buy of the evening will be Walter Spearman, also a member of the journalism school and baby-sitter extraordinary. The tired, tired, and true father of a two and a five-year-old who are currently out of town on his vacation, Spearman assured all who are interested that he will have ample time and experience for tending infants of all ages and degrees of dangerousness.

Giduz Announces French Program

The following program has been announced for the French House by Dr. Hugo Giduz, for the coming week.

Tonight skits will be read by members of the French House. Wednesday, the French Film "The Bargekeepers Daughter" will be presented in the Village Theater. Thursday, two short plays will be presented by French House members. Friday, Mrs. Mary Castles, former teacher of French in Washington high schools will sing French songs and wear the costumes fitting the regions from which the song comes. Saturday, the weekly picnic will be held.

Other faculty members as yet unannounced will fall before the Woodhouse hammer as dog walkers, "Y" court shoe shiners, and homework doers, according to Emily Ogburn, Eloise Jacobi, and Jerry Weiss, student co-chairmen for the entire show.

The second feature on the program will be "Close Quarters," a one-act Playmaker comedy concerned with trailer life at a unique picnic will be held.

... Just an Individual

A majority of the works in the collection bear the author's autograph, and many contain personal messages to Dr. Henderson within the covers. In direct contrast, Shaw has always considered autographs as "forgeries" and has only placed his name upon those items sent to his biographer.

On one set of books Shaw wrote, "The best excuse for these old novels is that Dickens could not have written them."

A "black and white" portrait of Shaw hangs on the library wall overlooking the glass cases bearing the collection. The unusually lifelike masterpiece was painted by William Tittle of London in 1924 and has become a work of international recognition.

Shaw rewrote many of his writings and always gave evidence that he preferred people to see his works in the best edition.

He inscribed this message in one of the books he sent to Dr. Henderson, "Consider this a first edition because in later ones the millionaire is not a borer (a woman boxer is unbearable and on the stage unconvincing) but a Judo (jujitsu) wrestler."