

WEATHER

Fair, Hot and sultry today except for possible thunder showers in afternoon.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS

To the Rescue
Who's Too Hot?
Date or Death?

VOLUME LVI

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1948

Phone F-3371-F-3361

No. 185

Lewis Mumford Slated To Give Lecture Here

City Authority Plans First Seminar Class During Fall Term

Lewis Mumford, internationally known architectural and town planning critic, author and lecturer at Princeton and Harvard Universities, has been appointed visiting lecturer in the Department of City and Regional Planning at Carolina, Prof. John A. Parker announced today.

Professor Parker said Mumford will arrive at the University for his first seminar during the third week in October. In addition to his seminars for graduate students in the Department of City and Regional Planning, he will give three lectures which will be open to the University and the public.

Will Lecture At State

Mumford will also serve as visiting professor in the School of Architecture and Landscape Design at N. C. State College and as visiting lecturer at the Woman's College of the University of Greensboro.

An eminent architect and writer, Mumford has been a faculty member at Stanford University and at the University of Michigan and has contributed articles to the top-notch architectural magazines in this country.

He is the author of "Green Memories," "Sticks and Stones," "The Brown Decades," "The Culture of Cities," and other volumes which have been widely acclaimed.

Special Investigator

Mumford served as a special investigator in housing for the New York State Housing and Regional Planning Commission in 1924, was co-founder of the Regional Planning Association of America in 1923 and helped frame a series of reports on regional planning, beginning with the regional planning issue of The Survey Graphic in May, 1925.

An architectural critic, Mumford picked up the tradition of Montgomery Schuyler, reapprehending the work of Roebbing, Richardson and Olmsted, all of whom had fallen into neglect, and discovered the critical contribution of James Bogardus—all of which led to the publication of "The Brown Decades" in 1931.

Served in Hawaii

After the publication of his "The Culture of Cities" in 1938, he served as planning consultant to the City and County Park (See MUMFORD, page 4)

GM Will Feature Bingo Saturday

"Bingo!"

"Hold your cards until the game checks back."

This will be the trend of conversation in Graham Memorial's main lounge this Saturday night, and every Saturday night during the summer months as the game involving cards, numbers, and corn so popular with the students last summer is reinstated to its position on the campus.

"Joker John" Van Hecke will be the man who calls, "There's a winner every time!" And plenty of attendants will see that the winner gets his cash award each time. Each card played will cost two cents and all the money paid for cards will be given to the winner of each game.

Several times during the evening the ante will be raised to a nickel to make for a bigger pot, and the Grand Finale will be only for those with real sporting blood in their veins. This one will cost ten cents the card, and depending on the number of players, the prize varies between $5 and $10. Added suspense is given the Grand Finale by making the winner cover every number on his card.

Vic Huggins Elected As New President Of Merchants Group

L. Vic Huggins was elected president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association at a dinner meeting of the organization held Monday night at the Carolina Inn.

Huggins, who succeeds Harvey D. Bennett as leader of the association, stated in accepting the position that he appreciated not only the honor but also the tremendous responsibility of heading the group.

He called for close cooperation among the members with a view to "better service to the customers," as well as more rapid progress in the development of the community into a trading center.

Pointing out that since the community now has a population approaching 15,000 including both Chapel Hill and Carrboro the new leader said that the business men are now in position to offer better stores, better selections of quality goods, a greater variety, and lower prices due to the increased volume of business.

President Huggins closed his remarks with a challenge to all members that "we must never lose sight of our obligation to constantly strive to improve our service and to keep alert to the needs of our customers."

Other officers named were James H. Davis, vice-president; L. J. Phipps, attorney; and E. C. Smith, state director; Mrs. Lois R. Cranford as secretary-treasurer.

Board of Directors elected for three year terms were John Clarke, F. E. Strowd and W. L. Brooker.

Other board members, whose terms continue for one and two years more, include Jack Lipman; Raymond Andrews of Andrews-Riggsbee, Carrboro; R. H. Marks of Marks Clothing Company, Carrboro; M. M. Timmons of the Porthole; John W. Umstead, Jr.; and C. E. Teague of the University Administration. H. D. Bennett, as retiring president, will serve on the board for the coming year.

H. W. Wentworth of Wentworth and Sloan Jewelry Company, and Roger Wade of Hospital Savings Association were elected to serve the unexpired terms on the board of directors created by the resignation of Bob Fowler of Fowler's Food Store, and the death of E. B. Patterson of Patterson Tire Company.

New Scholarship By N. C. Society To Be Awarded

A scholarship, valued at $200, to be awarded to a "worthy graduate student specializing in North Carolina history," has been established at Carolina by the North Carolina Society of the Cincinnati, it was announced here yesterday by Chancellor Robert B. House.

The scholarship was donated by the Society "in honor and in memory of General William Richardson Davis, one of the original founders of the University of North Carolina and an original member of the Society."

The committee of the organization responsible for making the award, Chancellor House said, was composed of Joseph B. Cheshire, Jr., and Graham H. Andrews, both of Raleigh, and Francis O. Clarkson, Charlotte. "It is the hope of the committee that this scholarship may be increased in amount and put on a permanent basis," they said.

Nomination of the recipient will come from the History department and election will be by the administrative board of the Graduate school. Graduate students interested in North Carolina history are invited to make application for the award through the Graduate school dean, Dr. W. W. Pierson, Jr.

Chancellor House said that the provision of an annual grant by the society "will be of great value in stimulating advanced study and research in the history of North Carolina."

Workshop Leaders Attend Symposium

Three consultants in the Workshop in Human Resources and Inter-Cultural Education will participate in a symposium at the National Catholic Community Service Servicemans Club in Fayetteville this Friday night at 7:30.

The program, sponsored jointly by the National Jewish Welfare Board and the NCCS, will be broadcast over WWNF, Fayetteville.

Speakers will be Father Gerard Maguire, Dr. Lester Dix, and Myron Schwartz. Father Maguire formerly advisor to Catholic students at Clemson, is now a member of the faculty at the University of Texas. Dr. Dix, chief consultant for the Workshop, was formerly director of Lincoln School at Teacher's College, Columbia University, and is author of "A Charter for Progressive Education," and numerous articles. Schwartz, director of Jewish Community Relations Council, St. Louis, served as a captain in the U. S. Army during the war.

University students are invited to the symposium which will be followed by a dance featuring the music of Steve Lambert and his orchestra.

Student Council Will Meet Monday

A meeting of the newly appointed Student Council has been scheduled for Monday night at 7 o'clock, according to an announcement by President of the Student Body, Jess Dedmond.

The new members, approved by the legislature last night are Don Shropshire, Bill Jernigan, Steve Nimocks, Bill Payoff, Ralph Phillips, Faith Adams, Nina DeBerry. Marty Davis is the only permanent member of the council in school this summer.

Yackety Yacks

The Yackety Yacks which have been expected, for oh so many weeks, arrived last night. Not all of them... just 1,500 copies. These copies will be distributed today in the Horace Williams lounge at Graham Memorial. Those not given out will be available Monday. The remainder which are yet to arrive will be distributed as they come from the press.

New Festival Plans Already Being Made, Grumman States

That the Carolina Folk Festival is definitely to become an annual event was revealed yesterday by R. M. Grumman, chairman of the University Folklore Council. "We have made no definite plans, but we are going to have it," Mr. Grumman said.

He also said Chancellor Robert B. House, and Guy B. Phillips, of the University Education department and head of the Summer School, have given full approval for an annual festival. Paul Green, noted North Carolina playwright and author, sent a letter immediately following the close of the festival this year urging that the festival be made an annual affair, Grumman added.

Fan mail, resulting from a nation-wide broadcast of one-half hour of the festivities, have brought many inquiries about the Carolina Folk Festival and the calls used by Lillie Lee Baker of Texas from such distances as Los Angeles, Calif. and Buffalo, Wyoming, according to Grumman. Bascom Lama Lunsford, director of the festival this year, met Chairman Grumman yesterday at the Grandfather Mountain Sing- (See FESTIVAL, page 4)

Commerce Award Won By Gray For Highest Scholastic Work

Howard D. Gray, Jr. of Winston-Salem, a senior in the School of Commerce, has been awarded the Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key for maintaining the highest averages in grades among the commerce fraternity's membership. The presentation was made at the annual banquet of the fraternity.

Gray, whose winning average was 96.4 percent, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship fraternity, and is president of the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity. The scholarship key is presented each year by Delta Sigma Pi, which fosters the study of business in universities and colleges and promotes closer affiliation between the business world and students of commerce.

Hubert Aenschbacher, Atlanta, Ga., newly elected head master of the fraternity, presided at the banquet and paid tribute to the work of the Alpha Lambda chapter during the year a recognized several members who won honors for achievements.

Among them were William J. Bowman, Greensboro; David J. Robinson, Winston-Salem; John E. Faulkner, Greensboro, who were elected to membership in Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary scholastic commerce fraternity. Sixteen new initiates to Delta Sigma Pi were entertained at an informal party following the banquet.

Extra! Extra! . . .

Young Editor-Publisher Threatens Stiff Competition

By Lincoln S. H. Kan

North Carolina newspapers had better look sharp these days, because they are getting serious competition from a new publication . . . the Mallette News.

The Mallette News is published by Master Danny Kyker of 120 Mallette street, Chapel Hill. He is his own editor, managing -uau ssauisng 'uoupa kio 'uoupa ager and star photographer.

Danny is a young lad who states his age of 9 years 6 months and 28 days with emphasis. Although serious of mein, he has an engaging smile when a particularly "hot scoop" comes his way.

o his assistants, he is sometimes stern as is evidenced by an item in his latest issue of the Mallette News, "I regret that my human interest reporter has been doing only as much work as an ant in a glue factory. I had to fire her."

It is a two column, 4-page issue

Food Poisoning Epidemic Hits Dorms Leaving Toll Of 80 Stricken Patients

Y's Picnic Derby To Feature Races, Various Contests

Many big fetes are scheduled for the first campus-wide picnic derby to be held at Hogan's Lake next Tuesday afternoon between 5 and 8 o'clock.

Plans for the affair call for a full afternoon of entertainment with games, contests, swimming, softball, and food. Among the most novel events will be a pie eating contest with pastries contributed by the Chapel Hill bakery. The winner of the tasty endurance test is to be given "a fine, non-edible prize."

Another unique stunt will be a beauty contest for feet. Miss Gay Currie, new YWCA director, and Ed Joyner and Bill Carmichael, DTH staffers, will judge the competition to pick the largest, the smallest, and the dirtiest feet present. The coed with the sexiest pedal digits will be selected at this time, too, to be named "Miss Best Foot Forward of 1948."

(See PICNIC, page 4)

An epidemic of food poisoning swept Spencer Hall and other women's dormitories last Monday afternoon with the latest count being 80 stricken patients, half of whom were admitted to the infirmary.

The epidemic, which began about 4 o'clock, had by midnight turned Spencer into a make-shift hospital. Doctors, nurses and internes crowded each other in an effort to get the sick- est ones into stretchers and ambulances and leave room for the others to, as one girl said, "just lie down and die."

Garvin Publishes Precautions for Polio Prevention

Precautionary measures against the possible prevention of the spread of polio have been printed and issued in a bulletin by Dr. O. David Garvin, District Health Officer here, as a result of Orange county's only case of polio in the current outbreak.

Dr. Garvin, in cooperation with University officials, has had the entire Victory Village, occupied by married students and their families, sprayed with DDT and bulletins issued on precautions to be taken.

These actions were the result of the only case to develop here. Dr. Garvin, who took a refresher course in the diagnosis and treatment of polio last spring at the Knickerbocker Hospital in New York, drew up the following list of precautions:

- 1.) Avoid unnecessary contacts with groups and crowds, especially indoors.
- 2.) There is no advantage in going away, chance of exposure is greater if you travel.
- 3.) Continue your normal activities.
- 4.) Treat every fever not readily explained as poliomyelitis and go to bed.
- 5.) Don't take medicine for protection. Do not use gargles or nose drops.
- 6.) Avoid fatigue.
- 7.) Avoid use of contaminated water.
- 8.) Avoid insult to mouth, nose and throat.
- 9.) Kill flies.
- 10.) Don't get panicky.

Dr. Garvin pointed out that Dr. Charles Armstrong of the U. S. Public Health Service has demonstrated that "approximately 71 percent of the adult population have had poliomyelitis experience without having known about it. This means that 71 percent of adults have developed some immunity to the disease."

No July 4 Program

There will be no 4th of July program in the Forest theater this Sunday, it was announced today. The program, scheduled to be given under the auspices of the University Veteran's Association and the Chapel Hill American Legion, was cancelled because the University band could not participate.

Dr. W. G. Morgan of the University Infirmary was on duty in Spencer during the worst part of the illnesses and girls from surrounding dormitories acted as nurses all Monday night.

Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth, also of the University Infirmary, said yesterday that the food served at lunch in the Spencer hall dining room had been analyzed and that the verdict was "staphylococci food poisoning" caused by ham salad.

All 80 cases were reported as having eaten lunch in Spencer, this including women from the surrounding dormitories, Kenan, Alderman and McIver.

None of the cases were considered serious, according to Dr. Hedgpeth, and the majority of infirmaries cases have now been dismissed.

Dr. Morgan Will Lead Discussion

"The Christian Concern in Public Health" is the main topic in a discussion to be led by Dr. Lucy Morgan, head of the Department of Public Health Education at the Presbyterian church, Sunday night beginning at 7:15. A supper at 6 p.m. will begin the services, followed by a period of singing folk songs, spirituals, and hymns until time for the discussion and study period to start.

All students are invited to attend both the supper and the discussion.

No DTH Tuesday

The Daily Tar Heel will be published on Wednesday of next week, instead of Tuesday, Editor Ed Joyner announced last night. The Colonial Press, publishers of the paper, are observing Monday as a holiday, Joyner said, necessitating the change. The regular Friday edition will appear as usual on July 3.

CPU Meeting

The CPU will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Grail room at Graham Memorial to discuss the significance of the North Carolina primary. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Read All About It!

HAROLD D. GRAY

banquet. They were David B. Clayton, Asheville; Carroll M. Craver, Ellis F. Hall, Jr., and Bobby Joe Herring, all of Winston-Salem; Bonner E. Hudson, Jr., Waxhaw; Herbert J. Knight, Rocky Mount; Jesse C. Morris, Raleigh.

William A. Robinson, Weaver-ville; John C. Rosser, Broadway; Guy M. Sparger, Mount Airy; Jack D. Stratton, Robinsonville; Fred W. Talton, Clayton; Mason P. Thomas, Jr., Siler City; John F. Tsantes, Wilmington; Hugh W. Watts, Taylorsville, and William R. Wolf, Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Chapel Hill's Youngest Editor . . . Danny Kyker publisher-editor at deadline time.

cramped full of news, human interest stories, ads and helpful household hints. Danny has adopted the policy that editorials are of no necessity, because of the informality of his paper.

In a discussion about news policy the 9 year, 6 month, 28 days old editor said, "Unless I get something interesting to outside people off my street, I just are of no necessity, because of the informality of his paper."

"It is hard to put out much with my small staff. Jimps Davis

(See EDITOR, page 4)