Taft Talks On Truman, 80th Congress Carolina, State Battle In Homecoming Contest Today

'Pack, Strong On Defense, Tops Nation

By Dick Jenrette
The nation's number one team—Carolina—and the nation's number one defensive team—N. C. State—renew their long and colorful rivalry in Kenan stadium this afternoon in a Big Four and Southern conference battle before an expected homecoming crowd of 44,000. The kick-off will be at 2 o'clock.

The Tar Heels, undefeated in three starts this year and winners of their last ten starts over a two-year span, are regarded in most quarters as a 20-point favorite over the visitors from Raleigh. State can boast no more than a record of one win, one loss, and a tie. Duke and State tied, 0-0, in the Wolfpack's opening game, Clemson defeated them, 6-0, the following week, but last Saturday, State found itself in taking Davidson's measure by the convincing score of 40-0.

Despite the mediocre record, Coach Beattie Feather's Wolfpack tops the nation from a defensive standpoint, according to statistics released this week. Carolina's ranking as the leading grid eleven in the land provides a perfect billing for the afternoon.

Revenge Motive
The Wolfpack has a strong revenge motive to fire it for today's encounter. Last year the Tar Heels romped to a 41-6 victory, surprising even their most ardent fans by the ease with which the win was scored.

Carolina will be minus two of its key performers. Don Hartig, regular blocking back, has been out with a leg injury since the Georgia contest. He may not see further action this year. The second casualty is more recent. Fred Sherman, the youthful wingback who has been particularly impressive recently, has a bad knee which will prevent his playing today.

Sherman sustained his injury in last week's 28-6 conquest of Wake Forest. It will keep him on the sidelines for a couple of weeks at the least.

Only One Injury
In the State camp, Tackle Ted Dostanko is the only player that may miss the game because of injury. He has missed all of the drills this week but may get into the action. Ace Tailback Gwynn Fletcher also has been slowed up somewhat by injuries but will be ready to go against Carolina.

Although the State offense did click for 40 points against Davidson last week, most Wolfpack supporters are basing their victory hopes on a strong defensive game. Coach Feathers, in his drills recently, has emphasized this phase of the team's play.

Local Hi-Y Group Meet Tomorrow

The University Hi-Y association of Chapel Hill will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in the upstairs lobby of the campus YMCA building, to organize their plans for the coming year.

It is hoped that four clubs will be formed, but since the advisors who were active last year are not available, planning will depend upon finding replacements.

Men interested in being advisors should see Buddy Crone, graduate student of education, or Bob Barrus, member of the University YM staff, who are in charge of planning this program.

Barrus and Crone met last Thursday with 54 boys interested in developing campus Hi-Y activities.

Pi Phi Entry Is Selected Beauty Queen

By Herb Nachman
Memorial hall rocked to the tune of "Dixie" and "Beat State" last night as 1,800 Carolina students touched off the Homecoming weekend festivities.

The barely-filled auditorium was the scene of a pre-game rally that held more surprises in store than even Head Cheerleader Norm Sper expected.

Charleen Greer of Tulsa, Oklahoma was chosen as Homecoming Queen from sixteen contestants by judges Katherine Carmichael, E. L. Mackie and Jess Dedmond. Charleen represented Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Several times during a lull in the rally, the students rose to their feet and began singing "Dixie." The first time, they were accompanied by the band, but after that, the highly spirited group persisted in rising at every opportunity and hoarsely singing what one student described as "Our National Anthem."

Once during the program, two students stood on the Memorial hall platform bearing a banner which read "We want the Scuttiebutt." The demonstration was accompanied by loud cheers.

Three State college cheerleaders, Warren Smith and Johnny and Worth Barber, were on hand to join in leading the cheers.

Four girls were chosen to serve in the Homecoming Queen's court when she is crowned before the game today at 1:30 in Kenan stadium.

Members of the court are Patty Ann Frizzell, McIver, from Bristol, Tenn.; Helen Bouldin, Chi Omega, Clarksdale, Miss.; Sarah Jane Farlow, ADPi, Augusta, Ga.; and Betty Loke, Spencer, Raleigh.

Charleen will present the Homecoming cup to the fraternity, sorority or dormitory which wins the lawn display contest. Judges for the contest are Dr. W. A. Olsen, Mrs. L. V. Huggins and Noel Houston. The cup is given by the University club and will be presented at half-time.

State UN Week To Be Observed

State headquarters of the CCUN announced yesterday that the week of Oct. 17-24 is being observed as United Nations week throughout the state.

Programs for use in churches have been sent to all college chapters of CCUN for distribution in their sections, Roberta Sterling, state head of CCUN said.

'Best To You' Beats Date Taboo

By Jim Dickinson
"Old songs bring back beautiful memories—like this one from a boy at Carolina to a girl on third floor at Meredith." Then softly forth from your radio flows the voice of Frank Sinatra and the familiar strains of an old melody, "I'll Never Smile Again."

It's somewhere between 11:05 o'clock and midnight, and you—along with several thousand other students on campus—have dialed your radio to WPTF in Raleigh for a few restful and soothing moments with Jimmy Capps and his program of popular and concert recordings, "Our Best To You."

Capps' program is aired nightly Monday through Friday and fea-

"GRANNY" ENGLISH has been following the conquests of the Carolina football squad for 23 years—not in Kenan stadium where she'd like to be, but close to her radio and in the sports pages of the Daily Tar Heel. Today, 75-year-old "Granny" will see her first football game, with flowers and all the trimmings.

Granny To See Game After 75-Year Wait

By Lincoln Kan
For 23 years, 75-year-old Mrs. "Granny" English of Carrboro has been an avid fan of the Tar Heel football team.

She has followed every game the team has played, through the sports pages and the radio. Last week she complained vehemently after the Wake Forest debacle, "I wish visitors wouldn't come during the football broadcasts. I missed the entire first half. Weren't the boys wonderful?"

Although "Granny" is an ardent fan, she has never actually seen a football game. So today when the team plays State at the Homecoming day contest, Mrs. English will see her first game as the guest of the Daily Tar Heel.

Norm Sper, head cheerleader, has special plans for "Granny" and one of the plans is that she will receive a corsage with all the trimmings.

"Granny" has more than the average lady-listener's knowledge of the art of football. In fact, she recently asked if the clipping penalty wasn't a little too severe since "in the old days, the boys use to do a lot of straight-arming, and I'm sure they would call that illegal if they could. Clipping hmmm! The boys were just getting a little rough—that's all."

Quonset Base Repair Shop Razed by Million-Dollar Fire

QUONSET POINT, R. I., Oct. 15.—(UP)—The huge engine repair shop at Quonset naval air station was destroyed by fire to-night with a loss of "more than $1,000,000."

The fire started in the cleaning and repair section and spread rapidly as it fed on cleaning materials and grease.

It was sweeping out of control before base firemen arrived from their station, only about 200 yards away.

Lt. Comdr. R. W. Glasgow said that engines in all stages of repair were destroyed and that total damage would be "well over $1,000,000" when their value was added to that of the building and equipment.

Five persons were injured slightly when the west wall of the building, which covers an area about the size of a football field, collapsed.

The most severely injured was a civilian fire fighter who suffered a broken right ankle. Four sailors also were injured and treated at the station hospital.

Glasgow said that the flames were stopped by a firewall before they could damage the other parts of the overhaul and repair building, the largest structure at the air base.

Quonset's 67-man fire department was on the scene almost immediately and help was called from North Kingstown, East Greenwich, Warwick, West Warwick and Hillsdale. There were several minor explosions as the flames gained in intensity and sent up huge columns of black smoke that darkened Narragansett Bay.

Glasgow said the engine shop was in complete operation when the fire broke out. He said the exact number of engines in the building at the time was not known, but that the value of those lost would reach a "considerable figure."

Disc Party Gives Lovers More Time

the dedications his soft, velvety voice has a quality which creates for the listener an atmosphere drenched with sentimentality.

The program goes on the air at just the appropriate time for the folks with a flair for romance. "Dating" hours have slipped by and through compulsion boys and girls have torn themselves away. Gaily she trips her delightful way up the Spencer staircase while he dances away, song in heart, toward the lower quad. In a matter of seconds both have flicked their radio dials and are "sending their best to each other."

This program through dedications undoubtedly accomplishes many deeds which otherwise (See "BEST TO YOU" page 3)

Halftime Program

The University band will appear at half-time today in a coordinated maneuver with the North Carolina State college band. Earl Slocum, director, said yesterday.

First formation will be a huge staff and pennants, with each band forming the letter of its school—"C" for Carolina and "S" for State. Final formation will be an American flag, with the red, white and blue of the two groups' uniforms providing color, and music provided by the playing of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Ten Librarians Depart Tuesday For Conference

Six members of the University library staff and four members of the library school will leave for Louisville, Ky., on Tuesday to attend sessions of the Southeastern Library association, to be conducted through Oct. 23.

J. I. Copeland of the documents department is chairman of the association's reference section, and Miss Frances L. Yocom of the catalog department will take part in a round-table discussion on cataloging.

Others of the staff who will attend include C. E. Rush, head librarian; W. P. Kellam, assistant librarian; Miss Georgia Faison, reference department; and George Bentley, circulation department.

Representing the Library school will be Dr. L. R. Wilson, who will speak on the findings of the Southeastern States Cooperative Library survey; Miss Mary E. Anders, who will present a paper at the meeting of the reference section; Dean Susan Grey Akers, who will give a report on the meeting of the Division of Cataloging and Classification in connection with the A. L. A. Atlantic City conference; and Miss Elaine von Oesen.

Hull Calls Dewey Claim Dangerous

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — (UP) — Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull said tonight that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was "incorrect" when he claimed authorship of the bi-partisan foreign policy and that such statements were endangering U. S. foreign affairs.

He said the "melancholy importance" of the Dewey statement is that it is "Only the latest of many" in which credit was claimed for "patriotic effort by members of both political parties."

"If these competitive claims continue," he cautioned, "they will inject partisanship into the conduct of our foreign affairs quite as effectively as though the debate were directed toward the substance of our policies."

The venerable Tennessean recalled that Dewey told a Louisville audience during the 1944 campaign that the American people would be so fully informed on efforts to keep the peace that such efforts never would be subjected to partisan politics.

"I heartily agreed with that statement then and recommend it now to all who speak for either party during the remainder of this campaign," he said.

Dixiecrats Name Earl Fitzgerald To Top Position

Earl Fitzgerald, president of the Young States Rights Democrats, was installed at the meeting held Thursday night in the Grail room of Graham Memorial.

Other officers installed were Robert Goodwin, vice-president; Charlie Hodson, secretary; Ben Erdman, treasurer and Bob Smith and Douglas Carter co-chairmen of publicity.

Fitzgerald said, "We must talk, and talk sensibly to the people on the campus who we know are interested. Our influence will be more than we realize. We do not want a 'hip-hip-hooray' program but we are trying to get the Democratic party to be Democrats themselves. We must let the Democratic party know that when the platform is being made we are still here."

Material recently received from national headquarters was distributed and will be made into displays and placed on the bulletin board of each dormitory.

The meeting was adjourned by the vice-president, Bob Goodwin.

Charges Democrats Are Disrupt, Split

By Sam McKeel
Senator Robert A. Taft, speaking before a Memorial hall audience of 1600, yesterday charged that President Truman is trying to run for president against the 80th Congress.

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

"He cannot do this," Taft said, "he must run against Mr Dewey."

Colclough Talks To Delta Sigmas

Delta Sigma Pi launched its professional program for the year on Thursday night with an address by George D. Colclough, executive secretary of the Burlington chamber of commerce.

Colclough's subject was "The Chamber of Commerce Executive and his Job." He pointed out the qualities and personality characteristics required of the executive and the duties and functions of the executive secretary and his committeemen.

This was the first of a series of such programs to be given during the year. Others will include discussions on accounting, labor, politics, and marketing.

Interdorm Council To Meet Monday

The Men's Inter-Dormitory Council will meet on Monday evening at 6:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, it was announced yesterday. Advisors and last year's dormitory presidents are urged to be present.

Late News Bulletins

Tomato Target
ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey made a farmer-to-farmer bid for Republican votes in agricultural Minnesota tonight by promising that his administration would give farmers "less politics and more practical help."

Dewey spoke from the St. Paul auditorium after a day-long tour through southern Minnesota marred by a second tomato-throwing incident and by a chorus of boos when Sen. Joseph H. Ball, (R) Minn., was introduced.

The tomato-throwing occurred as the campaign special pulled out of Albert Lea in southern Minnesota. The tomato struck Ball on the shoulder and part of it splattered on Mrs. Dewey's dress.

Trade Increase

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — (UP)—The Commerce department today reported a big rise in American trade with Russia and her eastern European satellites during August.

The department said this country exported $14,000,000 worth of goods to the iron curtain states in August, almost tripling the July volume of $5,300,000.

Support Withdrawn

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C., Oct. 15.—(UP)—North Carolina State's Rights Democrats, who have no candidates for state and congressional offices, have withdrawn their endorsement of regular democratic candidates for the posts, Chairman Philip S. Finn, Jr., announced today.
