

Playmaker 'Mama' To Open Tonight

John Van Druten's comedy, "I Remember Mama," will open tonight at 8:30 in the Playmaker theater. It is the first play to be presented during the 1948-49 season by the Carolina Playmakers and will be continued tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday evenings.

The play, designed and directed by Lynn Gault, tells the story of a period in the lives of the Norwegian-American Hansen family in 1900 San Francisco. It is a comedy, presenting both the comic and serious incidents in the family life, and Van Druten, author of the highly popular "Voice of the Turtle," has spiced the play with numerous laughs.

Business manager John W. Parker said last night that both reserved seat tickets and season tickets would be on sale at the box office during all of the four nights of production. He explained that the best seats still available are for tonight and tomorrow evenings, but that there are tickets for each of the four production nights. Parker said the best selection for Friday and Saturday night seats is at the downtown box office in Ledbetter-Pickard's.

"I would like to remind students who plan to see all the plays this year, that the season ticket sale is limited to 1000 books," Parker said, "and we have nearly reached the limit. There is a 20 percent saving on the season ticket arrangement which was set up primarily for students, but we have had so many out-of-town requests that there may not be enough."

"We are going to place the season books on sale at the theater box office on production nights," he said, "and this will probably be the last chance to obtain them."

James Geiger, AROTC cadet captain, will play his 39th role with the Playmakers tonight, when he appears as the hard-talking "Uncle Chris," who rules the family with an iron hand. "Papa Hansen" will be acted by staff member Harry Davis, and Louise Lamont will play "Mama," Miss Lamont, who played in the Forest theater production of "Hamlet" several years ago, has returned to school after having spent the intervening time in professional theater work.

Edna Dooley, who played in "As You Like It" this summer, portrays the leading character, 17-year-old "Katrin."

The rest of the Hansen family includes: Julie Johns as "Dagmar," Ellen Smith as "Christine," and Charles Williamson as "Nels."

Other major roles are to be played by Estelle Ritchie, Margaret Healy, Josephine Sharkey, Frank Groseclose, William Buckley, Nat White, Paul Valentine, and Louisa Mustin.

Others in the cast include: Martha Pierpont, Carolyn Green, Marty Jacobs, Patricia Peteler, lantha Smart, John Kirkman, James Byrd, Catherine McDonald, and Georgiana Spelvin.

World Government Meeting Scheduled

A meeting on World Government is scheduled to be held at the Civic center, 220 Church street in Greensboro on Oct. 23 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Purpose of the meeting is to plan a state constituent World Government Assembly, to propose a world government constitution to be considered by the National Assembly and the World Constituent Assembly in Geneva in 1950, and to consider steps to implement a state-wide educational program on world government.

Dewey Plans Two-Day Trip To New York

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey kept his final campaign plans under wraps tonight as he worked on accumulated state business preparatory to leaving tomorrow for a two-day stay in New York city.

The Republican presidential nominee spent most of the day at the executive mansion resting from his second campaign trip, answering mail and conferring by telephone with state political leaders.

He talked tonight by telephone with Herbert Brownell, Jr., his campaign manager, who is in New York.

Dewey will leave the capital tomorrow for New York where he has two speeches on schedule. One, the nature of which was not disclosed, will be delivered at the Herald-Tribune forum tomorrow night.

In 1944, he took a similar occasion to talk on foreign affairs. The other speech will be of a non-political nature at a testimonial dinner for the late Alfred E. Smith Thursday night.

Beyond then there was no information available as to the GOP candidate's plans.

Although there was no official comment, Dewey forces were reported to be pleased with the New York state registration figures for the Nov. 2 election.

Official totals released tonight by the secretary of state showed that 7,043,573 persons are eligible to vote—nearly as many as the 1944 election.

Actors, Singers Needed by S&F For New Shows

Actors, singers, dancers, pianists, musicians, comedians, and script writers are needed to take part in Sound and Fury campus touring shows. Auditions will be held from 3 o'clock to 5 in Gerrard hall tomorrow afternoon.

All talented students interested in participating in the variety shows that will be made available to campus groups are urged to audition. The committee will then be able to arrange shows for any organization requesting entertainment. Not only will the entertainment be provided for any group, but it will be provided free of charge.

Any campus organization wishing to secure shows contact the Sound and Fury office in Graham Memorial, however, no guarantees can be made until auditions have been completed.

Lucas Says GOP to Lose Senate Seats

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Sen. Scott W. Lucas, (D.-Ill.) and the AFL political league today both predicted the Democrats will win control of the Senate in the Nov. 2 election.

Lucas, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, claimed his party would wrest seven and perhaps 10 seats from the frankly worried Republicans. He listed Minnesota, Kentucky, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Wyoming, Illinois and Iowa as sure to switch to the Democrats and said the Democrats have a "better than even" chance to capture GOP seats in Idaho, Delaware and Michigan.

George M. Harrison, head of the AFL's political department, said in a final pre-election appraisal that the Democrats are certain of winning at least four GOP-held seats. He listed them as Minnesota, Oklahoma, West Virginia and Wyoming.

In a confidential report to the league's final pre-election meeting, Harrison said the Democrats have a good chance of picking up an additional GOP seat in Iowa.

The league has opened a drive to elect the Democratic candidates in those five states and in 11 others—Colorado, Montana, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Idaho, Delaware, New Mexico, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey.

Meanwhile a House subcommittee stepped into the torrid New Mexico Senate race. The group, headed by Rep. Forest A. Harness, (R.—Ind.) ordered an investigation of charges that federal employes are campaigning illegally for former agricultural secretary Clinton P. Anderson, Democratic senatorial candidate.

Anderson is opposed by Republican Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war in the Hoover administration. A committee counsel said there were many complaints that federal employes were going to New Mexico from Washington and Western states to give Anderson a helping hand.

Jack-Pot Prize Is $45 At UVA

A new heating system has been installed in the University Veterans association clubhouse in preparation for tonight's quiz show, president Hugh Wells announced yesterday.

The jack-pot prize for tonight will be $45. Any person who attends will be eligible to receive the jack-pot if he is selected as a contestant. If a contestant fails to answer correctly, he will still receive a consolation prize.

A large crowd is expected for tonight's show, so all veterans who attend are asked to come early in order to obtain good tables.

SP Politicos Schedule Frosh Rally Tonight

A freshman rally for the purpose of selecting candidates to run for class officers will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial, Ed Tenney, Student party chairman, announced yesterday.

"The purpose of the meeting," Tenney said, "is to give freshmen a chance to meet to discuss their problems and select their leaders for the approaching elections. We are especially interested in having new students who are interested in participating in student government to come and take part in the meeting."

The selection of candidates will be left entirely up to the freshmen attending the meeting," Tenney continued, "because the Student party feels that the class can be best served by picking their own candidates to run on the SP ticket."

The candidates nominated tonight will be formally nominated by their fellow classmates at a student government sponsored rally to be held in the near future. The SP candidates will then campaign in a race with UP and CP nominees for the various offices.

"It is important," Tenney added, "that every interested freshman attend the meeting tonight, for only through the interest of all freshmen can the new class be assured of a fair election of (See RALLY, page 4)

Dean William Wells of Arts, Sciences Tells Freshmen to Get 'Book-Learning'

By Charles Pritchard

"An educated man is never bored; boredom is a sign of ignorance," William Wells, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, told the freshman class yesterday in Memorial hall.

The speaker said the main job of being a part of the University is "book-learning."

"How do you get a college education?" he asked. "You have to go beyond what you, yourself, want to study. You need more in the form of a background." He explained that the fundamental reason for required work is that the student does not want the required subjects.

He pointed out the advantages of taking courses in each of the divisions of college, saying that an education is not obtained by simply following the requirements.

"You get an education through an attitude of mind. Education depends upon two things: willingness to learn and ability to learn."

Wells urged the students to exhibit "horse sense," a steadiness of purpose, the ability to say "no," and the willingness to stand up to the fear of learning something new.

An education, according to the speaker, will not provide a student with a well-paying job, a happy marriage, nor a substitute for wisdom, but it will give a sweet contentment and a critical point of view to be able to judge wisely.

Bill Miller, orientation chairman, announced at the assembly that plans for another freshman dance at Woman's college are being negotiated for the weekend of the Tennessee game.

President Makes Talks at Fair, Capitol Grounds

FAIR GROUNDS, RALEIGH, Oct. 19.—(UP)—President Truman told Southern Democrats today that a vote for the States' Rights ticket can do nothing but help the Republicans.

He appealed to them to drop their rebellion and to stand "shoulder to shoulder" against the risk of another Republican depression such as the country experienced under former President Herbert Hoover in the early 1930's.

Swinging his campaign into North Carolina on the fringe of the States' Rights revolt against his racial rights program, the president made two speeches in a determined bid to save the traditionally Democratic state which went Republican 20 years ago.

He never mentioned the States' Rights rebellion or the Negro rights issue which provoked it. But there were unmistakable messages for rebellious Southerners in both speeches.

At dedicatory ceremonies on the capitol steps for a monument to North Carolina-born former Presidents Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk and Andrew Johnson, the president said the way to settle differences in democracy was through reason and debate and "never by walking out in a huff."

"To attempt to correct injustice by disunion is to apply a remedy that is worse than the disease," he said.

The second speech was made at the opening of the North Carolina state fair. It was broadcast throughout Dixieland on a 46-station southern leg of the National Broadcasting co. chain.

It was there the president said: "Other parties simply don't stand a chance. . . you stand with the Democratic party or for all practical purposes you stand with the Republican party."

The Republicans hope, he added, they can "fool enough of the people this time to capture the election by wasted Democratic votes."

Dekes, Kenan Top Drive List Of Memberships

Delta Kappa Epsilon led fraternities and Kenan was at the top of the dormitory list with 100 per cent campus membership in the Symphony society drive which was completed this week.

Under the direction of Dean Katherine Carmichael and Harold Weaver the drive topped all past records.

Memberships, which entitle anyone to hear concerts in Chapel Hill during the spring and all Symphony society-sponsored programs in the state during the season, will be available throughout the year at the Symphony offices.

Benjamin Swalin, director of the symphony, is at present in Mexico where he is rehearsing with the Guadalajara Mexico symphony orchestra which he will conduct in that city later this month.

Conductor Swalin has programmed standard classics for his two concerts in Mexico, but works by George Antheil and other novelties will be included.

Attend Unveiling

President Frank P. Graham and C. E. Teague, business manager of the University, attended the unveiling ceremonies in Raleigh yesterday commemorating the three Tar Heel presidents of the United States.

They also attended the opening of the state fair. Dr. Graham returned late last night after a trip to Greenville.
