Carolina Whips Fighting Vols, 14-7

Cheering Tar Heels Parade Through Tennessee Campus

By Chuck Hauser
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30.—A small group of lusty voiced Tar Heels let the Tennessee Volunteers know they were in town today as they made a mile-long march from the Andrew Johnson hotel in the center of town to the heart of the University of Tennessee campus.

The cheering, singing Carolinians began the afternoon with a pep rally in front of the hotel at 12:30. Cheerleaders Norm Sper, Lucille Arnot, and Wray Farlow led the crowd into the center of one of the main streets for a 15 minute session of warming-up cheers before the parade through town the campus.

Traffic came to a standstill as the Tar Heels ignored red lights and slow-moving automobiles. The parade wound through some eight city blocks before it converged on the twisting drive up a hill into the main campus.

Knoxville is the largest town in which an away-from-home game has been played this year. It seems to have been built on more hills than Chapel Hill's famed seven.

The campus reflects the same geographical conditions. In place of Carolina's tradition-filled sand and brick walks are many stone steps going up and down and curving, hill-and-dale drives which career back and forth to miss familiar-looking, hap-hazardly placed University buildings.

At the top of one of the highest campus hills is the large administration building, which shares much of its space with classrooms and faculty offices.

Nearby are the student center, bookstore and the campus post-office, a sight which brought favorable comments from Chapel Hill visitors.

Attractive Tennessee coeds were stationed along all thoroughfares on the campus today soliciting contributions for a new student union building to replace the rambling temporary structure which serves that purpose now.

One can see the stadium and even the football games by standing on the edge of the administration-building hill. Looking in the other direction one sees an undulating array of buildings, walkways and drives.

Tar Heel feet were tired and Tar Heel voices were hoarse late this afternoon as the happy visitors trudged back toward town to relax and discuss the football game which ended happily for everyone except the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee.

Dance Group To Meet In GM

The first program and business meeting of the newly formed University dance group will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial.

UNC Radio Show Featured On Air This Afternoon

The consolidated University of North Carolina will take to the air lanes this week with the first of a series of weekly radio programs to be broadcast over nearly 40 stations throughout the state.

The first program, which can be heard this afternoon at 4 o'clock over WDUK of Durham and 5 o'clock over WPTF of Raleigh, will be entitled "Freedom Story" and will have the theme of the right-to-vote.

The 30-minute programs, entitled the "University Hour," will be statewide public service variety shows using musical talent from Woman's college in Greensboro, State college in Raleigh and the University here. Expected to be both entertaining and informative, the programs will feature dramatizations, news roundtables, and documentaries about vital activities concerning all three institutions.

Each of the 26 programs to be broadcast between Oct. 31 and April 24 will be recorded at the radio studios in Swain building. The master records will be sent to RCA Victor recording company in New York, where they will be processed, pressed, labeled, packaged and shipped to the various North Carolina stations who will carry the programs.

YDC to Stage Scott Banquet

Reservations for the Young Democrats Club banquet for Kerr Scott may be made through O. Max Gardner in the Law school. The banquet will be at the Carolina Inn Monday night immediately preceding Scott's address to the student body. All members of the club are invited to attend.

In an effort to get all eligible voters to the polls in next week's election, the club has launched a campaign for securing absentee ballots. Those students who have not already received these ballots are asked to contact some member of their family and have the ballot mailed to them.

Minnesota Scores Over Indiana, 30-7

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Minnesota at last found its scoring punch today as it pummeled Indiana 30-7, before a capacity crowd of 64,926 homecoming fans at Memorial Stadium. The Gophers spotted the Hoosiers a first-period touchdown and then roared back with 16 points in the second quarter and "insurance" scores in the third and fourth. They were knocking on the touchdown door again when the game ended.

'Mardi Gras' Play Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets for Sound and Fury's production of the "Mardi Gras" will go on sale Monday from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock inside the Y. Al Wehrhahn, business manager, announced. The price of the tickets is 55 cents, tax included. This sale will continue through Friday.

The new show is a highly revised version of last summer's production, including an almost completely new cast. New songs are by Fred Young and a few of the best from Tread Covington's originals.

The hold-overs from the summer cast are Faith Adams as "Nita," Bill Sanders as "Keith," Jerry Weiss as "Murphy," and the dancing of Dusty Moore.

New-comers to the show are Anita Gates as "Meg," Bob Thomas as "Beau," Bonnie Davis as "Zenobia," George Grizzard as "Dues ex Machina," Fred Young as "Charon," Jim Hammerstein as "Judge," Dan Morgan as "Pa LaFitte," Gene Hines and Nancy Norton as "Cora and Millie," Jo Darden as "Maggie," and Colbert Leonard as the "Street Singer."

A new dancer starring in the chorus will be Barbara Austin. The show was written and is being directed by Pete Strader. Pete is also the set designer. The music was composed and is being directed by Tread Covington and Fred Young. Special lighting effects are designed by Colbert Leonard and the Master Electrician is Walter Johnson. Make-up is handled by Fred Whisenhunt and Ed Fleming, and the prop mistress is Eveline Ruspini.

Walker Awarded Zete Scholarship

Richard Isley Walker, of Winston-Salem, has been awarded a $200-scholarship sponsored by the Zeta Psi Educational foundation, Dr. E. L. Mackie, chairman of scholarships and student awards, announced yesterday. Previously Walker received the Phi Beta Kappa award for the highest scholastic average as any rising junior.

The scholarship was presented to the Scholarship committee, chaired by Mackie, by the foundation to be awarded to a student not a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity, to be selected at the discretion of the committee.

The Educational foundation established a number of scholarships, one of which is a district scholarship award of $200 to the active of Zeta Psi who at the end of his sophomore or junior year shall have the highest cumulative average. The foundation also donates $200 to the University in which the student winner resides.

November Issue of Tarnation Will Appear on Campus Soon

The groans that have been emanating from the basement of Graham Memorial for the past month were made by Bob Smith and Tom Wharton, editors of Tarnation magazine.

"We had about every technical difficulty in the book," Editor Smith said. Everything is all straightened out now, though, and the first edition of the humor magazine is due to hit the campus in the next few days.

This first issue, dedicated to football, will contain features by Jim Henderson, Bill Kellum, Tookie Hodgson, Charlie Burns, Fred Burgess, and others.

Kerr Scott To Speak In Gerrard Tomorrow

W. Kerr Scott, Democratic nominee for the governorship of North Carolina, will wind up his campaign tour here tomorrow night when he speaks in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock.

Notre Dame Gets 24th Win in Row By Beating Navy

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Notre Dame's mighty football legions, which display their wares for paying customers every gridiron Saturday, put on their weekly show before 63,314 persons in Babe Ruth Stadium today, with Navy the victim by a score of 41-7.

Actually, it wasn't a ball game at any time. The Fighting Irish could have won by any margin they wished, but when they scored touchdowns the first two times they got possession of the ball, they more or less called it quits. They coasted from that point on.

It was an easy thing to win today against a Navy team which lost its eleventh consecutive game. It was the twenty-fourth win for Notre Dame without a defeat.

Emil Sitko raced 53 yards, then dove over left tackle for the first of six Notre Dame touchdowns. John Panelli took the ball over from the 18 for the second. The third came on a five yard pass from Tripucka to halfback Gay. Bob Williams tossed a 23-yarder to Lank Smith for the final score of the first half.

Pete Williams scored Navy's lone touchdown, their first in three years against Notre Dame, on an eight-yard smash after a Notre Dame kick went out on the Irish 36. Notre Dame wound up the scoring with touchdowns by reserve backs Spaniel and Landry.

Pledge Bids Available At Gerrard Tomorrow

Fraternity rushing on the Carolina campus comes to an official end tomorrow with pledge bids available at Gerrard hall for those students who are pledging a fraternity.

Interfraternity Council President Jack Thompson announced last night that the bids may be obtained between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock at Gerrard. Thompson emphasized that "all men to whom fraternities have issued an invitation to pledge should be sure to come by and pick up their pledge cards."

He also urged that those stu-

Rambling Wreck Rallies To Win Over Duke, 19-7

DURHAM, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Georgia Tech grabbed Duke's Blue Devils by the tail today and was more than happy to come out of the thrashing battle with a 19-7 victory that kept the Yellow Jackets among the unbeaten elite.

A crowd of 32,000 warm fans watched the Georgians, getting the worst of the breaks and baffled by a defense pattern that would have made a general jealous.

Tech's famed passes were far off the target but the Jackets kept punching behind the generalship of Jimmy Southard and Joe Brown and got on the top end of the score in the third period. They were in full command at the finish to extend their record to six victories in as many games.

Big Derogatis, a standout in the double-tough Duke wall, made the first break when he fell on a Georgia Tech fumble on the second play. Though Duke got nowhere and the ball went over, Tech stalled on its own 26 and Derogatis rumbled into the Tech backfield again to block buster Humphreys' punt.

Duke center Carl Perkinson pounced on the ball. One play later, tailback Fred Folger passed 14 yards to halfback Tommy Hughes on the two. Fullback Paul Stephanz blasted over and end Mike Souchak kicked the point to give Duke a 7-0 lead.

Dr. Epps To Speak Here Tuesday Night

Dr. Preston H. Epps of the classics department will read a paper entitled "Greek Tragedy Mere Tragedy of Fate" Tuesday evening at 7:30 when the Philological club meets in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial. All members are urged to be present.

California's Bowl Bound Bears Edge Southern California, 13-7

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—California's mighty Golden Bears had the closest shave of their drive towards the Rose Bowl today as they barely defeated an inspired University of Southern California football team, 13-7.

Before the largest football crowd of the season — 90,890 fans — the savage charging Southern Californians scored in the last 48 seconds of play and had three possible touchdown drives halted by fumbles or penalties.

But it was the playing of California's two great backs, Jackie Jensen and Jack Swanner that was the difference between the two great teams. Jensen's and Swanner's drives resulted in first and third-period scores as the tricky players made every opening a gain.

Two Justice Passes Provide Sixth Win

By Billy Carmichael III
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 26.—North Carolina's chief justice Charlie and a jury of stern-faced Tar Heel footballers deliberated for some two and one half hours here today before handing a victorious verdict of "Nols Vols" to a tenacious Tennessee team that didn't feel quite guilty of defeat. The majority ruled by 14-7.

The game, which was witnessed by some 50,000 fans, was a wild and woolly undertaking which saw the visiting Tar Heels exact a pair of quickies in the first session and then sit back to watch the Vols attempt to tear down their argument.

The Vols didn't spare the forces. They came back in the second half and played the Tar Heels on and off their feet as Carolina fans saw first their money and almost their untouched record go down the Shields-Watkins drain. But the Tar Heels, it turned out, hadn't rehearsed the script in that manner. They held on with seven-point courage until the time clock came to their rescue and nipped the upset bloom slightly below the stemming of the Tar Heels unbeaten tide.

At the end of the game, it was hard to tell who was the more unpopular—the Tar Heels or the officials—as both were being booed by the majority of the fans with equal vigor. The officials, it seems, were held to blame for the calling back of a 90-yard punt return in the second quarter by Vol Hal Littleford, who ran around, by, and through the majority of the Tar Heels for a pseudo-touchdown.

A clip back on the Tennessee 20 which took Carolina fullback Hosea Rodgers to the turf unexpectedly, cost the Vols the score that would have later tied the ball game.

Bosley Lecture Slated Tomorrow

Dean Harold Bosley of Duke Divinity school will deliver the first in a series of five lectures tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Sponsored by the Young Adults class of the Methodist church, the series is a continuation of that begun by Dr. B. W. Anderson of the University department of religion. Theme of the series is "Our Faith Rests on Facts," and tomorrow night's lecture will be "We Believe in God."

Birth Announcement

A bulletin from the Lambda Chi Alpha house last night announced the arrival of 12 pups to the fraternity's dog, Blackball. Bill Rogers somewhat excitedly reported that 11 of the new arrivals were coming along fine. All the brothers are exceedingly proud of Blackball and her family.

Hosea Takes Over

Here Hosea Rodgers personally took over and over the local line for 13 yards in two plays and a first down on the Tennessee 42. After two more plays had netted but three yards, Justice flung up the middle to Cox on the 28, who grazed on down to the 23 before being tackled.

Then another running play failed the Vol blockade, but Justice again passed, this time to Johnny Clements on the 14. Rodgers bammed the middle for a first down and then carried on a team surge to the 5. The Vols here stiffened. But with third down and a touchdown to go, Justice with arm cocked passed into the arms of Bill Flamisch in the deep left end zone. The Vols merely stood and waved as the ball passed overhead.

Cox came through to pass his bar examinations and the Tar Heels led, 7-0, after almost seven minutes.

Clincher
The Tar Heels' clincher came a wee bit later in the opening period. After an exchange of punts following the kickoff, the Vols found themselves backed down in a hole on their own 8, the consequence of a clipping penalty on a Littleford punt re-Tennessee kicked out on the first play with said Mr. Littleford.
