EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON ON THE "VICTORY SPECIAL," President Truman is hailed by an enthusiastic crowd of more than 10,000 in the union station at St. Louis, Mo. Later, the nation's chief executive received a record-breaking welcome on his triumphant return to the capital. The president will rest for two weeks at Key West, Fla. He will be joined there by Vice-President-elect Alben W. Barkley.

President Truman Loafs At Key West

Newsman Playing Billiards Are Surprised by Chief Executive

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 8.—(UP)—President Truman, in tan slack suit and long-billed fishing cap, loafed around the submarine base today and paid a surprise inspection trip to press headquarters.

Enjoying the first rest since his 30,000-mile campaign tour, he had a swim in the morning and visited press headquarters for about five minutes in the afternoon. The visit caught reporters, some of whom were playing billiards, by surprise.

He walked up behind one of the players and asked: "Who is behind the eight-ball?"

The player, startled, looked over his shoulder and missed his shot. Mr. Truman told them to go ahead with the game. They did. But the play wasn't as professional as some Mr. Truman has seen. He told them that Gov. Mon Wallgren of Washington will be down next week and would give them some pointers.

It reminded the president of the time that Wallgren beat Andrew Jackson Higgins, New Orleans industrialist, when Mr. Truman and Wallgren were members of the Senate war investigating committee.

"Mon used to be billiard champion of the United States and Higgins didn't know it when he invited him to play," the president recalled. "He won the game before Higgins ever had a chance."

W-S Club Schedules Thanksgiving Dance

The Winston-Salem Carolina club will hold a Thanksgiving dance on Friday, Nov. 26, at Pfohla Wilmoth, newly elected president of the Twin Cities here on campus, said yesterday.

The holiday dance will be held in the Blue Room of the Robert E. Lee hotel in Winston-Salem. It will be an informal affair with music by Art Lopez. Tickets will go on sale in the "Y" lobby soon.

Student Dies

NEW BERN, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Funeral services were planned today for Horace M. Hill, 19-year-old North Carolina university student who shot himself to death at his home here last night.

Coroner Raymond Pollock said Hill committed suicide. The youth had been ill for several months, Pollock said, and suffered a nervous breakdown, leaving his studies at Chapel Hill and returning home to recover.

WSSF Drive Is Postponed Until Winter

New Drive Date
Set Jan. 10-16

The World Student Service Fund drive which was to be held from Nov. 29 to Dec. 4 has been postponed until the winter quarter, Dorth Warriner, WSSF chairman, said yesterday.

"The postponement," Warriner said, "was necessary because student government elections and Thanksgiving holidays would make adequate publicity impossible at this time. It was also felt that the expense of football weekends and big dances drain students financially before they can contribute justly to world education."

"The new date for the drive will be Jan. 10 through 16. This is a week upon which the WSSF committee finally decided as more satisfactory for less competition with other campus activities."

Only event still planned for this month as part of the fund raising will be the sale of blue and white confetti at the Duke-Carolina game. All coeds who can assist at confetti booths throughout the campus on that weekend are asked to contact Lincoln Kan.

Other plans to be held over until January call for a novelty faculty auction, a beauty contest to name "Miss Payoff," and a "Take-a-Foreign-Student-to-Dinner" day. Students to work as subchairs under Warriner next quarter are Joe Leary, solicitors; Dick Gordon, finance; and Charlie Gibson, publicity.

Among the national sponsors for the international charity to supply educational equipment all over the world this year is Dr. Frank P. Graham. Gretta Ridgell, traveling secretary for WSSF in the South, recently visited the campus to assist in the local drive.

Wake Forest Fund

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 8.—(UP)—M. A. Huggins, general secretary of the Baptist state convention, reported today that some $5,000,000 was pledged to the fund for relocation of Wake Forest college in Winston-Salem.

Huggins said plans would be made for soliciting another seven to eight million dollars for the fund at the three-day state Baptist convention beginning here tomorrow.

AVC to Discuss Infiltration Of Communists

Communist infiltration into liberal non-Communist organizations will be discussed before the meeting of the local chapter of the American Veterans committee tonight at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church.

It was moved at the last meeting to conduct a debate tonight on this issue between Charles Sellers and Junius Scales, chairman of the Communist party in Chapel Hill.

Sellers states that he is looking forward to the opportunity to present his views on Communist infiltration to the members of the group. It is not known at present whether Scales intends to accept the challenge.

The meeting will be open to the general public. No admission will be charged, and everyone is cordially invited to what will probably be a warm discussion.

Also on the agenda will be nominations of delegates to the national AVC convention in Cleveland, and a discussion of proposed changes in the constitution. Tentative instructions to delegates are to be considered.

Williams Hurls Reply Back At SP Leaders

University Party Chairman Says
SP Trying to 'Dupe Student Body'

By Bill Buchan

Thurman Williams, chairman of the University party and the legislative rules committee replied to Student party charges of negligence yesterday afternoon by accusing SP leaders of a "deliberate attempt to dupe the student body in believing three things which are misconceptions."

"I am guilty of nothing except by my own admissions," Williams stated. "I have yet to be notified by the Student council that they will have anything to do with such political maneuvers."

Freshman Class Officers Will Be Nominated Today

Army May Ask Solons For Draft Of Doctors

Officer Says Draft Is Necessary
Unless Volunteers Make Up Needs

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(UP)—The Army may be forced to ask Congress to draft doctors unless sufficient medical personnel volunteers, it was revealed today.

Col. Laurence Potter, procurement officer of the medical corps, said at a meeting of the American Public Health association that the "pinch is on" as far as medical manpower is concerned.

He quoted Maj. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss, surgeon general of the Army, as saying:

"If medical personnel sufficient to care properly for the health of the expanded Army does not come voluntarily, there will be no other recourse but to submit a bill to Congress to draft the necessary personnel."

Potter estimated the Army's present medical strength at 4,400 physicians, 750 dentists, 342 veterinarians, 4,350 nurses, 3,000 medical service corps.

This is enough to care for the present Army, he said, but the needs will be increased as the forces expand through the draft and present personnel drops through discharges and the release of "large numbers of non-volunteer officers now on active duty who will have completed their service."

Potter estimated the replacement needs of the Army medical corps at 1,500 a year for physicians, with other services in proportion.

Opera Tryouts Scheduled Today By Playmakers

Four sets of public tryouts will be held starting this evening at 7:30 for the joint production of Gilbert and Sullivan's famous light opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore," which will be staged by the University music department and the Carolina Playmakers. Tryouts will be held in Memorial hall.

Following tonight's tryouts, a second opportunity will be available Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, and another tryout session will be held Thursday evening at 7:30. The final tryout period will be Friday afternoon at 2:30.

The joint musical production is an annual highlight of the mid-winter activities of both groups. Last year the production was the highly successful "Mikado."

"H. M. S. Pinafore" is scheduled for presentation Jan. 28 and 29, after the start of the winter quarter. Tryouts are open to anyone, and all interested students and townspeople are invited to attend.

Jess Dedmond Will Preside Over Session

Nominees Will Be
On Nov. 18 Ballot

Nominations for freshman class officers will be made this morning at freshman assembly in Memorial hall at 11 o'clock.

With President of the Student Body Jess Dedmond conducting the meeting freshmen will nominate candidates for president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman. Candidates nominated today will compete in the freshmen elections Nov. 18.

Jack Worsham, clerk of the Student Legislature, said yesterday that all candidates for nominations backed by campus political parties would have to be nominated from the floor by a freshman in the name of the sponsoring party.

Worsham stated that all freshmen seeking nominations on independent tickets would have to be nominated from the floor by a member of the freshman class, and a statement including the names of 25 freshmen endorsing the nomination would have to be submitted to the elections chairman. The statement must also include an agreement signed by the candidate to the effect that he will serve if elected.

Freshmen will vote for class officers Nov. 18 at Gerrard hall from 11:45 to 5 o'clock.

Chancellor House Set to Preside At College Meet

Chancellor R. B. House will preside in his capacity of president of the North Carolina College conference at the 28th annual meeting at the O. Henry hotel in Greensboro today and tomorrow.

The dominant purpose of the organization as expressed by their constitution "shall be to further the cause of higher education." The conference to be held today will discuss and study the various problems met by the institutions within this state.

The conference will open this afternoon with committee reports. Dean W. W. Pierson, head of the University Graduate school will give a report on "Organizing Higher Education" and R. M. Grumman, University Extension division director will read the steering committee report on veteran education.

Tonight the delegates will hear a program of music by the University music department, which will be followed by a speech by Henri Peyre, Sterling professor and head of the French department at Yale.

Wynn Addresses Directors Meet

This past week, Earl Wynn, Ed Freed, and Kenneth McIntyre of the Communication center gave demonstrations of the effect and use of various tools of communication before a meeting of the industrial safety directors of the state.

Grail Tickets

Tickets for the Grail-sponsored Charlie Spivak dance scheduled for the Duke-Carolina weekend will be on sale in the lobby of the Y building today and tomorrow.

There are 1,800 tickets at $1 each available for the Friday's concert. Dance books are $5. Tickets will be sold from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock today and tomorrow.

Second University Hour Program Carries Commerce Bureau Theme

The theme of the second week's state-wide University Hour program produced by the radio division of the Communication center will be the story of the activities of the Bureau of Business Services and Research, which is affiliated with the School of Commerce here. The Chapel Hill choral club and the University hour will also present the final movement of the Mozart Requiem mass.

The recorded programs in this second year of production are half-hour documentary dramas, presenting to the people of the state how certain activities of the three campuses of the university affect everyone in the state, directly or indirectly.

By presenting information from the Commerce school concerning chamber's of commerce, credit bureaus, merchant's associations, interviewing, etc., the program this week hopes to help the North Carolina businessman make his business more efficient and economical, thereby offering better and cheaper service to the average citizen.

Listeners in this area may hear the program Sunday afternoon at four o'clock over WDUK Durham, at 1:30 over WDNC Durham, or at 10:30 (Wednesday night) over WPTF Raleigh.
