Carolina Bowls Over Terrapins, 49-20

Capital Is Stormed By Tar Heel Victors

Post-Game Victory Celebrations Hold Big City Spellbound In Grip

By Chuck Hauser
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The nation's capital went mad today as hundreds of Tar Heels stormed down main thoroughfares in the heart of downtown Washington. Flag-waving, banner-carrying hordes of Carolinians swept down E street at high noon in a parade that Washingtonians will have a hard time forgetting. Harry Truman's triumphant return could not have been any more wild. There was no doubt in any passerby's mind as to the identity of the parading students. Blue and white streamers "Beat Maryland" cheers and a thundering "Hark the Sound" echoing off the capital's buildings clearly told the story that the Tar Heels were in town. The parade wound up 14th street and into Franklin park where a pep rally rocked the streets and shook windows in government office buildings. Spirit was still high when the visitors took over almost one complete side of Griffith stadium. Cow bells and sirens were much in evidence on the Blue and White side of the field. One large Confederate flag and scores of small ones flapped in the breeze throughout the stands. One delegation of Carolina students showed up wearing firemen's helmets made of paper. After the game, victory celebrations began in every large hotel in town. Few Washingtonians got much sleep as the parties continued through the night. Many Tar Heels planned to see tomorrow's sun come up over the Potomac. A large group of alumni and students were present at the Washington hotel where the North Carolina society gave a dance for all state football fans. Hotel rooms and hotel corridors were jammed with hand-shaking, back-slapping, oblivious-to-anything-except-that-we-won Chapel Hill students. Downtown streets still echoed with "Let's go, Carolina!" as the visitors traveled from one hotel to another on their sorties to renew old acquaintances whom they had not seen since yesterday when they left Chapel Hill.

Lions Down Navy On Muddy Field For 13-0 Victory
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Columbia handed a scrappy Navy eleven its 13th straight defeat in a two year span today by taking advantage of its only two scoring opportunities for a 13-0 victory before a crowd of 35,000. The Lions scored two touchdowns within four minutes of playing time divided by the half-time rest. The first score was made in the last 12 seconds of the first half, and the second came after only six plays in the third period. Bill Lockwood scored the first touchdown by taking a five-yard pass from Gene Rossides. The Lions took the kick-off at the start of the third quarter and covered 71 yards in six plays. Kussevow then took a lateral from Rossides at the 16 and dashed for a touchdown. Today's victory snapped Columbia losing streak at four games. The Navy team battled without letting down throughout but could not push the ball across the goal-line although it had several opportunities. A severe and sudden rainstorm shortly after the start of the second half made the field a sea of mud and the attack of the teams bogged down between the 30 yard marks.

CHARLIE JUSTICE, Hosea Rodgers, Art Weiner, and Billy Maceyko, from left to right above, played major roles in yesterday's 49-20 Carolina victory over Maryland. Justice passed for two touchdowns, scored another, and averaged 48 yards punting in the win. Rodgers passed to Justice for a score and plunged over from the 2 for another. Weiner snagged a Justice aerial in the end zone for a tally and played an outstanding offensive game. Maceyko, the star of the day, tallied twice on pass interceptions. One of his touchdown runs went for 70 yards and the other for 60.

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—North Carolina and Maryland treated 36,000 fans, the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in the nation's capital, to a real show here this afternoon, with the unbeaten Tar Heels romping to a 49-20 decision in a wide-open Southern conference battle.

Student Party Frosh Candidates State Platform

Student party candidates for freshman class officers announced yesterday their proposed platform on which they will run for election. The platform, released in a special booklet, prepared by the freshman campaign committee, stated that the candidates would have as its aim the appointment of a committee to investigate the merits of the Freshman Assemblies and to make recommendations for improving the Assemblies; a review of the Freshman Orientation program and suggestions for its improvement.

Among other things that the Student Party candidates have pledged themselves to work for is the improvement of the Quonset Hut area with additional facilities for study, better heating systems, drainage of the area and more walks, dust and insect control, and more furniture for each hut. The addition of more telephones for the dormitories, and investigation and improvement of conditions at Nash and Miller halls. The Freshman Executive committee shall voice its disapproval of the quantity and quality of food served at Lenoir hall, and the re-opening of an Armory store for the lower quad. The Freshman Executive committee will oppose the six-day school plan and the president of the Freshman class will appoint a committee to actively oppose such a move.

Blue Devils Swamp GW In Durham Game, 62-0

DURHAM, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Duke's Blue Devils romped today to their highest score since 1945 and downed a brave but baffled George Washington team, 62-0, before 12,000 happy partisans. It was George Washington's first encounter with Duke and they suffered only to the wartime team representing Bogue Field. Duke defeated them 70-0. The big Duke team shrugged off the flashing efforts of George Washington's freshman backfield gun, Andy Davis, and Davis left the game for good in the second period. Duke, beaten soundly in its last two starts, rebounded with a vengeance and scored twice in every period except the fourth when they took advantage of George Washington bobbles and slipped over three scores. It was no contest from the start. George Washington, after a valiant showing in the first minutes, folded beneath the onslaught of the Duke line and the charging backfield. Duke tackle Al Derogatis time and again battered into the enemy backfield to thwart attempted gains.

Dental Society Seeks Money For School Here
RALEIGH, Nov. 13.—(UP)—The North Carolina Dental society today sought an appropriation of $1,450,000 to set up a school of dentistry at Chapel Hill in connection with the University's proposed four-year medical school. The society asked the Advisory Budget commission also for $279,000 to operate the dental school during the 1949-51 biennium. The organization proposed to spend $1,000,000 of the large appropriation for a clinical building containing 65 dental chairs. Dr. C. W. Sanders, president of the society, said that it was almost impossible for North Carolinians to be admitted to other dental schools because of overcrowded conditions. The North Carolina Bar association asked that salaries of Supreme Court justices be raised to $15,000 a year. They now receive $10,000 annually including $2,500 described as an expense allowance. The Student party will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3 of Graham Memorial. Nominations for junior class officers and legislative posts will be received. Party members and persons interested in running for these offices are urged to attend the meeting.

Army Sinks Penn In 26-20 Thriller In Quaker City

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Mighty Army, trembling on the brink of disaster, roared from behind in the final 30 seconds today to defeat Pennsylvania, 26-20, on a 15-yard touchdown pass. A delirious crowd of 78,205 saw Arnold Galiffa, a goat up to that point, hit Johnny Trent in the end zone with a zipping aerial that continued Army's march toward a perfect season. Game Penn had risen to unbelievable heights against a team which was expected to call its score, and had brewed the upset of the season until the three fatal closing minutes, then the Cadets swept 74 yards in a dramatic never-say-die sequence of first downs. A team with less courage than the Black Knights from the Hudson might have wilted when the fighting Penn eleven scored what appeared to be the winning touchdown with six minutes left in the ball game. This was a brilliant personal sortie by Ray Dooney, playing with the load of father's death on his heart. Dooney, the Penn battering ram, hit from the 42 with Penn trailing 19-14. He galloped the distance and stark hysteria hit the Franklin field stands. What appeared to be the clincher was applied when Farquhar Jones intercepted a Galiffa pass and ran it 22 yards to Penn's 47. Then and there, Penn was within one first down of winning the game.

Irish Bounce Back to Take 12-7 Victory From Wildcats
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Notre Dame, spurred to its greatest effort of the year by a 90-yard touchdown run that gave Northwestern a one-point lead, bounced from behind with cruelly perfect football to defeat Northwestern 12-7 before 59,305 fans today. The victory was Notre Dame's 20th in succession and its 26th straight game without defeat. But it was obtained only after 60 minutes of heart-stopping football, more chilling to the fans than the 40-degree temperature. The Northwestern tally came late in the third period on full-back Art Murakowski's 90-yard dash with an intercepted pass, thrown by Irish quarterback, Frank Tripucka. His run and Jim Farrar's place-kick put the Wildcats ahead, 7-6, and the stadium hushed in expectation of the first Notre Dame defeat since 1945. But they reckoned wrongly on the precision drives of the Irish backs, notably sophomore Jack Landry. The Irish responded to their one-point deficit like men out to win a war. In 13 plays they rolled 63 yards with smashing accuracy before Billy Gay dove two yards for the touchdown that cemented the victory. Both teams played their hearts out, particularly in the line. During the first half Notre Dame threw only two passes and Northwestern seven. At the opening, Northwestern marched almost to the Irish goal but their drive sputtered out. Then Notre Dame had its turn. Under Tripucka's direction, the Irish piled 71 yards in 15 plays for their first touchdown. John Panelli went over on a two-yard plunge, but Terry Brennan, a little Irish lad whose pre-game physical condition was so bad he was expected to play only a few minutes on defense, set up the score with gains of 60 yards in six plays.

Alabama Nips Tech, 14-12 In Big Upset Before 40,000

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Alabama's Red Elephants, who never forget to stampee the odds-makers at least once a year, crashed through to a deserved 14-12 upset victory over Georgia Tech today before a crowd of 40,000. They took the play away from Tech. They recovered both their own fumbles and Tech's, and generally dominated the game except in the fourth quarter when the Yellow Jackets made a dying gasp for victory. Alabama hopped to a 7 to 0 lead just before the half after Jimmy Petit fumbled Brown's hard-slanting punt on the Tech five and Alabama center Doug Lockridge pounced on it. On the next play, fleet Billy Cadenhead sped around left end for the score and Salem kicked the goal. Bowen, a savage running left-halfback, brought Tech back into the picture in the third period. His center, Louis Hook had intercepted a Gordon Pettus pass and hauled it to Alabama's 30. Bowen rammed the line once, then cut through right tackle and down the sidelines, spinning his way 26 yards to a score. His point try was low. Alabama put the clinch on a few moments later when Speed intercepted Jimmy Southard's pass and sped 62 yards for a touchdown.

Special Meeting Of Campus Party Slated Tomorrow

There will be a special meeting of the Campus party tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Bingham 103. Important business is to be taken up at this time, and nominations for the legislative offices and for Junior class officers will be completed. Fireworks by Bonk A 76-yard run by Maryland's Harry Bonk on the opening play of the game proved a good indication of what was to come. Charlie Justice pulled down Bonk from behind on the Carolina 10 to check the Terrapins temporarily. Three plays later Johnny Idzik plunged over the goal. Maryland continued to dominate play in the first quarter until Vic Taryn attempted a pass with 5:45 remaining in the quarter. Maceyko leaped high to nab the ball and raced down the right sideline some 40 yards unmolested for a touchdown. Bob Cox, who had a perfect conversion record of seven for seven, booted the extra point to tie the score at 7-7. That ended the scoring for the first quarter. Roof Caves In The roof caved in on the host club in the second period, however. Midway in the quarter Joe Romano fell on the first of two fumbles he recovered during the afternoon on the Maryland 8. Fumbles in the Tar Heel backfield lost back to the 18, but on the fourth down Justice stepped back, spotted Ken Powell on the goal and let fly an aerial which (See TD BARRAGE, page 3)
