Dimes Campaign Starts On Friday

The annual March of Dimes campaign will begin on campus Friday night, under the sponsorship of the Daily Tar Heel, Dougald McMillan and Ed Joyner, managers for the drive, said yesterday.

The initial move for the week-long drive will be made at the re-opening of the Rendezvous room. Each person will be asked to contribute 50 cents to the annual collection when he enters the door.

All the money collected will go to the state-wide fund for treating polio patients in North Carolina.

Working in cooperation with the groups sponsoring the drive, the Sigma Chi sextet will present an original commercial to promote contributions. The other numbers on their program will include more compositions by Hank Beebe, graduate student in the music department.

Mark Barker, student and announcer for station WDUK, will act as master of ceremonies for the floor show and 15-minute radio program to be broadcast at 9:30. Solo vocals for the show will be sung by Anita Gates and Ray Williams.

Although the 50-cent contribution is not required for admission into the room, all students are asked to cooperate in sponsoring the drive by giving generously.

The next move in the polio campaign will be made at the beginning of next week when individual dormitory, fraternity and sorority representatives will be announced.

IN WASHINGTON, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Linda Brown, 4, San Antonio, Tex., the 1949 March of Dimes poster girl, contribute their dimes to the drive for funds to aid the fight on infantile paralysis.

Sale of Tickets For Local Opera To Start Today

Tickets are on sale today for H.M.S. Pinafore, annual Gilbert and Sullivan opera scheduled for Memorial hall, Jan. 28, 29, 30, announced John W. Parker, business manager of the Carolina Playmakers yesterday. "All seats downstairs will be reserved and may be obtained at Swain hall or Ledbetter-Pickards. Balcony seats will not be reserved and first-come first-serve will be the rule up there," he added.

The joint Playmaker-Music department production is being staged by Foster Fitz-Simons and Sam Selden, and the music conducted by Gwynn McPeck. Costumes have been designed by Irene Smart and James Byrd will light the show. A unique setting has been designed by Gordon Bennett, graduate assistant in the dramatic art department, and when completed, the stage will be transformed into a ship with the mainsail serving as the curtain, and the auditorium will become the ocean.

This is the first time such an idea has been worked out since a production in the huge Hippodrome in New York floated a ship in the center and had Little Buttercup rowed out in a row-boat while she sang her first song, "I'm called Little Buttercup."

British Service To Take 150,000

LONDON, Jan. 18—(UP)—Minister of Labor George Isaacs told Commons today that about 150,000 18-year-olds will be drafted this year.

Cosmopolitan Club Scheduled to Give Four Movies on Life in India Tonight

Four movies on life of India will be shown by the Cosmopolitan club tonight at 8 o'clock in Phillips hall, president Hanes Johnson announced yesterday.

The first of the films, introduced by Uttan Chand, graduate student from Punjab, India, is entitled "Our Heritage." This will trace the historical development of Indian history from ancient times to the present.

The second film entitled "Music of India," will concern the popular instruments of India and will show the difference between

Seminar Here Will Be Led By Anscombe

Religion, Science Planned as Topic

Dr. Francis C. Anscombe, former instructor at the University, will lead the seminar on "Religion and Science" during Religious Emphasis week, which will be held Jan. 24-27, chairman Don Shropshire announced yesterday.

Dr. Anscombe, who received a master's degree at the University in 1924 and was an instructor in history here while working on a doctor's degree, is now acting pastor of the Moravian church at Clemmons and emeritus head of the history department at Salem college. An honorary member of the American Institute of Banking, he is also a lecturer in various civic clubs in North Carolina.

Dr. Anscombe, who is a member of the astronomical society and an honorary member of the Winston-Salem Torch club, is the former pastor of several Friends churches. He is now the lecturer of the Current Events Winston-Salem Women's club.

The seminar leader has been an instructor at Earham college and the head of history departments at both Guilford and Salem colleges. Having taught summer school at the University's Woman's college in Greensboro, Dr. Anscombe has been a lecturer of the Duke Institute of International Relations and was an instructor of the American Institute of Banking.

Dr. Anscombe attended Kingsmead college in England and received his bachelor of arts degree from Earham college in 1916. After receiving his master's and doctor's degrees from the university, he attended the Wake Forest Law school, Hamilton college of law, and passed the North Carolina bar examination in 1931. Dr. Anscombe has done graduate work at Johns Hopkins university.

Recital Slated For Hill Today

A student recital will be presented this afternoon in Hill hall at 4 o'clock. The program is as follows: "Prelude in B minor," from "Well Tempered Clavier," (J. S. Bach) and "Impromptu in G sharp minor" (Chopin). Robin Scroggs, piano; "Sonata in F sharp minor" (Beethoven). Robert MacDonald, piano; and "Children's Corner" (Debussy), James Woodard, piano.

The public is invited to attend.

Alpha Chi Sigma Pledges Six Men

Six men were pledged by the local chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemical fraternity, in a ceremony held Tuesday evening in the chapter room at Venable hall.

They are John G. Broughton, Carl T. Durham, Jr., Thomas A. Hosick, Jerome Lancaster, William C. Mathis, Jr., and John R. Rives, Jr. Frank B. Tutwiler, president of the fraternity, was in charge of ceremonies.

Activities of the fraternity include having speakers of interest to the general public; and annual awards are presented to juniors and seniors outstanding in chemistry.

Football Fever

Football fever is starting early for 1949, Bill Shuford of the Alumni association reported yesterday.

Bill said applications for tickets to the North Carolina-Notre Dame football game have already reached the Alumni office, and a request for room reservations for next fall's Georgia contest had been received.

But Bill warned prospective ticket-buyers to save those checks. It's far too early, he said.

Dialectic Senate Plans Discussion On Mercy Killing

Legal mercy killing will be discussed by the Dialectic senate at 8 o'clock tonight in the Di hall on the third floor of New West building.

The bill proposed by the Ways and Means committee of the Di states:

"Be it resolved by the Senate of the Dialectic Literary society, that the Dialectic senate goes on record as favoring the enactment of a statute permitting euthanasia (mercy killing) with the following provisions:

"1. That the consent of the patient be given in a signed legal statement, and that there be signed statements from three competent physicians, one of whom is a specialist in the field of medicine concerned, that the patient is suffering from an incurable ailment which causes him extreme pain.

"2. That the administration of the provisions of such a statute be under the strict supervision of the respective states.

"Following the introduction of the bill by Banks Talley, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, the floor will be opened for discussion by both members and visitors.

Band Directors To Attend Clinic

Approximately 80 high school band directors throughout the state have been invited to attend a band clinic to be held at the University on Saturday, Jan. 29, in order to choose music for the forthcoming district and state band contests.

The purpose of the clinic is to allow the high school directors to gain acquaintance with some or all of the music on this year's band contest list. The University band has been divided into two groups, the Blue band and the White band, in order to read through the music for the visiting directors.

Band leaders of Davidson college have been invited to assist Director Earl Slocum in conducting the clinic.

Policy Dispute Causes Break In SP Ranks

Warriner Leads Faction Walkout

Eight members of the Student party, including three legislators, bolted from the party ranks during a stormy meeting in Graham Memorial yesterday afternoon.

Following the defeat of a motion introduced by Nelson Taylor, president of the Town Men's association, which would have bound all SP members to support party nominees "without reservation," Dorch Warriner, attorney general of the student body, announced his withdrawal from the party. Joining Warriner in the walkout were Tom Kerr, Ed Best, and Jim Southerland, all members of the Student legislature. Also included in the bolt were Toby Selby, Bob Fentres, and Banks Mebane.

Securing the floor early in the meeting, Taylor introduced his resolution and called for the active support by party members of all candidates nominated by the party. The majority of the party members held out for individual rights to support any candidate.

On the defeat of the motion by a 21-12 vote, Warriner stated that he could no longer remain in a party which refused to support its candidates unanimously and led the walkout of the eight members.

Commenting on the rift, which has occurred twice within the last two months, SP Chairman Gran Childress said, "The persons who bolted today bolted because they believed every member of the party should support every candidate without reservation. We are happy about the bolt because those of us who remain in the party disagree with their political philosophy. The split has unified the Student party and no longer will we be defeated on the proverbial 'divide and conquer' theory," he continued.

"If we do lose we will have lost fighting for a political philosophy in which we believe, and of which we are not ashamed," Childress added.

Speaking for the bolting faction, Tom Kerr stated yesterday, "The 'right wing' broke with the SP because of a basic disagreement on political theory. We feel that any man flying a party banner must support the decisions of the majority of the party or get out," he said. "We asked this of others when we were a majority and now we have acted upon it when we are not in the majority."

Powe Named 'Miss Payoff' During Auction For WSSF

By Charlie Gibson

Mary Louise Powe was crowned "Miss Pay-Off of 1949" as a high-light of the daffy auction held in Hill hall last night to end the University fund-raising drive for the World Student Service fund.

Miss Powe, senior from Durham sponsored by Beta Theta Pi fraternity, was chosen queen of the campus charity drive by dime balloting in the Y lobby. Close behind the 1,638 votes which she amassed was Louise Horne, WSSF maid of honor, with 1,623. Miss Horne is a junior from Sanford and was sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha.

Other beauty attendants announced by auctioneers Norman Cordon and Earl Wynn were Fernie Hughes, a senior from Rainsville, West Virginia, sponsored by Pi Lambda Phi; and Betsy Ross, freshman from Chapel Hill sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The four finalists and the other "Miss Pay-Off" entries were all presented with bouquets or corsages through the courtesy of Chapel Hill florists. The queen also received a specially engraved bracelet.

After these coeds were sold as dates and various faculty members were bonded into novel servitude to the highest bidders—all for the international student relief, recognition was also given to outstanding door-to-door solicitors. Gussie Young from Alderman dormitory and Dick Ferguson from Kappa Alpha fraternity were lauded as outstanding canvassers, Gussie having personally raised $103 and Dick having solicited $100.06.

Although all five campus sororities contributed to WSSF only through the "Miss Pay-Off" contest, there was a close race among the men's dormitories to vie for most charitable contribution. Almost a three-way tie resulted between Everett, where James Gilbert solicited $37; Lewis, where Lacy Beel raised $36.94; and "C" dormitory, where Ed Beasel collected $36.35.

Five cartons of cigarettes were also divided between Tinsley Campbell and Sol Monsour, who tied in the dime guessing contest to predict the total score of the Carolina-Washington & Lee basketball game last week. Although predictions ranged from 74 to 138, no one hit the correct final total of both teams' scores—121 points. However, both the winners missed that figure by merely one point, Campbell predicting 120 and Monsour guessing 122. Dick Gordon, WSSF drive finance chairman, stated last night that a total report of the funds raised during the past week and a half will be released tomorrow.

CPU Backs Admittance Of Negroes, Gates Talk

The Carolina Political union in Sunday night's meeting approved both the action of the Carolina forum in inviting Communist John Gates to speak at the University and the immediate admission of qualified Negro graduate and undergraduate students to the University.

CPU members and visitors voted to admit negroes to the graduate school by a vote of 23 to 2. The vote was 16 to 9 concerning the question of admission to undergraduate school. Several visitors did not vote.

The resolution supporting the invitation of John Gates by the Carolina forum, which also condemns the action of Chancellor R. B. House in refusing to permit Gates to speak, read:

"Whereas, It is the tradition, principle, and policy of the Carolina Political union to uphold the right of student organizations to sponsor speakers representing all shades of political opinion, to speak at the University before all who care to listen; therefore, be it resolved, that the membership of the Carolina Political union approves and supports the action of the Carolina forum in co-sponsoring John Gates to speak at the University.

"Be it further resolved, that the membership of the Carolina Political union goes on record as disapproving and disagreeing with the interpretation of North Carolina statutes by Chancellor R. B. House in refusing to permit John Gates, Communist editor of the Daily Worker, to speak in a University building on January 12, 1949.

Drawing Classes Set For Tonight

Evening classes for instruction in drawing and sketching will be held tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock in Person hall and will continue through March 9, the apartment announced yesterday.

John Allcott, Kenneth Ness, John Rembert, and a new member of the faculty, Emma Lu Davis, sculptor and industrial designer, will be the instructors.

There is no fee for instruction, but there will be a $5.00 fee to cover materials used, model fees, and lab assistant fees. Single classes will be 75 cents each.

Interested persons are asked to register for instruction in Person hall or call Miss Warren at 3801.

Reports on Two Cases Heard Recently Are Released by Men's Honor Council

Reports on two cases recently heard by the Men's Honor council were released yesterday.

In the first case, a student testified before the council that he had become "rattled" on an exam and had copied another student's paper with the consent of the other student. The other student admitted that he had given the aid.

Since either giving or receiving aid on a test is a violation of the Honor code, both students were suspended. However, the fact that both students reported themselves will be taken into consideration when they apply for readmission.

Another student was reported for looking on another student's paper during a final exam in Latin. When questioned by the council, the student readily admitted getting information from the other student's paper. The person from whom the information had been taken had given the student a chance to report himself, and on his failure to do so, had reported it to the council. The guilty student was suspended from school.

Communists Seek Dismissal of Trial

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—(UP)—The 11 top Communists in the United States sought dismissal of federal charges against them today on grounds their trial jury will be picked from the "silk stocking" classes that have the most to lose under a Communist state.

The defense challenged the jury system after William Z. Foster, veteran chairman of the U. S. Communist party, was judged too ill to stand trial on the charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina severed Foster's trial from that of the others over vigorous defense objections that he was the party's "flag bearer" and the "indispensable" man in fighting a government attempt to "execute a major political party."

In attacking the jury system, the Communist leaders charged they were selected from the social register, "Who's Who in New York," financial directories and telephone books which could be scoured to make sure the majority came from the Park avenue and Fifth avenue sections rather than Harlem, Brooklyn or the Lower East Side.

Up a Tree

Bill Wolf and Russ Twiford, a pair of energetic ATO's, had a possum on their hands yesterday and didn't know what to do with him.

They caught the animal, they said, in a tree growing beside Spencer dormitory. They spotted him there night before last. They didn't offer a satisfactory explanation, however, of just why they were looking in the general direction of Spencer when they first caught sight of the varmint.

Mistaken Identity

The strange characters seen running around campus these days with moustaches and sideburns in various stages of cultivation are not Playmakers doing a period piece or members of the Sunday Afternoon Motorcycle society of Carrboro, a pair of them explained yesterday.

They are just KA's getting in form for their annual Old South ball in Raleigh soon.
