TD To Play Here For Mid-Winters

The German club announced yesterday that Tommy Dorsey, orchestra leader turned disc jockey turned orchestra leader, will return to the campus on Feb. 11 and 12 to play for two dances and a concert during the Winter Germans.

TOMMY DORSEY, the sentimental gentleman himself, is returning to the campus to play for the Midwinter Germans. German club officials say that Tommy promises to be a good boy this time.

Bob MacMillan, German club president, said the Friday night dance will be from 9 until 1 o'clock and the Saturday night affair will be from 8 o'clock until midnight.

Both dances are formal, he said. The concert will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Memorial hall. The two-hour program will feature vocalists Lucy Ann Polk, Denny Dennis and the "Sentimentalists."

Presently, Tommy Dorsey has one of the top dance bands in the country. He has gained high honors in annual polls conducted by "Metronome," "Downbeat" and in "Billboard" magazines.

This will be Dorsey's second appearance in Chapel Hill. In November of 1946 his orchestra played for the Duke weekend Grail dance. The well-known bandmaster was sued by the Grail for $20,000 for breach of contract on grounds that he did not bring his full orchestra to the campus.

The Grail said at the time that relations with Dorsey during the weekend were "not too good." German club officials said yesterday, however, that Dorsey was being very cooperative and sincerely wished for a fair second chance at the University.

Commiss Charge 'Leaflet Bombing'

NANKING, Jan. 28—(UP)—The Communists today accused the government of using leaflet raids to mask "shameless and continuous" bombing of Communist territory.

A Communist radio broadcast renewed the onslaught on "reactionary" Nationalist peace offers, charging that government planes mixed bombs with peace pamphlets in recent raids over Red-held cities and towns.

The broadcaster listed Tsinan, Suchow and Lanfeng, points south of Peiping, and unnamed towns in northern Anhkei province as scenes of "peace bombings."

"On one hand, the . . . reactionary government calls for peace," the broadcast said. "On the other hand, they are shamelessly and continuously bombing liberated areas. This act has aroused the wrath of the people of the liberated areas."

Meanwhile, the government pressed for truce talks and Red armies advanced farther southward toward this capital. It appeared that the future of China, peace or continued war, might be decided in a matter of days.

Training Officer Will Be Absent

Wilson Honeycutt, public law 16 veterans training officer, will not be in his office in Peabody hall Monday. However, he will resume his regular office hours Wednesday.

Playwright Says

'Pinafore' Is Still 'Bright, Fresh'

By Sam Hirsch
"I saw my first Gilbert and Sullivan opera in Boston when I was eight years old," said Walter Pritchard Eaton, distinguished author, critic and playwright currently teaching playwriting with the Carolina Playmakers. "It was with my sister," he went on, "who was all of two and a half years older than I. We were seeing the first Mikado company in this country, and I laughed and jumped in my seat so much that she tried to restrain me, proper Boston lady that she was. She was mortified, when an old dignified man, with a long, white

Federal Aid Is Discussed By UNC, Elon Plans Are Laid For Next Debate

The University varsity debate team and the Elon college squad met in non-decision debate Thursday, discussing the subject, "Resolved: that the federal government should equalize education in tax-supported schools by means of annual grants."

Herb Mitchell and Paul Roth took the affirmative, opposing the Elon negative team of Bill Wilkins and Kenneth T. Jacobs.

Mrs. Mary C. Engstrom, Debate council advisor, rendered a thorough criticism of both teams. Plans were made for a return decision debate to be held at Elon, February 17. At the same time, a non-decision freshman debate will be held with the Elon freshman squad.

The freshman team is still in the embryo stage and members of the squad are in the process of being selected. Tryouts are scheduled to be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:35 in Graham memorial.

The varsity debate team recently finished a northern swing. During this tour, the team was described by experts as "outstanding."

The Debate council program began in October with the intramural debate tournament. The tournament was won by Hurshell Keener and Charles Dixon, affirmative team, representing Old East dormitory.

All debates this year have been on the topic of federal aid in tax-supported schools.

The varsity squad opened its season with a non-decision meet with the University of Virginia.

At Georgetown university, the university negative team won in debate, with Paul Roth selected the best speaker of the eight present.

Following the Georgetown meet, the squad moved to the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia university. Completing the successful northern swing, the University's affirmative team won over Boston university's negative, at the same time their affirmative defeating our negative.

The debate teams operate under the auspices of the Debate council with Mrs. Engstrom and Gerald Barrett, acting as advisors.

Square Dance Slated Tonight

The Presbyterian church will hold its weekly square dance and student get-together tonight at 8 o'clock in the church rear, Rex Reckendorf, publicity agent, said yesterday.

Dick Weaver, of the sociology department, will be the featured caller, bringing with him several new records. Participants will dance to the strains of mountain music, European folk tunes and conventional square set numbers.

Refreshments will be served during the dance, and everyone is welcome to attend, Reckendorf said.

A BALE OF HAY is dropped from a U.S. Air Force "Flying Boxcar" to help feed starving cattle cut off from regular food in snowbound eastern Nevada. It is estimated that more than 200,000 cattle and a million sheep are in danger of starvation in Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, South Dakota and sections of North Dakota and Montana. A U. S. Senate committee approved a $750,000 fund to finance rescue work.

Tulsa Editor Addresses Press Institute Session

Jenkins Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune was the principal speaker at yesterday morning's session of the North Carolina Press association's newspaper institute.

Speaking on monopoly newspapers, Jones said, "It is ironic that the press is being accused of bringing about a condition which it has actually fought against."

Admitting that monopoly newspapers are here to stay, Jones continued, "The crowning irony of it all is that the left-wingers and self-styled liberals who are loudest in their opposition to newspaper monopoly, are the ones who usually applaud the movement by unions to get more for less production."

Miss Beatrice Cobb, editor of the Morganton News-Herald and longtime secretary of the press association, spoke on her recent round-the-world trip at a luncheon meet in the Carolina Inn.

Miss Cobb described flying the Berlin airlift as her biggest thrill on the 20,000-mile journey. She said that in Prague they were unable to get tickets to a Russian-sponsored movie, "The American Menace," because of a heavy demand on tickets.

The Associated Press presented Miss Cobb with a plaque for distinguished reporting during her trip.

Meetings of various regional daily and weekly groups were held in the afternoon.

A speech by Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen highlighted last night's banquet at Duke university. Governor Kerr Scott presented press awards after Allen's talk.

A past president's breakfast and a short business meeting of NCPA will close the three-day institute this morning.

Minister Makes Concluding Talk Of Religion Week

"Man as a king overplayed his authority, and therefore the kingdom of God is at hand," said Dr. John A. Redhead, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Greensboro, in his concluding address of Religious Emphasis week Thursday night.

Dr. Redhead said a modern myth in the innate goodness and ability of man led to a belief in groups of men, and finally to a belief in the organization of man into government.

"When man got rid of God as a ruler," he continued "he set out to rule himself and opened his arms to the coming of dictators."

The religious leader said there are two phases of life, the spiritual and the material. The spiritual should be the center and the material, the circumference, he added.

"Religion has been shifted from the center to the circumference," Dr. Redhead said, "and that's the reason why churches have become relatively irrelevant."

He continued, "Tension has grown up between the scientific and the religious phases of our life. The duty is upon us to give God the right away."

Religious Emphasis week, which featured afternoon seminars, classroom and dormitory visits, evening addresses and a convocation, began Monday morning and lasted through Thursday.

The purpose of Religious Emphasis week is to stimulate closer cooperation between the various denominations on campus through bringing top clergymen to the campus for one week during each school year.

Dr. Fey to Talk On Conference

Dr. Harold E. Fey of Chicago, managing editor of Christian Century, will give a public address on his impressions of the Amsterdam Conference of World Council of Churches Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church.

Dr. Fey is also speaking at the Institute on Religion now being held in Raleigh.

Atom Group Studying Graham's Clearance

Consultation Will Be Held Before A.E.C.

Matter Will Not Be Heard Publicly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—(UP)—The joint congressional Atomic Energy committee is looking into the clearance of Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of North Carolina university, for limited access to classified atomic information, it was revealed today.

The joint committee's newly-elected chairman, Sen. Brien McMahon, D., Conn., refused to say who raised the question before the committee or the trend of the discussion.

Dr. Graham also heads the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Research and is closely identified with the Southern Conference of Human Welfare.

McMahon said that the committee will discuss his clearance with the Atomic Energy commission. The committee has refused to discuss reports that Graham was cleared by it over the protests of its own security office and its Loyalty Review board.

McMahon said he had called an open hearing for next Wednesday for the purpose of questioning the commission on its annual report and its program. It will be the first time such matters have been heard publicly.

"It is my hope to have open hearings on all matters properly the concern of the committee, subject to the necessity of security of our country," he said. But he added that the Graham matter would not be discussed publicly.

Fantasy Tryouts Set for Tuesday

Tryouts for "Apple Tree Farm," a Laboratory theater production, will be held Tuesday afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock in the Rendezvous room. Parts are open for students and townspeople as actors, dancers, singers, and technicians.

The new musical fantasy, an original play by Stanley and Ida Lupino of Hollywood, with music by Bob MacMillan of Fayetteville, graduate student in the University dramatic art department, will be presented here on April 4 and 5. The play is for the benefit of the Koch Memorial fund. This will be its first presentation anywhere.

Marty Jacobs, who directed last year's "Sweep It Clean" by the Laboratory theater, will also direct this year's work.

To Plan Drive

'Solicitors' Supper' Planned By YMCA in Baptist Church

Charlie Fox, chairman of the YMCA Finance committee, yesterday set Monday at 5 o'clock for the "Solicitors' Supper," to be given in the Baptist church for all solicitors in the YM drive beginning Tuesday.

Guest speakers at the supper will be Chancellor R. B. House, Jess Dedmond, student body president, and Warren Ashby, chairman of the YM advisory board. Ed McLeod is in charge of arrangements.

"The supper will open the YMCA $5,000 membership drive," Fox said, "and will need the support of all those students who did not become members of the Y during fall registration. Students contributing to the Y budget will receive membership cards entitling them to full YMCA

UVA Polio Dance To Use Juke Box

The University Veterans association March of Dimes dance will be held this evening with a juke box instead of a combo providing the music. The change in orchestral arrangements for the affair was made yesterday after Dean of Students Fred Weaver refused to intervene to reverse Coach Marvin Allen's ruling that the dance could not be held.

Allen told the UVA Thursday that the dance would have to be called off if any type of orchestra was to be used, since the veterans' "applied for permission too late for this weekend." Dance committee rules require the organization giving a dance to secure permission to hold it on Monday of the week the dance is to be held.

Gene Newton, president of the UVA, said yesterday that even though the combo planned for the March of Dimes affair would not be allowed to play, a juke box dance would be held to benefit the infantile paralysis fund drive.

Newton said he conferred with Dean Weaver yesterday about the ruling made by Allen and backed up the Dance committee prohibiting the use of an orchestra. He said Weaver refused to intervene in the situation.

In lieu of the smaller amount expected to be collected at the dance, the UVA, Newton said, will contribute $25, the maximum contribution allowed by the group's constitution, to the March of Dimes. He said he would introduce a bill to contribute an additional $25 to the cause next month.

Concerning the ruling that the Dance committee had to be notified by a certain time if a dance was to be held with any type of orchestra, an employee of Graham Memorial commented yesterday that the Rendezvous room has continually used a three-piece combo at its Friday night dance sessions.

Webb is a native of Oxford, N. C. Cabinet members attending were Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan, Interior Secretary Julius Krug and Attorney General Tom Clark.

Sens. J. Melville Broughton and Clyde R. Hoey, Democrats, headed the North Carolina congressional delegation which attended. Chairman Sol Bloom, D., N. Y., of the House Foreign affairs committee, and Lewis W. Douglas, U. S. ambassador to Britain, also were there.

Sound and Fury To Meet Tonight

All members of Sound and Fury will meet this evening at 8:30 in Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial. The meeting will be open to all persons who are interested in the organization. Those S & F members who were presented at the reorganization meeting three weeks ago are specially urged to attend.

American Legion To Sponsor Dance

Chapel Hill American Legion post 6 will sponsor a square dance at the legion hut tonight to benefit the March of Dimes fund drive.

The dance will begin at 8 o'clock and continue until midnight. Chairman Paul H. Robertson said all students and townspeople were invited to the dance.

Military Ball Will Be Held In GM Tonight

The first annual formal military ball to be staged by the Air ROTC unit will be held tonight in the main lounge of Graham Memorial from 8:30 until 12 o'clock, Cadet Lt. C. B. Mendenhall, special services officer for the unit announced yesterday.

A feature of the dance will be the selection of "Miss Honorary Cadet Colonel" from among the wives and dates of the attending cadets. The winner of the contest will be awarded an orchid and be a special guest of honor at a formal review of the unit later in the year, Mendenhall said.

A full program of entertainment is being planned for the cadets and their wives and dates during the day. Included in the program will be the showing of a film, "Combat America," at 3:30 this afternoon in Roland Parker lounges 2 and 3. The film is in color and is the story of the flying fortress crews of the 351st Bombardment group. The picture opens with the group's training at a field in Colorado and follows them from there to actual combat over Germany. The picture was filmed by Maj. Clark Gable for the Air Force. The dance will begin immediately following the reception which will be held from 8:30 until 9 o'clock.
