Gordon Nominated By UP For President

'Resources' To Be Clapp Talk Topic

Social Science Department to Sponsor Speech by Head of TVA Tonight in Alumni

"Working and Living with Our Resources" will be the topic of a talk by Gordon R. Clapp, chairman of the Board of the Tennessee Valley authority tonight at 8 o'clock in the Alumni building.

Clapp is coming to the University at the request of the Institute for Research in Social Science and the department of city and regional planning, and will speak primarily to graduate students and faculty members in the social sciences. Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, director of the Institute, said yesterday.

It is expected that Clapp will discuss the waste and development of America's resources in relation to the welfare of the people, and also give his reactions to recent books concerning the dangers of population increase exceeding the available resources. Two of these books which have aroused public comment are William Vogt's "The Road to Survival" and Fairfield Osborn's "Our Plundered Planet."

"Mr. Clapp, a specialist in public administration, is one of our most capable career men in government administration, with entirely non-political interests," said Dr. Blackwell.

Clapp graduated from Lawrence college in Wisconsin in 1927 and became director of admissions and assistant dean there. After receiving his M.A. degree from the University of Chicago in 1933 he accepted a position with the TVA as assistant director of personnel. In 1935 he became director of personnel for that organization and general manager in 1939. He was named chairman of the Board in 1946.

Mr. Clapp will also speak on TVA and Regional Planning to a graduate seminar at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The public is invited to the evening lecture.

GORDON R. CLAPP, chairman of the Board of the Tennessee Valley authority, who will speak on "Working and Living With Our Resources" in Alumni building this evening at 8 o'clock.

Principal Cast Of Campus Opera Is Made Public

David Samples and Dr. Jan P. Schinhan, directors of the four campus groups' production of "The Beggar's Opera," yesterday released the principal cast of the show.

The famous role of the highwayman-hero Macheath will be played by Irvine Noble Smith. Smith has appeared in many Playmaker productions, his most notable roles being those of Governor White (1947) and Sir Walter Raleigh (1948) in Paul Green's "Lost Colony" at Manteo. Cast opposite Mr. Smith, as Polly, is Barbara Edwards, who appears in the "Lost Colony" as Eleanor Dare. Miss Edwards will also be remembered for her role of Yum-Yum in "The Mikado" last season.

The comedy leads of Mr. and Mrs. Peachum will be played by Frederick Young and Catherine Covington. Young appeared as Duke Frederick in "As You Like It" last summer, and Mrs. Covington will be remembered for her comic lead of Katisha in "The Mikado." Other principals are John Brinegar as Filch; Lee Noll as Lucy; John Shearin as Lockett; and Pete Strader as the Beggar.

U.S. Official Ordered Out Of Hungary

Given 24 Hours To Leave Nation

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The Hungarian government has charged a United States legation official with helping Hungarians flee the country and has ordered him to leave within 24 hours, authoritative sources said tonight.

These sources identified the official as Robin E. Steussy, 27, vice consul, from Madison, Wis. Steussy is accused of making use of diplomatic privileges and immunity to aid the flight of Hungarian citizens.

The government acted 24 hours after Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, 56, was sentenced to life in a convict's prison following a three day treason trial in which the state asserted U. S. minister Seldon Chapin had encouraged the Roman Catholic primate to oppose the republic.

Just before the trial began last week the government also expelled a U. S. attaché, Stephen Koczak, declaring he had asked for and received political and economic information from Mindszenty and his associates.

Steussy attended Madison West high school and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1943. He served in the U. S. army from 1943 until 1946 and enrolled at Harvard university for graduate work in 1946. The same year, in November, he entered the foreign service and was assigned to Budapest Dec. 2.

Ashby to Address Freshman Council

Dr. Warren Ashby, philosophy professor and chairman of the YMCA Advisory board, will speak at the regular meeting of the Y Freshman council tonight at 7 o'clock upstairs in the Y building.

Dr. Ashby, who will speak on "Philosophy as a Major or an Elective," will lead the third in a series of programs based on the interests of freshmen as shown by answers to a recent questionnaire.

Local Authoress To Make Speech

Betty Smith, author of "Tomorrow Will Be Better," will speak on her book to all graduate education students and any other people who are interested at a seminar in the curriculum laboratory of Peabody hall next Thursday at 4 o'clock.

Bost to Preside

College Publicity Men Meet Here for Two-Day Convention

First Session of the fourth annual district four of the American College Public Relations association convention, will open here tonight with a dinner at the Carolina inn.

Chancellor House will speak at the dinner following registration of delegates from Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, North Carolina and the District of Columbia.

Tom Bost, Jr., district director and Wake Forest news bureau head, will preside over the sessions here and at Duke which will continue through Saturday.

Tomorrow morning at 9:30 a radio panel will be conducted at the Communications center in Swain hall. A 20-minute film will be shown on what goes on behind the scenes in radio.

Following the panel discussion, the group will attend a state editors' session to be led by editors of various state newspapers. Delegates will hear feature editors, attend sports publicity writers' meetings and hear public relations workers of women's colleges on Friday following a luncheon at the Union building on the Duke campus.

Saturday morning will find the delegates back in Chapel Hill to hear members of national wire services lead discussion in studio. A of Swain hall. Speakers will be Herb Foster of the United Press, Dick Palmer of the International News Service and Noel Yancey of the Associated Press.

Election of officers and selection of next year's convention site will terminate the meeting Saturday morning.

IN A SPECTACULAR DEMONSTRATION, junior high school students of Los Angeles make a dramatic appeal on behalf of the March of Dimes fund-raising campaign. The cross at left represents 64 children who died from the dread polio, and the crutch at right represents the 1,430 children under 18 who were stricken by infantile paralysis in Los Angeles County during 1948.

Rita Adams Is Chosen Coed Handbook Editor

By Emily Baker

Rita Adams, senior from Charlotte, was elected editor of the Woman's Handbook at Tuesday night's meeting of the Coed senate. The handbook, which contains coed social rules and regulations, is mailed to new coeds the summer before they enter the University.

Rita's journalistic experience includes work on the Daily Tar Heel as society editor, reporter, and columnist employment with the University News bureau, and publicity and public relations director of Graham Memorial. Rita is also chairman of the publicity committee for the senior class.

Member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, Rita has served as the sorority house president, secretary of the Inter-dormitory council, member of the dormitory house council, secretary-treasurer of the Young Democratic club, secretary of the Charlotte-Carolina club, member of the Student legislature, and serves on the executive committee of the senior class.

While a student at Agnes Scott in Georgia, she was assistant editor of the college paper, Agnes Scott News.

Rita served as co-editor of the Chipley Bugle, American Amateur Press association publication, and has worked on the Montgomery Herald in Troy.

In high school the newly-elected handbook editor served as editor of the Rambler, school paper, as the school's correspondent for the Charlotte News, and as chairman of the high school's publicity committee. Rita also did part time work in the news department of the Charlotte News and was president of her senior class.

In addition to presenting rules to the new students, the handbook gives a historical sketch of the University, describes student government and other activities, and explains Campus and Honor codes.

N.C. Cincinnati Society Grants $400 To W. R. Davie Memorial Scholarship

The North Carolina Society of the Cincinnati has granted $400 to the University for the purpose of continuing the William Richardson Davie memorial scholarship for North Carolina history. Chancellor Robert B. House announced yesterday.

This scholarship will be awarded by the history department and the Graduate school to a student specializing in the history of North Carolina.

The committee of the North Carolina Society of the Cincinnati responsible for making the award was composed of Joseph B. Cheshire, Raleigh; Graham H. Andrews, Raleigh; and Francis O. Clarkson, Charlotte. Graduate students interested in North Carolina history are invited to make application for the award. The appropriate forms may be secured by writing to the dean of the Graduate school.

Chancellor House said that the scholarship amounts to a $200 increase over the award for 1948-49.

Dimes Cleanup

Dougald MacMillan, co-chairman of the campus March of Dimes drive, yesterday asked all persons who have been making collections for the drive to bring in all contributions to the Daily Tar Heel office.

MacMillan said complete reports on the drive would be released when all contributions and solicitors' reports are completed.

Junior Council Will Hear Nash

A coffee at Mrs. Frank Graham's and a devotional address by Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the department of religion, are planned for the final meeting of the Y Junior council to be held at 7 o'clock tonight.

The Y cabinet is entertaining the Y advisory board in addition to the council in order that the two groups may become better acquainted.

During the past month the Junior council has met weekly, receiving instruction in the work of the YW as a whole and in the separate functions of its committees.

Through this program the 50 outstanding coeds comprising the council will be better able to choose that field of Y work best suited to them.

Maria Davis, vice-president of the YW, is chairman of the council.

Phi Takes Decision Over Di In Liquor Referendum Debate

By Graham Jones
The Philanthropic assembly, supporting a state-wide liquor referendum, won a two to one judges' decision over the Dialectic senate in the Di-Phi debate Tuesday night in Phi hall.

However, in a straw vote to determine the real sympathies of the debaters Phi members joined the Di to vote down the referendum by a count of 21 to six.

Emily Baker, Herbert Yates, Bill Duncan, Charles Britt, Hugh Griffin, John Giles, and Peter Burks represented the Phi and Sam Manning, Arthur Murphy, Jerry Pettigrew, Bill Foster, Dixon McLean, Charles Gibson, and Dorch Warriner were the Di debaters.

Di members based their opposition to the referendum which has been introduced in the legislature by Senator Penney of Guilford, on the failure of na-

Candidate Holds Audit Board Post

Served as Acting Secretary-Treasurer In Kirby's Absence; Ran Yack Finances

By Herb Nachman

Dick Gordon, present chairman of the Student Audit board, yesterday received the University party nomination for president of the student body.

New President Of Prof's Club Is Sworn In

Giduz Chosen As Treasurer

water spearman, assistant professor of journalism, was installed as president of the Men's Faculty club Tuesday afternoon at a Faculty club luncheon in the Carolina Inn.

Spearman was introduced to the faculty members by Phillips Russell, retiring president of the faculty group, in an informal speech. Spearman immediately called for nominations to replace treasurer John Couch, who was unable to take office because he conducts a 2 o'clock class.

Prof. Hugo Giduz of the Romance language department was nominated to succeed Couch and was elected by an unanimous vote of the assembled members. Dr. Clifford Lyons of the English department was installed as secretary.

After elections, Spearman introduced C. F. Milner, assistant director of the communications department and audio-visual expert, who talked on his recent visit to Japan. Milner showed slides in conjunction with his talk and told about his attempts to train Japanese educators by the medium of audio-visual means.

Retreat Delegates Asked to See Y

Students leaving for the Y retreat at Montreat are asked to contact the YWCA office concerning the time they will be able to leave.

Transportation will be by car and groups will begin leaving at noon Friday Feb. 18. It is hoped that all students will be able to leave sometime Friday afternoon since the conference program begins at 8 o'clock that night. However, a few cars will leave Saturday morning if necessary.

Registration is continuing throughout this week in the YW office.

Gordon, a rising senior from Merion Station, Pa., has a long record of service in student government.

He has served in the Student legislature as a member of the Ways and Means committee and served as acting secretary-treasurer of the student body in the absence of Bob Kirby last quarter. At present he is a member of the Coalition cabinet.

In publications, Gordon served as advertising manager of the Yackety Yack in 1947 and was business manager of the Yack last year.

Following the budget rift last spring, Gordon drew up a book of running accounts which indicate the exact month-by-month spending of every organization in the student government budget.

On request of the Coed senate recently, he helped re-evaluate all coed finances and to draw up a coed activities budget which will be submitted to the Student legislature this spring. He also drew up the Coed Visiting agreement now in effect.

Other activities include membership in the Naval ROTC program in which he serves as a company commander. Gordon served in the Navy during the war for 23 months.

He has worked with freshman orientation for three years and has been a member of the executive committee of the Interfraternity council. Gordon is a member of Delta Psi fraternity.

In accepting the UP nomination, Gordon made the following statement:

"The confidence placed in me by the University party is indeed gratifying. During my work this year in the executive and financial branches of student government I have been closely associated with the current problems now facing the student body. "These problems are now easily solved, nor may all of them be solved this year; however, I shall continue to equip myself in the best interests of student government."
